The political situation waxes a trifle warmer as campaigns swing into their final month. Cowboys And Dragons Open Grid Season

Lidlifter to Get Under Way Friday Afternoon at 3:30; West Is Slight Favorite.

The 1932 campaign for the local scholastic gridiron banner will be officially opened Friday afternoon at 3:30 on the West field when Coach Harold Wise and his fighting cowpunchers tangle with the scrappy Irish of Aquinas. East and Central, in a night battle at Central, is the other game scheduled.

After a week's strenuous work, ironing out flaws detected in the Piqua melee, the proteges of Wise should give the Dragons a battle. Mike Boland's boys, in their initial game of the season, took a 33 to 0 lacing from Springfield, conquerors of Central, but have spent two weeks of hard work in pointing for the West game.

SPRING SURPRISE

Saturday afternoon at Piqua, the local outfit showed some signs of potential strength when they took the Indians into camp by a 7 to 0 score. Piqua made little headway throughout the game, and with one exception, never threatened to marr the Cowboy goal. Purdy's 40-yard scamper took the oval to within a dozen yards of the visitor's goal, but a fumble blighted the attack at that point.

West's lone counter came in the first stanza, following a march from midfield. Francis took the ball over from the two-yard line and Colman added the extra point via the plunge route. Thereafter, although productive of much yardage, the Brown and Buff attack lacked the necessary punch in scoring territory. Fumbles were frequent within the thirty-yard zone.

Among the 13 men used by Coach Wise, Casey displayed his usual skill on the forward wall, while the work of Boye and Francis in the ball-toting department gave promise of better work to come. The two outstanding weaknesses of the cowpunchers, that of kicking and passing, failed to aid the Piqua team, inasmuch as the weak Indian line could not fathom the deceptive West attack until the locals had pressed deep into their territory. Then Cowboy fumbles and inexperience aided them materially in thwarting further scoring efforts.

Although no lineup has been announced for the Aquinas battle, the opening game of the 1932 season last week found the following athletes in action: Fisher and Trigg at the ends; Lorenz and Deshler at the tackles; Kellar and Munroe at the guards, with Casey at center. Boye and Francis took care of the halves, with Colman at fullback and Owens rounding out the ball toting quartet at quarterback. It is entirely likely, however, that several new faces will be seen in action Friday.

Free Show At Rivoli for Pet Parade Entrants

More fun for Hilltop kiddies. Following the big Dog and Doll parade Saturday morning, all those entering will be guests of George Pekras at the Rivoli theatre. The show will begin at 10:30, so the parade has been moved up to 9 o'clock, and will form at Powell avenue and Broad street, moving east with an escort of Boy Scouts, to Oakley avenue where it will disband. The parade is being sponsored by the Hilltop Record and it costs nothing to enter your favorite doll and canine pets.

Following the procession, there will be sufficient time for those who have entered dogs to take them home. They will not be permitted in the show. It will not be necessary to register pets, other than being at Powell avenue and Broad street at nine o'clock. Pets should be taken there, where instructions and a place in the parade will be given.

Prizes in several classes will be awarded by judges who will have their place somewhere along the route of the procession.

There is only one more day to plan your decorations. Awards will be made for the best decorated buggy and the best decorated dog and wagon. Other prizes will be given for the smallest, largest prettiest dog or doll entered. The winners will be announced at the conclusion of the parade.

Then, to the show. It's all free. Every boy and girl on the Hilltop is invited to participate. Tickets will be given only to those having pets or dolls entered in the parade.

She was then taken to the hospital for further treatment, and allowed to go home.

Mr. Williams had been unable to accompany them on the trip because of two broken ankles sustained in an accident at Marble Cliff Quarry, where he is employed.

Indian Pageant to Start At 8 O'clock Friday Evening

All is in readiness for the first Hilltop celebration of American Indian Day, Friday, Sept. 30, to be sponsored by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce and the Hilltop Business Men's association at Crystal Rock Springs, 3120 Crystal Springs Dr., beginning at 8 p. m.

The pageant will be under the direction of Irene McKinley and will feature the singing and music of several Hilltop residents as well as Indian dances and ceremonies. There will be no admission charged.

One of the features of the event will be the Indian dances as interpreted by James C. Stone, 17, of Cincinnati, who is being brought here especially for the program. For seven years he has received instruction under the direction of Bernard S. Mason, of Ohio State University, in Camp Fairwood, a private camp specializing in Indian dances. He has attracted widespread attention in Cincinnati scholastic athletics, also.

Hilltop boys who will participate in the program are as follows: George Ralliff, Don Vance, George Lust, Charles Freeborn, Frank Rodenfels, Robert Anderson, Roger Chrisman, Jerry Smith, Billy Monaghan, Carl Hodges, Richard Wilcox, Herbert Alban, Ralph Buechler, Glen DeLong, Tom Kimmel, Everett Sears, Glenn Thompson, and Frank Hagans.

The fourth Friday in September has been selected as the day of tribute to this dying race and a nation-wide movement is under way to establish American Indian Day in honor of this native born American.

"This is the last of the hunting or corn festival moon and nature's fullness adorns the land with fruit and beauty. There is probably a keener appreciation of our forests, lakes, and green rolling meadows where nature's proudest, noblest men rode their spirited wild horses and stretched their strong arms in orisons of thankfulness to the Great Spirit for their lives," says Mrs. McKinley.

History has painted the red man's picture with colors of greed, avarice and iniquity. It's pages are shameful records of promises un-fulfilled, treaties broken and obligations long forgotten. The Indian is still waiting for the old treaties to materialize, he is sincere and patiently awaits a redressive day.

In the military ranks of the Revolutionary war, the American Indian stood shoulder to shoulder with his white brother and fought with the wrath of conviction. General George Washington declared, that, "If we would have had the enmity of the Indian instead of his friendship, the Revolution would not have ended in American Independence!"

The Civil war found them fighting to preserve the Union. Their ablest scouts served on the staffs of the Union generals.

Thousands fought in the Spanish-American war.

Their green to minted gold,
And scatters it upon my porch
More than my hands can hold.

U. B. Pastor Still Unhired

Rev. Lilly to Officiate at Strasberg Sunday; Rev. Clutch Will Preach at Hilltop Church.

Developments at Burgess Avenue U. B. church were at a standstill this week, with Rev. A. Ward Clutch scheduled to preach there Sunday, and Rev. C. H. Lilly, former pastor there, officiating at the services of the Strasberg, Ohio congregation. Rev. Clutch was formerly pastor at the Hillsboro U. B. church, having been assigned to the local congregation by the Southeastern Ohio United Brethren conference. Rev. Lilly similarly, was ordered to report to the Hillsboro church, and upon his refusal, was assigned to the Strasberg parish.

It was learned this week that the church council there was satisfied with the assignment as made by the conference, but had come to no definite agreement with Rev. Lilly. On the other hand, Rev. Clutch, who officiated at the Burgess Avenue church for the first time Sunday, Sept. 25, had not yet been officially hired by the church council here. He spoke at a brotherhood meeting of the congregation Tuesday evening.

It was thought that the entire matter would be settled late this week.

Old Time Hilltop Resident Tells of Early Days Here

Seventy years ago, where Hilltop business now thrives in the vicinity of Hague and Broad, the growing community now known as the Hilltop, had its birth. Before the Civil war, when the region was yet virgin forest and great prairie land, the territory was owned by southern interests located in Kentucky. Then the Union forces confiscated the land, and when Camp Chase was founded, the Hilltop had its birth.

But it was not until ten years later that settlers first invaded the region, according to Mrs. C. E. Markeson, 1925 Fairmont Ave., who recalled early days for a Record reporter this week.

The old Four-Mile-House, nationally known hostelry, located where Chase avenue intersects the national highway, was the nucleus from which a thriving community has since developed. Mrs. Markeson told of the toll gate, which stood where No. 17 fire house is now located. The Four Mile Tavern, she reminisced, received its name because it was located exactly four miles from the city. Measurements were taken from a stone on the east side of the state house.

When she visited the camp in '63, Mrs. Markeson said that it then contained many prisoners and after the war, in '72, the first Quaker settlers made their appearance. The camp ground, which extended from Hague avenue to the Big Four railroad, a total of 467½ acres, was sold to six parties, for a sum of $87 an acre. The last land sold there brought $2200 per acre. Miller Gibson, James McGrew, John Hussey, David and William Binns, and Robert Hague were the six Quakers to first settle there, and the brick houses, two of which are still standing, were their handiwork. The Charles Huldy farm buildings, erected when the camp was still there, could be seen from the national road, Mrs. Markeson recalled. Most of the settlers, and all of the Quakers, came from Harrison and Jefferson counties.

Her father, Elnathan Pettit, came not long after the first pioneers, to operate a farm with his wife, who was also a minister in the Quak... And the first church was ... Treasure Hunt Opens Friday

Community Sing On West High Athletic Field Sunday Afternoon.

A parade, made up of beautifully decorated floats, decorated cars, music makers, and marchers, headed by the Camp Chase Post Drum and Bugle Corps, will open the Hilltop 70th anniversary program this evening.

The caravan is scheduled to move out from Columbian and Sullivant avenue promptly at 6:30 p. m. It will proceed west in Sullivant avenue to Hague avenue, north to Broad street, east in Broad street to Whitethorne avenue and then disband.

The parade committee, made up of Donald F. Smith, William Coulthard, and M. M. Webb, report that a very large number of the floats that were entered in the Gateway Jubilee parade last night will be in the Hilltop parade this evening. It is expected that more than 30,000 people will line the streets if weather permits. Should it rain tonight the parade will be held Friday evening.

Treasure Hunt

The big two-day Treasure Hunt will be held Friday and Saturday of this week. About 40 firms are participating and over 200 prizes having cash value of nearly $900 are being offered.

A complete list of the prizes is published on another page of the Record today.

In this issue of the Record is contained a golden certificate bearing a number. Take this certificate to the business firms participating in the hunt. If the number on your certificate corresponds to any number in any of the stores you will receive one of the prizes.

Through an error the names of C. J. Kohn and Danziger's Department Store appear on the Treasure Hunt certificates. These firms are not participating in the hunt.

Stores will remain open Friday evening in order that treasure hunters may visit and look for the prizes. Special anniversary bargains are being offered by Hilltop firms this week in conjunction with the celebration.

Another feature for Friday evening will be the Indian Day Pageant to be presented under the direction of Irene McKinley at Crystal Rock Springs. The pageant is scheduled to begin at dusk. The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

On Friday and Saturday evenings there will be free dancing at the Matsonia Gardens, 3184 W. Broad St. Tickets for the dance are being given by members of the Hilltop Business Men's association who are participating in the festival.

Special services are planned for many of the Hilltop churches on Sunday, using the 70th anniversary of the community as the main theme.

On Sunday afternoon at 3:30 there will be a Community Sing on the West High athletic field. Seats in the stadium will be available. The singing will be led by W. E. Knox and special numbers presented by Hilltop chorus under the direction of W. Hadyn Jones, accompanied by Miss Ethel Greiser. Short talks will be given by Rev. Car Hit By Flyer, 2 Escape Death

Hilltop Mother and Son Struck By Pennsylvania Train, and Live to Tell About It.

Mrs. Ethel Williams, 1945 Fairmont Ave., and her son, Arthur Williams, jr., aged 8, narrowly escaped death Sunday evening when a Pennsylvania flyer struck their car at the Trabue road crossing between McKinley avenue and Dublin road. They were enroute from Mechanicsburg, where they had been visiting relatives.

Mrs. Williams was driving and her son was asleep in the rear seat when the train struck, crushing the car against a watchman's shanty, and completely demolishing the structure. The car was also completely wrecked.

Brown, who with another man, both colored, entered the Economy store under pretense of purchasing a can of liquor. And while his partner shopped for liquor, Brown gathered himself a dozen pair of 50-cent socks. And when his pal could not decide about the color of liquor he wanted, Brown garnered 20 more pair of 10-cent socks. Finally the purchaser of liquor decided that the show had nothing to his particular liking, so they left together.

Only to be observed by an incoming customer, confirming the suspicions of the proprietor that all was not well at the sock counter. So, brown was apprehended not long after. Brown got sixty days in the workhouse. His partner got away—without socks for the trip.

U. B. Pastor Still Unhired

Rev. Lilly to Officiate at Strasberg Sunday; Rev. Clutch Will Preach at Hilltop Church.

Developments at Burgess Avenue U. B. church were at a standstill this week, with Rev. A. Ward Clutch scheduled to preach there Sunday, and Rev. C. H. Lilly, former pastor there, officiating at the services of the Strasberg, Ohio congregation. Rev. Clutch was formerly pastor at the Hillsboro U. B. church, having been assigned to the local congregation by the Southeastern Ohio United Brethren conference. Rev. Lilly similarly, was ordered to report to the Hillsboro church, and upon his refusal, was assigned to the Strasberg parish.

It was learned this week that the church council there was satisfied with the assignment as made by the conference, but had come to no definite agreement with Rev. Lilly. On the other hand, Rev. Clutch, who officiated at the Burgess Avenue church for the first time Sunday, Sept. 25, had not yet been officially hired by the church council here. He spoke at a brotherhood meeting of the congregation Tuesday evening.

It was thought that the entire matter would be settled late this week.

Musical Program

A musical program will be given at Oakley Avenue Baptist church Oct. 16 at 3 p. m. by the Busy Bee club. Some of the best talent of the city will be presented.

Treasure Hunt Opens Friday

Community Sing On West High Athletic Field Sunday Afternoon.

A parade, made up of beautifully decorated floats, decorated cars, music makers, and marchers, headed by the Camp Chase Post Drum and Bugle Corps, will open the Hilltop 70th anniversary program this evening.

The caravan is scheduled to move out from Columbian and Sullivant avenue promptly at 6:30 p. m. It will proceed west in Sullivant avenue to Hague avenue, north to Broad street, east in Broad street to Whitethorne avenue and then disband.

The parade committee, made up of Donald F. Smith, William Coulthard, and M. M. Webb, report that a very large number of the floats that were entered in the Gateway Jubilee parade last night will be in the Hilltop parade this evening. It is expected that more than 30,000 people will line the streets if weather permits. Should it rain tonight the parade will be held Friday evening.

Treasure Hunt

The big two-day Treasure Hunt will be held Friday and Saturday of this week. About 40 firms are participating and over 200 prizes having cash value of nearly $900 are being offered.

A complete list of the prizes is published on another page of the Record today.

In this issue of the Record is contained a golden certificate bearing a number. Take this certificate to the business firms participating in the hunt. If the number on your certificate corresponds to any number in any of the stores you will receive one of the prizes.

Through an error the names of C. J. Kohn and Danziger's Department Store appear on the Treasure Hunt certificates. These firms are not participating in the hunt.

Stores will remain open Friday evening in order that treasure hunters may visit and look for the prizes. Special anniversary bargains are being offered by Hilltop firms this week in conjunction with the celebration.

Another feature for Friday evening will be the Indian Day Pageant to be presented under the direction of Irene McKinley at Crystal Rock Springs. The pageant is scheduled to begin at dusk. The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

On Friday and Saturday evenings there will be free dancing at the Matsonia Gardens, 3184 W. Broad St. Tickets for the dance are being given by members of the Hilltop Business Men's association who are participating in the festival.

Special services are planned for many of the Hilltop churches on Sunday, using the 70th anniversary of the community as the main theme.

On Sunday afternoon at 3:30 there will be a Community Sing on the West High athletic field. Seats in the stadium will be available. The singing will be led by W. E. Knox and special numbers presented by Hilltop chorus under the direction of W. Hadyn Jones, accompanied by Miss Ethel Greiser. Short talks will be given by Rev. Raymond Banschard of St. Mary Magdalene church and Dr. Isaac E. Miller, district superintendent of the Methodist church.

To Hold Meeting

The West Side Douglas Republican club will meet at the home of Mrs. Josephine Allen, 419 S. Oakley Ave., Thursday evening, Oct. 6, at 8 o'clock.

Play Selected

Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen" has been selected as the class play to be presented by the senior students of West Junior High school sometime in November.

Indian Pageant to Start At 8 O'clock Friday Evening

All is in readiness for the first Hilltop celebration of American Indian Day, Friday, Sept. 30, to be sponsored by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce and the Hilltop Business Men's association at Crystal Rock Springs, 3120 Crystal Springs Dr., beginning at 8 p. m.

The pageant will be under the direction of Irene McKinley and will feature the singing and music of several Hilltop residents as well as Indian dances and ceremonies. There will be no admission charged.

One of the features of the event will be the Indian dances as interpreted by James C. Stone, 17, of Cincinnati, who is being brought here especially for the program. For seven years he has received instruction under the direction of Bernard S. Mason, of Ohio State university, in Camp Fairwood, a private camp specializing in Indian dances. He has attracted widespread attention in Cincinnati scholastic athletics also.

Hilltop boys who will participate in the program are as follows: George Cahill, Don Vance, George Last, Charles Frischorn, Frank Rodenfels, Robert Anderson, Roger Chrisman, Jerry Smith, Bill Monaghan, Carl Hodges, Richard Wilcox, Herbert Allan, Ralph Boechler, Glen DeLong, Tom Kimmel, Everett Sears, Glenn Thompson, and Frank Hagans.

The fourth Friday in September has been selected as the day of tribute to this dying race and a nation wide movement is under way to establish Ameri can Indian Day in honor of this native born American.

This is the last of the hunting or corn festival moon and nature's full face adorns the land with fruit and beauty. There is probably a keener appreciation of our forests, lakes, and skies, rolling meadows where nature's promises mingle, when we ride our spirit, our wild horses and stretched their strong arms in attitude of thankfulness to the Great Spirit for their lives," says Mrs. McKinley.

History has painted the red man's picture with colors of greed, avarice and iniquity. Its pages are shameful records of promises unfulfilled, treaties broken and obligations long forgotten. The Indian is still waiting for the old treaties to materialize, he is sincere and patiently awaits a redressing day.

In the military ranks of the Revolutionary war, the American Indian stood shoulder to shoulder with his white brother and fought with the wrath of conviction. General George Washington declared, that, "If we would have had the enmity of the Indian instead of his friendship, the Revolution would not have ended in American independence."

The Civil war found them fighting to preserve the Union. Their oldest scouts enjoyed on the staffs of the Union generals.

Old Time Hilltop Resident Tells of Early Days Here

Seventy years ago, where Hilltop business now thrives in the vicinity of Hague and Broad, the growing community now known as the Hilltop, had its birth. Before the Civil war, when the region was yet virgin forest and great prairie land, the territory was owned by southern interests located in Kentucky. Then the Union forces confiscated the land, and when Camp Chase was founded, the Hilltop had its birth.

But it was not until ten years later that settlers first invaded the region, according to Mrs. C. E. Markeson, 1925 Fairmont Ave., who recalled early days for a Record reporter this week.

The old Four-Mile-House, nationally known hostelry, located where Chase avenue intersects the national highway, was the nucleus from which a thriving community has since developed. Mrs. Markeson told of the toll gate, which stood where No. 17 fire house is now located. The Four Mile Tavern, she reminisced, received its name because it was located exactly four miles from the city. Measurements were taken from a stone on the east side of the state house.

When she visited the camp in '63, Mrs. Markeson said that it then contained many prisoners and after the war in '72 the first Quaker settlers made their appearance. The camp ground, which extended from Hague avenue to the Big Four railroad, a total of 467½ acres, was sold to six parties, for a sum of 887 an acre. The last land sold there brought $2200 per acre. Miller Gibson, James McGrew, John Hussey, David and William Binns, and Robert Hague were the six Quakers to first settle there, and the brick houses, two of which are still standing, were their handiwork. The Charles Haldy farm buildings, erected when the camp was still there, could be seen from the national road, Mrs. Markeson recalled. Most of the settlers, and all of the Quakers, came from Harrison and Jefferson counties.

Her father, Ebathan Pettit, came not long after the first pioneers, to operate a farm with his wife, who was also a minister in the Quaker church. And the first church was located on Ohio avenue, due to the clever manipulations of a modern real estate dealer of that time. Later a structure was raised at the location of Dr. Park's residence on West Broad street. In fact, his home is the old church, but has since been remodeled inside. The exterior, however, retains its original form.

Mrs. Markeson, although she lived in the vicinity of east Broad street at the time, recalled many interesting incident and facts concerning the early days of the community, from her early visits here, and later with her father. She is 85 years old.

WELCOME, OUR WESTERN NEIGHBORS

Today the Hilltop Record is being delivered into 2000 homes west of Columbus, including Rome, Alton, Hilliards, Galloway, Georgesville and West Jefferson, and today the Hilltop extends a hearty welcome to all residents of this section to visit the Hilltop and participate in the 70th anniversary celebration.

Residents of the section west of the Hilltop have always been patrons of Hilltop merchants and in return Hilltop people have purchased much of the produce raised by their western neighbors.

A wholesome feeling of neighborliness exists here. May we again extend our invitation to all to join in the Hilltop celebration.

were 17,313 American Indians in the service of their country. More than two hundred of these were decorated for bravery, and ten were given the Croix de Guerre.

In the fifth or Victory loan the Indian applications for Liberty Bonds were to the extent of nearly four millions, making their total subscription $25,000,000 or $75.00 per head for the entire Indian population.

When Christopher Columbus wrote from the new continent to his royal friends, the King and Queen of Spain, his message contained these words: "I swear to your Majesties, that there is not a better people in the world than these, more affectionate, affable or mild. They love their neighbors as themselves, and they always speak smilingly."

"Welcome" was the first word the early settlers heard the red man speak as he stood with his hand raised giving the familiar sign, meaning the same. He taught them how to live in the new found wilderness. The forest was their beautiful god. There the Great Spirit lived. Surely there was room for all his children. Baskets of willow and birch and bowls of the basswood tree graced every fireside.

Heavy Traffic

There is heavy traffic in Broad street. To prove it William M. Tucker, 1009 W. Broad St., had one of the firemen at the engine house at Wheatland avenue and Broad street take a count of the number of cars that passed that spot in 15 minutes one afternoon last week. A total of 342 cars were tabulated.

Tucker who will soon be 75 years of age, is interested in the safety of school children he told the Record this week, explaining that he had visited two schools and offered his cooperation in extending safety. He also says it is time something is done about cars with one light and no tail lights.

Public Evening School to Open Monday Night

Classes to Be Held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays; First Enrollment High.

The Columbus Evening school will open its 1932 fall semester Monday night at Central High with an enrollment which will approach the goal of 2000 set by officials. Advance registrations indicate that all previous enrollment records will be exceeded.

The youngest of Columbus' public schools is under the leadership of Vernon J. Zeiz, principal, and H. M. Appleman, director. More people than ever before are availing themselves of an opportunity to improve their education, and enroll without tuition and at a small registration fee. Fees for special students are two dollars; that for students desiring high school credit, five dollars.

The school is equipped for commercial work, trades or engineering training, and college entrance credit. Machanist, electrical, pattern and printing shops are excellently equipped, while equally fine facilities are available for students interested in the various types of drafting and sheet metal and pattern design. Sixty students can be accomodated.

In each of these courses, with few exceptions, instructors are men of experience in their respective fields. Credit received will be recognized at the engineering college of any university.

Similarly, the commercial school prepares for entrance to the college of commerce and journalism and is taught by teachers of proven experience. Special training courses are available for those not desiring college entrance credit. These courses prepare students for stenographic, secretarial or accounting duties. The academic department prepares for a professional course in college or university and is taught by teachers thoroughly conversant with their subject.

Many students enrolled are adults, now employed in Columbus. Ages run up to 72 years, and it is not unusual to find parents and children in the same classroom. Many Hilltop men were enrolled last winter and it is expected that many more will again matriculate this fall.

The school is open on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, from 6:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

St. Johns Ladies' Aid Cans Food for Poor

The Ladies' Aid and Missionary society of St. John Lutheran church is canning surplus food for relief work in charge of the Luther League this winter. Fruits and vegetables used for the Harvest Home service last Sunday, were preserved Monday afternoon, to be stored away until the League Relief Committee becomes active.

Plans for a continuance of work started last fall were made at a recent meeting of the league. Christmas cards will be sold by members. Also, before Christmas, a play will be presented, in an effort to raise funds sufficient to defray expense.

Adam I. Addison Is Taken By Death

Adam Innes Addison, aged 51, plasterer of 84 S. Eureka Ave., died Wednesday night, Sept. 21, at Gaver sanitarium of pneumonia, following a long illness.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rebecca Addison; two sons, Adam Addison, jr., and Douglas Haig Addison; two sisters, Mrs. Robert Duncan and Miss Jennie Addison, both living in Scotland, and two brothers, Thomas and James Addison.

He was a member of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church and of Magnolia lodge, F. & A. M. Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the residence with burial in Green Lawn cemetery by Spears & Born.

Democratic Rally

A mass meeting and Democratic rally will be held at Glenwood shelter house, Friday evening at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Tenth Ward Wigwam club. The Democratic Glee club will be present.

Principal Sees Changed Attitude Toward Crisis

Rather than predict the return of prosperity, H. H. Reighly, principal of West Junior High school, sees the beginning of something far better than that. The people are beginning to prepare for things as they are, instead of waiting for the return of an illusive something that used to be. If the purchase of school books this year can be any indication.

Books and school supplies were purchased earlier this year and the students were prepared for actual work sooner than ever before, according to Mr. Reighley. And all this desp to the prevailing hard times. Which means one of two things, in his opinion "Either people are no longer in financial hardships, which I doubt, or they are becoming acclimated to the economic situation and are preparing themselves accordingly. All of which, it seems to me, is a favorable sign," he said.

Officials had anticipated more than the usual amount of difficulty in getting the students equipped with text books and supplies sufficient to enable them to do their usual school work. Instead, preparations were completed in better time than last year, much to the gratification of those in charge.

Judge Randall Has Big Schedule Ahead

Is Candidate for Re-election This Fall.

When Judge Cecil J. Randall entered the motion and demurrer room at the beginning of the September term of court he was presented with the largest list ever presented to a common pleas judge in Franklin county.

The first list of 181 motions and demurrers which set a record for this county was followed by a second of 42 cases making a total of 223 motions and demurrers now to be considered.

Judge Randall was elected two years ago to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge E. B. Kinkead which ends on Dec. 31, this year. Judge Randall will therefore be a candidate for re-election this fall.

Due to the extremely heavy assignment of duties in this term of court, Judge Randall will be unable to conduct the vigorous campaign that he conduted two years ago.

Claude V. Hasson who is the Judge's bailiff is authority for the statement that many extra hours are being spent at the court house in order that the docket will be cleared on schedule.

Judge Randall is endorsed by the Columbus Bar.

Bantamweights Meet Saturday

Local Team, Coached by Paul Casey and Dick Murray, to Tangle With Clintonville.

The Hilltop Red Bird Bantamweight football team, under the watchful eyes of Dick Murray and Paul Casey, former West athletic stars, has rounded out three weeks of drill and will be ready for its initial contest Saturday morning. The game will be played against the midgets of Clintonville, coached by Bob White, at Tuttle field, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

It will mark the first game of the season for the local outfit in the newly organized Columbus Bantamweight league, although the circuit was officially opened with games last week. The Hilltop bantams are in good shape, according to their coaches. Waldo, Grubbs and Schnider have been showing well in the ball toting department. On the line, Christman and Waldo have been showing the best work.

The team, at the present time has no backer. Anyone interested in the team is asked to get in touch with Dick Murray or Paul Casey.

R. B. Sterling, 513 S. Warren Ave., reported to police Monday that thieves entering his home Sunday night obtained a revolver valued at $35, and $3.15.

AGAIN the Pendulum Swings to the HILLTOP!

ANOTHER year has passed and today we start the celebration of the 70th anniversary of this community, as again the pendulum swings to the Hilltop as the outstanding community in an outstanding city.

The establishment of Camp Chase during Civil War days is generally recognized as the date of the founding of the Hilltop community. It was at this time that attention was called to the desirability of the land about here and it was in turn taken over by the most progressive families of the county.

---RAPID GROWTH ON HILLTOP---

Growth of the Hilltop has been rapid. From the start there has been a community spirit that has attracted the better type families. Then came the appearance of a small village, with houses scattered, and the establishment of churches and school.

When the Hilltop first took on this community appearance there was the establishment of the community stores and with it the addition of services of the neighborhood doctor.

The opening of the first community store served as further inducement for people to move west to the Hilltop. Even now as then people realize the great service to be rendered by the local community business house. And in this fact lies another truth . . . the Hilltop has continued to show rapid growth and has continued to attract more people here to make their homes because of the presence of those business firms that stand ready to be of service at all times. It is further proof that the best communities are those having the best business houses.

---FOR HILLTOP BETTERMENT---

During these years an enthusiastic class of business people have worked for everything that is good for the Hilltop, have given the best service, and been real neighbors.

And now as the pendulum swings to another high point in the year for the Hilltop the business firms named on this page invite you to visit their business houses sometime during the coming week and partake of the greetings they are extending.

THE COMMUNITY SING

The Community Sing on Sunday afternoon at West High athletic field was a success but a much larger crowd could have been accomodated. However, this was the first of such gatherings and perhaps arrangements can be made for more enthusiasm at the next one.

A very well selected program was presented and we are of the opinion that much can be done through community sings to create a greater community spirit. It is our hope that a community sing will be on the program for another year and that more people will participate.

We have been asked to print the question, "Why are admission prices to West High football games not reduced this season?" There appear to be strenuous objections to the 50 cent gate admission price for single admissions. However, West does offer an adult season ticket for $3 that will provide for 32 events, football, basket-ball, baseball, etc.

64 Uniforms For Band Are Ordered

Band Parents' Club Raises $550 in Drive Since Last Spring.

New uniforms for 64 members of the West High school band have been ordered and the band is scheduled to appear at the North-West game, Oct. 28, in the new outfits, made possible through the efforts of the West High Band Parents' Betterment club.

A total of $550 was raised in the campaign that started shortly before the close of school last June. This week Mrs. W. E. Ferguson, 235 Guernsey Ave., president of the club, stated, "We want to express our sincere appreciation of the help and co-operation we have received from Hilltop people and from the Hilltop Business Men's association."

The new uniforms will consist of brown and buff caps and capes, and orange pom poms. The boys will wear white trousers and girls will wear white skirts, and white sweaters will be worn under the capes.

In the contest to secure Band Coupons from Hilltop business firms Henry Ruegg, 140 S. Roys Ave., was declared the winner and will receive a wrist watch. He gathered 5300 coupons. A total of 16,979 coupons were turned in by members of the band.

New associate members are as follows: Paul Holcomb, 108 W. 18th Ave.; Mrs. Charles Huldy, 2970 W. Broad St.; Mrs. Karl Weber, 2585 W. Broad St.; Mrs. Fred Shell, 584 S. Terrace St.; Mr. and Mrs. James Phillips, 2119 W. Broad St.; Mrs. W. M. Meek, 30 Dana Ave.; Mrs. T. S. Fox, 2846 W. Broad St.; Robert Carnahan, 2683 W. Broad St.; Dr. E. J. Billman, 1230 W. Broad St.; C. J. Kohn, 2456 W. Broad St.; Marie Mattox, 2421 W. Broad St.; A. H. Cartwright, and Mrs. Bessie Hayes.

West High Band will furnish the music and L. W. Reese, high school supervisor of the state department of education, will give an address on "The High School and the P.-T. A."

M. P. Hain, president of the West P.-T. A., says, "All parents should make a special effort to attend this meeting and meet their children's teachers. Co-operation and understanding between parents and teachers are essential to the child's success in school."

Cowboys Trek To Lancaster for Night Game

Win Second Game of Year from Aquinas Friday, 27 to 6; Lancaster Favored Tonight.

West High gridmen will trek to Lancaster this afternoon to do battle with Lancaster High in a nocturnal melee tonight in the third game of the season for the Cowboy eleven. The Blue and Gold of Fairfield county is expected to force the cowpunchers to open up and the full strength of the local outfit can be more fairly judged after the game. The opposition thus far in the campaign has failed to measure up to the anticipated strength and as a result, Wise, Buchanan and Co., have some trump cards up their sleeves, despite the fact that for the remainder of the season they will be the underdog in every encounter.

Last Friday, Aquinas took a neat lacing from the Brown and Buff by a score of 27-6, although the game showed plenty of weak places in the Hilltoppers' line-up. Kicking again was poor, although some improvement was noted. Passing, another Cowboy weakness, was resorted to on but two occasions, but Boye's accurate heave of forty yards was easily gathered in by the fleet Miles. The running attack, although showing potential strength, lacked polish. Boye, Francis, Miles and Owens, however, played consistently, the latter dashing off tackle for 58 yards for a touchdown early in the third frame. Quarterbacking, too, appeared erratic and showed signs of inexperience. Reserves were few and lacked power on offense and defense.

The forward wall was the bright spot of the day's activities, the work of Casey, Deshler, Munro, Kellar and Trigg being outstanding, especially on defensive play. The attack still requires polish.

West counted twice in the initial frame, marching from mid-field on both occasions despite penalties. Francis plunged from the two-yard line for the first score, Boye smashing for the point. Miles slipped through for six yards for the second six-pointer, Kellar booting the extra point with a perfect kick from placement.

After the Cowboys had received the opening kick-off of the second half, Owens, behind excellent interference, scampered 60 yards to tally again. Kellar missed the kick for point. Later, Boye heaved a beautiful 45-yard aerial to Miles, who scampered ten more to count his second touchdown of the day. Boye's plunge for point was good.

In the second stanza, with West reserves in the game, Aquinas' deadly passers started to hurl long heaves, one of which, Armstrong to Crawford, scored a touchdown. The West defense at this time was sluggish. Crawford making the 15-yard jaunt to the goal without effort. Aquinas was assisted in this score, also, by two 25-yard penalties against West, and a poor kick. The locals lost 95 yards via the penalty route, to 20 for the Dragons.

Crawford, Armstrong and McSweeny were the highlights for Mike Boland's eleven, although the visitors presented a woefully weak line.

Dogs! Dogs! Dolls! Dolls! And more dogs and dolls. More than 700 entrants in the Hilltop Dog and Doll Parade last Saturday, formed a line more than six blocks in length. And there were small dogs, one whose eyes were not yet blinded by the light of this world; there were large dogs, and old dogs, who, aged and toothless, wandered behind their masters; and all kinds of breeds and mongrels. Even Raymond, dean of Hilltop canines, and known to every youngster in the community, was entered, although he hung his head, for he deserved the head place in the parade.

Dolls, too, were in great abundance—large ones, so big that they had almost outgrown their buggies; and some so small that they were lost in the decorations. Like the Pied Piper of long ago, the Record Dog and Doll Parade attracted every doll or dog owning youngster in the community away from his or her home—and even parents dropped their morning chores to follow the procession.

After the parade, the judges announced the prize winners, and George Pekras, manager of the Rivoli theatre, treated the entrants to a free show. And the first annual Hilltop Record Dog and Doll Parade was over, a bigger and better event than the sponsors had anticipated.

Those winning prizes in the canine department were:

Best wagon load of dogs, five hound puppies, Elizabeth Walton, 30 Eldon Ave.

Prettiest dog, James Willis, 9, of 64 S. Harris Ave. Honorable mention in this division went to Lorene La Port, 16 Midland Ave.

Smallest dog, Dale Dawson.

Largest dog, German police, Bill Haines, 92 Haldy Ave. Special mention was given to Richard Miller, 2921 Parkside Dr., who entered an Irish setter.

Best decorated buggy, Mary Jean Mattox, 5, of 45 S. Terrace St.

Prettiest doll, Jean Freeman, 10, of 290 Nashaba Ave.

Largest doll, Mary Groves, 11, of 28 Midland Ave.

Judges were: Mrs. W. E. Ferguson, 235 Guernsey Ave.; Mrs. W. L. Millikin, 6 S. Warren Ave.; C. J. Kohn, 2456 W. Broad St., and V. E. Wolfe, 205 N. Warren Ave.

70th Anniversary Celebration Is Brought to Close

All Events Are Well Attended; Sioux Indians Send Telegram.

Activities of the Hilltop 70th Anniversary Celebration were brought to a close late this week with final bargain events by Hilltop merchants. The civic program was concluded Sunday afternoon at the community sing on the West High athletic field, attended by about 500.

Special numbers were provided by the Hilltop chorus and short addresses were given by Rev. Raymond Bauschard of St. Mary Magdalene church; Dr. Isaac Miller, district superintendent of the Methodist church, and H. G. Deems, a former president of the Hilltop Business Men's association. Songs were directed by W. E. Knox.

Participating members of the association declared other events were likewise successful. Large crowds visited the stores during the two-day treasure hunt and fall opening on Friday evening. Dancing at the Matsonia Gardens on Friday and Saturday evenings was likewise one of the pleasant activities.

The parade on Thursday evening attracted large crowds around the entire course in Sullivant and Hague avenues and West Broad street. The West High band had the honor of leading the parade.

An overflow crowd was attracted to Crystal Springs Friday night to witness the Indian Day pageant.

The following telegram received by Mrs. Irene S. McKinley, 139 Belvidere Ave., is an expression of appreciation from the Sioux Indians on the reservation at Pine Ridge, South Dakota:

"We the Sioux members of North American Indians now residing on Pine Ridge Reservation, South Dakota, do express ourselves in usual custom by offer of tribal peace pipe to the four winds that the kindness of the spirit may through its spiritual power create in the mind and the hearts of our white brothers a sincere feeling of righteousness and deeper feeling of sympathy to the remaining few looking up to you for protection and guidance we ask for the establishment of a memorial day, a day which we feel in furious battle in American conflict to bring history of America as a nation which stands for liberty and justice."

Charley Redcloud.

In a statement this week C. J. Kohn, president of the Hilltop Business Men's association, said, "I want to take this opportunity to thank all those who participated in the activities of the 70th anniversary celebration and to sincerely thank those who aided in any way in making the affair a success. I am sure that such co-operation is appreciated by every business firm on the Hilltop."

Bantams to Play On McKinley Field

Hilltop Midget Team to Meet Laundrymen On Saturday Morning.

On Saturday morning at 10 o'clock the Hilltop Bantamweight football team will meet the General Laundry team at McKinley field. Any boy interested in trying for a place on the Hilltop team is asked to report to Dick Murray or Paul Casey at John Burroughs school field any evening.

Hilltop Bantamweight team opened their season Saturday morning by running roughshod over the Clintonville team, 40-0. The Hilltop club scored three minutes after the game got under way when Schneider went over from the four-yard line. Miller added the extra point with a line plunge.

The next score came on a line plunge by Miller from the five-yard line. C. Waldo added the extra point.

Chuck Waldo scored two touchdowns in the third quarter on line plunges. Grubbs added the extra point. The last two scores were the result of intercepted passes. Chuck Miller grabbed the ball out of the air and rambled 60 yards behind interference. Bluech cut the last man down on the long jaunt thus making the touchdown possible. Scott Rose scored the last touchdown on an intercepted pass and ran 40 yards.

Junior Waldo, Scott Rose and Buckie played good ball on the line. Chuck Miller and Chuck Waldo were the big threats in the Hilltop backfield.

Substitutions—C. Waldo for Schneider, Massiow for Miller, Boehm for Grubbs, B. Mead for Moyer, Gardner for Buckie, Hastings for Chrisman, Emery for Maxwell, J. Mead for Graubel, F. Clark for Rose, L. LOOK in YOUR MIRROR

The skill that the greatest beauty scientists have used in preparing their products is lost if the application of them is not correct.
But wait! This may not be as easy as it seems.
Your eyes are critical eyes . . . but they cannot see in a "gloomy" room. If the light you use in the boudoir . . . is not bright, shadowless light, the making of ones toilette is difficult. Sufficient light for the eyes to see every detail of the face in a mirror, without shadows or glare is a most important requisite toward a lovely complexion.
You will find our Home Lighting Department ready to serve you . . . to help YOU get the correct amount of light for correct vision. Of course, There's no obligation. Just telephone.

ABOUT NIGHT FOOTBALL

West High football teams have never been successful in nocturnal battles, coming out on the short end on six occasions and but once on the long end. And there are two more night games scheduled for the 1932 squad which, coupled with the obvious Cowboy inexperience, does not speak well for a successful season viewed from the woe and lost column.

But this is the least of the arguments against the sport. Physically, it works hardships upon the athletes participating. To eat before the game would be obviously harmful, and after strenuous exercise prior to going to bed, even more so.

But the commercialization of the sport, especially in high school, is the greatest evil. In Louisville, when the two great high schools of that city meet on Thanksiving day, a price of five dollars in charged for box seats. Fortunately, no such condition exists in Columbus to such a commercialized degree. But when Central and South met at the Ohio Stadium last year, one dollar admission was charged. One can understand why prices remain at a higher level when the crowds overtax the regular high school stadia, but in a structure as adequate as the Ohio Stadium, no such prices need be charged. True it is that night games are the most successful from the box office point of view, and the monies realized from football go to support many minor sports. But even this does not counteract the fact that the boys participating are physically handicapped.

The high school should be more than a place of labor for the boy.

Man Killed By Shovel Operated By Brother

Walter Savage, 24, of 211 S. Richardson Ave., was crushed to death under a steam shovel operated by his brother, Raymond, age 30, on a road grading project near Woodsfield, Ohio, Tuesday.

Savage and his brother, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Savage of the Richardson avenue address were employed by the state highway department and had been living in a road camp near the scene of the job.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today at the C. J. Kohn chapel.

To Present Opera

West High In Nocturnal Tiff With Bulldogs

Fail to Stop "Lamp" Jinx at Lancaster; Bulldogs Heavy Favorites Tonight.

A fighting West High football aggregation will meet the formidable South High eleven on the Ann street field tonight in the second battle of the current campaign for the local squad and the inaugural melee for the Bulldogs. The game will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Bob Miles will probably be out of the game for the next four weeks. His hand was broken when he fell in practice Tuesday. Lorenz and Monroe will probably not see service tonight on account of injuries.

South is a heavy favorite, despite the fact that the Blue and Gray took a neat 20 to 0 lacing at the hands of Findlay last week while West was being nosed out by Lancaster 7 to 6. The team from up north was more powerful than any to show here this season, and had no difficulty in swamping the heavy South team, the Pierce-men being outclassed in every department. However, West will have difficulty in stopping the bullet-like rushes of Jones and Hoppe, and the heavy Bulldog forward wall will be hard to penetrate.

And the fact that the game will be a nocturnal affair will not add to the hopes of the cowpunchers. Last Friday at Lancaster, West lost its sixth game in seven tries under the lamps, being decisioned by the Purple and Gold by a score of 7 to 6.

West's inexperience again proved costly in the first defeat sustained by the local team this year. A fumble on the Cowboy five-yard mark gave Lancaster a scoring opportunity and dup advantage was taken. Hawkins, Lancaster's black thunderbolt, crashed into the line for the additional point. In the second period the Wisemen marched down the field to score via the straight football route, but Keller's kick from placement was wide, and the scoring was over for both teams.

Poor kicking again marked the Cowboy play along with erratic play within the 20-yard zone, although defensively, the team has improved tremendously holding the strong Lancaster team to a pair of first downs. Although West registered 10 first downs, most of them were recorded in the Brown and Buff territory. The Purple and Gold were the champions of their circuit last year, and have seven letter men back on this year's squad.

The other league game tonight will bring together North at Central, with the result a toss-up. The standing at present finds North, East and West in a deadlock for first place.

Grace Belle Day and Act Are Routed West

"The Three California Red Heads," composed of Marian Frances of New York City, Margaret Ray of Boston, and Grace Belle Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Day, 200 Avondale Ave. Columbus, after a tour of the New England states, have started west with their singing and dancing act.

At present they are at the Fox theatre in Philadelphia where they are playing in the same show with Madame Schumann-Heink, grand old lady of the operatic stage.

Present bookings will take them to Cleveland, New Orleans, and west to the coast. Their bookings in Germany have been postponed by their manager until the fall of 1933.

Liquor Problem to Be Discussed

Powell Ave. Dr. Thomas returned from a trip around the world less than two years ago, his observations being very recent.

3 Are Burned to Death In Crash

Car Overturns in Broad Street Near City Line Friday Night.

The dead were: Robert Wark, 40, of 253 E. Long St.; Mrs. Florence Wark, 40; A. S. Bradshaw, 47, of 206 S. Dawson Ave. Bexley.

Hilltop Bantam Team In Tie

Local Boys to Play South Siders On McKinley Field Saturday.

Hilltop Bantam team and General Laundry battled to a 6-6 tie Saturday morning at McKinley field. General Laundry scored in the second quarter after receiving the ball in mid-field. A pass, Barklow to Rambo, placed the ball on the 15-yard line. From there Mariand carried it over on line plays.

Hilltop scored in the third quarter after blocking a punt on the two-yard line. The punt was blocked by Buckle and Grashel, and recovered by Grashel on the one-yard line. On the next play Waldo went through center for a touchdown.

Hilltop also blocked another punt on their 20-yard line, but an intercepted pass stopped the rally on the five-yard line.

"Pollyanna" Coming to W. Jr. High Nov. 17-18

"Pollyanna," a comedy in four acts, will be presented by the 9A class at West Junior High school Nov. 17 and 18. The play is based on the famous story by Eleanor H. Porter and is full of interesting situations, comedy, optimism, and wholesome fun.

Two casts will present the play on the different evenings, thus giving more pupils a chance to perform. Settings and costumes are elaborate.

Public Urged to Buy Season Tickets At West

Hilltop football fans were urged this week to purchase season tickets for the West High games. Season books good for 32 events at the school during the present school year have been placed on sale at $3, bringing the admission price for single events down to a very low level.

These season books may be purchased on time by adults also with 50 cents as the down payment and 25 cents for each coupon used thereafter.

West will play four or more football games, two of them being night games with Central and South, the latter two having higher admission prices than afternoon games. Other coupons in the book may be used for basket-ball and baseball games.

O. C. Montgomery chairman of the athletic committee, pointed out this week that none of the city league games are scheduled at reduced prices, that gate admissions will be the same.

It is also explained that expenditures of the team are even higher this year than in previous years. All sporting goods are now subject to a heavy tax, increasing the burden of the school. This year about $500 worth of new equipment was purchased at West. Of this amount about $300 was spent for shoes costing over $9 per pair. In past years the policy has been for boys to provide their own shoes.

Another item of expense that has in some years been taken care of by the parents of football boys is that of doctor bills for treatment of injuries. This item is now taken care of by the athletic committee.

Hilltop football fans are reminded that if they desire to purchase single admission tickets for the games on the West field they will be favoring West by purchasing them at the school before 4 o'clock the day before the game. All of such ticket money will go to West. Otherwise one-half of the amount goes to the visiting team.

Perhaps the highest priced games in the city league are those at North High, student tickets being $6. At West students may buy season tickets for $3.50 cash or $3.00 on payment plan.

Depression Plant

A strange plant is on display in the window of Aunt Addie's Coffee Shop, 2383 W. Broad St. Hal Adamson, proprietor, calls it a "depression plant" because it lives on nothing. The plant was originally created by placing three small pieces of coal in a dish and pouring over them three teaspoons of salt, three tablespoons of water, three teaspoons of indigo and three drops of mercurochrome. It is said that cinders make a better plant than does coal. The formation has shown rapid growth in the past week.

New Principal At Highland

Miss Matilda Stuart, a Hilltop resident for many years, attended Highland Avenue school as a girl and was graduated from the school. Later she came back to Highland as a teacher and for 13 years she has held a teaching position at the school.

But on Tuesday Miss Stuart, who lives at 197 Highland Ave., was advanced to the highest position at the school. She was appointed principal to succeed Miss Ruby McMahon, who will go to Fairwood school as principal.

Miss Stuart has been teaching sixth grade. This place will now be taken by Miss Helen Snouffer, formerly a teacher at the Spring Street school.

On Wednesday Miss Stuart stated that the school would continue to be operated as it was under the guidance of Miss McMahon and she expressed a desire to have the hearty co-operation of parents and friends of the school.

Library Service Increase Shown

Gain of 3,427 Services for First Eight Months of This Year.

Hilltop people are doing more reading in 1932 than they did a year ago, according to figures tabulated this week by Miss Frances O'Brien, librarian at the Hilltop Library.

For the first eight months of 1931 the total services of the Hilltop branch amounted to 60,905 while for a similar period this year there were 64,332 services, a gain of 3,427 in circulation. During this latter period the library has been open but three days each week.

There has been a decline in the gain in memberships, however, for the same period. During the first eight months of 1931 there wer 683 members added while there have been but 625 for the first eight months of 1932. The total membership of the Hilltop branch now stands at 5,845.

There are now more members enrolled in the Hilltop library than there are books available, there being 5,824 books.

Books of all kinds will gladly be received as donations, Miss O'Brien says. There is especially a need for adult books. No appropriations for new books are in sight from the city.

For September the Hilltop branch led all others of the city in services and in new members, there being 6669 services and 106 new members.

Business Men to Ask For Repairs In Three Streets

Sullivant, Hague, and Broad Should Be Made Safer Is Opinion.

Advance guns in a battle to get repairs for Sullivant and Hague avenues and West Broad street beyond Hague avenue were sounded at the meeting of the Hilltop Business Men's association, Tuesday evening at the Matsonia.

A movement was set on foot to try again to secure repairs for these streets. It was pointed out that Sullivant and Hague avenues are in very bad condition and because of the failure of the Columbus Railway, Power & Light Co., and the Cincinnati and Lake Erie Traction Co., to provide repairs, these streets make automobile travel dangerous as well as very uncomfortable.

Again it was recalled that the promise of repairs to the tracks in West Broad street west of Hague avenue had not been carried out satisfactorily by the traction line.

In view of these conditions and the fact that the five-car trains operated by the traction line over this route make travel more dangerous the association will seek to have these trains broken up. A special committee will present the matter to city council soon. This committee is made up of Mary Benta, F. F. Shunk and A. C. Skipper.

That the recent installation of traffic lights in West Broad street on the Hilltop was an overdone was the concensus of opinion of those present at the meeting. That some of these lights were needed was agreed upon, but that others were mere disturbances was also agreed upon.

It was declared that no committee from the Hilltop Business Men's association had ever asked for this great number of lights. The matter was referred to the safety committee.

Membership was voted to the Ideal Dairy Products, 4065 Fisher Rd.

O. C. Montgomery of West High school was present and explained details of the season athletic tickets offered the public.

The following were named on a nominating committee: R. D. Hastings, Miss Edith Robbins, and A. C. Skipper. Two tickets will be presented at the November meeting and the election will be held in December.

C. S. Kennedy spoke concerning the advantages offered by the Columbus Evening school.

Clarence W. Latham, candidate for county commissioner, spoke briefly and extended greetings from Hilliards' Business Men's association.

FACTS ABOUT FEET

MOST MEN are much more interested in Automobiles than in FEET, yet the basic facts about feet are of far more importance to the average MAN than any Motor Car that will ever be built.

YOUR FEET ARE NOT MERELY THE END OF YOUR LEG!

Incorrect SHOES and resulting weak and abused FEET pave the way for NEURITIS RHEUMATISM, SIATICA and other serious bodily ailments.

EXCLUSIVE INNERSOLE CONSTRUCTION

RESILIENT PADS are inserted in the INNERSOLE to come under main weight bearing points of the FOOT, first METATARSAL JOINT and SESAMOIDS. These are the trouble points of the FOOT and should be protected.

Did you hear about the man 58 years old that was completely paralyzed? Both legs, both arms and hands, even his lips would not hold a glass-drinking tube. Osteopathic treatment restored him to health in five weeks. This was over three years ago and he is enjoying good health today. Ask Dr. R. D. Woodmansee about this case and consult him about your trouble.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to thank Rev. and Mrs. Mills for their words of sympathy and for their beautiful songs; the undertaker, the pallbearers, the State Hospital; friends and neighbors and all that sent flowers and all that assisted us during the death of our dear son, Donald White.
Mr. and Mrs. William Jenkinson and son James Earnest.

GOOD LUCK, HARTLEY!

C. Carlton Hartley's acceptance of the editorship of the Greenfield Times this week deprives the community of a splendid citizen and Hilltop booster. None who knew him in his six years with the Hilltop Record, and there were many, will wish him else than the best of luck in his new undertaking. He has chosen a new field, and he can well depart with the congratulations of the Hilltop, for his work here has been excellent in every detail.

The growth and development of the Hilltop Business Men's association, where he has served as secretary for four years, has felt the touch of his ideas and his efforts. The community at large has benefitted from his work in behalf of its welfare. The Record has developed and become more of a community institution than ever under his editorship. He has been truly a man worthy of his hire.

The Hilltop will miss him, although it will be hearty in extending congratulations and wishing him all the luck in the world. So long, Hartley!

DARK HORSES

West High's brilliant victory over the strong South team last week was a pleasant surprise. In fact, the team has fared far better than was expected throughout the initial half of the current campaign. And all this has caused the formerly skeptical Hilltop rooters to nourish hopes of a championship eleven.

It will be granted that West has splendid material—too, none other squad is better coached and trained in fundamental football—none is better equipped with fighting spirit. But, with a single exception, all league teams have more experienced men. And this is a vital factor in championship teams. We're not quite ready to predict a pennant for West. The easier part of the season is done, and over the horizon hang East and North and Central. Like Coznell Layman, West Junior coach, we prefer to polish championship trophies after Thanksgiving—not before.

The installation of traffic lights in no great abundance in the community has slowed down the flow of traffic to a marked degree on Broad street. But this feature is offset by the fact that three schools located on or near this heavily utilized thoroughfare necessitate careful driving. Still, with lights located as they are, for the most part, at jog streets, traffic could be moved out quicker by permitting right hand turns with the red light. Certainly, with traffic conditions in the community as deplorable as they are, especially in late afternoon, it would be worth a try.

What a whale of a difference one comma can make. The following note from J. F. Raymond, postmaster at the Hilltop station, stresses the point. "This is all in fun and no criticism, but gosh! wouldn't it be funny to see a post-office going down the street. Perhaps Mexico has portable post-offices." Commenting upon the following sentence as it appeared in the Spectator's column last week. "The card shows the postoffice of that city and a horse-drawn carriage going down the street."

CIVILIZATION WORTHWHILE?

Such is the question to be debated by Rabbi Tarshish and Lobagola, African Bushman, at Memorial Hall, Wednesday evening, Oct. 26. The Rabbi needs no introduction to Columbus folk, and Lobagola, educated savage that he is, will be equally well known soon if his initial appearance in Columbus last Friday night is any indication. He spoke at the Boy Scout Court of Honor and was so thoroughly interesting that the lights were turned out before the audience would leave the auditorium.

This adventurer, lecturer, author and traveller will take the negative side of the question, with Tarshish upholding the affirmative end. The former savage speaks excellent English, despite the fact that his early boyhood was spent in the African jungle. He first left the wilds when he was seven years old, returning four years later to become the husband of no less than six wives.

This debate, sponsored by the League for Economic Discussion, should be worth while, with even more interest in the final decision, to be rendered by means of a straw vote cast by those attending.

New Secretary

L. E. SAUNDERS

Mr. Saunders, of the firm of Shank & Saunders, was named secretary of the Hilltop Business Men's association to fill the unexpired term of C. Carlton Hartley, resigned. Mr. Saunders has been active in association work since the organization of his firm several years ago and is well known among residents of the Hilltop.

Rodeheaver To Direct Music

Chicago Man to Be Present At Hilltop Evangelistic Campaign.

Definite word was received this week from Homer Rodeheaver, Chicago, that he has accepted the invitation to be song and music director for the Union Evangelistic Campaign to be conducted by the churches of the Hilltop through Jan. 15 to Feb. 5.

Dr. J. C. Massee, Atlanta, Ga., one of the outstanding ministers of the country, will be the evangelist.

The various workers are completing plans for the campaign, which is expected to be one of the largest ever held in this community. Special nights for the various departments of the church and Sunday school will be sponsored. The community will be canvassed throughout in an effort to gather the largest evangelistic gathering possible through the period of the campaign.

Later announcements concerning this event will be forthcoming at a later date.

Willis with the approval of city council and the Franklin County Democratic organization. Grooms took over his new duties immediately, and will receive $165 a month during the first year of service.

Skeeters Go and Politicians Come

Now the fall is come. The sun has passed whatever it passes to offishally inaugurait th season. The last rane of autumn, a long drawn owt affare, hes cum an gawn. An with the cummin of cooler wether, skeeters will disappeer. Wich is good.

But with th arrival of cool wether, the politickal condishuns becum a littul warmer. About the latter part of October, things will be red hot, and them theis runnin fer office will haifta jump offen the fence they bin sittin on.

The reeson the democrats win the elections in October and lose in november is because the republikans aint bin abul to keep thar balance astride the politickal fence as long as the donkeys. They've always fell on the rite side afore the dems knowed what it was all about.

Schenz Named To Lead West Senior Class

Annual Election Held Tuesday; Two Teachers Added to Faculty.

The senior class of West High elected John Schenz, president; Charles Casey, vice president; Valeda Gugger, secretary, and Rose Mary Van Scoy, treasurer, at the meeting held in the auditorium, Tuesday, Oct. 18. The election, which was in charge of Mr. Neob was carried on in a new and informal way.

Wednesday, Oct. 12, each of the seniors were given ballots on which they were to vote for the students they thought were eligible, this constituting the primary.

Those having the highest number of votes were: John Bachman and John Schenz for president; for vice president, Charles Casey; for secretary, Valeda Gugger and Dolly Defenbaugh; for treasurer, Dorthea Lawson and Rose Mary VanScoy.

Much enthusiasm was shown by the seniors at their first meeting, and a successful year is anticipated by the newly elected officers and advisors.

Mrs. Helen Glick Secaur is filling Mrs. Griffin's place in the office.

OH, HOW

I Hate to Get Up in the Morning!

Alarm clocks are not the only instruments by which one may be aroused from pleasant slumber, a Hilltop boy learned this week. Sometimes, not often, great planks, like those used in the construction of fences, will serve the purpose efficiently, although in a somewhat rougher manner.

Joe Wylie, 15, of 187 S. Burgess Ave., fell asleep at the wheel of his car early last Saturday morning while driving on McKinley Ave., and when he awoke, a great plank from a guard rail along the road had rammed through the side of his machine, when it left the road and ran through the fence and down the embankment. Wylie narrowly escaped serious injury. He was treated at Mt. Carmel hospital and was reported this week to be much improved and sleeping sound again.

The resignation of C. Carlton Hartley, scoutmaster of troop 172, was officially accepted by the troop committee at the regular meeting at Hope Memorial church Monday night. Another scoutmaster will be appointed within the next month, John Wolfe taking charge of the troop until that time.

George Armour was elected scribe at the last meeting, at which time also, plans for an overnight hike to the Sugar Grove region were cancelled until a permanent scoutmaster can be selected. The troop had 100 per cent attendance at the court of honor Oct. 13.

It was decided by those present that the West Senior Church Basket-ball league would be shifted from West Market Hall to Glenwood Park shelter house for the coming season. Charles Seddon, recreation director, also an-

St. John Church to Burn Mortgage

Plans By Church Council Being Laid to Cancel Debt By Thanksgiving.

Plans are being made by the church council of St. John Lutheran church at Hague avenue and Broad street, to cancel the church debt by Thanksgiving, when it is hoped that a mortgage-burning ceremony can be held.

All church organizations are assisting in the effort to raise the final $800, $400 having already been contributed, $300 by the Sunday school and $100 by the Women's Aid and Missionary society. Further plans to raise the remainder of the payment will be announced later.

The debt, incurred in 1921 when the present structure was built, amounted to $25,000. The congregation formerly held services at its chapel at 66 S. Burgess Ave., under the leadership of Rev. G. W. Lose, now deceased. Rev. Henry E. Koch, the present pastor, came to Columbus in June, 1928.

Hartley Purchases Greenfield Times

Was Editor of Hilltop Record and Secretary of H. T. Business Men's Assn.

Purchase of The Greenfield Times, Greenfield, Ohio, by C. Carlton Hartley, for the past three years editor of the Hilltop Record, is announced this week. He assumed his new duties in Greenfield Monday.

Mr. Hartley became associated with the Record in 1926, while attending Ohio State university, and became editor one year later, which position he has held continuously. In 1928 he was elected secretary of the Hilltop Business Men's association, which position he filled along with his editorial duties.

In 1932 he organized Boy Scout Troop 172, meeting at Hope Memorial Presbyterian church. The troop was organized with a membership of nine boys and has steadily grown until now 18 boys are vitally interested in scouting. John Wolfe, 205 N. Warren Ave., has been associated with Mr. Hartley in this work.

Combining these duties has given Mr. Hartley and unusual opportunity of meeting and making friends with the many business and professional men and people in private walks of life on the Hilltop.

His many friends on the Hilltop feel their loss and will miss his pleasant associations in the future, but to the people of Greenfield and community heartily recommend him as a man worthy of their every confidence and a man who will be an asset to their community.

With his host of friends and former associates the Record joins in wishing him godspeed and unlimited success in his new field of endeavor.

Cowboys Rest After Downing Bulldogs 13-0

West Prepares for North Invasion Next Friday Afternoon.

West High gridders will still be atop the local scholastic ladder after league games have been run off this afternoon and tonight as a result of an open date in the Brown and Buff schedule. But with no game on tap, the local gridders will doubtlessly be quite busy scouting their opponents to come, especially North, who shares the pinnacle honors with the Cowpunchers and who invades the Hilltop stronghold next Friday afternoon in a game that will have some important bearing on the final standing of the loop.

A fighting West eleven emerged victorious last Friday night in a game played at South High, although the Bulldogs appeared rather sluggish and badly trained. The final score of 13 to 0 was largely a result of a poor South defense in the passing department, and the accurate aerials of Francis, whose receivers were always in open territory. The loss of Jones, brilliant South ball toter, also impaired the Blue and Gray attack to no little extent. He is the third South regular to be declared ineligible since the opening of the season. West continued to fumble in scoring territory, although the weakened Bulldogs could not take advantage of the breaks, when they recovered.

Games Tonight

East at North 8 p. m.

Aquinas at South 8 p. m.

West took advantage of the breaks, scoring twice through a Blue and Gray miscue. In the initial quarter, a blocked kick was recovered on the South thirty-yard line, from where the Wisemen marched to their first score, Boye going over for the touchdown from the 5-yard line. Kellar's place-kick for point was good. Early in the third quarter, Fischer recovered Hoppe's fumble of a Cowboy punt deep in South territory, and once again the West advanced the pigskin across the goal. Kellar's kick was low.

Throughout the game, West displayed a well-coached outfit, with plenty of fight making up for inexperience. The Cowboys counted a dozen first downs to a pair for South, one of which came as the result of a penalty. And the victory was sweet, too, for it will be remembered that South eeked out a 14 to 12 victory in a bitter struggle on the local lot last year, knocking the men of Wise out of a championship.

Dick Francis, one of the most promising young sophomores in the ball toting department, will be out for the rest of the season, it was learned this week. A broken ankle, sustained in the South fracas is not expected to mend in time for him to play again this season. Bob Miles, fleet backfielder, whose hand was broken in practice last week, may not be ready for the North game, it was reported. Other injuries were few at the West camp, where strenuous rehearsals are in vogue preparatory to the North invasion next Friday afternoon.

Results Cause This

Each week the Hilltop Record Want Ad section carries news of bargains being offered by Hilltop residents and business firms. In fact many of the advertisements are inserted by persons and firms who use this medium almost exclusively and consistently.

Selection of one good advertising medium that actually brings results means so much to a business firm. It is also good information for the person who has an occasional notice for the public.

Record Want Ads are read by hundreds of people each Friday. Hilltop residents know they are most likely to find what they want in the Record because this is the advertising and news medium of Hilltop people.

Better Business Bureau Extends Its Service

A plan to extend the bulletin service of the Columbus Better Business Bureau to smaller business men and those engaged in professional lines was announced today by bureau officials.

It provides for the extension of the Bureau's protective and educational messages to the smaller business men of nearby cities as well as Columbus, in an effort to cut down the amount of money lost in this vicinity through fraudulent schemes and promotions.

Harry Van Horn, manager of the bureau, said today he believed that this will greatly increase the resistance of the community to both swindles and deceptive propositions. Bureau bulletins have in the past been loaned to only the larger firms in the city, but recent experiences have shown the necessity of informing both the small and large business man of new schemes and trading practices, according to the bureau.

LeRoy Morris, extension manager of the bureau, will direct the bureau's work in this field, and several men will be employed by the bureau to introduce the service to Columbus and surrounding cities.

Dog Doll Parade Inspires Poem

"Faithful Dotty Ann" is the title of a poem received this week from Dorothy McHarvey, 129 S. Wheatland Ave. The poem was inspired by the Hilltop Record dog and doll parade on Saturday morning, Oct. 1, at which time Dorothy, aged 13, had "Dotty Ann" entered, but as she says, the judges didn't understand.

No, my dolly didn't win the prize,
For behavior, looks or size;
She's the best doll in the land,
But the judges there didn't understand.

And you never hear her grumble,
She sometimes puts me to shame,
She is always so contented,
Dotty Ann is her name.

And when it's time to go to bed,
She don't plead, "One minute more;"
She'll sleep alone in the dark,
I can even shut the door.

I can tell her all my secrets,
I don't caution her "Don't you tell;"
She won't even blot a little,
Or even try the word to spell.

And when I'm ill and put to bed
And can't go out to play,
She'll agree with what "Doc" said,
And contented at my side she'll lay.

And when I had scarlet fever
And my chums were all "afraid,"
In my room she always stayed.

Now isn't she the best doll in the land?

Teachers Take Graduate Work

Twenty-three West Junior Instructers Enrolled at University.

Twenty-three members of the West Junior High faculty are registered for graduate professional work in the college of education at Ohio State university, it was revealed this week by H. H. Reighley, principal of the school. This group has completed a total of 278 credit hours, averaging more than 12 hours each toward a master's degree in education.

This work is being done in an effort to improve instruction which will in turn benefit the student body. This record is comparable to that of any other junior high school in the city.

Grade cards, which were issued last Monday, showed a 2.3 per cent improvement over the marks recorded in October of last year. This improvement has been noted especially in the boys' work, the girls' average remaining stationary since last year. Over a period of three years, scholastic work of the boys has improved five per cent, while that of the girls shows less than two per cent improvement.

Statistics published by H. H. Reighley reveals that the girls, however, have had a much higher standing throughout. Foreign languages have the greatest number of excellent students among the boys, while B students in the ranks of the girls are most numerous in commercial work. The greatest number of poor students among the boys are found in foreign language and mathematics, while the girls seem to have the greatest difficulty with mathematics.

The 9A class play, "Pollyanna," which will be presented Nov. 17-18, by two different casts, is well under way and the players for both presentations will be announced next week.

George Heitz, science instructor, is president of the school bowling league, West Junior having two teams entered.

Miss Elnora Kautz, who sustained a broken ankle the Saturday prior to the opening of school, is again on duty, although still making use of crutches. She teaches commercial subjects.

Struck By Auto

Mrs. Raymond Crabbe, 1968 Sullivant Ave., was seriously injured Saturday night when she was struck by the auto of William Bugh, 341 Ryan Ave., at Columbian and Sullivant avenues. Possible fractures of the leg and head were treated at Radium hospital, where she was reported as little improved this week.

Triangles Form Alumni Chapter

The Triangles, honorary drafting club of West High school, lived again at Columbus Evening school last week when a group of Alpha Omicron Deltas, now taking drafting under Mr. Kennedy at that school, organized a graduate chapter with the following students present: Kelly Will, Larry Young, Mike Cain, Luttrell Rousch, Ed Johnson, Adolph Lustnauer, Alfred Schoch, Ben Williams and Theodore Bright. Several additional names are before the organization as applications for membership.

The club plans to follow the same ideals which have for six years been an integral part of the West High Triangle club namely, high scholarship, mutual professional advancement and social fellowship.

Plans are under way for a Hallowe'en party with a campfire, wieners and apples.

All graduate Alpha Deltas are urged to get in touch with the club draftsman of the club, Adolph Lustnauer, or call Mr. Kennedy, the instructor. Meetings are held Monday and Wednesday evenings at Columbus Evening school, room 16.

John Burroughs P.-T. A. Membership Drive Is Opened

Mrs. Mary Demorest and her room-mother helpers are putting on the annual membership drive of the John Burroughs Parent-Teacher association. Assisting them are the principal and children of the school as well as the teachers who have already received their charts. Membership blanks are being distributed by the pupils.

A prize is scheduled for the child bringing in the largest number of members; for the room having the largest number of members; for the room having the largest number of fathers; and the room-mother bringing in the largest number of members.

Mrs. Demorest in her paper which she read before the association meeting says:

"Now because parents and teachers are really guides in the learning process of children there should be closer relationship of these two important educational agencies. Parents have much to tell teachers regarding the individual child, and teachers may tell the parents how children behave in school, how they adjust themselves to strange adults, their special interests and their school activities."

Eng. Walnuts Ripen

George R. White, 78 S. Oakley Ave., has an English walnut tree in his yard which this year bore 70 fruits. It has produced nuts for the past four years, and is 16 years old. The fruit has the appearance of an ordinary black walnut, although the outer, fleshy coat has no brown secretion, and is somewhat more solid. Upon reaching maturity, the green covering bursts, divulging a clean, white English walnut.

Weisert With Prentice

Louis Weisert, formerly manager of the Hilltop branch of the Croith-Potter Lumber Co., is now in charge of the insulation department of the Prentice Lumber Co. Weisert has had several years experience in lumber business, having formerly been employed in a local factory where he acquired knowledge of the construction of high grade millwork. He was head of the Eureka Avenue plant for about four years. On Oct. 1 he assumed his new duties with the Prentice company.

John Burroughs P.-T. A. Notes

The Motherstingers will rehearse Monday, Oct. 24, at 1:00 p. m. in the school auditorium. Please bring regular church book also.

Mrs. Martha Price, director of the Motherstingers chorus, attended the music breakfast during the recent state convention.

Clothing, especially for boys, is still being received for the needy at the school.

Mrs. Mary Demorest, membership chairman, is being assisted by the room-mothers in the membership drive.

The fourth church night at Glenwood M. E. church will be held next Wednesday evening. The supper will be served by the C. I. C. class. A cordial invitation to all.

John Burroughs School News

The first meetings of the new Camp Fire groups of John Burroughs school will be held in the school Thursday afternoon. At this meeting the girls will select names for their groups and will fill out petitions for charters. Thirty-four girls interested in the Camp Fire program attended the meeting of the Wichita group last Thursday and listened to a talk given by Miss Ruth Haslett, Camp Fire executive.

A Wichita Camp Fire group of John Burroughs school will have a party at the home of Mary Katherine Cornwell next Thursday.

National Picture Week, Oct. 16-23, was celebrated in the sixth grade art classes. During this week every sixth grade class studied great artists and their masterpieces. The sixth B art class also visited the Columbus Art Gallery.

"The Trumpet" is the name of a monthly paper sponsored by Miss Bessie Jones of the 4B class. The editors are Catherine Aker and Harold Beckett. The staff of reporters are: Joseph Coll, Dorothy Cooley, Mildred Murray, Mitzi Fiskus and Lillian Garrison. An editor's box has been placed in the room. Whenever a child writes a story, editorial or book review it is placed in the box which is opened once a month and the best stories chosen. Then they fit up a dummy and the teacher prints the paper on the mimeograph.

Beware!

Heaven will for good seems to be the new slogan of some people, or at least it proved so in the experience of Mrs. A. L. Wagner, 777 N. Burgess Ave., Thursday afternoon, Oct. 13.

Mrs. Wagner was walking down Blaine boulevard about 2 o'clock in the afternoon when a sedan occupied by a well-dressed man and woman drew up to the curb along side of her and inquired the location of Mound street. Mrs. Wagner was kind enough to give the general direction of the street, whereupon the woman reached out of the machine window grabbed her pocketbook and the two sped away.

Fortunately Mrs. Wagner has left most of her money at home and lost only fifty cents along with the pocketbook.

Intramurals Popular At West Junior High

Eighty Boys Participate in Basket-ball Tourney.

More than 80 boys of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades at West Junior High school are participating in the intramural basket-ball tournament sponsored by Gosnell Layman, physical education director there. Junior and senior leagues have been organized, with games played on Monday and Thursday afternoons following school classes.

Eight teams comprise the senior league, with seven boys to each team. The captains in this circuit are: Kenneth Howard, Curtis Graves, Rex Rose, Lunar Faught, Kenneth Hallar, Scott Reese, Willis Ballatti, Bertis Chandler and Paul Legg. The teams of Rose, Hallar, Reese and Legg won their opening skirmishes last week. Two losses will eliminate a quintet from participation.

In the junior loop, Eugene Buckingham, Ed Jones, Charles Larkin and Curtis Coons are the captains. Following the games, short practice sessions are held preliminary to the selection of candidates for the school team. Dave Ballard, former West athlete and graduate of the education college at Ohio State university, assists Layman in sponsoring the games.

Contest at Library

A "Hidden Book Title" contest is to be held at the Hilltop Branch Library in connection with National Book Week, which will begin Nov. 19. The contest begins Saturday, Oct. 22, and ends Nov. 16. All boys and girls from the fourth to the ninth grades are eligible to enter. A prize will be awarded the winner of the contest, Nov. 19, the last day of "Book Week."

Three Weeks' Illness Fatal to Hilltop Man

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Barbara Bender; four sons, John, Leo, and Aloysius, all of Columbus, and Rev. Father Joseph Bender, pastor of St. Nicholas church, Zanesville; three daughters, Mrs. Norman Zick, Mrs. Richard Liddel and Mrs. Norman Beck, and 14 grandchildren. Funeral services were held at 9 a. m. Thursday in St. Aloysius church, with burial in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who so kindly assisted, and for the words of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings extended at the death of our beloved son and brother, Jimmy.

I wish to express my appreciation to friends and neighbors for sympathy shown me during my recent bereavement.

Mrs. M. LaMasters.

Last Saturday the local midgets crashed through with another win, defeating the South Side eleven by a 7 to 0 score. The touchdown was scored in the first quarter on a 40-yard march with Moyer, Massiow and Scheinder doing most of the ball toting, with Massiow making the final drive. Grubbs scored the extra point on an off-tackle slash.

nounced that the senior league church fees would be reduced to $15.00. The recreation department promised every possible co-operation with the association and asked that whatever grievances churches had against the department might be settled once and for all. All churches present unanimously expressed that they were fully in record with the policy of Director Charles Seddon and would continue to co-operate with the recreation department to the fullest extent possible. A recent movement to organize a Hilltop Church association was met with disapproval by the four Hilltop churches that were present at the meeting.

Churches that were unable to be present Monday are asked to get in touch with the recreation department or attend an important meeting at Glenwood Park Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. Preliminary plans for basket-ball, shuffle-board, and volley-ball, and election of officers will be the order of business.

The Spectator

GRANDSTANDS NEEDED

West High's Athletic field, probably the best in the city, is without a scoreboard, as necessary to the enjoyment of the game for many spectators. It is the only high school plant in the city without this convenience.

It was pointed out this week that such a board could be erected at the north end of the field, where it could be viewed to advantage from either set of seats, by the West manual training department. Little cost would be involved and that could well be taken care of by the school. The fine support given the team by the Hilltop people deserves this courtesy.

OTHERS MAY FOLLOW

Information revealing the fact that 23 West Junior High school teachers are taking graduate work at Ohio State university, thus improving themselves and their respective capacities as instructors, is not only encouraging, but worthy of the highest praise.

Few Columbus schools, if any, can boast of such a record, and the work of the pupils instructed will probably show a corresponding fluctuation. At West Junior, from statistics compiled from grades issued last week, a 2.3 per cent improvement was noted over those released in October, 1931.

The work of the officials in charge of West deserves commendation, but even more credit is due to those members of the faculty who are endeavoring to improve their professional capacities. Other schools and school teachers might do well to fashion a similar program for themselves, especially West Junior's big sister, West High. None can doubt that high school instruction should be of even a higher calibre than that of the lower grades. In no case should there be a noticeable letdown in the quality of instruction available.

"MOOCHERS"

So-called "moochers" infesting the streets of Columbus, no longer ask for a nickel, but a dime or a quarter. Approaching with an appealing, hungry look, they are apt to arouse one's sympathies to such an extent that they might extract a bit of change. And, we have it from a reliable source, that one can "make" as high as 18 dollars in a day. Thinking of that, it's difficult to lend financial assistance to one whose income is so great. Then, too, there are places in Columbus where they may be furnished a place to sleep and food to eat.

On the Hilltop this week, one of the clan, a bit wiser than his brothers, endeavored to strike pay dirt in another manner, we are informed. He journeyed from house to house, asking merely for a penny, a difficult requisition to refuse. Certainly the ancient philosophers were correct when they held that simplicity was the shortest road to success, regardless of the field of labor. A man so convinced that "little drops of water make the mighty ocean," might, if given the opportunity, be quite a Wall Street wizard.

Home-Coming Services

Sunday, Oct. 30, will be observed at the Hillcrest Baptist church, as "Harvest Home-coming." A good program is planned for both the morning and evening services. The choir will give special musical numbers. The public is invited.

North Favored In Grid Battle With West

Game to Get Under Way at 2:30 o'Clock; Miles and Francis Out.

Gloomy clouds hang low over the western horizon today as the Cowboys, having completed the first half of the season with a trio of victories in four starts, lock horns with the fast charging and powerful Polar Bear machine from up North this afternoon on the local field. The battle is scheduled to get under way at 2:30 o'clock.

Following their game with the favorite Tigers last Friday, the Bears are reported in tip-top condition, while, on the other hand, two main cogs in West's none too formidable offensive machinery, will be out of the game because of injuries, Miles, halfback, who broke his hand two weeks ago, will in all probability be on the bench throughout the game, although he may report in uniform. Francis, who sustained a chipped ankle bone in the South fracas, will not see action again this season.

The Cowboys' defense, which has fared better than expected to date, will get its initial acid test this afternoon when the northern thunderbolts, McCarroll, Phillips and Wiley strut their stuff. Too, North's fast charging and heavy line may play the local cowpunchers off their feet, for West has met no foe North's equal this year.

Drills this week in the camp of Wise and Buchanan were long and hard, stressing pass defense and offense. Punting, which was poor at the season's opening, has improved, as has passing, and it may be that the locals may be able to score on the Maroons, although a victory is predicted for the men of Hagley.

INFORMAL SCRIMMAGE

Wednesday afternoon an informal scrimmage was held with Holy Rosary High school, Cowboy first stringers failing to exhibit sufficient power to score on the lighter East Siders. Burdette, who is being groomed for Francis' position, showed little defensive ability. Another casualty was reported, further diminishing West's hopes this afternoon, when Fischer reinjured his knee. He probably will see some action, however.

Bantam Weights to Meet West-Siders

Game Saturday Morning at Sunshine Park.

The Hilltop bantamweight gridders won another victory Saturday morning on the Grandview field, taking the Tri-Villagers into camp by a score of 18 to 6.

The local midgets inaugurated the scoring festivities in the second quarter, Schneider carrying the ball. Miller added the extra point via the plunge route. A pass, Mayer to Miles, accounted for the other six-pointer, while the village bantams registered their lone tally as a result of line plunges by Deleweese.

The work of Miller and Grubbs in the ball toting department, the end play of Miles, and defensive play of Waldo stood out for the Hilltoppers.

At Sunshine Park, Saturday morning, the locals will continue their drive for the championship when they meet the strong West Side team. The game is scheduled to get under way at 9:45.

"Pollyanna" Leads Named At West Jr.

9A Play to Be Presented Two Nights By Different Casts.

"Pollyanna," the four-act play chosen by the 9A class of West Junior High school for production Nov. 17 and 18, is one of humor, optimism, and great human interest. The heroine, Pollyanna Whittier, the orphan daughter of a missionary in the Ozark mountains, arrives to live with her aunt, Miss Polly Harrington. Despite her cool reception she soon wins her way into the hearts of the whole village, including "Old Man Grouch" himself. Catastrophies overtake her but her undaunted philosophy wins in her own life and in the lives of all others with whom she comes in contact.

The part of Pollyanna will be played by Helen Lynn and Ruth Berndt. Shirley Templeton and Mary Kathryn Payne will take the role of "Aunt Polly" and "Old King Grouch" or John Pendleton, Esq., will be handled by William Blackburn and Chester Creason.

These members of the cast together with other members of the 9A class who make up the complete cast are working under the direction of Miss Velma Moss, dramatics instructor. The play will be presented by different casts on both nights, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 17 and 18.

Republican Rally, Old Time Parade Tuesday Evening

James R. Garfield, Son of Former President, Will Be the Speaker.

Sponsoring what they claim will be the biggest and most enthusiastic parade and rally of the campaign, the Republicans of the 9th, 10th and 11th wards and Norwich and Prairie townships will hold a joint meeting at West High school auditorium on Tuesday evening, Nov. 1, under the chairmanship of Mose M. Williams.

The parade will form at Sullivant and Hague avenues, passing east on Sullivant to Wheatland, north to Broad and out West Broad street to the auditorium, and will have a 60-piece band, two drum and bugle corps of 58 men, cannons mounted on trucks, a marching torch light section of 60 men, and for the first time in more than 12 years the famous Republican Glee club will form a marching unit in this parade, which is being copied after the old-time presidential parades of the eighties.

Music wagons, bells, whistles, sirens and noisemakers of any and every description will be used to fan Republican enthusiasm to fever heat. Marching units from each ward and township, as well as hundreds of cars advertising candidates will complete the procession.

At West High school the auditorium will have the appearance of a convention hall with banners marking sections allotted to the various wards and townships, and with a sergeant-at-arms and his corps of assistants handling seating arrangements.

The Republicans have secured from national headquarters one of the best known speakers in the nation to make the principal address, the man who occupied the spot light at the Chicago convention recently, James R. Garfield, son of former President Garfield. This will be Garfield's first speech in Ohio, as the speaking bureau has kept him busy in various key states, working for the national ticket.

Paul M. Herbert, former state senator, will make an address and will introduce the state candidates. All candidates will be in attendance at the meeting which is called for 8:00 p. m.

Mothers of the school are canvassing the district during this week and are asking the community to assist them in this worthy cause.

A Want Ad Pays For Rainy Days

Week after week, advertisers in the Record Want Ad columns are getting results—at a cost of but a few cents. You have items about the house which you don't need—items which someone else might well use. You could use a few extra dollars. Why not try a Want Ad. Others have, and you, perhaps, have thought of advertising, but just never took the time—just a few minutes—to insert an ad.

Don't wait! Next week someone may advertise and sell an article identical to the one you've been threatening to get rid of for months. Drop into the Record office right away. Then watch the results!

If you do not live near the office, take your ad to the nearest Want Ad station, listed on page 6. Someone there will serve you.

Have Meeting Place

For the first time in West High history there is a clubroom available the ninth period for any school organization that desires to use it.

The piano purchased last year has been placed in room 317, which easily accomodates seventy five. The selection of this light, airy room with comfortable seating solves a longstanding difficulty for the students at West High.

The clubs desiring to hold regular meetings there have chosen different days so that no possible conflict can occur. Each has been assigned a regular Tuesday or Thursday of each month which henceforth will be designated as club days.

New Members

Nineteen new members were admitted into the West Hi-Y at their meeting on Oct. 4. President Bob Miles stressed the importance of living up to the club ideals, and informed the unsuccessful candidates that they will probably be permitted to join at another time.

Mr. Kuylor, new faculty member, who was the Hi-Y supervisor in New Philadelphia, Ohio, has agreed to assist O. C. Montgomery as club advisor.

Reserve Drive Ends

The buff side of the buff and brown drive led by Barbara Brownbeat, president, proved winners in the annual Girl Reserve membership drive which ended at noon on Thursday, Oct. 6.

The drive, lasting two weeks, resulted in 98 members for the organization. As great an interest was shown this year as in former years when a similar campaign has been made.

The date for the Girl Reserve party has been set for Oct. 20 at which time the losing side, or brown, led by Betty Penton, vice president, may have to entertain the victors. Buff and brown are the school colors.

Committees Announced

West cabinet is meeting weekly. Wednesday afternoons. At their last meeting the following committees and chairmen were appointed: Social, Marjorie Nicholas; program, Betty Finke; service, Bonnie O'Donnell, and music, Patty Lou Gibson.

Librarians Have Picnic

The librarians of Starling Junior High and Miss Larned, the supervisor, went on a picnic to Westgate Park, Saturday, Oct. 22. Those who attended were: Miss Larned, Martha Bretzer, Claris Bieber, Eileen Taylor, Kathryn Hutchison, Marian Bauer, Jack Schmidt, Tasker Bliss, Carl Jones, Albert Morrow, Willard Chambers, and Stanley Edgington.

The Girls' Glee club of Starling has an enrollment of 50 members. Officers for the year are as follows: President, Martha Bretzer; secretary and treasurer, Jean Sadler; librarians, Frances Schreiner, Elizabeth Conle; accompanist, Helen Mowery.

The glee club meets twice a week in room 38 under the supervision of Mrs. Wood. They are planning to sing for school programs, P.-T. A. and many other entertainments.

West High Choir to Sing at Convention

The Capella choir of West High school have been requested to contribute a few selections to the program at a session of the Central Ohio Teachers' association to be held Friday morning at the B. K. O. theatre, at 9:00 o'clock.

The numbers included in the program are: "The Prayer Perfect," "God Rest Our Glorious Land," "Kye Song of Saint Bride."

Late Touchdown Is Fatal to West Siders

Scoring a touchdown in the closing seconds of play, the Mendel Tailors gave the West Side A. C.'s title hopes a severe setback Sunday afternoon in a game played at Nell Park. After a 65-yard march, the ball was on the 1-yard line when the game neared its close. Patterson, stellar Mendel ball toter, crashed the center of the line for the lone marker of the game.

The West Side team, managed by Pat Sullivan and coached by Paul Casey, former West High athlete, had won every tilt until Sunday, and neared the heavyweight championship of Columbus.

Honorary Society Takes In Members

The respective chairmen of these groups are as follows: Wilma Janes, Lillian Felton, Francis Baker, Howard Wellman and Denver Jividen.

Junior high schools with organized teams are: Pilgrim, Mound, Indianola, Starling, West Junior and an all-star team from Everett and Barrett.

The league will operate throughout the winter months.

Snakes!

Some people may dread even the thoughts of snakes, but not little Jean Reed, 205 N. Wayne Ave., who brought four of the reptiles to the Record office this week. Three house snakes and one garter snake appeared in her collection—and she caught them in her garden Saturday.

TROOP 172

At the regular meeting of Troop 172 at Hope Memorial Presbyterian church, plans were formulated for the next two weeks' activities. Friday night, Oct. 28, a Hallowe'en party will be featured at the home of Harold Waller, patrol leader of the Champion Flying Eagle Patrol. Cider, home-made pumpkin pie, and doughnuts will be the refreshments, following entertainment and games.

Monday, Oct. 31, the first annual troop inspection will be held, the winning patrol to be awarded a ribbon. Saturday, Nov. 5, a hike will be held, leaving Hague avenue and Broad street at 12:30.

No scoutmaster has, as yet, been selected by the troop committee to succeed C. Carlton Hartley, resigned.

TROOP 19

Boy Scouts of Troop 19 held their weekly meeting at Glenwood M. E. church Monday night with a total of 17 present. Six visitors and five officials also attended. Following the usual opening ceremonies, games and instruction periods were in order. The opening of the mystery box, announcements, and benediction completed the program.

On Saturday, Oct. 22, fourteen boys attended a hike on which several tests were passed. Sunday, Oct. 23, George Callig, Harley Clark, Tom Kimmel, Richard Gilger, C. M. Marsh, R. L. Bidwell, and Robert March spent a day at Conkle's Hollow as the reward for winning a patrol contest in their troop.

Leaky Basements Repaired By Firm

New Local Company Introduces Special Method of Waterproofing.

While waterproofing of leaky basements and other mineral surfaces in general is not a new business by any means, the lack of perfected methods has considerably handicapped success in this field.

The introduction of a scientifically developed material and engineering technique insuring permanency and thoroughness to the completion of any waterproofing job, has resulted in the formation of a local organization known as the General Waterproofing & Engineering Co.

The Prentice Lumber Co., 441 N. Front St., was the first to bring to this city a material known as Stuk-Rok. It is designed to permanently prevent water penetration through any cement or mineral wall foundation, or floor, the dealers claim.

Stuk-Rok is a mineral paint that turns to rock 24 hours after it is applied, making any surface both waterproof and fireproof.

It is exactly like covering a surface with a coat of marble. Stuk-Rok is made in all colors and costs no more than ordinary paint.

Werner Interested

Jack Werner, an executive of the Prentice company, and widely known in local lumber circles, is associated with the new concern and believes he has found an economical remedy for leaky and deteriorating basements.

The new concern does not limit its activities to the waterproofing. Through its materials and methods it claims ability to recondition any old cement structure in a minimum of time.

Refinish Stucco Homes

It also offers to refinish stucco houses, permanently and in an indestructible manner hardening the surface so that there will be no more cracking, checking, and crumbling down of the stucco texture throughout the entire existence of the building.

William P. Miller, Columbus contractor, is construction superintendent, having complete charge of all contracts. H. W. Peters, 1184 Glenn Ave., is also a member of the sales organization.

MANY THINGS CHANGE

Someone insists that the children of today have lost their respect for their elders; that they have lost all sense of propriety and good taste; and even infers that it has been always thus, quoting from the ancient Greek philosopher, Socrates, who spoke the following, some 2500 years ago:

"The children now love luxury, they have bad manners, contempt for authority, they show disrespect to elders and love chatter in place of exercise. Children are now tyrants, not the servants of their household. They no longer rise when elders enter the room. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up the dainties at the table, cross their legs and tyranize over their teachers."

Now, in this period of transition, as it has been termed, much of what the old heads have clung to for many years, is passing away. And, typical, is it not, of youth, to discard in no uncertain methods, that which has seen its days. Take the economic system, as one of many examples. The modern age has hardly lived long enough to grow attached to this thing, and what it has seen of the institution, has been largely unfavorable. And, observing that things could be better, and hindered by no sentimental bonds, the children smile—perhaps a bit contemptuously. They know that things are not as they could be. The older generation clings to hope as the gateway to prosperity—for their time is yet short, and to begin anew would be a lost cause.

But there is nothing to be gained by discourtesy on the part of the younger generation. Still, it may be that they are as they are because of a natural sequence of circumstance. Tell a small boy that Einstein is a great man, and he'll pay little heed, for Einstein has done little for him. Tell the present generation that their elders are the essence of experience and wisdom—and they, too, look around at their heritage coming up, and pay little attention.

MOSTLY ABOUT BOYS

Legend has it that boys are notoriously fond of filling their pockets with tonds, turtles, trinkets, string and what not; that they are naturally inclined to hate English grammar, and the like at school; even school itself, although they are supposed to submit themselves to the torture reluctantly. Boys are supposed to be interested more in getting themselves dirty than keeping themselves clean. All these things are true—according to legend.

But now come some statistics from a fine educational structure—the posterity of the little red school house on the hill.

Here's what the figures say. Boys still find English to be a stumbling block, for they rate lowest in this department. Math is the next most difficult, and then comes science. Strange to relate, history ranks third from the top. Stranger still, perhaps, foreign language is the second easiest subject, while, lo and behold, the modern American boy excels in the commercial subjects—typewriting, bookkeeping and the like. Shades of Tom Sawyer—where are the boys of yesteryear?

None are out in the field and wood after school hours, seeking walnuts and hickory nuts—or a very few. Imagine going to typewriting class with walnut stain on one's fingers! Many are at the corner drug store, however, and similar places—acquiring some sort of an education. And it's a different type from that the legendary boy received. Not that the corner drug store is a necessarily bad place to be, but the environment is certainly different. Strange might be the boys of today in the sight of Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer. But, we suppose, the boys of today, as they now and then ponder over the keys of their typewriters and shorthand notes, marvel at the queerness of the more rural types that have preceded them.

Club Organized

A Ketterer-for-Sheriff club was organized this week at the home of Mrs. L. G. Benedict, 186 Belvidere Ave., Monday evening, Oct. 31. Forty-two attended the meeting, electing Mrs. Benedict, president; Mrs. Nancy Baily, vice president; Mrs. Harry Keeton, secretary, and Mrs. E. Finneran, treasurer.

West Churches Seek Teams to Enter Leagues

Co-operation Needed if Glenwood Shelter House Can Be Used for Winter Program.

If the Hilltop churches are to have a regular place for athletic competition, more co-operation on their part is necessary, according to reports emanating from the headquarters of the West Church Athletic association this week.

Heretofor, winter athletics have been scheduled for the West Market House, but the basket-ball leagues will function at the Glenwood shelter house this year and it is hoped that enough teams can be entered to fill the program at this center.

Besides the basket-ball leagues, volley ball and shuffle board loops are being planned, but it will be necessary to enlist the support of several local churches which have not, up to the present time, been members of the association.

Four basket-ball leagues, including a girls' circuit, should be organized if the plan is successful. It was pointed out that a representative for men and women should be appointed at each church, who will be responsible for teams entered. Practice sessions can be scheduled for one afternoon and an evening each week.

Efforts are also going forward to complete several improvements at Glenwood. It is necessary, however, to keep the building in constant use before such improvements can become realities. W. L. Millikin, councilman, is in favor of these improvements, which include seats for spectators, according to Frank H. Constans, assistant to A. W. Lemon, president of the association.

Those interested in entering the association are asked to get in touch with the recreation department, or A. W. Lemon, head of the association.

West to Put On Mid-Winter Show

Opera "Martha" Postponed Until February; Showboat in December.

The opera "Martha" has been chosen this year to be the annual production put on by the music department. In order to give more time for its preparation, the variety show, last year called the "Midwinter Frolic," will be given first, probably early in December while the opera will be sometime in February.

This year's frolic will be built around a show-boat idea. The stage will be arranged to resemble a river steamer and the entire performance will take place without change of scenery.

Unlike last year there will be no definite division of minstrel, play and vaudeville. Except for the play, "The Trysting Place," which takes place on board the boat, the entire show will be in the hands of the black-faced end-men and the various masters of ceremony. The variety numbers of song, dance, and comedy will be unannounced but will appear as a continuation of the general plot.

All students of the eleventh and twelfth grades wishing to try out for comedy acts are requested to report to the dramatics coaches before the 15th of November.

Mound St. School Plans for P.-T. A.

During a meeting of about 25 mothers held Wednesday afternoon in the new Mound Street school it was decided to form a Parent-Teachers' association for that school. Mrs. Hurd, 312 Binns Blvd., presided over the meeting, and a short address was given by Mrs. McMillen. Miss Mary Bentz was named temporary chairman, and the room-mother, Mrs. Richards, 534 Nashoba Ave.; Mrs. Hunter, 241 Nashoba Ave., and Mrs. Yost, 2105 Sullivant Ave., were named as a nominating committee. Those present will conduct a membership campaign between now and the next meeting, which will be held Nov. 16 at 1:30 p. m.

Radio Party

A radio party and open house will be held at the K. of P. hall, Burgess and Broad, next Tuesday evening to hear the election returns. This party is sponsored by Westwood lodge and is strictly non-partisan, and the public is invited. Cider and doughnuts will be the tempting menu. The radio for this party is being furnished by the Westgate Electric Co.

Ministers Plan Union Services

Union Worship to Be Conducted at Hilltop Church of Christ.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hilltop Ministers' association was held Tuesday morning in the Hillcrest Baptist church study with 14 local pastors in attendance—a record for the association.

Discussion of the union Thanksgiving Service was the main topic and it was decided that worship this year will be conducted at the Hilltop Church of Christ, with Rev. E. L. Motter, pastor of Glenwood M. E. church, being the speaker. The offering will be turned over to the Friends Rescue Home on Hague avenue. This service, an annual custom in this community for several years, will be held on Wednesday evening, Nov. 23.

An invitation was extended by the association, to all ministers of evangelical faiths to participate in the services. Non-members of the organization are also asked to attend the meetings.

Further announcements concerning the Thanksgiving worship will be made later.

Hilltop Pianists Will Play Sunday

Norman Broadway, of 110 S. Roys Ave., and John Fredrick Osborn, 53 S. Powell Ave., pupils of Dr. Grant Councell, will play Sunday afternoon, Nov. 6, at 4 o'clock in the Capitol College of Oratory and Music recital hall, Neil avenue at Third. Mr. Broadway will play the composition he played at the national competitive contest for high school students held in Marion last June, where he won the gold medal. Master John Fredrick Osborn will play his own compositions.

Hilltop Choruses Prepared For Eisteddfod At Jackson Tonight

Hilltop Business Men and Glenwood M. E. Choir to Meet Stiff Competition in Annual Song Fest.

The Hilltop Business Men's Male Chorus and the Glenwood M. E. Mixed Choir will leave this afternoon for Jackson, Ohio, to participate in the annual eisteddfod held there. And the local groups will have plenty of competition, especially in the male chorus division, where the Lima Harmonic club and the Ohio State University Men's Glee club are outstanding entries.

Last February, at Marion, Ohio, the Lima chorus, which for 35 years has sung under the same director, shaded the Hilltop chorus by ever so slight a margin. It was reported at the time, that the decision could have gone either way. And W. Haydn Jones, director, hopes to reverse the situation at Jackson.

There are those who believe the local group will rank high, but the favorites and the club that will have to be defeated is the University Glee club. "Night and Dawn," the number to be sung, is essentially a piece for younger voices, according to Jones. The local chorus is composed largely of experienced singers.

William E. Knox, 133 Eldon Ave., who will direct the Columbus Oratorio Society mixed chorus, too, will have stiff competition, as will the Glenwood choir, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Riddile Walton. The local participating groups and friends will leave this afternoon via bus from Hague avenue and Broad street at 3:30.

And by the way, the correct pronunciation of "eisteddfod" is "ess teth vod," with the accent on the second syllable, and the final d silent. The word is derived from the Welsh "eisteedd" meaning "to sit." The word was first applied to the gathering of Welsh bards, minstrels, and literati of Wales, at which contests, singing, harping, orations and the reading of poetry were featured. The institution has been authentically traced to the twelfth century, but in its present form it is a nineteenth century revival.

Local Schools to Observe American Education Week

The twelfth annual American Education Week will be observed Nov. 7 to 13. Since this nation-wide celebration began, a generation of young people has passed through the schools and there has been an unprecedented growth in the demand for educational service with a corresponding extension of educational opportunity. Today there are thirty million young people in the schools of the United States, including five million in high schools and another million in colleges.

The general theme for 1932 is "The Schools and the Nation's Founders." The following topics are suggested for day-by-day programs: Monday, Nov. 7, "The Homes of the Pioneers;" Tuesday, Nov. 8, "The Schools of the Pioneers;" Wednesday, Nov. 9, "Two Centuries of Progress in New-World Schools;" Thursday, Nov. 10, "The Schools and Equality of Opportunity;" Friday, Nov. 11, "The Schools and American Ideals;" Saturday, Nov. 12, "The Schools and Progressive Living;" Sunday, Nov. 13, "The Schools and the Things of the Spirit." Each state and locality will adapt the program to its needs and conditions.

At West Broad Street school, parents and friends will be welcomed any day. But Thursday, Nov. 10, will be the special day when every parent is urged to visit the school. Assembly at 8:30 will begin the day's program, exhibits of work will be in rooms and halls, the work of classes will be carried on that parents may see the daily plans for the school. Every visitor will be asked to register. Last year the number of visitors was 1000.

The work of the boys and girls at Highland Avenue school will be on exhibit in the halls and classrooms. Next Wednesday has been chosen by the children and their teachers as the special visiting day. Major subjects will be taught in the afternoon so that busy parents may visit the classes. Assembly programs will be given in the halls each day at 11 o'clock. Thursday evening at 7:30 the school will be host to the P.-T. A. Parents and friends of the schools are cordially invited to visit Highland Avenue school next week.

Tuesday at West High, a Armistice Day and Education program will be combined, "Schools and Nation's Founders" being the theme, with as will also have a program.

George Jackson Taken By Death

Former Hilltop Attorney Dies At Grant Hospital Saturday.

George H. Jackson, aged 32, of 1569 E. Broad St., attorney and former resident of the Hilltop, died in Grant hospital Saturday night, Oct. 29, from complications resulting from injuries sustained in a fall several weeks ago.

For the past five years he had practiced law at 20 E. Broad St. Before that he was associated with the law firm of Cowan, Adams and Adams at 42 E. Gay St. He graduated from West High school in 1920, attending Wilmington college, Ohio State university, and the Y. M. C. A. Law school. He was a member of the Agonis club, a first lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve corps, and a member of Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity.

He had been married two months, moving at that time to the East Broad street residence. He formerly resided on the Hilltop.

He is survived by his wife, Violet Sharpe Jackson; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce P. Jackson, 34 S. Harris Ave.; a brother, Robert, and a sister Millicent Jackson, both of Columbus, and by his grandmother, Mrs. Sarah L. Jackson, of Springfield, Ohio.

Funeral services Tuesday were in charge of Spears & Born.

Camp Chase Legion Post to Give Flag

Sunday morning, Nov. 6, the Camp Chase Post of the American Legion will present an American flag to the Warren Avenue Evangelical church of which Rev. F. S. Robinson is pastor.

A program is being arranged by the post commander, George M. Ward. The organization will march in a body from their headquarters at 2373 W. Broad St., headed by the drum and bugle corps.

The public is invited to attend the services which will open at 10:30.

A. W. Lemon Heads Church League

Elected By Athletic Directors At Meeting Last Week.

A. W. Lemon, Wiltshire avenue, was elected president of the West Church Athletic association last week at a meeting held at the Glenwood shelter house. Lemon has been active in church athletics throughout the city for many years, formerly serving as president of the North Church association. He is a former team-mate of Johnny Miner at Grace M. E., and now attends Hoge Memorial church, where he is active in the Boy Scout and athletic organizations.

Lemon will endeavor this winter to develop the girls' basket-ball league on a higher plane, as well as make some improvements in the various men's leagues.

In all probability the West Church Recreation Ball League will again operate next year under the sponsorship of the city recreation department, it was learned. Several Hilltop churches, however, will not be among the competing teams as heretofore. These teams will carry forward plans to organize a Hilltop League early in the spring.

Missionary Society Has Thankoffering Program

The annual thankoffering service of the St. John Lutheran Women's Aid-Missionary society will be held Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 8, in the church basement. A covered dish luncheon will be served prior to the program.

A playlet, "Under the Shadow of His Wings," by Mrs. Edward Lauer and R. Rachman, will open the service, followed by a duet by Mrs. V. E. Wolfe and Mrs. Fred Raether. The address will be delivered by Mrs. J. Bodensieck, followed by a responsive thankoffering service, "My Thanksgiving Creed."

"Billy Coon" Making Friends On Sullivant Ave.

Children passing William McCarty's filling station at Oakley and Sullivant, have found a new subject for school themes in the full-grown male raccoon tethered on his plot.

Billy Coon, as he has been christened, was presented to Mr. McCarty two years ago by a friend who had taken him, spitting and clawing, out of a tree surrounded by snarling dogs. In spite of that rather unsettling experience, Billy has grown into a pet whose disposition is as admirable as his glossy, dark coat. Besides being a favorite object of interest to children he is used to train 'coon dogs, and although great care is taken to give him a good, safe perch in a tree after the trail has been laid, he has had several narrow escapes from hounds who wanted to keep on playing after the game was over. His diet consists of what is usually fed to dogs, besides what earthworms and beetles he can turn up for himself. Civilization, while teaching him to refrain from biting, even when rather roughly handled, has not entirely taught him that washing his food is not always necessary. Careful dipping in water of everything he eats is indispensable to his happiness.

Bantamweights Play For Title

Locals Meet St. Clair Juniors Saturday Morning On McKinley Field.

The Hilltop Bantamweight gridders and the St. Clair Juniors will tangle at McKinley field Saturday morning for the championship of Columbus in a game that is scheduled to get under way promptly at 10 o'clock.

Paul Casey and Dick Murray have worked their charges hard throughout the week and are primed for the encounter which may mean the title for their eleven. Only a tie game with General Laundry mars the otherwise immaculate record of the locals, while the Juniors have yet to taste defeat.

Midget Standing

Team	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
St. Clair Juniors	5	0	0	1.000
Hilltop	4	0	1	1.000
West	5	2	0	.600
General Laun.	3	2	1	.600
Bexley	2	3	0	.400
Tri-Village	2	4	0	.333
South	1	5	0	.167
Clintonville	1	5	0	.167

The East Side boys are proteges of Tom Tiberi, and have proved to be the outstanding team in the loop, having yet to see the first point scored against them. Casey's lads, however, have a fine opportunity to blemish this record, even to the extent of winning the game.

Saturday morning, in a bitter struggle, the Hilltoppers set back the West Side team by a score of 6 to 0, Grubbs scoring the touchdown from the one-yard line. His pass to Maxwell had placed the ball in scoring position.

Officials for Saturday's titular fracas are: Stanton Jones, Hart, Larkins and Winks.

Community Fund

Solicitation of funds for the Community Chest will start Nov. 14. Mrs. W. E. Ferguson, 235 Guernsey Ave., has accepted the chairmanship for the Hilltop women's division. Mrs. Ferguson has divided the division into districts which will be in charge of team captains. Workers under these team captains are needed to help with this work and Mrs. Ferguson will greatly appreciate any co-operation.

Youth's Day Program at Oakley Ave. Church

The second Sunday in November will be celebrated at the Oakley Avenue Baptist church as Youth's Day. The young people will conduct the entire services in the morning, afternoon and evening.

The Youth's Day committee will present Penelope Johnson at the church in a violin recital Thursday evening, Nov. 10, at 8:15 o'clock. Prof. O. S. Kraeuter will be her accompanist. There will also be piano numbers by Gertrude Lambert. Miss Anna V. Hughes is the guest speaker.

Foot Injured

Mr. Charles Trotwine, 370 S. Wayne Ave., was injured last Friday, while loading a transfer truck, when a heavy piece of iron fell on his foot breaking two bones of the instep. He was X-rayed and treated at emergency clinic by Dr. C. E. Sharp.

Cowboys Will Meet Central This Afternoon

Pirates Favored to Win Over Crippled Cowboy Eleven.

West High's battered and bruised Cowboys will invade the Pirate domain today when they tackle the rejuvenated Central team in a game that should force the locals to play their best brand of football if they are to win. The battle will get under way at 3:15.

The Pirates, after a poor start, have hit their stride, and in no mean fashion, and are favored to get sweet revenge for the unexpected victory scored by the Hilltoppers last year on the West field while they were championship bound.

West will enter the fray, again in a crippled condition and also outweighed, although the line has a slight edge over the Central forwards. Francis, whose injured ankle kept him out of the North game, will continue to occupy the bench, and Miles, fleet backfielder, will not be in the best condition due to a broken bone in his hand that has not fully mended.

Last Friday's tilt with North on the local field ran true to predictions, despite the fact that North fumbled frequently and had a sloppy offense. The final score was 19-0.

West's poor punting was again a vital factor in the Maroon victory, while the running ability of Francis was sorely missed. Passing was poor, also, with the exception of a few moments in the latter part of the game when Miles and Burdett were inserted into the line-up to make a creditable showing, albeit late.

On the line, the play of Deshler, Michaelis, Keller and Casey was good. Jividen and Boye stood out among the backfielders with a 40-yard gallop each. Aside from these instances the West team never threatened the Polar Bear goal, never getting within forty yards of the final line.

THE JUDICIAL BALLOT

As the election campaign draws to a close the confusion of partisan issues tends to overshadow the fact that there are a number of important judicial positions to be filled this fall. The names of the candidates for judges in the various courts will appear on the separate non-partisan judicial ballot.

Because of the large contribution made by him for the past twenty years, in the upbuilding of this section of the city, we call attention especially to the candidacy of Judge Cecil J. Randall for re-election to the Common Pleas bench.

Before his elevation to the bench Judge Randall for seven years was a member of the Columbus Board of Education. During this period more money was invested in school property on the West Side than in the entire history of the city prior to that time. It is a well-known fact that the new West High school building was erected, when it was, very largely through his efforts. The old West High school was enlarged and modernized for use by Starling Junior High school during his period of service on the board of education. West Broad Street school and John Burroughs were both greatly enlarged during the same period.

On the bench Judge Randall has won the approval not only of the bar, which has recently endorsed him for re-election, but of the people as well.

During the past two years he has served in all the different branches of the Common Pleas court. While on the criminal bench, he tried many important cases, the most noted of which were the murder cases growing out of the Ohio Penitentiary fire. In this branch of the court he made a rule that no one convicted of a crime of violence should go unpunished. On the other hand he adopted a liberal policy toward first offenders in crimes of a lesser character by placing the defendants on probation. Practically all of these probationers have made good, thereby confirming his judgment in giving them a chance. In the civil branches of the court lawyers who practice before him highly commend his patience and fairness and the justice of his decisions.

In his campaign two years ago he challenged the admiration of the entire community by winning a triumphant victory in the face of powerful opposition. He has been faithful to his trust.

Judge Randall was the first Franklin County Common Pleas Judge ever elected from the territory west of the Scioto river. It is our judgment that he richly deserves to be re-elected for the full term.

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY

Next Tuesday the nation will give political expression to its choice in the selection of various men and women for political office, representing shades of opinion as resplendent in color and profusion as the rainbow, including the strain that portrays the pot of gold that seems to lie just across the meadow, under an optical illusion.

What will the harvest be? How representative will be the expressed will of the one hundred and twenty million people. During that exciting year of 1928 approximately thirty-six million voters expressed themselves at the polls, which we find represents approximately 66 per cent of the voting population of the entire country. We also learn that during the twelve years past, the average polled vote represents only 53 per cent of the total possible vote. By way of contrast we discover that Germany, a young republic of sixty-five million people, cast votes equal to 83 per cent of its possible voting population during its last general election.

What is the trouble in America? Does the apathy shown toward our responsibility to popular government reflect itself in a like attitude on the part of public officials in the performance of their duties? It is something to get serious about. If every eligible man and woman would exercise their right of franchise, it is more than likely that merit would rule in the selection of public officials.

There is one redeeming feature beginning to manifest itself in our political complex. Party allegiance is not as strong as it once was. An ever growing number of people are showing their good sense in rising above party lines where the issue is clearly drawn as to the character of the man or the principle involved.

Voting is the first step, and our individual responsibility to good government.

ACCUMULATING

Henry Ford says that no business he has ever known of went to the wall without accumulating a vast pile of dirt.

The accumulation of a vast pile of dirt may be good reason for business failure but it is also true that many of the cleanest and most orderly (from the surface) places of business fail. In these instances we would say showmanship has been overvalued. Had there been more real business there would probably be more of an accumulation.

The PEOPLES COLUMN

MUST WE UNEDUCATE OURSELVES

As we observe the struggle all about, the effort to a satisfactory adjustment of our individual and collective problems, we are urged to believe that we have been educated outside the realm of reality.

Our educational processes have been of hot house growth and it looks like we may have run out of fuel, consisting of nervous energy and funds, with which to continue the forcing process. We all want to be a little of everything, and not much of anything.

Our children learn to read big words by sound and to do numerous other things far in advance of their years, and have no conception of what they are doing, or have done, and when the time comes for them to naturally make use of the things they have been doing, they must again learn why. We pass up entirely, or give scant attention to fundamentals and cram the young student so full of social activity that they approach their adolescent years with a hodge podge idea of what they are entering high school for. They do seem to have learned that they must pattern after someone in mode of dress, and must eat at a cafeteria, and the school they attend must have a first-class gym, a band with full dress uniform, a basket-ball and football team full equipped and a new stadium. There must also be a large variety of fraternity and social functions. The same plan continues through high school of always grasping for more activity than it is humanely possible to rightly absorb, and the average student emerges from high school seeking a place in life's activities or a vocation, as a great many of them do at this juncture in their career, and find themselves unfitted to grasp at anything definite.

We seem to have enlarged upon the idea of broadening our horizon but failed to anchor to some central force of security about which we could gravitate. We have been obsessed with the idea of educating our demands without respect to producing the necessary means of support.

Our educators are not wholly responsible for this untenable position. They are only a part of the general order of frenzy that has been woven into our fabric of living. The whole theme of education, including the home, school, church, social and business clings to a fast and furious order of routine and machine-like repetition. Father, mother, brother and sister have such an array of conflicting interests that it looks like a merry-go-round going in both directions at one and the same time. The panoramic view of our social order is something like a three ring circus with everybody trying to see everything at the same time. Irritation is rampant, congeniality and compatibility is unstable in the extreme and decision seems to be a lost art.

The commercial life is stepped up with sales promotions and advertising schemes on the one hand, with depleting reserves and devitalizing underpaid services on the other, with the mortality rate of business is one of alarming proportions. The outlook seems to be about to be overtaken by the undo, then what to do will find most of us with nothing to do. It will be something like the sensation that comes from suddenly stopping an overplayed radio.

We haven't appreciated the too many things we have in the past had and as a consequence many misuses and abuses have crept in and set up a destroying influence.

We are not on the whole conversant enough with how things come about, or the necessary process of their endurance. Too many things are taken for granted. Parental influences has been too shielding and indulgent, both at home and in government, people will not concern themselves so much so long as they are getting about what they want and without much effort, and this has permitted a dangerous growth of self destroying influence.

Unelucting to become re-educated simplifying our standards of standing, sifting the dross, learning that menial is not meanful, and that words and deeds live to reproduce themselves, we envision an era, now in the embryo stage, full of a new sense of enjoyment and happiness, the like of which the world has never known.

—O. H. Craft.

To the Editor:

President Hoover in his Cleveland speech tried to drive home two main points. The war and condi lons abroad caused our depression. Second, a protective tariff is a good thing for the working people of this country, and has been especially beneficial in this depression.

The books and professors in economics at the Ohio State university teach that the evils of a protective tariff at the present economic development of this country far outweigh and offset the benefits. Nor do the other departments like geography, history, political science, and philosophy teach any conflicting ideas. In economics every possible benefit of a protective tariff is studied. Every argument is torn apart. The only argument granted to be sound is the one about national self-sufficiency in time of war. This is somewhat offset by the fact that war would be far less common if tariffs were not used in economic rivalry.

A student studies economics three months before he gets into foreign trade and the tariff problem. About a week is spent on these problems. It should be plain how hard it would be to explain the fallacies of Mr. Hoover's stand to a person who never studied economics in five minutes on a street corner, or in a short letter such as this. I only wish to point out here that Mr. Hoover and the educators of this country are at odds. They can't both be right.

Business cycles are studied in an advanced course in economics. After the history of these cycles are studied, after all the explanations of men have been studied about causes, after the courses of events are traced through the various panics and depressions, the class studies the latest depression in detail. One member of the class gave a report on all the causes he could find set forth by writers and speakers. There were nine or ten causes. Some authors thought their cause to be the only one. Others believed that there were more than one single cause. The class and the professor tried to evaluate the relative weight of these causes. I can well remember, as I still have in my notes, that all but one in the class thought that the late war had the least to do with the present depression. The professor said it was not a cause, although debt settlement problems might prolong or intensify it to some extent. None thought it was one of the chief causes.

Again Mr. Hoover and the educators are at odds. I think he is wrong. But, if he is right, we had better do away with higher education. The professors are converting some of the most hard heads among the younger generation. I was a Republican by birth, myself. I got the cure.

THE NATURE TRAIL

Through Woods and Fields
With JOHN N. WOLFE

OCTOBER PASSES

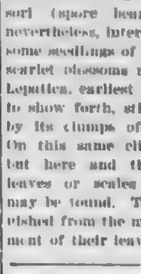
In the hills, colorful October passes, its beauty lingering yet a few days into November, when soft, gray days presage the winter season. Now the ridges are aflame with brilliant hues of yellow, russet, gold, crimson and here and there, a splash of green. The frosty morning, with its invigorating charm, sends the nature lover into the woodlands with bubbling spirits.

Now a gust of wind sends a shower of golden leaves earthward from some maple, and the hazy landscape is set shimmering in the sunlight as many trembling, quiver yet in the tree tops. The woodland floor is being recarpeted, soon, however, to lose its color, as the leaves decay and perish.

On some moss-covered cliff, its green a striking contrast to the hues about, clings the tiny walking fern, by no means a common plant. Lacing the graceful fronds of our more general Filicales, its long, linear arrow-shaped leaf, covered on the under side with sori (spore bearing structures), is nevertheless, interesting. Here too, are some seedlings of the columbine, whose scarlet blossoms nod in May; and the Lepatica, earliest of our spring flowers to show forth, still may be recognized by its clumps of liver-shaped leaves. On this same cliff, mosses dominate, but here and there the two-ranked leaves or scales of some liverworts may be found. The latter are distinguished from the mosses by the arrangement of their leaves, which are always two ranked (extending in but two planes), whereas the mosses are many ranked.

The New England Aster's rich purple shines on the wooded slopes, and the lighter-hued Heart-leafed Aster, too, grows in abundance. These plants, because of their great variability, are difficult to identify, although the first mentioned, has as its outstanding characteristic, the deep purple color. The Dog-wood, with its scarlet berries furnishing abundant food for birds, vies with the sumac for brilliance of foliage, for both are deep scarlet. The sturdy oaks, retaining their leaves throughout the winter, add their touch of richness to the landscape, with russets and browns.

Down along the creek, the sparkling waters are cold now, and watercress, water-crowfoot, an aquatic grass and green algae appear in certain places, although soon to die until the coming again of spring. Over the edge of the woods, a hawk circles, and farther away, crows call, assembling by the hundreds for their flight south. A few will stay, however, and gray November days will blend with their shrill calls. Blue-birds are feeding on the berries of Poison Ivy, the leaves of which have turned a fiery red.



Once again, "the dying season all the landscape charms." And midst the fire of autumn, winter creeps slowly in. The dominant yellows of the maples and hickories, the reds of dogwood and sumac and gum, the purplish-bronze of oak, blending with unnumbered shades of crimson, all give mute testimony that plant life is at rest. All nature, it seems, "wraps the draperies of its couch about it, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

"Wedding of Father Nile" Celebrated

ONE of the gaily decorated barges participating in the ancient and picturesque ceremony of Wafa el Nil (wedding of Father Nile), which marks the rising of the river to the point necessary for irrigating every part of the Nile valley. Thousands of years ago the priests of Egypt annually sacrificed a young maiden to the Nile during the ceremony as the canals were cut amid great rejoicing and the water allowed to flow from the Nile throughout the land. Now, because of modern irrigation, it is no longer necessary to cut the dams, nor is it desirable to sacrifice a young maiden, but the elaborate ceremonies are held just the same, with firework displays after sundown.

John Burroughs School Notes

All parents and friends of John Burroughs school are urged to visit the school during American Education Week, Nov. 7-11.

"Visit Your School" is the title of a pamphlet that has been sent to each parent in the school district. This pamphlet contains an invitation to parents, a message to parents, daily topics for the week, and the program for the P.-T. A. meeting which will be held during American Education Week.

The message to parents reads: "This message is sent to you in connection with American Education Week, celebrated during the week which includes Armistic Day. Each year at this time parents, citizens, teachers, and children join in a nation-wide tribute to the common school."

In the pamphlet issued, H. L. McMillen, principal, the teachers, and the pupils extend this invitation to the patrons of John Burroughs school: "Every parent and friend of the school is cordially invited to visit the school during this week. We especially invite you for Wednesday and for the P.-T. A. meeting that evening. This is to be 'Open House' for us. Exhibits of work will be on display in all rooms that you may see the kinds of work your boy or girl is doing from day to day."

In regular classwork these daily topics for the week will be stressed by pupils and teachers: Monday, "The Home of the Pioneers;" Tuesday, "The Schools of the Pioneers;" Wednesday, "Two Centuries of Progress in New World Schools;" Thursday, "The School and Equality of Opportunity."

John Burroughs school has also requested the neighborhood churches to observe American Education Week by including the topic "The School and the Things of the Spirit" in their Sunday services and by impressing on their members the duty of all good citizens to become acquainted with their schools.

TROOP 45

At the last meeting of troop 45 at the school, Coach Wise made a talk about the Prodigal Son's finding himself. The coach was asked to talk by Joe Kirkpatrick and Curtiss Allen who were in charge of the meeting that night. Friday, Oct. 28, twelve boys from the troop did some civic service for the C. O. T. A. convention. Mr. Shriber, chief scout executive of Central Ohio, and two Eagle scouts, Dale Jenkins of troop 45 and Charles Van Leemven of troop 40, represented the scouts of the central area of Ohio to the men at the Business Exchange banquet, Thursday, Oct. 27.

TROOP 172

Troop 172 at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church held one of the peppiest meetings of the year Monday night, holding its first patrol inspection, passing two tenderfoots, planning a hike for Saturday, Nov. 5, and playing games. Announcement of an overnight winter camp to the Sugar Grove region was made. Tentative date was set for Dec. 20, 27 and 28.

The troop committee will report on its selection of a scoutmaster next Monday evening. Quarterly patrol inspection will be in vogue throughout the year. The next one is scheduled for Feb. 22. The Wolf Patrol, under the leadership of Jim Hastings, won first place Monday. Ribbons were awarded the winning patrol which had a score of 79 out of a possible 100. The Flying Eagles, Harold Weller patrol leader, came in second with 76. Eugene Buckingham's Beavers had 69.

Trophy Placed At West High

West High has in its trophy case the intramural plaque which was presented to them by the city last year. The plaque was won on points gained by participation of boys in games during gym classes and after school. West High had 7,528 boy participants which was more than any other school in the city. Central was second with 4,314 participants.

West High girls were second in the intramural, with 14,202, and Central High girls won with 17,498 participants.

West Side A. C. Meets Trouts In Return Tilt

Loser Will Be Eliminated from City Heavyweight Scramble.

Paul Casey's fighting West Side A. C. gridders, who were forced to eat humble pie two weeks ago when the Mendel Tailor's downed them 6 to 0, will strive to remain in the city heavyweight title scramble this Sunday when they meet the Trout Collegians in a return engagement.

Earlier in the season the locals defeated the South Siders 7 to 6 in one of the most thrilling games of the year. This Sunday they will attempt to eliminate once and for all the Collegians from the race.

The game is scheduled to get under way at 2:30.

ROSS E. ANDERSON

Thoroughly Familiar With Sheriff's Duties

HAS HELD EVERY POSITION COMING UNDER OFFICE'S JURISDICTION

Since Ross E. Anderson, Republican candidate for Sheriff, was appointed Deputy Sheriff in 1920, he has served under Frank Holycross, Walter Boyer, Walter Gump, and Harry Paul, and there is not a job under the Sheriff's office that he has not, at some time, filled capably.

From the time his family left their Fayette county farm to come to Columbus, in 1898, his career has been a series of expedients adopted to offset the difficulties in getting along that every boy in moderate circumstances faces.

After graduating from public school in Columbus, he went to work as a bricklayer, spending his evenings for several years in business college, and the Y. M. C. A. night school. For six more years he learned the trade of baker, but abandoned it in 1912 to take a position with the Jeffrey Mfg. Co., where he finally became night foreman of the machine shop.

In 1918 he was called to Hampton Roads on government service in the Public Works Department, and on his return to Columbus, was employed by the Ford Motor Co. as Stock Auditor.

Although an active Republican since he cast his first vote, Mr. Anderson first entered public life when Frank Holycross made him Deputy Sheriff in 1920. In the last 12 years he has advanced from one position to another, and is so familiar with each function of the office that he is in a position to provide the utmost in economy to the taxpayers of this county.

He is a member of the Chanty Newsies, Eagles, Elks, Lions' Club, K. of P., and the Masons, and has for hobbies hunting, trapshooting and bowling, but the high spot of his year comes at Christmas time. He visits a number of schools in Columbus and has the principal pick out about a dozen little girls who look as if they weren't expecting much from Santa Claus, takes them home with him, and lets his 13-year-old daughter play hostess to them at a turkey dinner and a real Christmas party.

A resident of the city for 34 years, Mr. Anderson is proud of being a citizen of Columbus, and is equally proud of his attractive home at 2411 North Fourth Street, where he resides with his mother, wife and daughter.

Bartlett Scores Approving Foreclosures

R. & L. Refusal to Accept Certificates on Loans Draws Fire

"The Franklin county common pleas judges could regulate foreclosures on mortgaged property if they were so inclined, Ralph J. Bartlett, Democratic candidate for Judge, said in a Seventh Ward rally Friday night at the home of James T. Foley, 435 Trevitt street.

"Judges in Summit, Hamilton and Cuyahoga counties have taken note of the serious condition of property owners and have taken steps in softening the consequences," he said.

R. J. BARTLETT

Not Absolute Legal Right

"The granting of a foreclosure is not an absolute legal right, but an equity right which means the judge has ultimate discretion in whether or not property should be foreclosed.

"Now is the time to get a law granting a moratorium on foreclosures. No statute is necessary to prevent the immediate tragic effects attending foreclosures if the judge on the bench has sufficient courage and is guided by human rather than pie.

"The building and loans have given their depositors to understand that they could have their money anytime they wanted it. They have advised their depositors to save for a rainy day.

"Rainiest of Days"

"Yet we have the sad spectacle of our building and loans foreclosing and selling the homes of their depositors, the rainiest day of their life, and refusing to accept their certificates to be applied on their loans in order to prevent foreclosures.

"I say that when a building and loan refuses to accept their own certificates to prevent the sale of the home of one of its depositors it has no right in the court of equity and the court should deny it the right to foreclose on such homes." (Columbus Citizen, Oct. 1, 1932.

Men May Prepare for Better Times

Columbus Evening School Offers Practical Courses for Unemployed.

Unemployed men have a real opportunity to prepare for better times by attending the Columbus Evening school now in session in the Central High building. Especially is this true of the man who has been pursuing a trade.

The school is well equipped and throughout practical problems are presented and solved. Here the machinist will have at his command engine lathes, planers, shapers, drill presses, boring and drilling machines, and a complete detail of machine tools and parts, the equal of any commercial shop in the city.

Here the electrician may use both A. C. and D. C. current by means of converters. His working equipment will include a three wire 15 kilowatt motor-generator; a 10 kilowatt alternator with single, two, three and six phase currents; phase changing transformers, series, shunt, and compound motors; 10 h. p. slip ring A. C. motors; 10 h. p. squirrel cage A. C. motors; repulsion type A. C. motors and complete testing equipment for experimental work on all equipment. The theories advanced during the first part of the evening are tested and proven during the latter part of the period.

The pattern shop is equipped with disc sanders, 30-inch disc surfacer, 10-inch jointer, circular saws, band saws, and 10 turning lathes. The carpentry and cabinet shop boast the same equipment with six lathes and a mortiser.

A cylinder press, three job presses, power cutter, power stitcher, punch machine and 35 series of type and miscellaneous items are available in the print shop.

Two drafting rooms are thoroughly equipped for teaching architectural, machine, structural steel, and electrical drafting, sheet metal and pattern design, blue print reading and estimating.

LET'S TALK OF SALADS

By MARION B. GEORGE
Wesson Oil & Snowdrift Co.

"By shallow rivers, to whose falls Melodious birds sing madrigals."

I have been vacationing in one of Ohio's prettiest spots which is also historical. The name, Clifton is descriptive, for there are large cliffs in the gorge. You know, Daniel Boone escaped from his foes by jumping from the edge of one.

There's an old tavern in the village and you will be well looked after by Mrs. Yeazelly and her two smiling helpers, who give you chicken dinners and everything. The tavern was built in 1836.

Not far from here is a real old stone house (1812) now occupied by some of my friends, the Tuttles, who cheerfully show the place to you. There's an old open fireplace where oft' times a fire burns cheerfully at night. The windows have wide sills and there are many little intriguing cupboards. Tecumseh used to visit here and somewhere in the vicinity it is believed, is his chair. Arrow heads can be picked up in the surrounding fields.

Of course, no matter how old or historical a place may be, we moderns have to eat. Just try frying bacon and eggs and potatoes in the open. Boy, but it's good!

Watercress is abundant down here so here's a Daniel Boone Salad.

Daniel Boone Salad

Arrange watercress on the salad plate. (By the way, watercress is full of iron content and should be eaten freely.) Three slices of beet, three slices of onion and three slices of green pepper (which should never be called mangoes) are arranged tastefully on the cress. Use simple French dressing containing dill pickle on this.

Watercress, tomato, and hard cooked egg make a good salad, and the following dressing is good on it.

Do Luxe Dressing

½ cup Wesson Oil
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup vinegar
1-3 cup catsup
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon onion salt
1 teaspoon paprika

Put all in a bowl and beat with in good to taste, good to look at, and rotary beater four or five minutes. It keeps well.

I have a wonderful salad for a picnic. A fruit one. The fruit can be carried along "au naturelle," and is rather different from usual picnic salads.

Banana, Peach and Nut Salad

Slice as many peaches and bananas as needed into a large, pretty bowl. Sprinkle with pecans and use this:

Lemon Fruit Dressing

1 whole egg well beaten
2 cups granulated sugar
2 tablespoons corn starch
Juice and rind of one lemon
1 cup boiling water
3 tablespoons Wesson Oil

Mix and cook in double boiler until thick.

We had this salad at a picnic, made right before our eyes, and in spite of all that chicken, deviled eggs, tomatoes, and this year's strawberry preserves, none of this delightful salad was left.

Alas, vacations don't last, but then—"I've been to the rim of the world—and beyond,
But I'm heading home tonight."

Hot Fruit Biscuits Sure to Please

Apricot Biscuits—Sift two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder and one teaspoon salt. Cut in three tablespoons shortening. Beat one egg well, and blend with one-half cup apricot pulp made by draining and pressing canned fruit through sieve. Add one-fourth cup apricot syrup, and combine mixture with dry ingredients. Put or roll out gently, and cut in rounds. Bake in very hot, 450-degree oven, twelve to fifteen minutes.

Scotch Peach Cakes—Cream half cup shortening and half cup sugar; add one well-beaten egg. Make one-third cup peach puree by pressing canned peaches fruit and syrup through a sieve. Add to first mixture. Add one and one-half cups sifted pastry flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon soda and a few grains of salt, then one cup quick-cooking oatmeal. Chill. Drop small spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Leave two inches between, as the dough spreads. Bake in moderate, 350-degree, oven for about ten minutes. Makes about four dozen.

Cake and Icing

Coconut Layer Cake—Cream together one-third cup butter and one cup sugar. Sift together one and one-half cups cake flour, two teaspoons baking powder, and one-fourth teaspoon salt, and add alternately with one-half cup diluted evaporated milk. Add one-half teaspoon almond flavoring, and fold in four stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake in two layers in moderate—375 degree—oven for about twenty minutes. Cool, spread with the following icing, and sprinkle each layer and sides thickly with coconut.

Seven Minute Icing—Mix one cup sugar one-fourth teaspoon cream of tartar, four tablespoons cold water and one unbeaten egg white in top of a double boiler. Place over boiling water and beat constantly with a Dover beater for just seven minutes. Remove at once. Serves twelve. Save the other half for the following day. It keeps very moist.

Raised Muffins

One cup of milk, one-half cup of butter, one-third yeast cake, two egg whites, one small tablespoon salt, two and one half tablespoons sugar.

Heat, milk, add butter, sugar, and salt, and stir until it dissolves. Then dissolve yeast cake in a quarter of a cup of lukewarm water. Add to the lukewarm milk mixture flour enough so the dough will drop from a spoon. Dough must be left to rise over night if to be used for breakfast, or during the day for dinner. Then make into muffins. Bake in muffin tins.

Macaroni and Salmon Salad

Boil one package of elbow macaroni until tender, drain and cool. Add one-fourth cup French dressing, one-half green pepper, one cup chopped celery and two teaspoons chopped onion, and let marinate in the refrigerator for an hour or so. Toss lightly with the contents of a one-pound can of salmon which has also been chilled and left in as large pieces as possible. Moisten with mayonnaise. Season to taste and serve cold. Serves six to eight.

Restock your medicine cabinet at Umbenhaur's Rexall 1c Sale.

Baked Custard

3 eggs
3 tablespoonfuls sugar
Salt
3 cupfuls milk
1 teaspoonful vanilla
Nutmeg

Beat the eggs enough to mix the yolks and whites and add the other ingredients. Pour into custard cups and set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven until the custard is set. This may be tested by trying with a knife, and if the mixture is jellied it is ready to remove from the oven. Set the cups where they will cool quickly.

Ham and Corn Fritters

Use baked ham and have it cut in very thin slices. Saute ham in butter and place ham on top of two medium sized corn fritters. Make the fritters of one and a half cups of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, and one teaspoon of salt; one egg, half a cup of milk; one and one-half cups of chopped cooked corn and three tablespoons of melted butter. Make pancakes medium size and fry in hot butter. If you drop the mixture from a large spoon it will make the size pancake required. Serve hot, with spiced prunes. Serve with butter sauce, chopped parsley, or chopped mushrooms.

Old-Fashioned Cheese Cake

2 cupfuls cottage cheese.
¾ cupful milk
2 eggs
½ cupful sugar
½ teaspoonful salt
½ teaspoonful cinnamon

Try Pineapple Coffee Cake

Pineapple Coffee Cake — Make a sponge by softening one cake yeast in one-fourth cup lukewarm water with one teaspoon sugar, and adding one-half cup evaporated milk which has been combined with one-half cup boiling water and cooled to lukewarm, and one cup flour. Beat well, and let rise until very light, about one to one and one-half hours. To this light sponge add one well-beaten egg, one-half cup sugar and four tablespoons butter, softened or melted. Then add two and one-half or three cups flour and one teaspoon salt, using just sufficient flour to make dough stiff enough to knead, the less the better. Knead well, and let rise again until double in bulk. Cut down, knead slightly and put into large flat rounds in buttered cake or pie tins. Have dough fairly thin; brush top with butter and let rise double. Meanwhile boil together till very thick one No. 2 can crushed pineapple, one-half cup sugar and a few grains of salt. Spread this mixture on the dough just before putting into oven and sprinkle top with brown sugar. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, twenty-five to thirty minutes. Makes two rounds the size of ordinary pie tins.

Did you hear about the murderer at the Ohio Penitentiary who received an unconditional pardon from the Governor and was released to die from a spinal injury? Called an Osteopath to treat him at one of the Columbus hospitals, who reduced his injury and saved his life. The convict then left for another state. Don't give up hope in your case until you consult Dr. R. H. Woolmansee about your injury.

The LOOKOUT

CONGRATULATIONS

To W. Haydn Jones, for his able direction of a chorus that won the male chorus division prize of the annual Elsteddfod at Jackson, Ohio, last Friday night.

To the chorus as a whole, for its success after long hours of rehearsal. The victory must have been worth the time involved.

To Mary Riddile Walton and the Glenwood M. E. choir for its fine showing in the church choir division.

To the Business Men, however, the greatest praise is due. When it is realized that among their competitors was the Lima Harmonica, organized under the same director for 30 years, and the Ohio State University Men's Glee Club, singing a number "made" for young voices, the victory seems doubly sweet.

Congratulations!

VOTING

Now that the windstorms are over and prosperity is about to emerge from some hide-out about the corner, it won't hurt to speak of intelligent voting.

A local resident tells of one who voted for Roosevelt because his (Roosevelt's) dad was such a fine executive. And another who thought that Theodore Roosevelt's first cousin was even a better candidate than Theodore, himself.

Et cetera!

DEPRESSION

"Younger Generation Aided By Lesson of Depression" reads a headline. Apparently the younger generation is difficult to teach, if one regards the length of the assignment as a criterion. Or else, the older generation hasn't caught on to the lesson, with all its ramifications, it continues to teach. We reckoned a long time ago, however, that some philosopher among the older heads would come forth with a word to the wise about this depression, despite the fact that he failed to learn his lesson during some depression of his youth.

FOOTBALL

With the Cowboys out of the race for the title, as in years past, they still have an opportunity to spoil the glory of another. In the game with East, one week hence, a victory for the Wisemen will force the Tigers into a deadlock with North for the hunting.

But, according to the predictions, East will be the champions!

A star East hall toter predicts a Tiger victory by 40 points. A sport scribe of a Columbus daily guesses only 30 points. A fan predicts humiliating defeat. Another scribe limits the rambles of Starrett to 24 points. Locally, hope reigns supreme basing it on the victories of West over North two years ago, and Central last year. Personally, West will win a close one, or get murdered worse than any of the predictions. What do you think?

ELECTION

The election has come and gone. And the future is likely to bring many ifs. If so and so had been elected—or if so and so had not been elected—things would be different. There will be many complaints, and the offices which appeared as roses full blown, and for which many strived, may prove to be equipped with many thorns. For new officers in no way affect the condition of the times. The people have made a choice, and regardless of the capabilities of the men they chose, these officials will be forced to bear the jeers of those who cheered them. Especially in times like these.

Who Won the War?—Iky

Dear fokes:

Es you probally no, today is bein sellabrated in memry of the closin of the wore an the signin of the armistis. But, as you know, thar's not a hole lot to cheer about yit, for the wore is still bein felt around the world, and we'd be a heep better off if we'd quit cheerin about winnin the wore and start figgerin how whether we did or not.

Or better yit, git some sort of a system started whereby them thet wants to fite kin do it off in sum pasture or woodlot by themselves. Thar's jist a few, I reckon, thet ever gits such ideas enny how. Thar aint no sense in draggin the hole world into a personal quibble between a few dollar grabbin monkeys.

Yores, Iky.

Hartley Honored At B. M. Meeting

Evening Includes Music, Nominations—Chorus Lauded for Work at Jackson.

The November meeting of the Hilltop Business Men's association was held Tuesday evening at the Matsonia. Dinner was served to the members and a musical half hour was provided by the Hilltop School of Music under the direction of Miss Edith Robbins. The music consisted of two flute solos by Mr. Paul Holcomb, instructor at the Capital School of Oratory and the Hilltop School of Music, and four soprano solos by Mrs. Lillian Case Morrison, also an instructor with the Hilltop school.

W. Haydn Jones and the members of the Hilltop Business Men's Chorus were given a vote of thanks by the association for the favorable attention they had brought the Hilltop by winning the male chorus competition at the Jackson Elsteddfod. In his reply, Mr. Jones said that the chorus was now going confidently forward with its plans for participation in another competition at Ada, Ohio, and for the annual minstrel show to be given later in the winter.

The principal business brought before the meeting was the list of candidates for the association's 1933 offices, presented by the nominating committee. The following nominations were made: For president, C. H. Campbell and G. W. Matson; vice president, W. A. Harris and R. G. Haunts; second vice president, W. L. Millikin and Dr. W. L. Durflinger; secretary, L. E. Saunders, H. A. Patzer, and Raymond Hill; treasurer, C. G. Wilcox; directors, M. M. Webb, Dr. M. W. Baker, H. G. Deems, Glenn Hamilton, and F. H. Raether. The officers will be elected at the December meeting.

C. C. Hartley, retiring secretary of the organization and former editor of the Record, motored from Greenfield, Ohio, where he is now managing editor of the Greenfield Times, to attend the meeting. His letter of resignation as secretary was read by acting secretary L. E. Saunders, and he was presented with a handsome fountain pen desk set, appropriately engraved. The presentation was made by C. H. Campbell.

A. A. P. O. Notice

E. church choir.

Couple Married 55 Years, And Still Happy

More than a half century ago, 55 years to be exact, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. McClelland, 76 S. Hague Ave., were married, and Monday they celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary at their home, entertaining a few guests.

In this modern age of dizzy speed, the long road of 55 years of happy wedded life seems like ages insuperable. But, at the age of 77, both are contented and happy, having lived a full life, blessed with health and longevity.

Among the guests who attended the observance Monday was Miss Alta McClelland, 200 S. Burgess Ave., a sister of Mr. McClelland. She attended her brother's wedding in 1877. One other who attended the matrimonial ceremonies 55 years ago is still living. He is Phillip Moore, of Phoenix, Ariz.

Last year Mr. McClelland retired from the hardware business in Columbus after 50 years of work in that field.

Hilltop Library Leads In Service

Display and Hidden Title Contest Part of Book Week Observance.

Many books covering the various periods of American history will be on display, and scenes of historical interest will be set up, including a reproduction in minature, of Mt. Vernon.

Hilltop children are having ample opportunity to display their knowledge of children's books in the "Hidden Book Title Contest" which opened Oct. 14 and ends Nov. 16. A prize will be awarded the winner at 3 p. m. on Nov. 19, the last day of Book Week.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Downey, librarian and specialist in reading, will give a series of free lectures daily at 2:30 in the main library at 96 S. Grant Ave. These lectures, on the subject of "Right Reading for Children," are concerned with a different period of a child's life each day.

Central Slaps West Quenching Pennant Hopes

Cowboys Unable to Cope With Central Pirates; Play Mt. Vernon Today.

Field generals are born, not made; punters are developed, not snatched magically from the ether; passers of ability are not produced in a single game, all of which being true, explains West High's loss to Central last Friday afternoon by a score of 13 to 6, on the Pirate field.

The punting was particularly atrocious, which alongside the lofty, 60-yard spirals of Raines, Central ace booter, gave the Pirates a decided advantage throughout. The passing, too, showed little improvement, but little can be said of this phase, for Raines' long heaves kept West consistently in dangerous passing territory. Late in the game, a few aerials were tried, but to no avail.

Central tallied its initial score early in the game, Thompson dashing off tackle for 18 yards on the first Central scrimmage play. The Pirates had obtained possession of the oval by recovering a blocked West kick. In the fourth stanza, a concentrated march from their own forty-yard line gave the Riversiders their final score. West's tally came as a result of a pass, Krouse to Coleman, who fumbled, but Boye snatched the ball from mid-air and dashed 15 yards to score.

Bantamweights Lose To St. Clair Juniors

Title Hopes Sunk As East Side Midgets Cop, 18-0.

The championship hopes of the Hilltop bantamweight eleven received an abrupt and fatal jolt Saturday morning at the McKinley avenue gridiron when the undefeated St. Clair Juniors continued their fast pace to drop the locals from the chase by an 18 to 0 score.

It was the seventh consecutive victory for the men of Don Timberi, and again, the goal line of the champions remained unblemished. The proteges of Casey and Murray were no match for the newly-crowned champions although the Hilltoppers had not met defeat until Saturday.

The Columbus bantamweight league will close its activities for 1932 Saturday morning, Nov. 12, with two postponed games on the schedule. In one of these, Hilltop will meet Bexley, which team has won 2 and lost 3.

W. High Observes Education Week

During the past week West High school has observed American Education Week by special educational and patriotic programs in the auditorium on Tuesday and Thursday, and by inviting parents and friends of the children to visit the classrooms during the day to observe the work being done. It was thought by those in charge that having visitors while the regular classes were meeting would be more informative than having a special evening session for that purpose.

The general theme selected for the week is "Schools and the Nation's Founders." In the classrooms each day a special aspect of that topic was discussed by a special department.

Dr. Roy E. Shell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Shell, 709 S. Richardson Ave., is recovering from an operation which he underwent at Flower hospital, Nov. 3. Before going to Toledo, where he is a member of the staff of Flower hospital, Dr. Shell was resident physician at White Cross hospital.

Glenwood Choir Wins $100 Prize

Male Chorus Decisions Brilliant Lima Harmonies At Annual Elsteddfod.

Many years ago Julius Caesar strode into Gaul with a mighty army, and they writ of it later, saying: "He came, he saw, he conquered." But there could have been no more rejoicing in the camp of Caesar then was exhibited in the stronghold of the Hilltop Business Men's Chorus when they made their way into Jackson, Ohio, last Friday night and took first place, and $300, in the male chorus division of the annual Elsteddfod held there.

W. Haydn Jones, and his small army of 50 voices, came home early Saturday morning, having heard and conquered the best choruses in the state. And the victory was doubly sweet, for Lima, victors over the local chorus in Marion last February, was among the choruses to compete. Too, the Ohio State University's Men's Glee Club, favorites to win, were defeated by the Hilltoppers.

Confident

Prior to the trip to Jackson, an inquiring Record reporter asked W. Haydn Jones, last Thursday, where the Hilltop Chorus would place in the Elsteddfod. There was no hesitancy in the director's reply, which, too bore all the earmarks of confidence in his chorus. "We're gonna win," said he, but added quickly, "better wait until we come home to print it!"

Dr. C. H. Loue, a member of two winning choruses of other years, too, predicted a victory for the local singers.

The local chorus was highly praised for its efforts by the adjudicators. "Night and Dawn" by Owen was the number presented.

By JOHN N. WOLFE

UNEXPLORED WORLDS

For those intrepid souls who yearn for new worlds to conquer and unexplored spheres to visit there is a realm but slightly touched by the knowledge of man within the confines of an hour's ramble in field and wood. The drowsy hum and buzz of daylight insect singers and their sprightly serenade at night is ever calling to those who would seek out their interesting and mysterious habits.

Thousands upon thousands of these six-legged creatures have never yet been described by man. Within an hour's walk in the nearest fields by the city, there are more insects than mammals in all the world; within a radius of 25 miles there are more of these diverting creatures than birds upon the face of the earth. Insectdom is truly an unexplored world.

We live in an age of insects, for certainly, in number at least, they dominate the earth. Were it not for their tremendous struggle for existance among their kind and their never quite successful fight to protect themselves from the ravages of birds, toads, lizards and the like, the race of man would soon be outdone. Still, we are informed by meticulous entomological observers, that only one per cent of all this myriad host is harmful to man. But they are so prolific that he must wage consoant war against them, aided by his great friends, the birds. Someone has estimated that the human race would perish if the insectivorous birds would go on a diet for 10 days.

But with all their enemies, insects will continue to dominate the faunal life of this planet. Dr. Holland presents a tremendously powerful picture when he writes:

"When the moon shall have faded out from the sky, and the sun shall shine as mockery a dull cherry red, and the seas shall be frozen over, and the ice cap shall have crept downward to the Equator from either Pole, and no keels shall cut the waters, nor wheels turn in mills; when all cities shall have long been dead and crumbled into dust, and all life shall be on the very last verge of extinction on this globe; then, on a bit of lichen, growing on the bald rocks beside the eternal snows of Panama, shall be seated a tiny insect, preening its antennae in the glow of the worn-out sun, representing the sole survival of animal life on this our earth, a melancholy 'bug.'"

Shall we ever understand or explain the wisdom of these "bugs?" Observe the Monarch Butterfly, whose rich brown color is now a familiar sight in the field. It feeds upon the nectar of flowering plants, and is unable to utilize the green milkweed leaves that its caterpillar in a previous stage of metamorphosis has thrived upon. And the nectar of the adult would not be sufficient to sustain the caterpillar. But how does this beautiful butterfly, never having experienced the taste of green food, know enough to deposit her eggs on the leaves of the milkweed plant?

And shall we not marvel, also, at the industriousness of these creatures. The sluggard who was so wisely informed that he should observe the ant, might too, have been sent to study the familiar hornet and mud wasp, or any number of others. How great an achievement is the hornets' nest, which is about the size of a cup in early spring but which is enlarged, often to the size of a large pail, before the summer wanes, and with no disturbance to the business of family rearing within. The structure is symetrically enlarged, not in the fashion of mud-wasps, who merely build additions to their palace, but by carefully turning the inside out, as the process of enlarging continues.

GRATITUDE

By ETHEL TITUS WORTHEN

His sightless eyes could not behold
The beauties of the day,
Another had to guide his steps
Across the crowded way.

He stood through summer's burning heat
And winter's bitter cold,
His living all depending on
The papers that he sold.

Yet he was glad, and cheerfully
Love glowed within his heart,
With gratitude that only God
Can to the soul impart.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

TROOP 34

The Court of Honor of Girl Scout troop 34 held a skating party near Westgate Park, Thursday, Nov. 3, which was followed by a wiener roast in the park woods. Those present were: Mildred Sayre, Hattie Douglas, Florence Cowgill, Hazel Sayre, Virginia Hutt, Lois Wellman, Maxine Rogers, Mrs. Charles Thompson and daughter Louise.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

TROOP 18

Jerry Smith, of the Flying Eagle patrol, was in charge of the regular meeting of troop 18 held Monday, Nov. 7, at the Glenwood M. E. church. There were 20 people in attendance, including 18 scouts, four leaders, three commissioners, and four visitors. After the business part of the meeting was over, the mystery box was opened by the Flying Eagle patrol. A demonstration of the methods used in artificial respiration was then given by Scoutmaster C. M. Marsh.

Asst. Scoutmaster Arthur Harris was able at this meeting to take an active part in the scout work after being inactive for quite some time because of illness.

TROOP 173

Winter scouting activities at troop 173, Hope Memorial Presbyterian church, will get under way in earnest within a few weeks. Plans made Monday night include a church service, date not yet set; winter camp, Dec. 26, 27, 28; a nature display at the church, Dec. 2; the organization of an investiture team; and bi-weekly hikes throughout the winter. Five Thanksgiving baskets will also be prepared and distributed to the needy.

Fourteen scouts and one troop committeeman attended a hike to Skidmore Woods last Saturday. Games, cooking and test passing were on the program.

WANTS TO HEAR CHORUSES

To the Editor:

It was with great pleasure we read of the triumphs being brought to the Hilltop by the Hilltop Business Men's association male chorus and Glenwood M. E. choir. We hope these organizations will be on the air soon, singing these special winning numbers for those who had to stay at home.

—Mrs. Arthur Tomlinson.

CHANGES COME SLOWLY, NOT IN A SINGLE GENERATION

To the Editor:

I agree with Mr. Craft's explanation in the Hilltop Record and would like the editor to permit me a few lines, too.

What does this army of instructors teach? That what has been taught before, and largely in the same way. In educational papers we read much of changing schools. True, there is nothing absolute in the world except change. But in educational aims and in essential methods there has been no appreciable transformation, at least in the last quarter of a century; in social thinking and in constructive idealism we have not progressed an iota. We remain intensely nationalist. The armies of young people emerging yearly and in steadily mounting numbers from our high schools, colleges and universities are qualified to contribute nothing directly to the solution of our pressing social problems.

Poverty and unemployment go from bad to worse; we continue to view the negro problem and the Japanese and all other problems emotionally; we instruct our children believing that every man or woman who is twenty-one years of age and possesses the right to vote is a qualified political scientist. And our vast organization of public schools, directed by mediocre men and women, timid, conventional, half-educated, fails utterly to give the slightest hint of intellectual leadership, in any direction whatever. Now a few words to my friend, Mr. Bigler. I cannot see how Mr. Hoover and the educators are at odds. It is more in the contrary, they both agree very nicely, as ever.

Every clear-thinking student of political economy knows that the war was not the cause of our depression, but contrary to it the depression before was the cause of the war. There maybe some splitting of hairs but in the end and with the main point they all agree. Always the tail comes first and the head follows after. The reason of everything in our economic condition: First is profit, which comes out of labor's product, and next comes supply and demand. The more labor produces the less it gets for it in return and the less labor gets the less labor can buy back its product and because there is no market for it, it piles up and the factories must close down.

Before the war we had markets to send the overproduction to. This was the reason of the war between Germany and England; each needed and wanted those markets for themselves but now they have vanished altogether. Every country now, with the help of the machine, produces overproduction. Tariff or no tariff it is just the same. Tariffs were all right in their place when there were markets. Overproduction or surplus value, which means unpaid labor is the trap in which all the capitalistic countries went, with the exception of Russia. There is no disagreement between Mr. Hoover and Roosevelt in this matter. There difference is how to find a way out of it when there is no way out. The only way out is change or revolution. Supply and demand must balance with the full value of the product of labor. After the election in the next four years the world will see a big change coming.

"Life Saving Cautions" Are Given Hunters

With the opening of several hunting seasons and with others to open shortly some 7,000,000 hunters will go afield in pursuit of their favorite game. The American Game association issues a list of "Life Saving Cautions."

"Hundreds of people are killed or wounded each year principally through thei[r] own carelessness. Many hunters kill or wound themselves in the pursuit of game," the association points out.

"DON'T carry your gun put together in automobiles, wagons, etc.; it's the 'unloaded' gun here that shoots, too! Many states have laws against carrying uncased guns in automobiles.

"DON'T shoot your gun, after putting it together, until you have looked through the barrel or barrels and find it clear.

"DON'T pull guns through fences; carry them over the fence with you, keeping the muzzle pointed away from yourself and others. If a breech loader, open it before crossing.

"DON'T set your loaded gun against a tree or leave it lying on the ground if you have dogs about when you stop to rest; they may knock it down or step on it.

"DON'T lay your loaded gun down in the bottom of a boat; picking it up sometimes causes it accidentally to discharge and shoot the bottom out.

"DON'T shoot your gun after falling, climbing a fence, or walking over newly plowed ground until you have examined the barrel and find it clear.

"DON'T let your gun muzzle point toward water far, if the gun is fired with muzzle under water, it will explode in most cases.

"DON'T shoot at movement—it may be a man, cow or other livestock. Besides, every sportsman not only wants to see his game, but hit it in a vital spot.

"DON'T shoot at game until after you have assured yourself that no other living creature, house, barn or other such property is in the line of fire."

John Burroughs School Notes

Miss Beadle Jones' 9B class has been having a radio program for opening exercises each morning. When a boy or girl wishes a poem or a special story, he sends a request to the radio committee.

These boys and girls are learning to read the thermometer. They read the thermometer every morning and afternoon and keep a record of the temperature.

This class also has a thrift house with a boy and girl inside it. When the boys lead in banking, the boy comes out of the house. When the girls lead, the girl comes out.

The second issue of "The Trumpeter," a paper issued by Miss Besne Jones' room, has been distributed by the pupils. —Betty Price.

Miss Taylor's class is studying about cotton, flax, and linen. They are learning about Eli Whitney who invented the cotton gin, and are bringing in pictures of linen, flax, and a cotton gin. —Jane Lowery.

Two of the John Burroughs 6B classes have printed a newspaper which is called "News Flashes." The pupils of these classes gave their parents a copy of the paper when they visited the school during American Education Week. The second issue of the paper will be distributed in January.

The staff of "News Flashes" includes: Evelyn Dues, editor; Maxine Oyler, assistant editor; Carmel Burroughs, art editor; Robert Durfey, Mylan Fitzwater, assistant art editors; pupils in Miss Schartz's and Miss Kane's rooms, reporters.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

IMI-TAWASI

Imi Tawasi, meaning always friendly, is the Indian name that the new Camp Fire group of John Burroughs school has chosen. Mrs. Faye Cornwell, 2600 Sullivant Ave., is the guardian of the group.

The newly elected officers of the Imi-Tawasi Camp Fire group are: Mary Katherine Cornwell, president; Mary Jean George, vice president; Reah Thompson, secretary; Frances Hartman, treasurer; and Virginia Beatty, scribe.

Imi Tawasi group held a "Donut Sale" at John Burroughs school Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 8 and 9, the proceeds being used to provide funds for Camp Fire activities in this group and to aid the school in its work among the needy.

The regular meeting of the group was postponed from Tuesday to Wednesday in order to get the sale report in at this meeting.

Plans are being made for a hike during the coming week.

The co-operation of Mr. H. L. McMillan, principal of the school, encourages all the Camp Fire girls to put forth every effort to make activities of Camp Fire as much as the desire of the community.

WICHAKA

In addition to entertaining the new Imi-Tawasi Camp Fire group with a Hallowe'en party the Wichaka Camp Fire group has been busy making their beaded headbands. Most of the members have fulfilled all requirements for the Wood Gathers' rank, the first rank in Camp Fire, except the completion of their headbands.

The group is hoping to go to Camp Wyandotte, the local Camp Fire Girls' camp, located ten miles south-east of Lancaster, for a week-end before it gets too cold.

WITOCECA

Every Thursday afternoon until Christmas, Miss W. Gail Wilson of the Ohio State university, will have a special meeting for the Camp Fire Girls of West High and teach games suitable for indoors as well as educational games. Any one interested in learning how to teach games is invited to join the class which meets every Thursday at 3:00 p. m.

CHEEMITAWASI

The Cheemitawasi Camp Fire group of Highland Avenue school recently applied for a charter for their group. The charter members are: Nancy Hegwood, Wanita Ashcraft, Harriett Bigler, Jane Wright, Nelle Mae McNeal, Sharlene Trappe and Jeanette Reynolds. Miss Margaret Morgan, 154 Midland Ave., is the guardian.

PAHATA

The Pahata Camp Fire group of Highland Avenue school has earned a Big Hop honor by organizing and registering a new Camp Fire group. They helped organize the new Cheemitawasi group.

A new Camp Fire group has been organized under the leadership of Miss Clarice Adams, 680 S. Ogden Ave.

Did you hear about the man with a large growth of seven years standing? Just returned from the hospital where three doctors pronounced it a cancer. However, it was not a cancer, and an Osteopath removed the lump to the patient's entire satisfaction. Consult Dr. R. D Woodmansee before submitting to the knife. Planning Home Garden Contest

West High Drafting Classes Sponsor Competition Between Students.

Plans are going forward at West High toward having a "Home Garden Contest" between students of five different grades in the drafting classes there, Principals H. H. Keighley and Otto H. Magly are in favor of the project, which will also enlist the cooperation of the homes.

Each student will present a sketch of his home grounds, and secure a list of choice vegetables and flowers from his parents, adding his own choice. Correct representation of different drawings will be given, and the various arrangements criticised and improved in class. The student will carry out the plans through the spring and summer, during which time competent judges will make inspections.

Local and national horticulturists will co-operate in the venture. C. S. Kennedy, drafting instructor at West High, will be in charge of the class work.

Booth Festival

The annual booth festival of the Columbus District Epworth Leagues will be held Friday, Nov. 18 at 7:30 p. m. at Third Avenue M. E. church. The purpose of the booth festival is to gather supplies for two Methodist institutions, the Worthington Children's Home and the White Cross Hospital. Each league is to have a booth which they will decorate and fill with their donations. A prize will be given for the best decorated booth. Glenwood took first honors in this competition last year and is hoping to do so again. There is also to be a "Stunt" competition. Every member of the church is urged to help with donations. Bring your contributions to the church Sunday, Nov. 13, or any time until the following Friday morning.

Central Slaps

The West team again showed plenty of fight, the work of Jividen, Boye, Casey, Deshler, and Keller being outstanding. Mile's short dashes off tackle throughout the first half gained much ground for the Cowboys, but an injury to his hip took him from the game. From that time on the West offensive was weak and showed lack of versatility.

This afternoon, West treks to Mt. Vernon, for the final out-of-town game of the year. The final battle of the season comes next week when the potential champions, East High Tigers, invade the western ranch. With the locals completely out of the title race, the 'proteges of Wise and Buchanan may upset the dope, although the chances are slim that such will be the case.

The LOOKOUT

HILLTOPICS

C. Apel, local resident, reports that he was two hours late to his office the day following election as the car service was tied up by so many people going back to work. . . . Someone observed a blade of grass growing between bricks in Broad street, too, the day after election. . . . Whether it was the grass Hoover referred to, is a matter of conjecture. . . . C. C. Hartley, former Hilltopper, reports that Highland county went Democratic and someone observes that the folks down there will have more comforters in misery than Franklin county, which stands alone, as ever, . . . Republican. . . . The Hilltop, by the way, was definitely Republican in practically every precinct.

Mid-November, and the cottontails have undergone a barrage of buckshot since Tuesday morning. Still a few survive, however, and those who find pleasure in the field will have fine opportunity over the week-end to "bounce a bunny" or two for Sunday dinner.

King Winter gave lingering autumn a terrific jolt to the heart last week, and wintry blasts did blow, but not for long. Still, with all its color, Autumn must soon take the count and let the grizzled veteran of the north occupy the throne.

Thanksgiving in the offing—in times like these. Yes, indeed! Long ago the Pilgrims found much to be thankful for, and the times were much more trying and the hardships far more bitter. Whether or not we are capable of taking advantage of the opportunity depressions present, we should at least be thankful that it is presented.

Christmas—31 more shopping days!

We welcome to our midst this week B. C. Nafzger and A. C. Nafzger, owners of the new Hilltop Furniture Co., at 2305 W. Broad St., and join with the residents of the Hilltop in wishing them success in their new store.

At the first meeting of the Hilltop Business Men's Chorus since its victorious trip to Jackson, Ohio, new officers for the year were elected and a banquet supper served in the basement of Hoge Memorial church.

Dr. C. H. Lose, dentist, at 2705 W. Broad St., was named president, succeeding C. J. Kohn, who has served since the organization of the chorus in Feb., 1931. Other results included the re-election of C. H. Campbell as secretary-treasurer, and the election of Ike Snyder, vice president, and J. E. Allison, Hubbart Jones, Rev. C. D. Osborne, and J. F. Raymond as trustees.

Following the election, the financial report of the organization was read and a resume of the year's activities given by the secretary. A banquet supper concluded the evening's program.

The next meeting of the chorus, which will soon begin preparations for the annual Hilltop Minstrel Show, will be held Monday, Nov. 21, at the Hilltop School of Music.

New Pure Oil Station Opens

An unusually well-designed service station was opened yesterday morning by H. W. Driver, 172 Guernsey Ave., and E. B. Baugh, 230 S. Westmoor Ave., well-known Hilltop residents. The station, colonial in architecture, is located at West Broad street and Hably avenue, across from the Westgate Masonic Temple. It is set well back, with wide driveways, and its appearance has already called forth considerable comment of a favorable nature from Hilltop property owners. Mr. Baugh and Mr. Driver have had the co-operation of the Pure Oil Co., whose products they will offer, in installing equipment that is the most up-to-date available.

The Union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Hilltop Church of Christ, corner of Olive street and South Burgess avenue, Wednesday evening, Nov. 23, at 7:30. Rev. E. L. Motter, pastor of Glenwood M. E. church, will preach the sermon.

West Side Gridmen Lose Rubber Tilt to Trout's

Trouts Collegians definitely eliminated the West Side A. C. eleven from the running for the city heavyweight grid title Sunday afternoon, taking the locals over the coals by a count of 18 to 0. It was the third game between the two teams, the Hilltoppers having taken the champions of last year into camp in the initial tilt, 7 to 6. The second game resulted in a 11 to 0 verdict for the South Siders.

Grady, Walters, and Wells tallied the Trout six pointers. Another feature of the game was an 83-yard punt by Grady.

Honor Pastor On Birthday

Dr. Motter Given Surprise By Members of Glenwood Congregation.

Dr. E. L. Motter, pastor of Glenwood M. E. church, was given a surprise party by his congregation last Sunday evening in honor of his birthday.

Just as he was about to start his sermon, Dr. Howard Whitehead, an official of the church, announced he had something to bring before the congregation. Mr. H. C. Keefer then spoke explaining the purpose of the interruption. Three little girls, Elizabeth Walton, Martha Lee Fletcher and Anna McKinley, presented Dr. Motter with chrysanthemums while they sang "Happy Birthday to You." The choir sang three special numbers.

Then the service was adjourned and a reception held in the social room. Dr. and Mrs. Motter were called to the platform and Judge Randall made some remarks after which he presented Dr. Motter with a large birthday cake. A fitting response was made by the pastor. Refreshments were served to all by the ladies of the church.

Blasts Bounce Bunnies As Season Opens

Abundance of Pheasants and Rabbits Reported As First Day Nimrods Bag Limits.

Hunters who were fortunate enough to be in the field early Tuesday morning, and there were many, found the rabbit and pheasant population quite high, although by nightfall some decrease might have been noted.

Fine weather greeted local nimrods Tuesday morning, and Wednesday's long drizzle failed to keep the more enthusiastic ones indoors. On the first day, 11 hunters were observed within a mile or less of the city limits north of the Hilltop.

But the army of hunters could hardly compare with the number of cottontails abounding in briar patches and open fields, if the evening reports were accurate.

Sam Toy, 454 S. Hague Ave., spent two hours afield, long enough to bag a pair of bunnies. But O. H. Craft, his employer, still maintains that they were purchased at some butcher shop. E. H. Matheny, 179 N. Warren Ave.; J. W. Miles, and J. O. Matheny, bagged the limit of rabbits before the afternoon had passed. No pheasants, however, were stopped in their swift flight, by this trio. Del Howard, 126 S. Harris Ave., along with V. E. Wolfe, 205 N. Warren Ave., and F. W. Howard, brought home the limit of bunnies and birds. Dr. C. H. Lose, an hour in the field, blasted two rabbits into eternity, and reported game abundant. W. W. Dodson, 249 S. Burgess Ave., and S. S. Glick, 86 N. Eureka Ave., also found much to keep the firearm busy. L. N. Earl, 324 N. Burgess Ave., and two partners, brought the limit in by noon.

So, the annual blasting of bunny bouncers began beautifully, and birds were bagged by the billion—almost. Another host of sportsmen, unable to venture into the field with the opening of the season, will make good use of the week-end in an effort to get their share.

And, best of all, no fatalities were reported on the Hilltop. And, contrary to usual events, the death of rabbits, not men, features the news of "the first day."

Revival Services

Revival services will begin at the St. Paul's Evangelical Congregational church, 22 S. Warren Ave., Sunday evening, Nov. 20, at 7:30. There will be special singing by local talent, and the pastor, Rev. F. S. Robinson, will do the preaching. The public is invited.

The play, a four-act comedy, was written by Catherine Chisholm Cushing from the story by Elinor H. Porter.

The action takes place in a New England village where Pollyanna and Jimmy Bean are orphans. Pollyanna is a cripple, being unable to walk, but her constantly bright outlook on life permeates the action of the entire play.

Mary Bangs will portray Nancy, Miss Polly's servant.

In other roles, Evlyn Moore, Doris Caldwell, Marylyn Milliken and Glenford Young, will play tonight, having also participated in Thursday's presentation.

Those who played Thursday evening were: Helen Lynn, Shirley Templeton, William Blackburne, Gordon Wollane, John Jenkins, Walter Corriell, and Thelma Redman.

Powerful Tiger "11" Favorite

Cowboys Primed for Effort to Thwart Tiger Title March.

The curtain will be lowered on the local scholastic gridiron stage this afternoon when the Cowboys meet the formidable and favorite East High Tigers on the Hilltop field at 2:30 o'clock.

Should Wise, Buchanan and Co. turn in a victory, the Tigers would be forced to share title honors with North High, which team also has won four games and sustained but a single defeat, that at the hands of East. Should the Bengals win or tie, however, the bunting would float over the land of the sunrise until next year.

The chances are remote, however, for the local eleven to take the measure of Coach Ralph Webster's powerful machine. Slipping into high gear last week, the Orange and Black piled up seven touchdowns against the Aquinas eleven. And they looked unbeatable. The line smashing of Willis, the fleet and clever running of Starrett, and the excellent line play of the forwards, not to mention Brickner's splendid punting, would have given Cowboy fans little to cheer about had they watched the battle.

Yet, a year ago, Central appeared just as invincible, and the final score found West on the long end of a 14 to 6 count. And out at the ranch of Wise, all hope of upsetting the Tigers has not been lost.

A week of intensive drill has marked preparations for this battle. Last week against Mt. Vernon, the Cowboys took hold, it seemed, and clicked once again as they did at South, although the opposition again, was not of the most powerful. However, several improvements were to be noted, among them punting, and the running of Crouse, who tallied thrice, and scored one point after. Gibson, unsung and unheralded, scored the other touchdown of a 26 to 0 victory, as Burdette added the extra point.

Francis, who ailing ankle has sufficiently improved for him to play, may see action again, and Miles, whose work throughout the year has been hindered by injuries, will also be available. So, as the curtain falls on the gridiron stage, all is not despair, although hope, more than the facts of the case, must bear up the West rooters.

All-High Team

The annual Hilltop Record All-High gridiron selections for 1932 will be announced in the Thanksgiving issue; which will be distributed on Tuesday, Nov. 22, three days earlier than usual.

Past In Revue At Eng. Lutheran

Hilltop talent will have an opportunity to display all its wares at the Hilltop English Lutheran church, Terrace and West Broad streets, where the Young Women's Missionary society will present "Echoes From the Long Ago" at 8:15 tonight. Did you hear about the man that was so frightfully burned on his left arm and hand? Caused from the explosion of a can of alcohol which he was carrying. After four weeks' effort the doctors failed to get the arm to heal. Tried countless applications, even tried to graft strips of skin on the arm without success. Then an Osteopath was called who freed the circulation of the Subclavian artery to the arm and the frightful burn healed at once. Consult Dr. R. D. Woodmansee about your case.

SWAGGER

What's swagger? A step with a spring in it, a sparkle in your eye, an air of wearing old clothes like new ones, a mixture of pep, style and good humor. That's what swagger is!

Where does it come from? Out of the kitchen, the parlor, the house and out of housework. Swagger comes from the energy you save in not doing a lot of household tasks that are easier and better done by electricity.

An electric vacuum cleaner will give you some swagger, an electric range, washer, ironer or food mixer will add more. And if you do every possible household task by electricty you'll have all you can use. For swagger is just vim, vigor and vitality on parade, and these are the everyday benefits of electricity that are yours for only a few cents daily.

The LOOKOUT

THERE'S a spark of light that burns in every human life that won't be quenched. When depressions come, when strife and disaster strike at the very roots of human loves and institutions, there's a courage and hope that still smoulders, almost dead sometimes, but never out.

HARDSHIPS and misfortune have not bereft the world of all courage. Even for those whose lot has been most unfortunate, there still burns a hope that breeds the courage it will take to face the upward path. 'Tis again the age of pioneers, and the new era furnishes raw materials for greater things.

ANOTHER Thanksgiving has come, and as the American people observe this truly American custom, thoughts may well hark back to the sturdy hearts of those pioneers who first set foot on bleak Atlantic shores in harder times than these. Still with courageous hearts, they faced the wilderness.

NONE will ever know their heartaches. None will ever know their misery. They were the pioneers of a new era, not much different fundamentally than that the world approaches today. And despite the apparent futility of their undertaking, they paused a moment to give thanks—for their opportunity of new freedom.

KNAVES and tyrants had no place in their hopes and fears. And today, political, social, religious, and economic knaves and tyrants—of greater power than the individual—are being dethroned in the quest for a new freedom. We can be thankful that "strong men keep coming on."

SIGNS of the times are definite - the handwriting on the wall is clear. Unemployment is unnatural. The expenditure of energy has been life's unique function since the dawn of creation, and it shall not always lull in discontent, awaiting the return of a pseudo-prosperity.

GREAT are the potentialities of the depression. In such periods, the world can wait in turmoil for catastrophe and oblivion, but it won't. Eternal change will not be halted by the specialization and adaptation of a certain generation to an irrevocable and inexorable set-up of things.

IT WILL be the people that must yield, not the forces of nature. Nature in fact, takes care that her forces master all, for the people pass away and new life comes. That which lingers soon becomes extinct. The accumulated economic, social, and religious debris of the past must be done away with.

VERIFICATION of these truths can be found in history past. Bloodless or bloody, the world must face an upheaval, whether it likes it or not. But how, you ask, does this give food to the hungry and jobs to the unemployed millions in America today—and throughout the world?

IN THE mastery of life, man must surely care for the needy and distressed, and minister unto the forsaken. How shall aching bellies be satisfied? And I shall ask you—how are they being taken care of now—with the harvests reaped and abundant—still millions starving. Something is essentially wrong with the system when starvation prevails amid plenty.

NEW freedom—a long mountain and a deep river. A difficult problem—how to distribute abundance. 'Tis a new era that approaches, a virgin wilderness, but if its conquering means a step upward for civilization, the pioneers must suffer while others reap the benefits. The world needs mountains to scale, not downstream currents.

GOD, give us hills to climb, and strength for climbing! Such is our Thanksgiving prayer. And with thankful hearts, the world may with Sandburg "Call hallelujah, call amen, call deep thanks! Strong men keep coming on."

Local Legionnaires To Aid In Hilltop Relief

100 Members to Gather Supplies

Canvass of Hilltop to Start Thanksgiving Day In Effort to Aid Local Needy.

Camp Chase Post No. 98 of the American Legion will start an extensive relief program Thanksgiving Day under the leadership of M. P. Hain, 113 Whitethorne Ave., chairman of the post relief committee. One hundred legionnaires from the local post will canvass the community for contributions of food and clothing in any quantity, which will be distributed to Hilltop folks in need throughout the winter, or as long as the supplies last.

Cars and trucks, bearing the American Legion label, will start Thursday morning, while various members go from door to door soliciting contributions of staple groceries such as beans, potatoes and preserved goods, and clothing. According to those in charge, no gift will be too small, and every item will assist in the work. Families not benefiting from the community fund will be taken care of.

Local residents who plan to be out-of-town on Thanksgiving Day are asked to call either the legion headquarters at RA. 0463, or M. P. Hain, at RA. 0854J. Goods may also be taken to the legion station where food will be stored. The address is 2373 W. Broad St. Contributions, too, may be left at neighbor's for collection.

It was stressed that the program will care for strictly community cases of need, and instances where other help has been unavailable. Those working on the project are receiving no compensation, and every effort will be made to keep needy families from dire need through the winter.

Assistance will be made through information available in the organization of the legion, or through application at the legion headquarters, and through the American Legion Relief Committee, or through the auxiliary.

The co-operation of the entire community is desired in the project. Those who will make contributions are asked to be prepared Thursday (Thanksgiving Day), when a legionnaire will call for goods.

It is planned by officials to make this canvass an annual feature of the American Legion program.

Jeweled Lodge Pins Stolen From Doctor

Two jeweled lodge pins valued at $60 and a violin, a family keepsake of no practical value, have been stolen from the office of Dr. L. B. Turner, 2805½ W. Broad St., sometime in the past few months.

Shotguns Stolen

A watch, shotgun and $42 in cash were stolen from the home of W. B. Beadle, 84 S. Central Ave., Thursday night, Nov. 16, according to police. A shotgun was also stolen from the Gearhart Hardware Store, 2387 Sullivant Ave., Thursday night. It was valued at $13.50.

Loot Auto

A pair of bowling shoes, three wrenches and a flashlight valued at $7 were taken from the parked auto of R. J. Bachman, 382 S. Burgess Ave., Wednesday night, Nov. 16.

We Thank Thee

For sunsets, amber, blue and gold,

Fighting West Team Is Downed By East Tigers

Cowboys Play Best Game of Season, But Four Breaks Prove Fatal.

The East High Tigers won their first grid hunting since 1917 at the West Athletic field Friday afternoon, downing a fighting Cowboy eleven by a score of 25 to 0.

But the final count fails to tell an accurate story of the battle. With the exception of little over a minute, the Wisemen gave tooth for tooth and nail for nail. Five breaks, four of which proved disastrous, decided the final result, and all transpired in a total period of one minute.

In the second quarter, after West had made a brilliant stand on their own 10-yard line after East had recovered a misdirected pass from center, Colman booted out to his own 27-yard stripe. Starrett then took the ball and slid through for a touchdown. Again, in the same period, a pass was intercepted by the fleet Tiger ace on his own 6-yard line, and he rambled 94 to score.

In the third period, Thomas blocked a punt and fell on the oval over the goal line for the third score. The same stellar end also intercepted a lateral pass to count the final six pointer. Aside from these incidents, any of which might have been averted, West was not outclassed.

But nothing should be detracted from the Tiger victory. The Bengals were

Band Struts

If West High gridders failed to register a victory, it was no fault of the band, which organization made the best appearance under the best drum major in the local circuit, last Friday afternoon. The formations were executed with precision for the first time. The band, too, along with the team, should be of championship calibre by harvest time in 1933.

Mother of Sam Willis Is Taken By Death

Besides her son she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bessie Hughes, St. Louis, and Mrs. Eliza Parker, Chillicothe. Funeral services were held Monday, at Pleasant Valley church in Jackson county with burial in Hickman cemetery, at 2 p. m.

Much to Be Thankful For

Phone Building Completed Soon

Equipment Installation to Be Started By December 15 in Hilltop Exchange.

The new telephone exchange building at Ogden avenue and Broad street, will be completed on schedule, according to Frank L. Matthews, contractor in charge of construction. By Dec. 1 all work will have been completed.

At the present time only a few details remain to be finished and the outside work will be completed. Landscaping was finished early this week.

Within the new $95,000 structure, finishing touches are being made. Painters started work during the past week. From 10 to 30 men have been employed for the past four months during the construction of the building.

The basement portion of the structure is thoroughly waterproofed, and, according to Matthews, could be situated in a lake and remain perfectly dry within.

Installation of equipment for the exchange will be started about Dec. 15, it was learned. The Hilltop will switch to the new exchange sometime next June or July, it is thought.

Mrs. Hartley (Jayne Allen) and son are both doing fine at the University hospital, where the bouncing eight-pound boy first saw the light of day.

Triangle Home Garden Contest To Start Dec. 12

Residents of Community to Have Opportunity to Have Gardens Planned.

The home garden project contest, planned and sponsored by the Triangle Drafting club of West High school as a community undertaking, under the leadership of C. E. Kennedy, instructor, will get under way Dec. 12, it was announced this week.

The contest is open to any drafting student in West senior or junior high schools, and regular credit will be received for work done. Three divisions of the contest will include the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades; those of the ninth and 10th grades, and juniors and seniors in high school.

Plans for either a vegetable or a flower garden will constitute the project of the first group, while the second group will draw plans for a complete back yard, including both plant and flower garden. The senior section's problem will consist of designing an inexpensive, complete lot, including house plantings, flower garden, vegetable garden, special items, fishpond, fountain, rock garden, and lily pond. Basis for grading will be, on all projects, draftsmanship and rendering, 25 per cent; general character of garden, 25 per cent; and practibility of garden and general scheme, 50 per cent. Judges will be announced at a later date.

An effort is being made to make this a community project, and engage 300 drafting students in the work. Residents of the community who desire to have their property landscaped are invited to call the school and a student will be sent to take measure ments of the lot. The plans will be drawn free of charge.

The drafting section of the contest will close Feb. 3, in order to allow the students to participate in the city drafting competition which is held annually. In the spring, the plans designed by the competitors will be used for a practical garden contest. Those plots designed will be landscaped according to specifications.

Committees include: Publicity, John Early and LeRoy Green; judges, Jack Arbenz and Carl Reinhard; awards, Howard Karn and William Hayes. The chairman over all is Jack Westlake.

Gliders to Meet

Residents who have yet to contribute to the fund and have not been reached by solicitation are asked to call Mrs. Ferguson at RA. 5270M.

Deshler Named Captain of Record All-High Gridiron Team

By JOHN N. WOLFE

The 1932 gridiron season is fast waning, a season neither spectacular from a spectator's point of view, nor brilliant from a participant's standpoint. Local Columbus high schools turned out a mediocre brand of football, despite the fine won and lost record of North, which eleven ranked highest in total games won. East High, at the present writing, practically sure of a tie for the title and overwhelming favorites to win the hunting outright, has met defeat in no uncertain terms, although local competition proved easy.

South, potentially great at the beginning of the season, was handicapped by ineligibility of three star performers. Central, champions for three years, had a bad start, but gained momentum down the stretch, though never presenting more than a mediocre team. Aquinas presented a greatly improved outfit, but remained the doormat of the loop. North, with an easy schedule, looked strong on paper, only.

Locally, West has done far more than should have been anticipated. Presenting the best drilled and hardest fighting squad in the circuit, the locals were woefully weak in field generalship and punting. They should improve next year, but a title is yet far distant.

Individually as collectively, the season produced few stellar performers. Bob Starrett, East thunderbolt, was the the outstanding backfielder in the loop, while Maggaid and Thomas, guard and end respectively, of the same team were brilliant linemen. But in the opinion of the writer, Deshler of West was the outstanding forward the league produced. His play at tackle throughout the year was excellent in every detail, both offensively and defensively. He has been the Gibraltar of the Cowboy line, and yards through his position by opposing teams have been few and exceedingly hard to get. Deshler has been named captain of the Record mythical selections.

At center, Casey of West, though his play was not as spectacular as that exhibited last year, has been chosen. Cody, of Aquinas, was rated second best. The pivot position had few players of outstanding ability, and Casey's greater speed and agility gave him an edge over the slow working, but hard playing Dragon.

Guards too, were few. Several players however, showed well in certain games only to weaken the following game. Apple, of North, along with Maggaid of East, have been selected, although Wood of Central and Kellar of West pressed the Maroon. Maggaid had none his equal in any phase of the position.

Paired with Deshler at the other tackle, is Donovon of South, a choice for last year's team, although his work this year in no way equals the performances of 1931.

Ends again were scarce. Raines of Central, because of his great kicking ability, was given first call, following Thomas of East who is regarded by many to be the best high school wingman the local circuit has ever turned out. Raines' long punts has kept Central in the running throughout the season, in battles where the Pirates were decided underdogs. He is weak, however, defensively.

The selection of a quarterback from a group of gridders who are not field generals in hardly any sense of the term, is somewhat of a haphazard appointment. McSweeny of Aquinas, on a good team, might have guided it to championship heights. Brickner, of East, on a poorer team, might have appeared quite mediocre or worse. McSweeny is by far the best quarterback of the two, but as results as well as potentialities must be considered, little choice could be made.

Brickner, therefore, was issued at the signal calling station. He has guided the Tigers through a campaign with excellent results, though with a weaker team he might have been no more than mediocre. McCarroll, North's hard plunging back, was given the call at half, paired with the mighty Starrett. Both have furnished opposing elevens plenty of trouble, although the Tiger is by far the most dangerous runner. At fullback, Willis, East plunger, was given the call over several candidates of more than average ability. Wiley of North, Hoppe of South, and Coleman of West were also worthy of mention, but the Maroon was handicapped by injuries, while the work of Hoppe was hindered by lack of a strong forward wall. Coleman's lesser experience enabled the East crusher to get the call.

Raines, Casey, Starrett, and Donovan were named on the 1931 Record team.

Recapitulation shows that East landed five births, North two, West two, Central one, and South one.

WHAT STORY DO your hands tell?

Turn up your palms a minute. Look at them. . . . There's a story written there of how or what you do, of how you work.

Are your hands soft and smooth as a woman's hands are meant to be? If not, you are doing work about the home that can be done far better, more swiftly and much easier — by Electricity.

It will wash and iron for you, cook, refrigerate, clean, heat and cool, just as readily as it lights your home.

. . . And the more you use this tireless servant, that's waiting back of every wall in your home to instantly serve you, the lower are its wages.

If A Hilltop Girl

and showed her the shops on Hilltop business streets, the Puritan wife would think we lived in unbelievable luxury.

Priscilla pounded her corn meal in the hollowed-out stump of a tree; her pumpkin pie was made without the help of fine pastry flour and the tang of nutmeg; she dressed the turkey brought down by John Alden's musket with her own hands, and roasted it in a crude oven of banked clay. If she had cranberries, they didn't come hurtling across 500 miles of country in swift trains, to be delivered at her very door by a grocer. She went to the marshes and gathered what she could.

She and John sat down to a rough-hewn table, lighted by tallow candles of her own laborious dipping, with the knowledge that they and the rest of their little band could expect help only from their own hands and the hand of God. Yet they faced the harsh northern winter with the firm courage arising from belief in themselves and in His goodness.

It is little wonder that they and their descendants laid well the foundations for the mighty nation that rose from the wilderness about them.

If some of us have been forced to forego certain luxuries in the last two years, we have nevertheless endured no hardships that neighborly co-operation could not lighten.

In giving thanks Thursday for whatever good gifts the past year has brought us, let us remember that we are citizens of a nation that is still great, in potentialities as well as in past accomplishments; members also of a community whose business mer have kept faith with their friends and neighbors during difficult times.

When you do your Thanksgiving buying today, remember how easily and profitably it can be done on the Hilltop. Your community merchants have stocked their stores with everything you could need, and their prices are at the low levels made possible only by personal management. You'll meet your thriftier friends in Hilltop shops.

CHURCHES AND MACHINE GUNS

The young people who gave addresses in the Prince of Peace contests at Hoge Memorial church last Sunday and at the Glenwood church a week before are to be congratulated as being part of the vanguard in the march of humanity toward a better world.

The World Peace Movement, sponsor of the contests, is an organization supported entirely by the voluntary contributions of those who realize the tremendous waste occasioned by warfare and are willing to give part of their income to educate others toward that realization.

It has been said that democracy has really become a government by minorities, and it is true that in a country as vast as ours a small group that has something at stake in a certain governmental policy can make itself heard to the conclusion of the opinions of a majority not vitally and immediately concerned.

When war is declared, those who have to make the real sacrifices find that there is nothing for them to do but see it through, to the extent, perhaps, of a shattered face or a son reported missing in action. When the drums start beating and the mighty forces of propaganda are unleased, it is too late for sober and rational people to act. Our last war, in fact, showed that it was dangerous to do so.

Manufacturers of certain kinds of supplies and military careerists alone benefit by warfare, but they are not alone in declaring the necessity for large battleships and standing armies. There are many people who sincerely believe that war will be always with us and strong defensive equipment is necessary. They should be reminded that only 300 years ago a European baron would have laughed at the suggestion that the day would come when cities could be built without walls and ramparts surrounding them, or that his grandson could walk about carrying a cane instead of a sword.

Over twelve million of the world's most valuable men died in the last war. France went into it with a balance of 31 billion dollars on the right side of the ledger; she emerged 30 billion dollars in debt. The United States, although spending huge sums for her own fighting equipment in its last eighteen months, had already given so much credit to foreign nations that she was still a creditor nation when the war was over. This week's dispatches from Europe strengthen us in the belief that the money we loaned for warfare will never come back to us.

It is because the work carried on by the World Peace Movement has a more noble and disinterested end in view than most special groups working for political action that we urge the young people participating in and attending the Prince of Peace contests to continue their interest in the movement. There is no greater possibility for service open to them, no finer kind of patriotism than they have already expressed.

INVALUABLE, BUT FREE

Although the Hilltop branch of the Public Library rendered more service in the past month than any of the other community branches in the city, we are nevertheless surprised to find that there are about 45 adults who take books out for home reading. Appropriations for new books have not been forthcoming for some time, but it is highly probable that most Hilltop residents could spend their leisure time for months to come on what the library shelves can furnish, with pleasure and profit to themselves.

A super-abundance of spare time becomes a means to better living instead of a burden when it can be used to acquire a better understanding of ourselves and the world about us.

The present is a particularly appropriate time for taking stock of our human institutions; such books as Charles A. Beard's "Whither Mankind?" which is among those available, supplies the information and perspective necessary for the appraisal.

If you believe in Socialism or not, it is an evident truth that the country is headed in the direction of Socialism as long as taxation increases at its present rate. The increased number of government functions are little less than government ownership, and these increased functions cause increased taxes.

Able to Sit Up and Take Food

WHEN Jo Mendi, performing chimpanzee of the Detroit Zoological park, fell dangerously ill not long ago, letters and flowers came from his friends all over the country who had been entertained by his tricks. But Jo is slowly recovering, and our photograph shows him in his new pajamas sitting up and taking a little broth administered by Director John Millen.

APPRECIATIVE

Editor:

Will you kindly convey, through the columns of your paper, to my friends and the voters of Franklin county, my heartiest thanks and deep appreciation for the loyal support which I received from them on last Tuesday, Nov. 8, election day, at which time I was elected clerk of courts. I trust I will be able to merit the confidence which they have so graciously placed in me.

TO OBSERVE PRISON SUNDAY

To the Editor:

Following a recommendation of the American Prison association, the Columbus Prison association is appealing to the churches of Columbus to observe Sunday, Dec. 4, as Prison Sunday. We are in hearty accord with the following sentiment expressed in a pamphlet published by the New York State Department of Correction:

"Prisoners are human beings whose needs are very great, and whose interests must not be overlooked by those who are followers of Him who said, 'I was in prison and ye visited Me.' Recently it was found in one of the penal institutions of the country that only one out of every one hundred inmates attended church regularly before committment. This ought to be food for thought. It is not a question of one being out on the mountain and ninety and nine in the fold but of the reverse. What ought the churches do about a problem like this? What can they do? If the churches could solve this problem they would greatly decrease the number who are in our prisons.

"If the men in prisons are going to be made free from sin and from the fetters which bind them, the churches must take an interest in the prison problem of the country."

We recommend these words to the earnest consideration of the church people of Columbus and urge the observance of Prison Sunday, to the end that our church members may get a better understanding of the prison problem, as well as more information relative to the work our Columbus Prison association is doing to help solve that problem in Columbus.

In the Columbus Prison association some thirty Christian men and women volunteers, recruited from many different denominations, are working together with gratifying harmony and enthusiasm. Over six hundred evangelistic services are conducted for prisoners during the year. Hundreds of testaments and Scripture portions are distributed through the kindly and generous cooperation of the Pocket Testament League. Some of the members of our association are successful business men, men of affairs, who cheerfully give of their valuable time and use their fine talents to minister to those behind the bars.

The work of the association needs to be better known and appreciated by the church people of Columbus. The association needs the prayers and the financial backing of God's people. Then, too, the association needs constantly to recruit new members. In order to make an impression upon the men and women behind the bars, we must show them Christ as He has been reproduced by the Holy Spirit in our holiest and goodliest Christian men and our fairest Christian women. Therefore we are asking the churches of Columbus to observe Sunday, Dec. 4, as Prison Sunday. If so desired, the cause so dear to our hearts will be presented in your church by some member of the association. Make application for a speaker to President C. W. Pflueger, 329 Rulen Ave., telephone EV. 2457. Yours sincerely,

C. W. Pflueger, Pres.

One As Worthless As the Other

Mose entered Lawyer Brown's office, laid his hat upon a chair, and said: "Lawyer Brown, Ah wants to know what Ah's to do. Ah's married to Mandy, but Ah wants to marry Lizzy."

"Well, Mose," said the lawyer kindly, "you should first have a divorce. I believe I can arrange it for you."

"How much dat 'vorce gwine cost me?" asked Mose cautiously.

"About thirty dollars," replied the lawyer.

"Shucks!" Mose said after a moment. "Ah guess Ah won't bothah nuthah nil Ah don' believe 'tween dem two women dey's thirty dollahs' worth oh difference!"

Through Woods and Fields

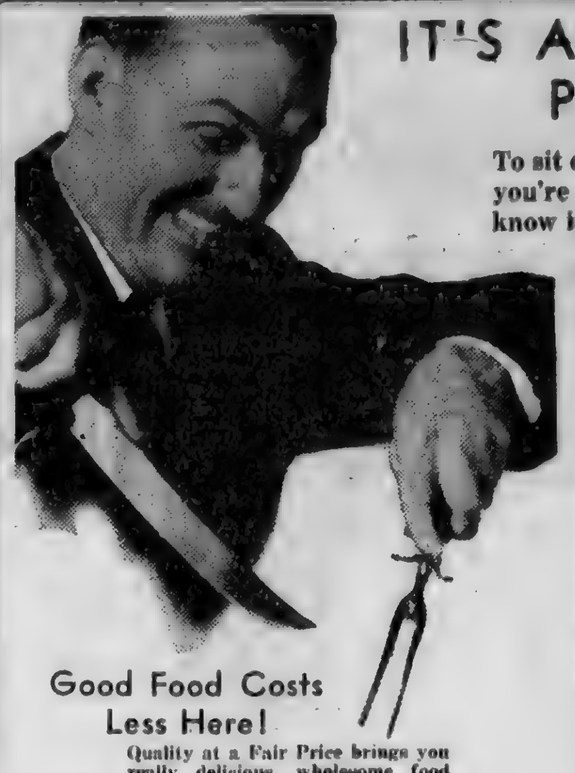
With JOHN S. WOLFE

Autumn Ramble

Now fall is come, and warm, sunny days are few. Gray skies scudding clouds and brown-nude fields and woodlands—with only occasional splashes of color—tell that November is here and wintry blasts are soon to come.

Down a steep ravine, scuffling through the deep carpet of freshly fallen leaves, one can wander now, and yet see much of interest. A garter snake glides gently through the leaf-litter, into the shelter of a briar patch. It's getting late for snakes, but this little fellow is the last to seek the comfort of hibernation, and the first to emerge in the spring. Harmless and pretty, this most abundant of our snakes, has three yellow stripes down his back, one on either side and one above. He feeds on frogs, toads, small fishes, and earthworms. Not so long ago, in August, the garter snake reared its family, and interesting to note, the young are born alive, unlike the young of blacksnakes, which are hatched from eggs.

And speaking of blacksnakes, these creatures are not constrictors, and do not squeeze their prey to death. They too, are unable to hypnotize animals and birds, and never attack snakes larger than themselves. As many as a dozen eggs are deposited in some moist situation in mid-summer. They often devour the eggs of birds and their young, but also feed upon frogs, mice, and other small creatures of the field. They are excellent climbers.



But, go with the ramble. Here blooms the Witch Hazel, last of the flowering shrubs to bloom, usually waiting until November to show forth its yellow, fringy flowers clustered in the axils of the branches. It is a striking sight to see, as wide as a the rest of its early spring, with its leafless, crooked branches along some stream or in some moist habitat.

In a well exposed place, 'neath the shelter of a rotting log, the pleasant blue of a lone violet surprises the rambler. Truly out of season, still the warmth of the sun's rays and the protecting shelter of the log has given birth to this springtime blossom. Soon, however, a biting frost will quench its beauty and we'll see no more of the violet until the sun journeys north again.

Further along, in a thicket, the restless flitting of a tiny wren attracts the eye. But it is not the familiar house wren, which has long since departed for warmer climes, but the winter wren. This tiny creature spends its summer in the Canadian forests, wintering in our region. It can easily be distinguished from its cousin by its smaller size and darker brown color.

A squirrel chatters from a nearby beech; now and then a crow calls from the field above the ravine; on yonder willow, a nuthatch seeks food; the shrill "Thief! Thief!" of the Blue Jay cuts the late afternoon air, which is now getting chilly, almost raw with the setting sun.

A biting wind from the north has dispersed the clouds and the sun, a cold, red ball balancing, as it were on the western horizon, shines down on wood and field about to sink into wintry lifelessness. Soon night will have fallen, and the cold, twinkling stars will glitter upon a frosty landscape, and the morrow will find the last lingering leaves blown earthward by the winds. The natural world seeks slumber, so to speak, and bright days and fair are few and far between.

LET'S TALK OF SALADS

By MARION E. GEORGE
Wesson Oil & Snowdrift Co.

Parties are in order. You all know how a hostess is criticized after her party, and woe to her who does not spring some new interesting thing on her guests. Perhaps I can help you. Just phone Atlantic 2566 or call the Record office, and we'll have a telephone talk and the best of it is that my service is free—with no strings.

Only a few years ago, a salad was something connected with butlers and wealth. Nowadays, we hardly ever pick up a magazine which does not have something to say about salads. Salads have their proper place in diet. If we don't want to think of diets let's think of menus. Often in a luncheon a salad is the main dish, either served in a large beautiful bowl or individually, and the dressing served separately. Sometimes it is rather nice to serve two or three different dressings.

While in Hamm's Grocery the other day, I found enjoyment in looking at the wonderful display of vegetables, and immediately visualized a beautiful assembly of them in a gorgeous salad. Most of us are busy women and we like to entertain, but we do not like to have to work hard to do it. Shall we plan a luncheon, and invite our most intimate soul friends. All right, here we go. How's this for an easy menu?

Iced grapefruit with grape juice.
Salad bowl: French or caviar dressing.
Wafers or bread and butter (English style).
Ice cream with butterscotch sauce.

Let us fix that salad bowl. We must make it a picture for the eye. First, our most beautiful bowl. It must be chilled. Now, in the parlance of the old cook books, take of radishes several, slices of cucumber (with the skin left on), slices of onions, tomatoes in wedges, different colored peppers in slices, tiny julienne strips of raw carrot, and wedges of lettuce—place artistically in your bowl. Decorate with parsley and place halves of hard cooked eggs on top. Then stand back and admire and finally place in your refrigerator to thoroughly chill. We must consider a suitable dressing. In this case, we are going to serve two. All connoisseurs of food consider that simple French dressing is the ideal dressing, and I'm going to give you the recipe for it again. This is the most used of salad dressings and the only one of which people never tire, but you must make it yourself.

French Dressing

¾ cup of Wesson Oil.
¼ cup of vinegar or lemon juice.
1 teaspoon of salt.
1 teaspoon of sugar.
½ teaspoon of pepper.
A dash of paprika (Spanish).

Put all the ingredients into a bottle and shake well. This dressing always separates while standing. It is necessary to shake each time it is to be used. It is really better to serve it at the table in a bottle. Each guest shakes and serves herself.

Serve your salad with a wooden salad spoon and fork, and place knives for the purpose of cutting the salad at each cover. It is the correct thing now to use a knife and fork whilst eating salad.

I have another very good salad dressing recipe and I know you'll like it even if—as the stenographer in the picture "Grand Hotel" says—"it just tastes like 'herring.'"

Caviare Dressing

1-3 cup Chili Sauce.
1 teaspoonful of Caviare.
Mix well and serve.

Bread and butter, English style, is only very, very thinly cut bread buttered and cut crosswise, and served on your prettiest plate.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

When thirty-five Camp Fire Girls from Highland and John Burroughs schools entertained at the Community Fund Workers' luncheon on Wednesday, Nov. 16, five Hilltop business men took them to and from the Southern Hotel, where the luncheon was held, so that the girls did not have to miss so much school. The five men who furnished cars were: Mr. Lou Saunders, of the Shunk & Saunders Insurance Co.; Mr. Herbert Deems of the Hilltop Building & Loan Assn.; Voss Brothers of the Plymouth Auto Agency; Mr. C. J. Icker, of the Westgate Electric Co., and Mr. C. J. Kohn, of the Kohn Funeral Home.

The Camp Fire Girls wish to thank these members for their co-operation.

COMMITTEE OF AWARDS

A number of Hilltop Camp Fire Girls are working hard to fulfill all requirements for ranks which they plan to pass at the next meeting of the Camp be held on Friday afternoon, Dec. 2 at Fire Committee of Awards which will 4 p. m. at the Nell House. A number of girls in the Wichaka Camp Fire group plan to be ready to be examined for the Wood Gathers rank at that time.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

COURT OF REVIEW

The November Court of Review for Hilltop scouts and troops of the southwest division will be held at the Burgess Avenue U. B. church, Friday, Nov. 25, at 7:30 p. m. It will be the last opportunity to secure advancement in 1932.

TROOP 45

The last meeting of troop 45 of West Junior High school was set aside as patrol stunt night. The Eagle patrol put on a demonstration of a hospital surgeon. The Blazing Arrows acted the play of Capt. John Smith. The Bears imitated a magician who read the future of some of the members of the troop. The Silver Foxes showed a sick man following the doctor's prescription. The show was brought to an end by an act of Mr. Elliott's, in which Frederick Laird did a very unusual athletic feat. Howard Monroe was in charge of the patrol stunts. A hike to Journey's End, troop cabin near Lancaster, was planned for the purpose of supplying fuel wood for future use.

TROOP 181

Tom Howells, an Eagle Scout, has been appointed assistant scoutmaster of troop 181 at Hillcrest Baptist church. He has been in scouting eight years, and recently came from Bucyrus where he was active in scout work.

A trip to Jacob's Ladder, near Lancaster, is scheduled for the near future. On Nov. 18, a retired Navy officer will give a signalling demonstration at the troop meeting.

TROOP 172

Troop 172, Hoge Memorial church, started a series of instruction periods Monday night, on the first and second class tests of scouting importance. Preserved fruits and vegetables were brought by the scouts to fill several baskets which will be turned over to the church for distribution Thanksgiving.

Preparations for winter camp are going forward. A total of 15 is expected to make the trip Dec. 26, 27, and 28.

TROOP 18

Troop 18 held its regular meeting Monday night at the Glenwood M. E. church, with 13 scouts, five officials and three visitors in attendance. After the business of the meeting was disposed of, the scouts assembled in the council ring and listened to a talk by Dr. George Matson, merit badge counselor, on the art of masonry. The mystery box was opened by the Blazing Arrow patrol and found to contain pop corn for the troop.

Fighting West Team

long overdue, and they came home with the bacon. They presented a classy team, powerful in every respect, and are worthy of the title champions.

For West, none can criticize. The punting, except one instance, was excellent. The running attack was functioning better than for some time. Their defensive play has not been surpassed this season.

Deebler, stalwart of the line, seemed to have for his motto, "They shall not pass!" And none did. He played the finest game of his career and is well deserving of honors cast his way. Casey, at center, also displayed a hard, fighting brand of ball, though at no time has the scrappy Irishman been spectacular during the past year. Dick Francis, who might have made a strong bid for all-high honors, barring injuries, played a great game during the few Geeting moments he participated. He returned one kickoff for 50 yards. Bob Miles, who also has been handicapped from injuries, displayed sparks of speed offensively that kept him a constant threat. Defensively, his work was to be praised, also, although his playing time was limited. Other lesser luminaries for the locals were Krouse, Kellar, and Boye.

And so, the 1932 West High gridiron season in every respect. The outlook victorious, to be sure, yet a successful season in every respect. The lookout is fair and warmer—for a vastly more experienced Cowboy machine is going to make things hot for its opponents when the leaves begin to fall in 1933.

How Long Does It Take to Clean a Rabbit?

Someone tells of a local rabbit hunter, who, having reaped the limit on the first day, gave one to a friend. Thanks were profusely given and the rabbit placed on ice until evening, when it could be skinned.

Evening approached, and the process of cleaning was started, in the basement. A small hat upsuits, however, was suddenly disturbed by much verbal commotion and disgusted rumblings from the region of the cellar. Going down to seek the cause, he found his laboring father, just barely begun on the task of plucking the hairs from the frozen rabbit.

Seminary Professor to Speak Sunday

The Rev. J. F. Krueger, D. D., Ph. D., of the faculty of the Hamma Divinity school, Springfield, Ohio, will speak next Sunday evening at the Missionary Thank-Offering service at the Hilltop Evangelical Lutheran church. Dr. Krueger is well known as an educator and missionary of the United Lutheran Church in America, having served his church as president of Midland College, Fremont, Nebraska, and as the organizer of its mission work in China, besides his present position on the faculty of the seminary.

The Thank-Offering service is being held under the auspices of the two missionary societies of the Hilltop Lutheran church.

Resolution

Whereas, It has pleased an Allwise Father to summon our beloved brother, Lewis Sonder, from earthly scenes and labors and troubles to etenal happiness and reward, and—

Whereas, this dispensation of Divine Providence brings great regret and sorrow to Hoge Memorial church, especially to the men's class of this church of both of which he was an honored member.

Be it resolved, that the men's class of Hoge Memorial church give expression to our sympathy with the bereaved family of our dear brother, and join with them in their grief while we rejoice with them in the contemplation of a consistent and well-spent Christian life.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the son, the daughter and the sister of our deceased brother and that these resolutions be printed in the Hilltop Record.

Bantamweights End Campaign

Eight Teams Finish Initial Campaign; Hilltoppers Finish in Second Place.

The Columbus Bantamweight football league during the past week completed its first season, which has been regarded as a most successful one. The eight teams which composed the loop were evenly matched and every game was hard fought and evenly contested. Large attendance at each of the games evidenced the great interest of the public in the circuit.

The league, the first of its kind ever sponsored by the recreation department, proved to be a huge success and the plans are being laid now for the organization of bantamweight, lightweight, middleweight and heavyweight leagues next year.

Locally, the Hilltop midgets, coached by Paul Casey and Dick Murray, played excellent ball throughout the campaign, not meeting defeat until the final championship encounter with the St. Clair Juniors.

Girl Scout News

Girls of troop 22 will have a booth on Dec. 2 at the Ladies' Aid Fair of Hoge Memorial church.

Fire Points Out Still to Police

Saturday night was unlucky for Oliver E. Stephens, 34, of 306 S. Wayne Ave. The gasoline which he was pouring into an oil stove exploded, starting a fire which caused $50 damage to his home. Stephens was burned about the face and hands while trying to put it out, and police officers who investigated the blaze arrested him on charges of illegal possession of liquor and implements designed for its manufacture. The stove, said police, was used to heat a still.

After receiving first aid treatment from the firemen, Stephens was taken to St. Francis hospital for further treatment. He was arraigned in municipal court yesterday.

Commemorating Haydn's Birth

The Columbus Symphony orchestra, like many other musical organizations, is observing this, the 200th anniversary of the birth of Joseph Haydn, by presenting the "Military" Symphony at the opening concert of the orchestra's ninth season, Sunday afternoon, Dec 11, at Memorial Hall.

To Haydn, with his little orchestra composed of footmen, waiters, butlers and stable-boys in the picturesque old castle of the Esterhazy's in Hungary, we are indebted for the invention of the symphony which in the hands of his successors has grown to such proportions as to portray the heights and depths of human emotions.

This particular symphony is one of the most typically "Haydn" and reveals him in a joyous mood. It is further noteworthy because it is almost the only one of the one hundred and fifty-three symphonies which this master wrote in which he used trumpets and is the earliest symphony in which clarinets were included as part of the orchestra. The symphony gets its name from the use of these instruments which had until that time, been used almost exclusively in military bands.

The soloists for this concert will be Earl Hughes, tenor, and Ethel de Comes, pianist.

Stops Changed

Street car stops on the Hilltop, lower West Side and on High street, have been changed or eliminated entirely from intersections where no traffic light exists. The re-arrangement was made in an effort to speed up car service.

Injured

Knocked down by an auto in West Broad street, near his home, Friday night, Charles Demarest, 8, of 78 N. Brinker Ave., suffered a lump on the head and was treated in Mt. Carmel hospital.

Smoke Rouses Family

The family of Dr. O. J. Swisher, Jr., 1070 Sullivant Ave., was aroused at 4 a. m., Thursday, Nov. 17, when their home was filled with smoke from a defective furnace. A fire company was sent to the scene, but there was no damage.

Contented Quail Lays 171 Eggs

"Milk from Contented Cows" has nothing on Eggs from Contented Quail, officials of the American Game association believe in pointing out what is believed to be the all-time egg laying record of Bob White Quail.

One little quail hen way daown in Gawgia laid 171 eggs during the season just closed. She belongs to Tom Kinningham, of Thomasville, a sportsman who is raising quail and releasing them to the wilds. Contentment is given as the cause of the record; for the little lady had no enemies to worry about; plnty of the best of her choicest foods; protection from the weather and plenty of cover for domestic secrecy—a trait of this species. Fifteen is the average number of eggs laid in the wilds.

HILLTOPICS

We've noticed that two out of three boys playing on Hilltop side streets seem to be wearing close-fitting leather hats with flaps that cover the ears and tie under the chin. It's our guess that the modern boy no longer dreams of being a fireman or locomotive engineer when he grows up; his heroes are the aviator and the football player. Accepting the fact that he must wait at least a few years for the applause of crowds, he meanwhile dons the badge of his desire, the leather helmet, or at least a fair imitation.

At a local scout meeting last week, the scoutmaster asked a few questions of the boys, the answers to be written on paper and handed in. One of the questions was: "What do you dislike most to do?" There were an abundance of answers, among them the washing of dishes, getting up, and one boy even declared that there was nothing he really disliked to do. But the prize answer of them all came from one of the assistant patrol leaders, who declared himself as follows: Fool, horse around, etc., with anything romantic or musical. Wantaboy!

They're telling one on Willard Young at the Hilltop Bank. As the rabbit season opened, Willard was afield with his trusty weapon. Soon a bunny was routed and he was fired upon, but not mortally wounded. He continued his course, with Young in his wake, gaining all the time, but breathing hard. On went the rabbit! On went Willard. Over a little knoll—and "bang"—some other hunter had picked off the rabbit on the march.

Moral:
Ye who shoot and do not kill.
Give no chase—keep shooting still.

FORTUNE'S FAVORITE

Post-Thanksgiving stories are still coming in. We just heard one about a Eureka avenue man who bargained with a farmer to deliver him a turkey before the great day at 25 cents a pound. Meanwhile he won a turkey as a euchre prize, but took $3.00 instead. When the farmer delivered the turkey, he said the price had gone up, so the wife took a chicken, and that same day won a turkey in a charity raffle. The husband went to collect the turkey and was sold another dime's worth of tickets, which proved winners of a chicken. Returning home, he found that one of his hunting neighbors had brought him in a dressed rabbit, and when he bought his Thanksgiving groceries, his bill reached the total of five dollars and he was therefore presented with a duck. All in all, he says, he is looking forward complacently to the coming winter.

The store is tastefully arranged and tables set with full service shown and matched with the proper glassware makes an unusually attractive display. Patrons of this store may purchase one dish or as many pieces as they may wish to make the set they desire.

An invitation is extended the readers of the Hilltop Record to visit this unusual store.

Cowboys Loom As Darkhorses In Cage Race

Coach Wise Wields Ax As First Week of Practice Closes.

As the initial week of basket-ball practice comes to a close, the West High floor squad has reached its true dimensions and work has been started in earnest in preparation for the opening melee but one week distant.

Twelve players will be carried on the first string outfit, and eight players on the reserve team. All reserves must be of junior rank or lower in school.

Among the contenders for a first string berth, besides the lettermen Boye, Casey and Moorman, will be last year's reserves, Deshler, Wylie, Mathews, Burkhalter, Burdette, Jividen, Thornton, and Van Scoy.

Prospects for a good team are fair, according to Wise, who also laments the fact that his team will not be of the tall, rangy type. Should some of the oncoming sophomores develop speedily, the Cowboys may slip a wrench or two into the mechanism of local scholastic predictions.

Next Friday night, on the West hardwood, the 1932-33 cage season will get under way as the locals play host to Lancaster St. Marys. Due to misinformation, several errors appeared in the schedule announced last week. The revised list of games is as follows:

Dec. 9, Lancaster St. Mary's
Dec. 16, at Springfield
Dec. 17, Grandview
Dec. 21, Greenfield
Dec. 30, Alumni
Dec. 31, at Greenfield
Jan. 6, South

Former West Athletes Extend Careers to College Fields

Wills, Schmidt, Deshler, Knisely, Blackburne, McCullom, Link and Marshall Add to Athletic Achievements and Seek Higher Learning.

The gridiron fame of Ohio University, for some years past, wideflung through the east and mid-west, may be carried on by proteles of Harold Wise, coach of the West High Cowboys.

Four stars of former Brown and Buff grid machines have matriculated at the Athens institution, and from reports, two will be conspicuous cogs in the eleven that faces the powerful Purdue university team next fall.

"Woody" Wills and "Bill" Schmidt—the Damon and Pythias of West High sportdom—are probable backfield starters in Don Pedan's Bobcat eleven next year, both having won numerals and sweaters as freshmen on one of the strongest yearling teams ever to appear at the Bobcat stronghold. And along with them, "Jim" McCullom, also won his insignia. "Woody" Link was also a numeral winner.

Wills and Schmidt, whose gridiron feats linger yet in the memory of Westfandom, functioned in the role of signal caller and full back respectively during the past fall. Wills also performed as safety man. The two were inseparable companions in high school days, and now, at college, they room together, sleep, eat, attend classes, play football and will play basket-ball and baseball together. Both have been under close scrutiny by the St. Louis Cardinal baseball organization as potential major league prospects.

But these are not the only West athletes profiting from the teachings of Wise. George Marshall, elongated basket-ball center of last season, will be a candidate for the quintet at Ohio university. George Blackburne, Earl Knisely, and Dana Deshler, the latter two all high footballers, have matriculated at Findlay and all were regulars on that team throughout the past campaign.

Legion Drive For Food Is Huge Success

Local Residents Respond Wholeheartedly to Thanksgiving Day Canvass.

Beans, potatoes, vegetables, and fruit—clothing for the tiny tot in the cradle and for adults—in great abundance was given to the American Legion Relief committee Thanksgiving day to be re-distributed to the needy of the community.

More than 4000 cans of preserved foodstuff, 25 bushels of potatoes, and several loads of clothing are stored at American Legion headquarters, 2373 W. Broad St. More than 100 Legionnaires participated in the drive, canvassing every home on the Hilltop and receiving a warm welcome everywhere. Those who did not contribute preserved goods, donated money. The latter, however, was not accepted unless nothing could be given in the way of food and clothing.

A statement from the headquarters of the Camp Chase Post said:

"The American Legion and the Auxiliary Unit of Camp Chase Post No. 98 wishes to take the opportunity, through the Hilltop Record, to thank the many hundreds of donors of foodstuffs and clothing which is to be distributed to the needy families of the community. It is hoped that the burdens of many less fortunate citizens will be lightened."

M. P. Hain, 113 Whitethorne Ave., RA. 0854J, was chairman of the committee making the canvass. George M. Ward is commander of the post.

Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick, 584 S. Warren Ave., RA. 2088J, is chairman of the Auxiliary Relief committee.

St. John Lutheran Cancels Mortgage Thanksgiving Day

Thanksgiving Day had added significance for St. John Lutheran church, Broad street near Hague avenue, this year. Having cancelled its mortgage Monday, Nov. 21, it was burned with appropriate ceremony Thursday morning.

St. John congregational was organized with 17 charter members May 9, 1917. The first house of worship was a chapel located at 95 S. Burgess Ave. These 17 charter members assumed a $5,917.07 debt, in order to have their own place of worship. In the short span of four years, June 17, 1921, the corner stone of the present church building was laid. Eighty-three communicant members assumed a debt of over $25,000, which made the present edifice a reality. The first public worship was held in this place Nov. 6, 1921. Dedication services were held Jan. 15, 1922.

From May, 1924, until Dec., 1927, a sum of $14,814.71 was refunded on the debt. Since Aug., 1928, until Monday, Nov. 21, a total of $15,128.14 has been refunded, totaling $29,842.85 refunded.

Newsie

Forty-five years ago Harry Fleming, the well-known and popular paymaster in the office of City Treasurer D. Staley Creamer, was a newsboy, selling papers on Columbus streets every day, rain or shine.

"And let me tell you," he said to the interviewer, "selling papers in those days was a real job. We had to hustle for the pennies and work early and late. It took a lot of real salesmanship because people didn't buy fast in those days and we didn't have a new edition to sell every half hour like the newsboys do in these times."

Every year, around Christmas time, when Mr. Fleming takes the Broad and Hague corner to sell papers for the Charity Newsies, he recalls those days when he shouted out headlines that told of the history making events of the "Elegant Eighties," when Columbus was less than half as big as it is now and one edition a day was considered enough to tell all the news for everyone.

For the past 12 years Mr. Fleming has done his job for the Newsies and is proud of the record of sales he has made in that time in the name of Charity. No matter what the weather and no matter how thin the crowds, he has remained on the job from early morning until late at night.

Last year Mr. Fleming ran second in the list of Charity Newsies with the largest amounts collected. He turned in a total of $1475.00 for the day, showing just what can be done for the Newsies when one really works at the job for the cause of 100 per cent charity.

His real hobby is work with the Charity Newsie organization and he devotes the major portion of his spare time to that cause.

Last year the Newsies aided 3880 families in which there were 13,208 children.

Mr. C. J. Kohn, president of the Hilltop Business Men's association, has been invited by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce to attend a meeting of civic leaders to be held Monday, Dec. 5, for the purpose of organizing a Metropolitan Columbus Traffic club. In his communication to Mr. Kohn, Charles E. Nixon, president of the C. of C., stated that traffic accidents in Columbus last year were three times as numerous as those in other cities of a comparable size.

"W" Association In Organization Stages At West High School

First Meeting of Letter Wearers Is Scheduled for Tuesday Evening, Dec. 13.

What in all probability is an excellent project, is in the making and soon to become a reality at West High school. Under the leadership of Coach Harold Wise a "W" association composed of all letter winners, both students and alumni, will be organized at a meeting at the school Tuesday evening, Dec. 13.

For a long time, recognition of athletic services has been lacking at the Cowboy institution, but under the leadership of the new regime, an effort will be made to repay those who have served their school in an athletic capacity.

Such an organization, it is thought, will result favorably for the welfare of the school, its athletes and the alumni. Membership will be divided into two classes, namely active and associate. Active members will include those eligible athletes in the school, who have won a major, minor or reserve letter. Associate members will consist of those who have won letters at some previous time. A record of these men has been kept in the school files.

The policies of the organization will be determined by the active members. Only major letter wearers will be permitted to vote. The privileges of the active members include: One admission to all athletic activities and the right to have a part in the development of the organization policies. With certain modifications, these same privileges will be extended associate members.

The "W" association is a reality. A long needed institution has finally made its appearance, and West alumni are being urged to assist in making it a success. The first meeting, at which time the constitution, already drafted and approved, will be read, is scheduled for Tuesday evening, Dec. 13, at the school.

More announcements concerning the organization will be forthcoming next week.

Bandits Get $120 At Umbenhaur's

Woman's Alert Action Prevents Larger Haul Wednesday Morning.

Umbenhaur's Drug Store, West Broad street and North Wayne avenue, was held up early Wednesday morning by four bandits who made their escape with $120 in cash and were deprived of a further haul by the alert action of Mrs. Sally Umbenhaur, who stepped on an electric button used as a call bell to an apartment on the second floor, while on her way to open the safe in the basement.

James Hawthorne, a clerk, and a customer were in the store at the time. Two of the bandits forced Hawthorne to open a cash register and Mrs. Umbenhaur, unaware of what was going on, opened the other only when she saw a gun pointed at the clerk. Both were then forced to the basement where the call button was stepped upon and which the bandits took for a burglar alarm. They made their getaway then, not long before two police cruisers arrived on the scene, answering a call by Hawthorne, who slipped out a back door and called police, as the bandits left.

A motorist on Wayne avenue, whose path was blocked by the bandit car, said that the machine was an Oldsmobile coach and bore Kentucky license plates.

The loss was covered by insurance.

Holiday Rush Begins In Earnest As Hilltop Merchants Decorate Stores and Display Christmas Merchandise for the Holiday Season.

John! Oh, John! Johneeeeee! Time to get up. Yeah, I'm comin'! And so's Christmas, and if little Johnny don't hasten his step and roll out from under those nice, warm blankets, the day of days will have come, and little Johnny's mother, having busied herself with the herculean task of routing Johnny, will have had no time to confer with old St. Nick and he may pass the sleepyhead up as he makes his annual rounds.

Take a glimpse at the calendar! Only 22 DAYS UNTIL CHRISTMAS. And of those 22 days, a mere 18 are available for Christmas shopping. Not very many days yet, and the rush is already on. And while yet in the process of deciding what Pa, and Ma and the others would appreciate, look about you right here on the Hilltop. Local merchants are already prepared to display a bountiful array of Christmas merchandise.

The year is swiftly fading, and soon the song, and good cheer and joy of the greatest of holidays will wipe away the depression's gloomy countenance, if but for a week. Old St. Nick, and his jolly corps of co-workers are in the last stages of preparation, and reports from North Pole City state that rain, snow or sunshine, the old gentleman will arrive on schedule at all points south. Special equipment has been perfected in the famous Claus laboratories to enable the jolly visitor to enter even the smallest chimneys in the tiniest apartments. According to information received this week, Santa and assistants will start their southward journey about Dec. 20, although a few of the advance guards have already arrived.

Night School Courses Practical

Hilltop Men Dominate Drafting Classes at Evening School.

The varied branches of the drafting profession taught in evening school (Central Night school) are appealing to Hilltop men who are taking advantage of the courses offered to prepare for prosperity.

In architectural drafting we find Kelly Will specializing in structural steel drafting and Indiana limestone details; Alfred Schock taking a course in general architecture, and Adolph Lustenauer finishing off with a course of twenty plates in rendering. Mike Cain, after having completed a course in machine drafting now doubles back for topographical drafting such as is desirable in surveying and military reconnaissance work. Tom Sharkey is designing and building a cabin motor boat which he will power on Buckeye Lake next summer.

Larry Young, Bob Williams and Theodore Bright are learning the principles of airplane drafting, using government design data. Fred Temple in conjunction with Tom McAndrews and two others are taking the electrical drafting course. The latter working on distribution panels of his own design and the former completing the wiring diagrams and estimates for a house on Oakland Park avenue.

Miss Vera Reynolds and Arthur Buxton have designed floor plans and elevations of a Spanish residence and are now working out the models and details. Other students are enrolled in machine drafting, sheet metal design, and blue print reading.

The class in room 15 has planned a Christmas party for Dec. 16 which will probably be held in a cottage on the Big Darby with luncheon and games forming the entertainment for the evening. Classes meet Monday and Thursday evenings at 6:45 to 8:45 p. m. Tuition is free but a small enrollment fee is charged.

Rivoli and Ritz Announce Bookings

The management of the Rivoli and Ritz theatres stated yesterday that the new low prices at the two theatres were expected to be off-set by the increased attendance of Hilltop people, rather than a let-down in the quality of the pictures shown, and cited the following films, booked for the near future, as examples: For the Rivoli, "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang," "Life Begins," "White Eagle," "Night Mayor," "The Crash," "That's My Boy," "Washington Merry-Go-Round," "Air Mail," "Night Club Lady," "Prosperity," "You Said a Mouthful," "Mask of Fu Manchu," "A Successful Calamity," and "Blessed Event." The Ritz theatre has contracted for "The Conquerors," "Too Busy to Work," "Tom of the Storm Country," "Sport Parade," "Hot Check Girl," and "Hold 'Em, Jail."

:-: ALL-HIGH GRIDIRON GOLD :-:

The Deshler triumvirate—pictured above—any one of which has been a sight for sore eyes of football coaches, comes apparently from a family that is "football minded." Dana, a star tackle on the West High team of 1930, was named all-high captain that year. Bernard, a Central student, played a brilliant game at fullback the same year. David, whose high school athletic career is still in progress at West, was named all-high tackle and captain this year. They reside at 43 S. Warren Ave.

"Educated Man Power" to Save Game As a Crop

That wild game is a crop of the land and should be handled as such; that educated man power to manipulate this crop is the foundation of the whole structure of wild life conservation; and that conservation of wild life is actually a problem in organization, are points that Major L. W. T. Waller, jr., internationally known conservationist and sportsman of Meadowbrook, Pa., will emphasize in his address to be delivered at the Nineteenth American Game Conference at Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City, November 28, 29 and 30, a bulletin of the American Game association announces.

Major Waller will point out that conservation is suffering from many causes and as a consequence, wild life is steadily decreasing; and on the other hand that it can be made to increase, probably even more rapidly, by regarding wild life as a crop and by applying the same principles to develop it as are used in developing agriculture and forestry.

"The foundation of the whole structure is educated man power," Major Waller said in discussing his coming address, which, many conservationists believe, will direct thought and efforts into new channels. "We are really faced with an organization job and not a conservation job as we understand the terms. Faults of conservation today will disappear if we provide the educated man power. Compare the operations of game conservation with those of any large technical commercial concern—wild life conservation easily takes its place with billion dollar businesses—and such a comparison will demonstrate most clearly the lack of educated man power and the lack of research. Some of the technical concerns have given fellowships in universities, many of them maintain their own research laboratories and spend huge sums on research. If a commercial concern wants to go into quantity production on any product, it must have the 'know-how' and the educated man power to put that 'know how' to work to produce the desired results. Leaving out all considerations of sentiment, a desire to put game, or wild life on a quantity production basis in every state, every county, every township in the nation, and we have neither the 'know how' nor the educated man power to put it across."

Major Waller says research will reveal the "know how" and educated man power will apply it, thus bringing about the restoration of wild life. Both research and educated man power can be had by enlisting the universities and colleges to produce them, he concluded.

Town That Died

The town of Gretna, Scotland, famous as a marrying place, blossomed into further prominence as a munitions center during the World war. It cost no less than $45,000,000 to build and equip, and turned out $75,000,000 of credits during the war, but is now the most dismal spectacle imaginable. The great plain is dotted with crumbling, roofless buildings. The concert and dancing halls, the cinemas, institutes, and playing fields—all are in ruins of weed-grown, and of the former population of 6,000 people very few are left.

Cage Circuits Open for Boys

Junior and Intermediate League Organized in West Church League.

An opportunity for boys between the ages of 13 and 18 years to participate in supervised recreation under the sponsorship of the city recreation department will be presented this winter with the organization of a junior and intermediate basket-ball league in the West Church Athletic association.

The junior league, composed of teams under the age of 15, is open to boys of the junior high department of local churches. Games will be played during the late hours of the afternoon and practice sessions will be allotted each entering team on the Glenwood shelter house floor. The entrance fee will be five dollars.

The intermediate league will be composed of teams of high school age. Only boys under 18 years of age will be eligible. Practice sessions will also be provided for teams of this circuit on Thursday nights during the month of December. Games will be scheduled on the same night when the season opens. The fee for entrance in this league is 12 dollars.

Extensive improvements are now being made at the Glenwood gymnasium and when completed will furnish one of the best basket-ball courts in the city. Churches desiring to enroll teams in any of the divisions are asked to get in touch with the officials of the association or with Leo Tridli at the city recreation department.

Triangle Drafting Competition Plans Are Nearing Completion

When Dec. 16 rolls around it will find several score drafting students of West High school with tape, pencils and sketch pads, measuring as many lots on the Hilltop and placing thereon outlines of house, garage or other buildings.

In the minds of these students will be visions of flowers in bloom, vegetables, pools, fountains, rock gardens, and various cool retreats for a hot August afternoon. For these students will be out to make the Hilltop more beautiful, and they will begin at home. They will lay their plans carefully, combining the utility of the vegetable garden with the beauty and fragrance of the flower garden. There will be room for dad's practical ideas and for mother's garden of flowers. If the setting needs some additional foundation landscaping, the plans will show it and if Junior wants a fish pool, now is the time to plan it.

All this will be a part of the Home Gardens Drafting competition sponsored by the Triangle club at West High school. As this paper goes to press detailed rules of the contest are being completed. They will provide for two phases in the contest, first will be that mentioned above, the landscape plot sketch which will be approved by the instructor. These will be completed prior to the Christmas vacation.

Upon the return to school in January these sketches will be laid out accurately to scale in the drafting room, and concrete plans developed. Committees are now gathering data from leading publications, seed, bulb, and plant growers, and landscape architects in this country. This data will be assembled and indexed for use by the students entering the competition.

Students who have no gardens to plan, will work on lots of the board of education. Or, on Hilltop property, as many will do. Plans for landscaping backyards and gardens are made free of charge and several have already called the school. Those residents interested are asked to submit their names before Dec. 16. A student will be sent to take measurements.

West Minstrel Is To Be Dec. 15-16

"The Show Boat" to Be First Dramatic Production of Year At Local High School.

"The Show Boat," a variety minstrel production, will be presented by dramatic students of West High school on Thursday and Friday nights, Dec. 15 and 16. It will mark the first large dramatic production at West this year.

The setting will be on a river steamer plying its way into the southland where blackfaced comedians lend a gay life. Songs and dances will be an outstanding feature of the production, with Valeda Gugger leading a pirate band of dancing rangers. Local talent will also impersonate stars of stage and radioland.

A Booth Tarkington comedy, along with many other features, will round out the program.

Ticket sales began Wednesday, Nov. 23, under the supervision of the student council. All seats are reserved and may be purchased from West students.

A baby gently tapped my door,
I heard him sweetly say,
"I have brought a letter for you."
Then hastened on his way.

Wee fingers had just scribbled marks,
But angels up above,
Could plainly read that message true
And I knew it was—Love.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

LIGHTFOOT TELLS HOW HIS HORNS GREW

IT IS hard to believe what seems impossible. And yet what seems impossible to you may be a very commonplace matter to some one else. So it does not do to say that a thing cannot be just because you cannot understand how it can be. Peter Rabbit wanted to believe what Lightfoot the Deer had just told him, but somehow he couldn't believe it. You see Lightfoot had just told Peter that the splendid great horns which crowned Lightfoot's head were new and had grown that summer. Do you wonder that Peter found this hard to believe? If he had seen them growing it would have been another matter. But he hadn't seen Lightfoot since the very last of the winter and then Lightfoot had had just such handsome horns as he now wore, so he really couldn't be blamed for not being able to believe that those had been lost and in their place new ones had grown in just the few months of spring and summer.

"How Do You Know It Is True?" Snapped Peter, a Little Crossly.

So when Peter had asked him about the rags hanging to his horns, Lightfoot had told Peter that he didn't like to tell things to people who wouldn't believe them. And Peter didn't blame Lightfoot in the least. "I'm trying to believe it," he said humbly.

"It's all true," broke in another voice. Peter turned to find his cousin, Jumper the Hare, sitting near. Unseen and unheard he had stolen up and had overheard what Peter and Lightfoot had said.

"How do you know it is true?" snapped Peter, a little crossly, for Jumper had startled him.

"Because I saw Lightfoot's old horns after they had fallen off, and I often saw Lightfoot while his new horns were growing," retorted Jumper.

"All right! I'll believe anything that Lightfoot tells me if you say it is true," declared Peter, who greatly admired his cousin Jumper. "Now tell me about those rags clinging to your horns, Lightfoot. Please do."

Lightfoot couldn't resist that "please." "Those rags are what is left of a kind of covering which covered the horns while they were growing, as I told you before," said he. "Very soon after my old horns dropped off, the new ones began to grow. They were not hard, not at all like they are now. They were soft and very tender, and the blood ran all through them just as it does through our bodies. They were covered with a sort of skin with hairs on it like thin fur. The ends were not sharp pointed as they are now, but were big and round like knobs. They were not like horns at all, and they made my head hot and very uncomfortable. That is why I hid away. They grew very fast, so fast that every day I could see, by looking at my reflection in the water, that they were a little longer. It seemed to me sometimes as if all my strength went into those new horns. And I had to be very careful not to hit them against anything. In the first place it would have hurt, and in the second place it might have spoiled the shape of my horns.

"When they had grown to the length you now see they began to shrink and grow hard. The knobs on the ends shrank until they became pointed. As soon as they stopped growing the blood stopped flowing up in them, and as they became hard they were no longer tender. The skin which had covered them grew hard and split and I rubbed it off on trees and bushes. The little rags you see are what is left, but I will soon be rid of those. Then I shall be ready to fight a man, if need be, and will fear him only when he has a terrible gun with him."

Lightfoot tossed his pretty head proudly and rattled his wonderful horns against the nearest tree. "Isn't he handsome?" whispered Peter to Jumper the Hare. "And did you ever hear of anything so wonderful as the growing of those new horns in such a short time? It is hard to believe, but I suppose it must be true."

"It is," replied Jumper, "and I tell you, Peter, I would hate to have Lightfoot try those horns on me even though I were as big as a man. You've always thought of Lightfoot as timid and afraid, but you should see him when he is angry. Few people care to face him then."

Snakes Are Missed

The importation of great numbers of reptile skins into the United States from French Indo-China is said to be responsible for an alarming increase in the rat population of the territories of the latter country from which the reptiles were taken. Snakes destroy many rats and other rodent pests, so this condition does not seem unlikely in view of the fact that 38,750 pieces of reptile skins were imported to this country from French Indo-China in the final quarter of last year alone.

Mother's Cook Book

MADE OF MOLASSES

MOST of us think of molasses as an old-fashioned sirup which was used in grandmother's day to sweeten the gingerbread, cookies and juicy pies, that gave an aroma to her pantry which we never forget.

However, molasses goes back much farther than grandmother's pantry, for our Puritan grandparents used molasses in all their cookery, and the full molasses keg was a large part of the food equipment. It was eaten with mush and cereals, on griddle cakes and all kinds of bread, sweetened dried apple pies, baked ham, cakes and puddings, as there was no sugar in those days, such as we commonly use now.

Molasses being the product of the South, has its delectable dishes which have been handed down to us from generation to generation. The following are a few worth keeping, as they are choice:

Louisiana Pudding.

Take one-half cupful of well washed rice, four cupfuls of milk, one-half cupful of raisins, one-half cupful of New Orleans molasses, one-half teaspoonful of each of cinnamon and salt. Mix well and bake two and one-half hours, stirring often during the first hour of baking. On the last stirring add two tablespoonfuls of butter.

Southern Waffles.

Sift one pint of flour with three tablespoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, then add one and one-fourth cupfuls of milk, two eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately, mix and beat well, then add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Add more milk if the batter seems too thick. Serve with New Orleans molasses.

Creole Sauce.

Cook one cupful of molasses and two tablespoonfuls of butter together for five minutes. Take from the fire and add the juice of two lemons. Serve as a sauce for cottage pudding.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

The meeting of the Camp Fire Girls of West Junior High school was called to order Nov. 28 by the secretary, Miss Katherine Blackmore. The girls received patterns for rag dolls which they are making into Christmas gifts.

The girls also received health charts for December.

Turkey Dinner and Christmas Sale at St. Mary Magdalene Hall, Roys and Parkside, Thursday evening, Dec. 8. Adults 35c, children 25c. You're invited.

Love Beauty In Nature

The Swedish people have an instinctive love for beauty in nature and they attempt to preserve this beauty as much as they can. For some time they have carried on a campaign against billboards and advertisements of all kinds that appear along the automobile roads and railroads. The Swedish people strongly oppose anything that is likely to mar the great beauty of their countryside. In 1909 a law was passed which prohibited billboards and other forms of advertisements at points along the highways which are considered to have unusual scenic beauty. The only places the law allowed such signs were on buildings used as dwelling or business places. By the efforts of combined forces the beauty spots of Sweden are preserved.

The LOOKOUT

REMINISCENT

Memories of the war have their humorous side even for those of us too young at the time to be combatants. Looking over an ancient copy of the Record last night we saw the head line "War Gardens Increasing," which reminded us of our own little plot back in 1918, entirely devoted to the culture of string beans. Shortly after the harvest a young lady from some government bureau or other called and spent a difficult quarter hour computing the net profit on the enterprise, which proved to be exactly 48 cents. Proudly mentioning the fact to the family, we met the query, "What about the price of your labor?" and this brought about the conclusion that we had worked for about a cent an hour. The wages would have figured lower still if we had reckoned in the time spent by two other boys in pulling the cultivator, but patriotism ran high at the time, and they seemed to consider it a privilege.

WHAT? NO MEAT?

Ed Laughlin, printer at 188 S. Eureka Ave., of whom mention was made in this column last week concerning his wretched luck in garnering sufficient meat for Thanksgiving Day dinner, complains this week that one of the chickens he won was not mentioned in the write-up. So, with the addition of this forgotten fowl, Ed's total supply of winter meat amounts to: Three chickens, two turkeys, one rabbit, and one duck.

SECRETFUL

We were greatly depressed last week to read that a London hospital had developed a new drug which would "prolong life by 10 years, eliminate fear, and stimulate physical and intellectual strength." Here we'd spent a lot of our spare time reading lengthy tomes on education and psychology, and making notes for future use, only to find that a short cut to supermen has been discovered. Nevertheless, we intend to hold on to our notes for another couple of months, say, just to make sure that our own panaceas will not be needed.

AUTHORITY

We note with interest a news item in the last issue of the Record, that a Hilltop undertaker led a discussion at the Columbus Chamber of Commerce on traffic accidents. And we have a tendency to believe that none other could be better authority than an undertaker.

And they're telling one on a prominent Hilltopper who went hunting, and having no luck, finally spied a clump in a field wherein he thought a bunny reposed. So, with careful aim, he drew back and fired, blasting much of the clump from the vicinity, but there was no rabbit there. And those companions with him, smiled inwardly, for they remembered his mania for blasting sod while golfing, earlier in the summer.

But, a word must be said in his favor, for he fetched home two rabbits. One that his son shot and one that was caught in a trap.

A Hilltop garage man has contrived a way to heat his garage and get rid of transmission-oil drainings at the same time. He has a two-gallon oil can above one side of his stove, from which an old piece of brass tubing leads the oil to a hole in the stove lid. A petcock on the tubing regulates the amount of oil dripping into the flame. Crank case drainings cost only a few cents a gallon, he says, and a fair-sized lump of coal and a gallon of oil heats his garage comfortably all day. While the contrivance was being explained to us, we reflected that James Watt must have been almost as proud of his first steam engine.

SINISTER

Looking over the toys collected for repair in engine house No. 17, we were surprised to see a sturdy pair of handcuffs in the pile. Mere toys, the chief explained, and he fitted them on one wrist, only to find that our slowness at mechanical problems made them difficult to remove. Maybe it's a guilty conscience still hanging over us from certain raids on apple orchards long ago, or maybe we're just old-fashioned, but we're going to write to Kris Kringle tonight and tell him we want a big, red tricycle; never mind the handcuffs.

Cowboys Ready To Open Floor Season Tonight

Lancaster St. Mary's to Be Met In Lidlifter At West Gym; Prelim. Scheduled.

Coach Harold Wise's 1932-33 edition of basket-ball machinery will make its bow to Hilltop fandom tonight on the West floor, tackling the classy Lancaster St. Mary's quintet in the first game of the present campaign. It is also the first game of a home and home arrangement with the Fairfield countians, the second battle being scheduled for the night of Jan. 28, at Lancaster.

Greenfield McClain, which has a veteran five back, will also be met on two occasions, the first game being played on the Cowboy court Dec. 21, and the second at Greenfield, Dec. 31.

For the lid-lifter tonight, some doubt still exists concerning the opening line-up for the locals. But it is a good guess, perhaps, that Moorman, an accurate shooter and promising center of last year, will get the call, either at the pivot position or at forward. Casey and Deshler will also function, probably at the guards, while Jividen may get the call at forward.

If Moorman does not start at center, predictions as to who will, are difficult. Several candidates have made strong bids for the job through the past week of strenuous practice, one of which may get Wise's nod.

A preliminary encounter will get under way at 7:15, with the main attraction scheduled to begin at 8:15 o'clock.

Grid Schedule

The 1933 city league grid menu for the Cowboys has been announced as follows:

Oct. 6—West at North (night)
Oct. 20—South at West
Nov. 3—Central at West
Nov. 10—Aquinas at West
Nov. 17—West at East

Other games will be scheduled at a later date.

West Junior Cagers Drop Opening Tilt

Play Ragged Offensive Game and Lose 15-11.

West Junior High basketeers opened their series of preliminary games with a defeat at the hands of the Ohio State School for the Deaf quintet. The final count was 15 to 11, despite the fact that that the local boys displayed a fine defensive game. Offensively, however, their play was ragged and Coach Gosnell Layman predicted a shake-up in the line-up for the game this afternoon against Mound on the West hardwood.

The starting line-up included Legg and Faught at the forwards, Graves at center, and Hallar and Bullard at the guards. Stewart also saw some action.

This afternoon West Junior will meet Mound Junior in the second of a series of preliminary games. The battle will get under way at 3:15.

Latin Club Meets

"Roman Patriotism" was the subject of a talk, at the December Latin club, by William Brownfield. He told stories which portrayed the patriotism of the ancient Roman people. This proved to be interesting for the members of the club and it also was in keeping with Armistice Day.

Eleanor Seiler talked on the Latin exhibit which was given at the Capital university for the meeting of the State Classical association.

Meat Supersmoked In Garage Blaze

Paper Money Also Lost in Eureka Avenue Fire.

A fire caused by the backfire of a light truck resulted in a total loss of $273 to Glenn Price, wholesale meat dealer, 214 S. Eureka Ave., at 7:45 yesterday morning. The truck was damaged to the extent of $100, $80 worth of meat stored in the truck was rendered unsalable, the garage was damaged to the extent of $50, and $43 in paper money, put in a carton in the rear of the truck for safe-keeping and forgotten when the truck was put up for the night, was burnt up in the blaze. Engine houses 10 and 17 responded to the call put in by Price, who turned the truckload of meat over to the firemen for charitable distribution after the blaze was extinguished.

Cowboys, Alumni In Charity Tilt

Proceeds From Second Annual Battle to Aid Needy Hilltop Students.

The West High Cowboys, and stars of former years at the local institution, will battle on the hardwood court Friday night, Dec. 30, at the West gymnasium, in a charity game, the proceeds of which will be used to aid needy students in Hilltop schools.

The game, sponsored by the West High School Athletic committee, Alumni association, and the Hilltop Business Men's association, will follow a preliminary game between the reserves of the two teams. After the main attraction, a jitney dance will be featured, the music for which will be furnished by a West High orchestra.

Tickets at 25 cents will be available after Saturday, Dec. 10, from the members of the three sponsoring organizations. Holders of student tickets will be admitted for 15 cents. Admission to the game also covers the cost of the first dance.

The work of officials, musicians, and others contributing services, will be donated. The game will not cost a cent, and all proceeds will go to charity.

Firemen Give Time To Toy Repairing

Paint Shop of Engine House 17 Turned Into Toy Hospital.

Firemen at Engine House No. 17, West Broad street and Wheatland avenue, started Monday on the work of putting old toys in condition for needy children of Columbus, a work which they have done for the past three Christmas seasons. Using tools furnished by themselves, and paints and sandpaper contributed by the Broad-Hague Hardware, the Renner Paint store, and the Markison Sign Co., they have been transforming battered and dingy velocipedes, racers, doll-coaches, and mechanical toys into trim and shining playthings. "A little red paint does wonders," says Capt. Harold Moore.

The toys will be turned over to the Volunteers of America and the Salvation Army for distribution as soon as they are put into first-class condition. Last year the firemen at the local station had to send away two truckloads of unrepaired toys because they were not brought in for repair until a day or so before Christmas. They are therefore asking Hilltop residents to get together their children's discarded toys and turn them in at once, particularly because of the increased need for them that will be met this year. They are also asking for contributions of bright-colored paints and enamels.

L. G. Dagiow, 348 N. Burgess Ave., has also been contributing his skill and time during the last week in the repair of the toys.

Wins Rebus

H. W. Stimson, 345 S. Harris Ave., won the rebus contest and a ton of Manhattan coal in a contest sponsored by the West Side Lumber Co., in last week's issue of the Record.

The correct solution was: "Manhattan coal suits to a T and to pay more for your fuel's a waste of dollars one could use to far better advantage."

Want Ad Lines Bring Better Times

Everyone's attic has some accumulation of useful articles, many of them placed there long ago and forgotten. Now, sometime in the new year, a general clean-up will be made. Why not now?

Probably there will be many useable articles found which will bring you spending money for the holiday season. And the best way in the world to get that money is to use the Record Want Ad columns to sell these items that you can't use but that may be of service to someone else.

Sit down now, and figure out what can be sold. Or better still, go up and look around. Then stop in at the Record office or one of the Want Ad stations, and send your message to 8500 Hilltop homes. You'll get results. Others have!

AS THE DAY NEARS

A recent bulletin from the director of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants says that Ohio stores have entered the Christmas season with the smallest reserve stock of gift merchandise in their history.

It is true that most merchants regard their December orders as more speculative in nature than those for any other month of the year, and their experiences last year and the year before have probably made them more cautious in their buying than present conditions actually warrant.

It is our guess that the feeling of good cheer that invariably arises a couple of days before Christmas will be marred for many this year because they have to make desperate runs to the center of town and from one store to another, trying to find the article that two weeks before might have been easily obtained.

THE "W" ASSOCIATION

The organization of a "W" Association, composed of lettermen at West High school, and the men who have won such athletic recognition in years past, is an excellent thing.

The men who have been athletes deserve some recognition, and for a minimum annual fee, they can now attend all out-of-door athletic activities without paying the usual admission price. And at indoor sporting events, half price will be charged.

Too, that the organization policies will be determined by the under graduates, is again worthy of comment. Too often, in years past, the alumni outside of school, and a single authority within the school, have assumed too much control, which resulted more often than not, disastrously. The activities of the new organization will be checked by the athletic committee of the school, and to over-rule student projects, it will take a majority vote. This type of checking authority, has proved in larger organizations than this, to be the most successful.

The passing of the "W" Association of years ago was not regretted. It never was worthy of its name. The organization of an entirely different system is commendable, and alumni interested in West High school, especially in an athletic way, can do well to pay their one dollar fee in return for the privileges extended by the association.

Strange Story Told Regarding Relative

Two horses and one man, yet only two eyes. No, this is not a riddle, nor would it even have appeared to be a strange statement in the minds of the friends and neighbors of Charles Preston, who lived near Mr. Vernon, Ohio, about ten years ago.

This man, who happens to have two nephews attending West High, besides being personally hampered by the lack of the sight of one eye, owned and drove a team of horses, one of which had the same handicap as himself, while the other was totally blind.

Mr. Preston now lives in Detroit, the old days "gone, but not forgotten."

Useful Information

Did you know that Miss Smith, our librarian, worked here all the month of July, putting the books in shape for us to use this year?

What do you say? Let's show her that we can keep them in good condition and when we return a book to the shelf, put it back where we got it and in line with the others.

Observations of a Teacher

By C. S. KENNEDY

Sometimes I am inclined to think that the greatest problem for the growing boy or girl is the same expression of his own individuality. From the day one is born he is whipped into line by admonitions and corrections at home; in school he must do his work the way his teacher tells him; and on Sunday another teacher throws him into a denominational cast.

I admit my guilt. Do you admit yours?

Undoubtedly these boys and girls of ours must time and again yearn to try out something for themselves; try it out all the way from beginning to end. But just let them try and get by with it. Of course I know we stop them for their own good. Otherwise they would grow up into wild centaurs. But do we really help them as we think or do we suppress without inspiring, rubber stamp them into a machine age and unload on them all the outworn hypocracies and customs of a rather disappointing past?

Suppose we put them on their own. Let them try a new plan now and then; could they make a much worse mess of it than we have? I'm asking you.

Then we wonder why they chisel us out of ideas which passed through our minds but which we were afraid to use.

Give us courage; give us individuality, give us youth with truth and progress will take care of itself.

Roy Krouse Named

13. Alumni eligible to membership are urged to attend this meeting.

The organization of the "W" association, fulfilling a long standing need at the local high school, has been effected through the efforts of Harold Wise, co-operating with Otto H. Magly and the athletic committee. Since the disbanding of the old "W" association, no recognition has been afforded athletes, either active or alumni.

TROOP 31

Girl Scout Troop 31 held their regular meeting Dec. 6 at the Burgess-Nusum Church of Christ. We were honored by a visit from Miss Irene McKinley, who taught and told us many interesting facts. We have also started our chorus. Later we intend to go caroling before Christmas.

TROOP 161

Arrangements were completed Tuesday, Dec. 6, between the board of directors of the Hilltop Church of Christ and Camp Chase Post 96 of the American Legion, for the acceptance of the charter for Boy Scout Troop 161 by the latter organization. In taking over the charter for the troop the post assumes the responsibility for its activities, and on March 31, 1933, when the present charter expires, it will be renewed under the name of the Camp Chase American Legion Troop 161. Arthur J. Bellar, chairman of Boy Scout activities, and Larry C. Seales, chairman of the Americanism committee, were the legionnaires active in the negotiations.

Members of the troop, ex-service men interested in scouting, and any boys wishing to obtain or renew membership in the troop are requested to watch this paper for an announcement of the date of the next meeting, which will be held in the new legion headquarters at 2363½ W. Broad St., within the next two weeks.

TROOP 172

A three-day winter camp will be sponsored by the troop starting Dec. 28, and concluding Dec. 30, in the Sugar Grove region. Plans are going forward to make this event the climax of the year's scouting activity. Practically every boy in the troop will attend.

On Sunday evening, Jan. 8, the troop will attend a church service at Hope Memorial Presbyterian, presenting an investiture service and taking part in the program.

The Honor Patrol for November was announced Friday evening, Dec. 2, at the troop display at the Hope Memorial Fair. Eugene Buckingham, Jim Hastings, Vieman Lyday, Robert McClurg, Howard Michel, Harold Weller, Richard Beem, and Billy Allen were the scouts named.

John Burroughs P.-T. A. Notes

OSTEOPATHY CURES DEFORMITY
Inflammatory rheumatism was the cause of a young woman being left with a stiff knee joint. Osteopathic treatments did for her what other forms of treatment failed to do. This young lady discarded her crutches to her great delight, as her knee was restored to a normal condition. If you are troubled with any stiff joints or deformity, consult Dr. R. D. Woodmansee, 2031 Summit St.

CHRISTMAS

The first Christmas occurred just 1932 years ago. From the time of this first Christmas, Light has always added to the Christmas Spirit of peoples in many lands.

Light has always signified joy, celebration!

Already in every section of the city stores, homes, buildings, are illuminated and decorated with Light in anticipation of the Christmas festival.

This month thousands of Christmas trees will be illuminated with tiny Electric Bulbs, to bring joy to young and old.

Electricity plays its part in this gigantic celebration silently, safely, and surely. It adds more to the Christmas Spirit of today than any other force.

Light up your home for Christmas now, both inside and out! Lights for your Christmas tree, wreaths, windows, shrubbery!

The LOOKOUT

A DESERVED HONOR

When the lettermen at West High school named Charles Casey as captain honorary of the 1932 gridiron machine, a deserved honor was bestowed upon worthy shoulders. None but his team mates could realize the Irishman's full value to his team, and the fact that he was elected by unanimous acclaim is significant.

For the past two years Casey has been named at the center position on every all-high selection. And though his work has never been spectacular, it has been invaluable. Three years of high school football has been his, and but two bad passes on his record. Truly a remarkable feat. His play defensively and offensively has been equally remarkable. Casey deserves the congratulations he is receiving—as does the team that recognized his services in such a fashion.

"Intoxicated Driver Gets Jail and $100" reads a headline, and we suppose if he'd have struck a pedestrian to boot, he'd have got the state house, too. And if he had been a politician, probably the left wing of the capitol building in Washington.

The approach of Christmas brought out a story this week about a Hilltop employer who, two seasons ago, presented each of his employees with a card designed to hold a piece of paper money, forgetting in his hurry to get off on a little Christmas vacation, to enclose the new bills he had laid aside for the purpose. Three days later he returned and straightened things out, but we imagine that in those three days his employees wondered and wondered.

The tale reminded us of another incident, with a motif more intentionally cruel. A young lady of our acquaintance, theatrically ambitious, secured a bit part with a little theatre production of that bizarre play "Rapid Transit." The other members of the cast were professionals and, in the custom of the theatre, received telegrams of congratulation on the first night from former fellow troupers, but the aforesaid young lady, although surrounded by a highly complimentary family, was a bit down in the mouth because she had received none. She was highly excited, consequently, when a telegram was handed to her, and opened it to read aloud to the others. Her letdown was rapid and complete. The wire read: SITUATION IN CHINA GROWING TENSE. WHAT SHALL WE DO?

NOTHING FLAT

Saturday morning we picked up a railroader on West Broad who was trying to get down to work at the Chesapeake and Ohio viaduct. His feet were wet with snow and his nose red with the cold; trolleys hadn't come his way for a half hour, and he resented the call to work. "Called me at 8 o'clock and told me to be to work at 8 o'clock," he said morosely. "How's a man gonna do that?" It was then 8:30. Just to keep up our end of the conversation we asked him what he'd have told them back in '29. His answer would be real live news to the railroad, and we're sorry we can't print it.

Cowboys Lose Lidlifter To St. Mary's 5

Locals Show Flashes of Good Form, But Fairfieldians Have Consistent Attack.

West High basketeers inaugurated the 1932-33 cage campaign Friday night on the West floor by facing the flashy Lancaster St. Mary's quintet, the Fairfieldians marching home with the victory by a score of 20 to 10.

The locals never had a chance against the smooth-working machine from down state, although leading at the end of the first period by a score of 4 to 2. The Saints' first team was then inserted, however, and the Cowboys trailed at half time, 10 to 6.

More fast and brilliant basket-ball gave the visitors a 20 to 7 lead in the third stanza, and in the fourth, the Brown and Buff counted three times against Lancaster's second team, while holding the visitors scoreless.

For West, Moorman was the outstanding performer, along with Jividen, both of whom tallied five points. Deshler also played consistently.

Springfield will be met by the local quintet tonight, at Springfield. Saturday night, on the West hardwood, Grandview will appear for a game, followed next Wednesday by Greenfield McClain in the first game of a home and home arrangement. It is highly probable that West may meet defeat in several preliminary games prior to the opening of the regular scholastic season, but several prospects now on the reserve squad may develop before the city battles start. Lluk and Huffman, former stars on the Starling Junior High championship quintet, looked good in the preliminary game with Bexley Reserves Friday night, which the locals won 20 to 3, and may see some action with the regulars before many moons.

The games Saturday and Wednesday are scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock, with a preliminary encounter on tap at 7:15.

Westgate Buckeyes Defeat Torch Club

Westgate Evangelical Buckeyes added another game to their win column by defeating the Torch club, 6 to 4, at West High school Tuesday evening. This team will play the Southside Settlement team at the South Settlement House, Saturday, Dec. 17. Mr. William Walters is the manager of the Buckeye team.

Sewage Disposal Plants Visited By Councilman

W. L. Milliklu, 53 S. Warren Ave., the Hilltop's representative in City Council, visited several sewage disposal plants of other cities on an inspection trip last week.

The itinerary included Ashland, South Cleveland, North Cleveland, Lorain, Dearborne and Lima. At Ashland, a little chemical plant is used, which would hardly be adequate for Columbus, according to Milliklu.

South Cleveland has a plant similar to the present one in Columbus. A brand new disposal plant at Lorain produced water after disposal of sewage, as clear as Columbus drinking water, he claimed. The new plant which Columbus must have, will have to be 94 per cent efficient in order to fulfill regulations.

The trip was made in three days, all of council making the rounds.

NOTICE!

All programs for Christmas entertainments or church services must be in the office of the Record on Monday, Dec. 19. Those received later than that time cannot be included in next week's issue.

Newsies To Sell Papers Tomorrow

Will Be At Posts All Day For Benefit of Needy School Children.

Nine Hilltop men will assume the character of newsboys tomorrow, selling the special paper put out by the Charity Newsies for the benefit of needy Columbus school children.

Harry Fleming, 104 N. Warren Ave., who will take his stand at Broad and Hague, is enthusiastic about the spirit in which he has been met so far in his efforts to garner funds. Although he has not yet reached the mark he established for himself last year, it appears likely that he will again turn in one of the largest totals of those working in the Newsies' organization. "Employees of the State Hospital and the Institution for the Feeble-Minded were especially generous in the contributions they turned over to me on Tuesday," he said. That his success as a Newsie is attributable to a great deal of effort on his part is attested by the fact that he has already called on between five and six hundred people.

When the campaign for funds is over and the big store downtown stocked with supplies for charitable distribution, Mr. Fleming does not pause in his work of making school children comfortable and happy, but frequently contributes his time and energy to the relief of emergency cases. Last winter, when he heard of a family in which the father had just died and the widow and four children left penniless, he called immediately, and within two hours time had provided clothes to replace their ragged habiliments.

Other Hilltoppers who are expected to take part in selling the newspapers tomorrow are: Ray Haunts, 44 Binns Blvd.; Floyd F. Green, 3046 Crescent Dr.; A. T. Vollman, 695 S. Hague Ave.; J. C. Harrington, 5327 W. Broad St.; L. M. Bausch, 274 Columbian Ave.; Carl Johnson, 434 S. Westgate Ave.; Police Chief Fred Kundts, 386 Midland Ave.; and Carl J. Schuman, 135 N. Powell Ave.

Firemen Pleased With Response

Toys and Paint Pour In to Santa's Right Hand Men; Wednesday Last Day.

The firemen of Engine House 17 met with a vigorous response to their appeal in last week's Record, according to Capt. E. E. Grove. Battered toys began to come in immediately, and most of them are now in good shape and shining with new paint, ready to be delivered to Columbus' needy children. Paints were also supplied in such quantities that probably no more contributions in that line will be necessary. There is still plenty of room in the workshop for discarded playthings, however, and they will be received for repair until Wednesday, Dec. 21.

W. E. Hutton, of 114 Midland Ave., a painting contractor, has in the past week given expert help to the firemen in mixing and applying paints.

Capt. Bachman Guides West Show Boat Over Waves Of Laughter

Minstrel Show Is Success In First Performance. To Be Repeated Tonight.

"The "Show Boat," minstrel presented by West High school students last night at the West High auditorium, was well received by a sizable audience. Captain John Bachman leads the show, which has its setting aboard a boat. The entire show is composed of three distinct parts, but closely woven together.

In the minstrel proper, Bob Thorne, William Brownfield, Beryle Drake and Howard Wellman, take the parts of end men in commendable fashion. Bob Hunter's orchestra and a mixed chorus add much to the performance, with some crooning intermingled.

Booth Tarkington's farce, "The Trysting Place," is the feature of the program. The "trysting place" is a secret meeting place for lovers aboard the boat. The principle roles, all of which are played well, are taken by: Barbara Brownfield, Jack Connell, Arlene Rensehling, James Barnett, Rosemary Van Scoy and Arthur Haines. Haines was especially amusing.

The variety show, which concluded the performance, was also well liked by the audience. Valeda Gugger is the headline attraction, and her dancing and singing drew much applause. As a dancing pirate she sings one selection to the tune of "All American Girl" in which several Cowboy luminaries are prominently mentioned.

Several imitations of stars of the radio were also well enacted.

Achbur H. Budd Taken By Death

Asthma Attack Fatal to Pioneer Resident, Ill for Two and a Half Years.

After an illness of two and one-half years duration, Achbur H. Budd, 97 N. Terrace St., succumbed to an attack of asthma at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mr. Budd, who in 1890 came to the Hilltop from Buddtown, Delaware county, and settled on Clarendon avenue, operated a barber shop at various locations on West Broad street between Highland and Oakley avenues for the following 33 years. As one of the pioneer business men in this community, he enjoyed a wide acquaintance, and all who knew him found him a real friend. He enjoyed travel, and because of his failing health, he and Mrs. Budd spent the three winters previous to his recent illness in Florida.

A charter member of West Gate Masonic Lodge, he also belonged to the Robert Morris Chapter of Eastern Star, and to the Glenwood M. E. church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jennie Budd; a sister, Mrs. Eva Pickering; and a brother, Wade Budd.

Funeral services were held yesterday at 2 p. m. from the West Gate Masonic Temple. Burial was in the Green Lawn cemetery by C. J. Kohn.

Soft

Is Snow, and Downy; But Underneath Are Rocks, Hard and Resistant.

Bob Miles, 201 N. Warren Ave., essayed to ski on Saturday, as the winter's first downy snow came looping and whirling downward. And Bob skied, and taking a tumble, slid part of the way down a steep slope. And underneath the soft and downy snow, lurked a treacherous boulder, which gashed his knee to the bone. It took eight clamps to mend the wound, and Bob will not be about for some time, although he is improving day by day.

Miles, a fleet backfielder in Harold Wise's Cowboy grid outfit, has had touch luck this fall. Early in the season he was troubled by an injured hip, and then he fractured his hand, which had almost healed when Saturday's accident occurred.

Xmas Music and Stories

A program of Christmas music and stories will be given Sunday evening, Dec. 18, at 7:30, at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church. The following will take part: Stories by Janet Blaney, Frances Englehard, Mildred Jordan, Richard and Ronald Jones, Mary Rennie, and Norman Wylie, all of the Junior department. Miss Catherine Sperry will tell a story for the children. Special music will be given by the orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Corcoran.

Committees to Meet

All committees for the Union Evangelistic Campaign will meet this Sunday, Dec. 18, in the Hillcrest Baptist church at 2:30 p. m., it was announced early this week by the Hilltop Ministers' association, through their secretary, Rev. A. J. Fryhoff. The pastors of the various churches concerned are asked to urge all members of the committees to attend.

New Restaurant

The Davis Restaurant is the new establishment now open at 2330 W. Broad St., under the management of Tom Davis, former manager of the United States Store on West Broad street.

Local School Attendance Hit Hard By "Flu"

Tremendous Increase of Absences Noted As Epidemic Strikes Columbus.

Attendance of schools throughout the city, and especially on the Hilltop has taken a tremendous fall during the past week, due to the influenza epidemic prevalent throughout Columbus, it was learned this week.

Not since 1918 has the flu taken such a toll, according to H. H. Reighley, principal of West Junior High school, where the greatest drop was noticed. Hitting this school about 2 days before others throughout the city, according to attendance records, it reached a peak Monday when 276 students were absent from school and more than a score more excused. West Junior's average daily absences amount to 50.

The schedule, consequently has been slowed up, but the effect on the grades of students will be little, it was learned.

Judging from the figures at the schools, the epidemic has passed its height here on the Hilltop, and at the present time, is worse in the north side of Columbus. Attendance showed an increase Tuesday at Hilltop schools, and Wednesday was about 50 per cent normal again.

Interurban Smashes Auto

West High Students and Mother Lacerated When Interurban Fails to Stop.

Three people were injured, one seriously, early yesterday morning when an interurban car issuing from the switch at Sullivant and Hague avenues, crashed into a Pontiac sedan driven by Mrs. W. J. Bond, 582 Larcomb Ave. It is said the air brake system refused to function, and the car could not be stopped until it reached a point two blocks east of the scene. The front of the sedan was totally demolished.

In the car with Mrs. Bond were her daughter, Anna Bond, a student at West Junior High school, and Dorothea Lawson, 614 S. Eureka Ave., a West High student. They were driven to the office of Dr. H. B. Straubaugh at South Warren avenue and West Broad street, by Clifford Albert, 586 Chestershire road. There it was learned that Mrs. Bond had severe lacerations on both knees and a bad cut on the forehead. Anna Bond received only minor scratches, but it was necessary to close with stitches two severe cuts on the forehead of Miss Lawson.

Injured

While sweeping the snow from the steps Sunday, Dec. 11, John Fulcher, 83 N. Oakley Ave., slipped and fell, breaking his arm. He was treated at the emergency clinic of Dr. C. E. Sharp, 2262 W. Broad St.

Del Combs, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Combs, 403 S. Hague Ave., fell from a sled and was struck by a car, fracturing his hip, Tuesday evening, Dec. 13, on North Hague avenue. He was treated at the emergency clinic of Dr. C. E. Sharp, and then taken home.

Vacation

Columbus public schools will close Thursday, Dec. 22, for the Christmas and New Year holidays, it was announced by J. G. Collicott, superintendent of schools, this week. Classes will be resumed on Tuesday, Jan. 3.

Teams to Be Feted At Annual Mixer

The "Senior Mixer," annual event on calendar of West High senior classes, will be held on Wednesday evening, Dec. 21, this year and will have as honored guests, members of the 1932 Cowboy grid squad.

Frank Ferneau and his orchestra will furnish the music for the dance which will compose the major portion of the evening's entertainment. Other events on the program will include vocal and instrumental selections by various members of the senior class. The members of the football team will be introduced and short talks will be made.

About 300 are expected to attend the event, which will be held in the auditorium of the school. Those attending have been asked to wear informal dress.

Scouts, Parents Banquet Dec. 20

Dr. J. W. Wilce to Speak at Court of Honor and Dinner at Glenwood M. E.

Boy Scouts of the Southwest Division and their parents and friends will attend the annual banquet at Glenwood M. E. church Tuesday evening, Dec. 20.

The dinner will get under way at 6:30 o'clock, followed by the District Court of Honor. Dr. J. W. Wilce, former Ohio State university head football coach, will be the speaker of the evening.

Other features of the program will include: The orchestra from the School for the Blind; Field Commissioner's report; a puppet show, "Why the Cow Jumped Over the Moon; Cub Commissioner's report, and moving pictures of the George Washington Historical Tour.

H. R. Townsend is the divisional chairman. Tickets may be purchased from scouts and scouters affiliated with any of the Hilltop troops.

35 At First Meeting of New Association

Thirty-five members of the newly organized "W" association at West High school attended the first meeting of that group Tuesday evening at the building. Annual fees were paid and each alumnus introduced himself, telling what sports he participated in and when he graduated.

Membership cards were given to those whose fees were paid, along with a copy of the constitution.

The membership cards will admit affiliated members to indoor athletic contests for half price. Out-of-door events will be free to those who have complied with the regulations pertaining to the issuance of passes.

Christmas Approaching Amid Blasts of Winter Weather

Santa and Cohorts Busy As Merchants Prepare for Final Rush of Hilltopper Shoppers.

Yessir! Christmas is truly on its way, and just a few days more, old St. Nick will be getting his whiskers black and sooty from slipping down chimneys with his bag of toys and goodies.

Fact of the matter is, the rosy-cheeked gentleman from up northland way, got his dates mixed a trifle and snow about the landscape for his sleigh sent his assistants down to scatter to come jingling over, and they scattered it. Two great loads were dumped over Columbus, and at the last report from the north pole, Santa was making an effort to get in touch with the weatherman in the vicinity of central Ohio to inquire concerning the prospects of leasing a two weeks' supply of cold weather. If he can make this deal, he can still use the sleigh, and reindeer which are primed for the trip. Otherwise, the airplane must be tuned up for the journey.

Unofficial reports had it, however, that Mr. Alexander would be unable to supply cold weather to this region in such copious quantities and prospects for a white Christmas are meager. Another batch of snow, however, might arrive in time for celebration of the Yuletide season.

Hilltop business men, who had to dig themselves out of the deluge of winter weather Wednesday morning, following the second big snow of the winter Tuesday, are prepared for the shoppers of the community. A great display of merchandise, for every member of the family is on display, and everything is in readiness for the big push next week.

Postal authorities are urging that already late mail and packages be shipped to their destination immediately to insure delivery before Christmas Day.

So, the grandest season of the year approcabes, amid the fantastic flurries of pure and drifting snow. All aboard for Xmas and points beyond.

Business Men Name Campbell As 1933 Head

Other Officers Elected At Meeting of Association Tuesday Evening.

C. H. Campbell, of Campbell's Pharmacy, 2706 W. Broad St., was elected president of the Hilltop Business Men's association at its meeting Tuesday evening at the Matsonia Barbecue. Ray G. Haunts, of Haunts' Grocery and Meat Market, 2761 W. Broad St., was named first vice president, and Dr. W. L. Durflinger, dentist, second vice president. C. G. Wilcox, manager of the Hilltop Bank was unopposed for the office of treasurer, and L. E. Saunders, of the Shank & Saunders Real Estate and Insurance Agency, was named secretary.

H. G. Deems, Hilltop Building & Loan; Fred Raether, Economy Variety Store; and Dr. W. M. Baker, dentist, were elected to the directorships of the association.

It was decided at the meeting to have another Hilltop Minstrel, which will be the third annual performance for this group. A director has not been named.

Tickets for the West-Alumni charity basket-ball game can now be obtained at the business houses of all members of the association. The business men, along with the West Athletic committee and the West Alumni association, are sponsoring the tilt, the funds of which will go to needy Hilltop school children.

A treble clef trio, composed of Mrs. J. Howard Young, Mrs. Kenneth Dickerson, and Mrs. H. C. Davis, accompanied by Mr. Clarence Spielman, featured the entertainment program.

Library Leads in November Service

Membership cards were issued to 80 people, bringing the total membership on the Hilltop to 6050.

Cowboy Season Ticket Prices Lowered to $2

Announcement was made this week by the athletic committee of West High school that season tickets for athletic events at the school have been further reduced in price. A season pass can now be had for two dollars cash, or fifty cents down and 25 cents per game.

Much comment and criticism has come from Hilltop business men who complain that gate prices are too high. It was pointed out that for the price of four games, tickets for all the year can be purchased. There are 26 events yet on the Cowboy schedule.

Money taken in at the gate is divided evenly between the two competing schools, and if prices are reduced there, West's profit will suffer a loss. Tickets purchased at the school go entirely to the school athletic treasury.

The Cowboy committee is seeking to get 300 Hilltoppers to purchase these tickets. Those interested in buying the tickets should get in touch with O. C. Montgomery, at the school, or call at the school office.

Just Try to Be Sad After Using An Ad

Just try it! It just isn't done successfully. Those who have found that it pays to advertise, use the columns of the Record. They never try an ad after the first time. They use it—to bring in "pin money"—and often more than that.

Just glance over this week's array of want ads, which 8500 Hilltop homes will get. Everything from canaries to typewriter service. Houses and rooms for rent, curtains to launder, dogs lost and found, hemstitching, beauty treatments, and many other advertisements appear here.

And if you have nothing for sale or rent—perhaps you need something. Like everything else, you'll find it in the want ad columns of the Hilltop Record—at prices you want to pay.

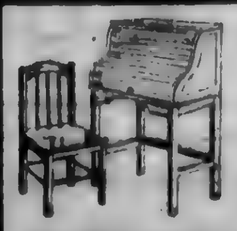
THROUGH A Woman's Eyes
By JEAN NEWTON

NOT A TOTAL LOSS AFTER ALL!

"WE HAVE heard how the American woman dominates her men folk, how she runs the United States, how everything in America is made for, or surrendered to women. The American woman runs and rules the home. She contrives to get a great deal of material things out of life. She has got into her men folk the idea that she must be served first, last and always!"



Isn't that lovely? Perhaps my readers will not recognize themselves in this glowing picture drawn by an Englishman. But he ought to know.

"All this," he goes on to say, "makes her discontented. And discontented because she does not know what it is she wants out of life. She proceeds to try to get more. Dissatisfied with her males who only serve her, she falls back on other females like herself. She joins women's clubs, organizes lecture tours for foreign celebrities, inaugurates bridge parties, literary societies, musical guilds. She has a life absolutely apart from her husband.

"But," apparently eager to give the devil his due, our critic casually remarks, "These American women are not only thinking of themselves and their own fun. They help to get a man somewhere in life! They get behind their men with encouragement and help until he feels inspired to accomplish greater things."

I wonder whether the man who said all that realizes that the only part that really counts is that last little sentence! True or untrue his impression of the American woman, just or unjust his accusation of discontent, if he has correctly observed that we help our husbands to get somewhere, that we succeed in inspiring and helping our men to greater accomplishment, then he need say no more—of us can say anything else that he likes!

WHEN WINTER COMES

When wintry blasts do blow, often the results tend to show a truth that larger things have not heretofore made evident.

During the last snow, or the last two, one would naturally suppose that walks in front of residences, as well as those in front of business houses, would be swept clean, due to the prevailing unemployment situation.

With snow on the walks, and no job in sight, probably one of the things members of this army can do, is to sweep their own walks of snow. There is a constant tendency to blame the past depression on the capitalist, and this may be rather accurate. Still, he is not all to blame. America, like other nations, found prosperity hard to bear partly because of the attitude of the common people. There was nothing much to work for. Every home had radios installed or ordered. Every garage had a car within or if it was not there, it was on the road. There was a chicken in every pot, vulgarly speaking.

And now, America is burdened with not only the actually unemployed thousands who have lost their jobs, but with as many more who never had a job and never want one. Are they the ones whose walks are white with snow?

KEEP THE FUN SAFE

During the past week Hilltop children have had ample opportunity to revel in the snow, and have done so on lawns and vacant lots, sidewalks and roadways. Their ruddy cheeks and bright eyes are evidence of the fun and health they find in a snowfall, and even oldsters get a vicarious pleasure out of their excitement.

Drivers of automobiles, however, feel more uneasy than pleased when they see a sled on the road before them, aware as they are of the difficulty in controlling a car on a snowy or icy road. This section is fortunate in having several coasting hills that present no danger, the one past the Glenwood shelter house and the one at the end of North Ogden avenue among them. Parents should caution the children going coasting that the Broad street and Sullivant avenue hills should be strictly avoided.

Observations of a Teacher

By C. S. KENNEDY

The Dark Ages are still with us, they even abide in some of us. A few live in the twentieth century, 1932, others in the nineteenth, eighteenth or even seventeenth century. There are probably people living farther back than that, whose minds simply can't catch up with the onward march of civilization. They stand pitifully about, wondering whatever is happening, and declaring that the world is going to the bow-wows and that those ahead of them are a bunch of wild jackasses.

After all it takes education a long while to filter down through the strata of humanity. We are still trying to educate the world to Christ, Confucius and Socrates, and many now walking our streets have not yet caught up with Darwin.

Perhaps Death is a very real blessing after all. Leveling wealth, conservatism, institutionalism, even states, he permits the onward march of mankind to its unseen, unrealized goal of progressive perfection. We all die that new thoughts, new desires, new aspirations may be born in a tired world which to date seems to have tried everything.

White Gift Service

Sunday evening Glenwood church will have its annual White Gift service program. Donations are to be brought by the different classes and departments to make up baskets for the needy. A pageant entitled "At His Throne" will be presented. Those taking part are as follows:

First scribe, Mrs. Doris Hayes; second scribe, Miss Lorrie Mitchell; torch bearer, Miss Judith Ann Garrison; candle bearers, Miss Beatrice Davis Miss Vivian Eckle, Miss Virginia Breese.

Others taking part will be Ruth McKinley, Virginia Hamilton, Eleanor Seiller, Anna McKinley, Lelia Watts Marie Hanna, Clifford Jones, Emerson Harlow, John Currier, and others Music will be furnished by Mary Virginia Six and Patty Lou Gibson, and a choir from the Junior high department

Christmas Fires Called Needless

Fire Marshall Gives Rules for Use of Decorations.

The many preventable fires occurring at Christmas time were decried in a statement this week by State Fire Marshall Frank G. Henry, who said that practically all can be prevented by a little care in the selection of decorations used. Electric lights, according to the statement, are a great advance on candles for Christmas tree illumination, but the sets of bulbs should be inspected for potential short circuits before being used. He also listed the following rules for fire prevention during the next few weeks:

Use only metal tinsel or other non-burning material for tree decorations.

Don't leave a lighted tree unguarded.

Don't allow curtains, drapes, or shades to come into contact with illuminating devices.

Don't smoke in rooms that are profusely trimmed with inflammable decorations.

Democrats to Meet

The Tenth Ward Wigwam of the Democratic club will hold a meeting at Johnson's hall, 414 S. Oakley Ave., at 8 p. m. tonight. All members are urged to be present, as officers will be elected for the coming year.

Cantata-Pageant at St. John's Sunday

A Christmas cantata-pageant, "Christmas Pilgrims," will be presented by the combined effort of St. John Lutheran Sunday school and young people's choir, Sunday evening, Dec. 18 at 7:30. The cantata consists of eighteen musical numbers to be sung by the choir. The pageant presents, through a narrator, Forces of Evil, Angels, the Virgin Mother, Joseph, Shepherds, Wise Men, Faith, Understanding, Virgin and Children Group playing their important parts in the promises and fulfillment of the Nativity. L. C. Pesech, director of the young people's choir, is directing the program. The public is cordially invited.

A Correction

In giving the solution to the rebus of the West Side Lumber Co. last week the word "any" was omitted. The correct reading is: "Manhattan coal suits to a T and to pay any more for your fuel's a waste of dollars one could use to far better advantage." Mr. Stimson's statement, along with the solution of the rebus, was:

Manhattan—more heat, less ash, Positively best buy for cash.

Gets Numerals

Bob Cunningham, former West High student, won his freshman football numerals at Ohio State this past fall. He was the only local gridman on the squad.

LET'S TALK OF SALADS

By MARION B. GEORGE
Wesson Oil & Snowdrift Co.

Children running in from school—business daughter rushing in from work—son from football—and everybody hungry, and of course mother is right there with the sweet smile and secrets in oven and refrigerator. You know, girls we women have a right to feel that we are immensely important, for everyone of the family depends upon us for his or her welfare, and the way he or she behaves in school, business, and play. A properly fed and cared for body behaves properly. And so we must study always. We are always in the University of Experience.

Sometimes we can be a "twenty minutes to six" person, meaning we can be away all afternoon and get home no sooner than twenty minutes to six and yet have dinner for the family at six. Here's a menu planned for such a time.

Hot Tomato Juice
(With cheese wafers)
Hamburger Steak with Onions
Creamed Macaroni with Mushrooms
Chinese Cabbage Salad
Vinaigrette Dressing
Royal Gelatine Dessert
(With whipped cream)

Everything on this menu can be fixed in those twenty minutes except the dessert which could be prepared early in the day. I'll help you with the salad.

Go over to Sherburn's Market. You'll receive courteous and careful treatment there and everything is delightfully fresh.

Lots of people know nothing of Chinese cabbage as Cos Lettuce. It really is a very valuable vegetable and salad plant. Use it sometime just as you use celery. Simply dice and lay on lettuce leaf. Mix with other raw vegetables, meat or fish. I am sure you'll be surprised and pleased. Now I am going to give you the recipe for vinaigrette dressing.

Vinaigrette Dressing
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 pinch of pepper
1 pinch of paprika
⅔ cup of Wesson Oil
¼ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons chopped dill pickle
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chopped pimento

Mix well and serve in bowl. It must be stirred each time it is put on the salad.

I am asked to give a good tomato aspic salad. I like the following. By the way—aspic is really jellied stock—transparent—and must be stiff enough to keep its shape. So, gelatine must be added. White aspic is correct for chicken or seafood. Brown for meats. Either can be used for vegetables.

Tomato Aspic
1 small can of tomato puree diluted to make just a little less than 1 pint of liquid
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon onion salt
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 bullion cube

Put all in a pan and cook briskly for five minutes. Then pour this over a package of lemon flavor, Royal Quick-setting Gelatine. Stir well and mold. Mayonnaise or a cheese dressing finishes a perfect salad.

Cream Cheese Dressing
2 packets Philadelphia Cream Cheese
½ cup Wesson Oil
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
½ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Gradually beat the oil into the cheese. When this is smooth and creamy stir in the seasonings and lemon juice. This makes a stiff dressing. Paprika sprinkled over the top stimulates the appetite.

I am so glad that you are really enjoying these little newspaper talks, and my personal demonstrations, and I hope to meet more of you. Just telephone AD. 2598 and we'll have a cozy chat.

Let's swap ideas. Shall we?

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

The three groups at John Burroughs school sponsored a booth at the P.-T. A. bazaar last Friday and while nothing was sold at this booth it was visited by practically everyone who attended the bazaar.

The interest was due to the exhibit of Camp Fire activities and camp craft which consisted of pottery, bracelets, bead bead bands, and various other articles many of which were made at Camp Wyandotte last summer, as well as samples of Camp Fire supplies of interest to Camp Fire girls and their parents. Santa Claus was peeking over their shoulders, too, and maybe he got a few ideas as well.

This exhibit will no doubt be repeated at some date in the near future as more interest was shown in it than was expected and it warrants repeating in a more elaborate manner.

The booth was in charge of Miss Wanda Cales of Wichaka group and Miss Mary Cornwell of Initawast group, who each earned an honor for their effort in this exhibit.

TROOP 22

Twenty-four girls present at our last meeting. All brought a donation for Thanksgiving baskets which were delivered to the West Side Nursery by Mrs. Daniel Swickard and Mrs. B. F. Stone, leaders of the troop.

The girls are now dressing dolls and bringing toys to make some little children happy for Christmas.

—Scribe June Stone.

ONE AWAY OR ANOTHER

These henpecked and abused husbands. They tell one now of a man who was forced to bed with the flu. But after a few days sojourn among the quilts and blankets, he got the fever to be up and around. But his wife would have none of it. And as she made her rounds shopping Saturday morning, she gave the gentleman in question a book to read and when she came back he was supposed to tell her the story. What a marvel to behold the ingenuity of women!

B. M. Chorus On The Air

Program of Songs Given Wednesday Night to Aid in Newsie Campaign.

Doing their bit to aid the Newsies in their campaign for funds for charity work the Hilltop Business Men's Chorus, under the direction of W. Haydn Jones, gave a program of songs over WSEN Wednesday evening. About 50 members of the chorus donated their services at this time, singing "Night and Dawn," "In the Sweet Bye and Bye," "Song of the Western Men," "Old Gray Robe," and "Joshua at Jericho."

The chorus will entertain the Exchange club at the Chittenden on Jan. 5.

Arrangements were made at the meeting Monday night to attend the eisteddfod at Ada, on Feb. 22. Music for this event will be on hand for practice next Monday night, and all members are requested to be at the practice.

Christmas Greetings

Of interest to the People of the Hilltop and Vicinity

Volume XVI — THE HILLTOP, COLUMBUS, OHIO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1932 — No. 35

MERRY CHRISTMAS

It's just the same old greeting! Nothing in all the world sounds quite so good to ears that have heard the din of depression rumbles for two whole years. A word of cheer, that somehow lightens the burdens of those who have felt the sting of hard times.

Merry Christmas! A period of relaxation, which will do good if it merely lets us learn that the world whirls on, regardless of depression. Out of the darkness, comes a cheery note. Listen world; Listen Scrooges! The bells are ringing! There's song in the tingling air! The Christmas season opens new doors, gives new light, renews hope, brings greater joy.

Merry Christmas! Just the same old greeting with the same old meaning, and no matter how the evolution of society may change the significance of Christmas celebrations, the same old heart-felt words of "Merry Christmas" will still carry a load of good cheer into hearts that long have been in need of it. In this year, of all years, let's all remember others, if not with gifts and presents, then with just a little friendly greeting.

Merry Christmas!

FOR A' THAT

An appropriate Christmas parody of one of Robert Burns' famous poems, by Miss Matilda Hungleman, language teacher at West Junior. It was dedicated to the teachers there.

For a' that and a' that,
Depression's gloom and a' that—
The greatest feast of all draws near
'Tis Christmas time for a' that!

For a' that and a' that,
For suff'ring, loss and a' that,
I still do wish you Christmas cheer,
For Christ is Christ for a' that!

For a' that and a' that,
The empty purse and a' that,
If hearts still feel the Christmas cheer,
Then God is near for a' that!

RAIN, GRADUATES!

The past wintry spell in many ways recalls to mind the long, hard winter of 1918-19, and Bob Calland tells one like this. It was cold, and snow was deep on the ground. As he waited for a car in front of his barber shop, he dropped a dime beside a telephone pole there, and due to the deep snow and cold weather, he spent no time in searching for the mite. The months passed, the snow remaining with the cold. But finally, warm breezes brought balmy weather again, and the snow melted, and Bob went out to look for his dime. And lo! There beside the telephone pole, lay two dimes—the one apparently having germinated, and despite the inadvertant weather conditions, flourished and brought forth fruit. Which merely goes to prove that you can cast your fortune in the gutter, and if conditions are exactly right, it will return unto you manifold—leastwise t w o f o l d—sometimes.

King Raymond, the "champeen" dog of them all, friend and protector of every school boy and girl in the community, is in love, according to reports of his master, R. M. Lurx. And apparently he's taking things seriously, for the night that it was coldest last week, below zero, the old "champ" stayed out all night

Headline: West Side Woman Hit In Safety Zone. Wonder where that would be?

THE PUBLIC APPETITE

A Broad street restauranteur has given us an angle on human vagaries. He says that continued bad weather is good for his business, and continued good weather also keeps his kitchen busy, but a change in the weather for better or worse makes people lose appetite and stay away.

INSIDE LOOKING, OUT

Men shoveling snow from Broad street gutters furnished food for thought to a young lady watching them. "You'd think," she mused, "that they'd at least keep working enough to keep warm."

Hit By Auto

Mrs. June Jenkins, aged 40, of 291 Columbian Ave., suffered lacerations about the forehead last Sunday night, Dec. 18, when she was hit by an auto driven by Walter Scott, 1060 Aberdeen Ave. She was standing in a safety zone at High and Beck streets when the accident occurred. She was treated at Grant hospital.

Flu Hits Frey Two Times In One Week

Flu germs, in spite of having a rush of business for the last month, found time to get in a double blow last week at Joseph Frey, whose shoe repair shop is at 2371 W. Broad St. Frey was confined to his bed early in the week and turned over the shop to C. P. Wipple, of 491 Whitethorne Ave., but in a few days Wipple also found himself unable to carry on, and the shop was without a repairman for two of the busiest days in the week.

Union Prayer Services

As a part of the preparations for the coming Massey meetings, the Hilltop churches are announcing union prayer meetings for the next three Wednesday nights, Dec. 28, Jan. 4, and Jan. 11. The meetings will be held at the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church on South Eureka avenue, and the Burgess Avenue United Brethren church, at Sullivant and South Burgess avenues. Rev. William Pieffer will have charge of the service at the Hoge Memorial church, Wednesday evening, Dec. 28, and Rev. E. L. Motter will have charge of the service at the Burgess Avenue U. B. church, the same evening. It is hoped that these services will be well attended by the church people of the community.

Rev. Pieffer, chairman of the personal workers' committee, urges each church to appoint several of their members to serve on his committee, and announces that a meeting of this group will be held each Wednesday evening following the union prayer service, at the Hoge Memorial church, for instructions in personal work.

St. John League Gives Baskets

Aid Needy Families Through Winter Months At Evangelistic Center.

The St. John Luther League will continue its winter relief program by distributing 25 baskets of food products to many needy families of this community and also of the Lutheran Evangelistic center.

The league distributed 25 Thanksgiving baskets and has assumed the responsibility of two families for food, fuel and clothing throughout the winter months.

These gifts are made possible largely by donations from individuals, canning the surplus of last summer's food products by the Woman's Missionary Aid society of the church, and also by profit of selling Christmas greeting cards by the league.

Christmas eve the league will bring the Christmas message via carols to the sick, aged, and shut-in members and friends of the St. John Congregation.

West Loses To Greenfield High

Hall, Visiting Forward, Runs Wild As Wissman Lags.

33-14 Decision.

The West High Cowboys took another bounce on the chin Wednesday night, when a veteran quintet from Greenfield ran wild in the first half to pile up sufficient points to allow it to coast to a 33 to 14 victory.

Hall, a forward on the visiting outfit, was the game's chief attraction. This clever fellow sank fielders from all angles and made good on charity tosses, to amass a total of 23 points.

West was far away at the half, Van Scoy and Deshler contributing free throws for a pair of markers, but the boys from down state had registered 21. The second half produced much better brand of basket-ball on the part of the locals, and they held the coasting Greenfield lads even.

For the cowpunchers, Deshler played well and scored five points, followed closely by Moorman, flashy floor man, and Casey, guard, who counted four points each.

West Junior Quintet Drops Close Games

West Junior cagers continued to display a good brand of basket-ball during the past week, despite the fact that two games were chalked up on the red side of the ledger.

Friday night, Indianola eked out a 16 to 15 victory, a long shot from the center of the floor going spinning through the loop in the last 10 seconds of play. Legge, a few seconds later, sent one goalward from the same locality, but it rolled out as the gun cracked.

Last week, Mound took the measure of the locals 14 to 12, after the men of Layman had held a 10 to 4 advantage at half time.

Arm Broken

Mr. Thomas Canter, 34, of 2760 Sullivant Ave., received a broken arm Monday morning, Dec. 19, when he tried to crank his automobile. He was taken to University hospital.

Principal Ill

Miss Harriet Judd, principal of West Broad Street Elementary school, has been confined to her home for the past three weeks because of illness. She resides at 51 Brightop Rd.

Orphan Party

The High School and Young People's League of Glenwood church will give a Christmas party for a group of the children of the Worthington Children's Home on Friday evening, Dec. 23, in the social rooms of the church.

Cowboys Finish Prelim Battles Next Week End

Tackle Alumni In Charity Tilt Friday; Trek to Greenfield Saturday Night.

The Cowboys will complete a rather unsuccessful preliminary floor campaign next week-end when they engage in games with the alumni on the local hardwood and trek to Greenfield for a return game with the formidable McClain quintet.

The official league season will get under way on Friday evening, Jan. 6, after the athletes return to school. From present indications, fruits of the Cowpuncher basket-ball tree will be small and meager, although constant improvement is being noted.

The trouble lies not so much in inability and inexperience, as in size. The locals have one of the smallest teams in the city, and ruginess is a distinct asset to a strong cage outfit.

On Friday night West journeyed to Springfield, there to take a drubbing by the score of 37 to 13. Although the game was well played and fast from start to finish, the result was one-sided. Deshler led the locals with a trio of field goals.

In the fracas next Friday night several old-timers will be seen in action. The price of admission is 25 cents and will be given for relief work among Hilltop school students. A jitney dance will follow the game, admission tickets to the fray being good for the first dance.

The work of officials, musicians and others participating in the program, will be donated. The charity game is being sponsored by the Hilltop Business Men's association, the West High Athletic committee and the Alumni association. Tickets may be procured from any member of these groups.

Saturday night, the local hardwood [illegible] scored its initial victory [illegible] defeating Grandview in a tightly played contest, 14 to 12. Divilen was the high point man, with a pair of baskets and a charity toss.

Another preliminary game has been arranged, it was announced by Coach Wise this week. Getting under way at 6:15 o'clock, the second reserves will meet the West Junior cagers. This will be followed by a game between the West reserves and the older alumni. The main attraction is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock.

Tough Luck

Comes in Great Quantities At Ferguson Homestead.

Accidents and sickness and the like are no longer news in the W. E. Ferguson home, 235 Guernsey Ave. Just a fortnight ago, it was sensational copy when the entire family was routed early in the morning when a fire occurred in the garage at the rear of their home.

Then, when Mrs. Ferguson was removed to the hospital a few days later for an appendicitis operation, it was decided in family conference that streaks of bad luck do come occasionally.

But when Robert, aged 14, went coasting last week and tore a 12-inch wound in his leg, when he struck a tree at Glenwood park, all will agree that the finding of so much as a copper penny would amount to something to cheer about in this family.

Perhaps the fact that the injured lad is steadily improving at Mt. Carmel hospital where he was taken, is just the beginning of a streak of better luck.

Woodwork Classes At West Jr. Have Mass Production, Division of Labor

Despite the depression and the condition of the manufacturing field in this period of economic readjustment, mass production goes on—especially in the manual training department of West Junior High school.

Under the direction of C. E. Bateman, the production of Christmas toys, in the shape of wagons, jig-saw puzzles, and wooden ducks, and animals has been going on for the past week. More than 100 puzzles, over a score of ducks and two dozen wagons have been turned out by the students, in a week's time. According to Bateman, more than six week's work was completed.

Stanley Wilson, 209 S. Burgess Ave., is the superintendent in charge. There is a division of labor, also, each boy turning out some part of a toy. One makes wheels, another axles, another tongues, etc. Young Wilson made the first model wagon, and the others have been patterned from it.

Three assistant foremen also guide production and aid in the metal work. The finished products were sold at actual production cost, and no sooner was a project finished than it left the shop to fill some order.

A real Christmas spirit prevailed during this week of mass production, and plans for a bigger effort are already being laid for next year. It is hoped that work can begin two or three weeks earlier, and production carried on, on even a greater scale.

Come Let Us Worship

ETHEL TITUS WORTHEN

Lowly was the manger birthplace;
But heavenly the light that shone,
Filling all the place where Jesus lay,
With glory from God's throne.

Angelic hosts were those who sang,
The joyful glad refrain,
That echoed, "Peace, good-will to men,
Through Juden's hill and plain.

And with their rich gifts rare,
Came far, to worship and rejoice,
In humble thankful prayer.

O come then let us praise Him,
And songs of gladness sing:
Let us adore and worship Him,
The Christ, our Lord and King!

Xmas Fare For Hilltop Firemen

Special Christmas Dinner to Be Enjoyed Unless Alarm Interrupts.

The smoke eaters of engine house 17, at Wheatland avenue and Broad street, will encounter more substantial fare than smoke on Christmas day, when they sit down to a turkey dinner prepared by themselves in the fire house. Capt. E. E. Grove is furnishing the turkey and the oysters to line it with, others will bring the appropriate pies from home, and still others will manage the cooking.

Working from 7 to 7 on Christmas day will keep them away from their family board, they say, but they have cooked for themselves so often that they feel capable of turning out as good a dinner as one could find on the Hilltop.

The front of the building and the 12-foot Christmas tree on the east lawn of the fire house is now lighted every night with lighting equipment furnished by William Tucker and A. C. Rea, both of 1960 W. Broad St.; the Economy Variety Store, and Seely's Hardware.

The correct solution, turned in by Mrs. Martin, was: "For Christmas any furnace would be delighted to see a load or two of Manhattan coal come sliding into the home basement." Mrs. Martin's statement was: "Manhattan Coal rich in B. T. U's; Priced so we can use."

MOTHERS' CONFERENCE GROUP MEETS

The Mothers' Conference group of Highland P.-T. A. will meet Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 4, at 1:30 at the school. Mrs. Fred Wilhelm will preside at this meeting. Mothersingers are urged to be present and bring music.

Selected for Jury

Ralph C. Trembley, 617 S. Warren Ave.; C. J. Mickler, Camp Chase; Otis A. Duffy, 244 S. Oakley Ave.; Milton Day, 161 Lechner Ave., and Mrs. Myrtle M. Lentz, 25 N. Harris Ave., were selected for duty on grand jury at the beginning of the January term of court. They will report Monday, Jan. 9. Other jurors to serve from the Hilltop in the four civil jurorooms are: Mrs. Cora M. Ratteiger, 280 S. Harris Ave.; Mrs. Marie Campbell, 91 S. Autumn Dies As Playful Breezes Go On Big Spree

Well, well! Winter has finally and officially arrived, although the few days prior to Dec. 21 (when winter comes by the calendar), were a trifle preliminary and three or four jumps ahead of schedule.

You see, folks. The sun must cross a certain line before winter can really start, and the fact that below zero weather arrived three or four days previously is something for Congress to ponder on, because there's supposed to be a law against things like that. Or maybe this outfit of women that is endeavoring to keep Einstein out of the country, might also try to keep the cold weather away until their almanacs read the right date. Both efforts would eventually be fruitful, and if they multiplied abundantly, the depression would be over, for the building industry would start up again, constructing asylums.

You understand that winter started Wednesday, and those days last week were merely colorful autumnal hours, caressed by the playful breezes, and furnished with zest and beauty by the late fall precipitation.

You're right! There will have to be a definition of terms.

The LOOKOUT

HE who having put his hand to the plough, and looketh back, is not fit for the Kingdom of Heaven." Truely wise words, spoken by the son of a carpenter some 1900 years ago. And today, unlike many of our heritages of the past, the passage and its wisdom, may well be pondered on by a struggling mankind.

AS we face the future, especially now, to look back is to flounder miserably in the muck of past failure. It is difficult, and probably the natural result of universal ignorance and human frailty, to keep the rudder ever to the fore, for there exists always the tendency to glance backward and marvel at work well done.

PRAY, praise and give thanks may be the watchword after the storm has been weathered, but every job completed merely lays the foundations for more complex problems in every field of activity, and as we wallow in past glory, darkness sets in and we are caught, much like a ship at sea without a compass.

PRESENTLY the entire structure will collapse—while the world is marvelling at "the grandeur that was Greece and the glory that was Rome!" How many are there who prefer to recall the days of prosperity? How many are there who have forgotten the prosperous era, who are still plugging along, keeping the hand to the plough?

YULETIDE and the New Year is a season when we may pause a moment, and recount the failures and achievements of the past 365 days. But with Kipling, we might well stand, knowing that "success and failure are both imposters," and to place too much faith in either one is disastrous more often than not.

NEW Year's coming offers an excellent opportunity to look upward and forward, and it's not necessary to pause in so doing. Backward reflection arouses both optimism and pessimism, depending upon the circumstances, and neither of these are of vital importance in determining the course to be pursued.

EVERY now and then, the world settles down into a rut. Then we hear the hosannas of the optimists or the dirges of the pessimists, quenching the song of labor and the gospel of scientific approach. The pessimist in the valley, cannot see the mountain peaks. The optimist on the mountain, forgets the valleys. Both, however, preach from arm chairs.

WHEN progress is noted, it will be from leadership of strong men, who know both the mountains and the valleys, and whose words are spoken with action and not by way of the mouth. The sooner we learn to recognize the world as it is and not as we'd like it to be; the sooner we'll be able to make it better.

YESTERDAY is gone. What men have done in the past 20 years, or 20 centuries, is not so important ans what men do in the next 24 hours. The corn the Indians raised fills no empty stomachs today. Laws and institutions of yesterday cannot continue to function in original capacities.

EVEN today we still hear some "sage" remark that preparation for the future may be made by a study of the past. The study of the past is merely a phase of history, and often a source of interesting information. In a changing world, what is the past's relationship to the future?

A METIC LOVE observation of present conditions, a few daring experiments, and the world, one might dare to say, would be much better off. The time is ripe for new things. Still, there are those who don't even have a plough, and many who do, are looking backward. Why unemployment then?

ROLL on years! We don't measure the heavens by a single star. We can't measure life by a single man. Men die, but Man lives on. Some sweet day, happy new years will be made happier still when education supplants ignorance, when men can set their minds and hands to work—without looking back.

Westgate Park To Be Hilltop Beauty Center

Shelter House Under Construction; Lake Adds to Attractiveness of Site.

When those rare days of June come around, the Hilltop is going to point with pride to Westgate Park, where work has been going on during the winter months in an effort to improve the already beautiful plot of ground.

For there, even now, a fine grove of great oak trees stands, and recently a small lake has been completed. This was formed by dredging and widening the small creek which runs through the park. At the present time a shelter house is under construction, and it is thought that it will be finished early in the spring.

The lake, which is not as large as those at Goodale and Schiller Parks, nevertheless compares favorably with these two other of Columbus' outstanding park lakes. A small island centers about a great oak tree, and the lake in its entirety, measures more than 200 yards in length. Hilltop children have already made good use of it during the past cold spell, when the ice permitted ice skating.

Although the whole park is not as large as some in other sections of the city, the fine woodlot is excelled nowhere, and along with this, fine facilities for recreation are available.

The shelter house, now under construction, is built of limestone, similar to those now at the city park along the Scioto river north of the dams.

The completion of this work will place on the Hilltop one of the outstanding beauty spots of the city, and fulfills a longstanding need of the community.

Firemen Get Two Calls Wednesday

An automobile owned by L. E. King, 491 Hilltonia Ave., was slightly damaged Wednesday morning when a backfire ignited the garage in the rear of the home, and the shingle roof on the home of B. J. Rhea, 103 S. Hague Ave., was damaged to the extent of $25 by a fire starting with a spark from the chimney in the afternoon of the same day. Salvage covers placed by the firemen saved $250 worth of furniture from damage by water or falling debris.

Engine House No. 17 responded to both alarms.

Rodenfels Company Announce Opening

Formal opening of the Rodenfels Chevrolet Co. in their new location at 1160 W. Broad St., is announced for Thursday evening, Jan. 5, with Allen Hale's orchestra entertaining.

The new 1933 Chevrolet is being featured in all models and the public is invited to inspect this new car at this time.

Hilltop Business Men's Chorus to Sing Jan. 5

The Hilltop Business Men's chorus will make an appearance before the Exchange club in a half hour presentation on Thursday, Jan. 5, at 12:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made this week.

Rehearsal next week will be held on Tuesday evening at the Hilltop School of Music at 8 o'clock, instead of the usual Monday evening session.

Must Prove Its Worth to These Hilltoppers.

What are the prospects for 1933? Here's what five Hilltoppers think, and it seems that they must be convinced before they give the youngster the laurel wreaths. One is confident that business is on the upturn, the others are somewhat skeptical. Listen to:

O. H. Craft: "The year 1933 will be foundation time for wise builders."

Fred Raether, proprietor of Economy Variety Store: "Business may get worse, if anything!"

Del Howard, railroader: "I don't see any reason to believe that things are going to be any better. Of course, if you see any evidence, I'm open to conviction."

Dr. W. L. Durflinger, dentist: "Business is on a definite upturn now, and 1933 will see the return of better business."

C. H. Campbell, president of the Hilltop Business association, declined to be responsible for any predictions concerning prosperity. He claimed it was around the corner, but wouldn't be specific as to the particular one.

Rodehaever To Lead Singing

Noted Evangelical Director to Be Here for 30 Days of Religious Work.

The Hilltop Ministerial association has been unusually fortunate in securing the services of Homer Rodehaever for the period between Jan. 15 and Feb. 5, when union evangelical services, with practically every Hilltop church participating, will be held in the West High school auditorium.

Mr. Rodehaever is a native Ohioan and a former student at Ohio Wesleyan university. He is best known for his work with the Rev. William A. Sunday, with whom he was associated from 1902 until Mr. Sunday's retirement from active evangelistic work a few years ago. During that time his name and his song book reached almost every home in the country. During both the Spanish-American and the European wars he was active in keeping up the morale of the soldiers by leading them in song. In 1923 and 1924 he toured the world with Evangelist W. E. Biederwolf, and has also founded and conducted the Summer School of Sacred Music at Winona Lake, Ind., where he now makes his home.

Mr. Rodehaever's presence on the same platform with the Rev. J. C. Massey of Atlanta, Ga., is felt to be another indication that the Ministerial association has arranged an evangelistic campaign which will be greater in scope and more successful in accomplishments than any heretofore held on the Hilltop.

Youth Night

Sunday evening, at 7:30, at Glenwood church the Young People will present a pageant under the direction of Miss Bernola Woodyard, entitled "In Quest of the Glad New Year."

In Indianapolis

F. W. Howard, 126 S. Harris Ave., left Columbus Saturday, Dec. 24, for Indianapolis, on business. He will return Monday, Jan. 2, when he will attend school at Ohio State university, where he is a student.

Time to Wind It Up

Dogs, Cats, Mustaches and Wives Banned At U. S. Military Academy

Hindrances to Soldier Development Disposed of At Uncle Sam's School for Young Men.

Dogs, cats, mustaches and wives are looked upon with askance at the United States Military Academy. In fact, any type of obstacle, that will in any way hinder the boy's military development, is banned.

Ralph (Pat) Harper, 85 S. Terrace St., who is home on Christmas furlough from this institution, gave a Record reporter the information Monday in an interview. When "Pat" goes back, he will have to sign papers stating that he isn't married, and that he has brought no such fauna from the great open spaces of the west as cats and dogs. It was not learned whether or not a returning soldier had to sign a document concerning mustaches. This is included in the book of regulations, however.

Every month or so, whether an "inmate" has had leave of absence or not, he must sign papers showing that he is still single. It is assumed that men who are being trained for war need not finish their course under supervised instruction—if they have a wife. She'll probably take care of combat tactics in A-1 style.

The interviewer routed the interviewed out of bed early Monday morning—at approximately 11:30. And "Pat" was in a congenial mood, as he well had a right to be, for he rolled in luxuriant comfort, with time on his hands. Listen to his daily routine, and see if you wouldn't be congenial or asleep when a furlough came your way.

At 5:50 in the morning, the boys get out of bed, dash out on the area for inspection and then back to their rooms, dress properly, shave, make their beds, sweep their rooms, and get to breakfast in 20 minutes. From 7 'til 7:45, they study. From 7:55 to 9:50, Harper attempts to withstand the rigors of higher calculus. Then he studies again, until 10:40, when history class is attended. The noon meal takes less than an hour, and off again to a drawing class goes Harper, following which, comes drill. Then football practice until supper, then says "Pat," we get 20 minutes that are all our own," and there was a dreamy look in his eyes as though he spoke of something precious and sacred. After supper, study in the rooms takes place until taps at 10 o'clock. Like A. Lincoln of old, some of the boys study by dim light, for after the lights have been extinguished in the rooms they study by illumination from the halls, coming through the transom—often until the wee hours of the morning.

Hilltop Woman Leaps In River

Mary Collins, 56 Westgate Ave., Dragged From Scioto By Police Tuesday Morning.

Mary Collins, aged 32, of 56 Westgate Ave., was rescued from the Scioto river Tuesday morning, after she had leaped from the south side of the Broad street bridge. She was dragged to safety by police who were informed by C. E. Ehring, 1084 W. Broad St., who was walking across the bridge when he saw the struggling woman in the swift currents of the river below.

He ran to police headquarters at Gay and Water streets and patrols and boats were sent to the scene. The woman had been in the water about 20 minutes, having jumped from the rail of the bridge about 7:30, according to information revealed by a youth who saw her leap.

She was treated at St. Francis hospital for shock and exposure. Her condition was very serious although at the present time improvement is being noted.

Chorus Director

Misses Note In Effort to Bag Setting Rabbit.

W. Haydn Jones is the director of the Champion Hilltop Business Men's Chorus—and a good director, too. But Monday, Bill went rabbit hunting, using a double-barreled shotgun for a baton.

But apparently, the implement was too clumsy to enable him to keep accurate time—lengthwise he missed one note in the following manner.

They had hunted a long time. Finally Jones spied a cottontail in the field, and after consultation with his companions, it was decided he should shoot the animal as it sat there. Bill took a few backward steps—took steady aim—and fired. Strolling leisurely over, he stooped to bag the bunny, when lo, behold, the little beastie begot himself up, and made great haste to other parts—while Bill looked on—astonished—thunderstruck—aghast!

The Pontiac on display has extremely graceful body lines, with the new Fisher no-draft ventilation incorporated in its design.

Cowboys Take On Alumni Tonight In Charity Game

Two Preliminary Games, Jitney Dance On Program to Help Needy School Children.

West High basket-ballers will do battle tonight in the West gym, with the Cowboy Alumni, in the feature tilt of a three-game program and jitney dance, for the benefit of the Hilltop's needy school children.

Admission to the games will be 25 cents, and the first battle, between the cagers of West Junior High and the second reserves of West, will get under way at 6:15. This will be followed immediately by a game between the West reserves and the older alumni, and at 8:15, the feature attraction is scheduled.

Following the final fracas, a jitney dance will be held in the school auditorium, the admission ticket to the games admitting the holder to the first dance. The three games and the dance are being sponsored by the West Alumni association, co-operating with the Hilltop Business Men's association and the West High Athletic committee. Tickets are obtainable at any member of the organizations named.

Tomorrow night, at Greenfield, the Cowboys will meet the McClain High school quintet in a return game. West was snowed under in the initial battle on the West floor recently, although holding the veterans from down state even after a disastrous first half.

The city campaign will get under way Friday, Jan. 6, when the Wisemen meet South on the home floor. The starting lineup may be changed by that time, however, as several sophomores have looked good in preliminary games, although never have had experience in league competition.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

JOHNNY CHUCK GETS HIS NOSE PINCHED

DOWN from the Northland one chilly night while the little stars looked down from the sky and twinkled came Jack Frost. He came silently and he worked slightly in the Green Forest and on the Green Meadows. He opened the chestnut burrs and the walnut husks. He painted the leaves of the maple trees and the beech trees and the birch trees and the sumacs and all the other trees except those which keep green all winter, and he plucked the stems so that the first Merry Little Breeze would make them from the trees in showers of red and gold and brown. He covered the Green Meadows with a thin white sheet which people call by his own name—frost. All this he did in the stilly night, and then he made ready to race away back where he had come from as soon as jolly, round, red Mr. Sun should kick off his blankets and begin his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky.

Peter Rabbit and Reddy Fox and Old Man Coyote and Lightfoot the Deer and Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter and Jerry Muskrat and Paddy the Beaver and Buster Bear and Hooty the Owl, who, as you know, are usually abroad in the night, knew what was going on. On the whole, they were rather glad to welcome Jack Frost, for they had new thick coats to keep them warm. But Johnny Chuck and Happy Jack Squirrel and all the other little people who curl up in their beds and sleep through the night as people are supposed to do, knew nothing of the coming of Jack Frost until they awoke just at the break of day. Then when they poked their noses out of their houses Jack Frost slyly pinched them ever so gently by way of introducing himself.

Now Johnny Chuck was, as you know, very fat, very fat indeed. For weeks he had been eating all that he could. He had been stuffing himself just to make fat so that he might sleep through the long winter in comfort. Of late he had been getting very sleepy. Fat people usually are sleepy. So Johnny Chuck had been going to bed much earlier than he did in the summer and finding it harder to get up early in the morning. On this particular morning somehow he didn't want to get up at all. He stretched and yawned and tried to make up his mind that he was fat enough.

But he remembered what Sammy Jay had told him of how Jerry Muskrat and Paddy the Beaver were preparing for a long hard winter and of how old Mother Nature had given Reddy and Granny Fox and Buster Bear and Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter extra thick coats.

"I may as well eat a little more while I can, and so make sure that I have fat enough to carry me through in case Mistress Spring happens to be late in coming back," thought he. "I guess perhaps today will be the last day I will have to eat. I'm getting tired of eating. Seems to me I never was so sleepy in all my life."

He yawned and stretched again, then very slowly crawled out of bed and started up his long hall to his doorway. He was still blinking as he poked his little black nose outside. Now Jack Frost had lingered just as long as he could, for the Jolly Little Sunbeams were already hurrying across the Green Meadows, and Jack Frost knew that he was not yet strong enough to face them. He was just getting ready to leave in a hurry when he saw Johnny Chuck's little black nose poking out of his doorway. The temptation was too great to resist. Jack Frost paused just long enough to reach out and gently pinch that little black nose.

"Ouch!" said Johnny Chuck and pulled his nose back. Inside his hall it was as comfortable as ever, and so he sat there for some time staring out and trying to get his sleepy wits together. He had half a mind to turn right around and go back to bed. At last a Jolly Sunbeam crept in. This decided matters for Johnny. He would at least go out and see how things looked. Out he went and sat up on his doorstep. Jolly, round Mr. Sun smiled down on him, but somehow Johnny couldn't find any warmth in that smile. He looked this way and that way and saw what Jack Frost had been doing. He looked over to the nearest clover patch, and somehow it didn't make him the least tiny bit hungry. Then, right then, he made up his mind.

"I'm fat enough!" said he. Turning, he kicked up his little black heels and disappeared inside his house. Peter Rabbit came along just in time to see those black heels vanish.

"I do believe," said he, "that Johnny Chuck has gone to bed for the winter." Peter was right, Johnny Chuck had.

JOG STREETS

In his decision last week on the observance of traffic lights at "jog" streets, Judge Ben Pfefferle cleared up a matter which has been a source of indecision and vexation to most Columbus drivers. It is now possible to proceed until the intersection of the street opposite the traffic light is reached, without fear of being called over to the curb for a ticket.

An amusing part of the situation up to the present has been the fact that police officers have carefully looked the other way when drivers were apparently disregarding lights at such streets, since they themselves were unsure of the proper procedure.

Either way of observing the lights would have been preferable to the haphazard observance they have hitherto had, but Judge Pfefferle's decision seems a sensible one. It eliminates the necessity for guessing at what distance a light can be safely disregarded.

HEALTHY PEOPLE

After three years of depression, comes the report that American people are healthier than ever before. Whether or not this is a direct result of the conditions of the times, may be a matter of speculation, but there is abundant evidence that harder times has produced or is producing harder men.

After all, perhaps this "period of economic readjustment" through which the nation is apparently struggling, is not a depression. Perhaps the term prosperity has been defined in terms of luxury instead of health and happiness. There are millions starving, according to miscellaneous reports. Still, America is healthier than ever before. The solution of this paradox, it seems, might give accurate data on actual unemployment conditions. Maybe America has eaten too much in the past and the proper amount of victuals seems like starvation rations.

Healthy people are supposed to be happy people! But there are those who don't recognize happiness when it comes, and like opportunity, it often flits away under a guise of hardship. The smaller the number of these folks, the greater the prosperity of the rest of the country will be.

Health, after all, is a good criterion of the condition of a people. Good health is productive of fine co-ordination between mind and body. Fine co-ordination between mind and body is productive of some sort of progress. Perhaps the solution to the problem of economic re-adjustment lies in things physical, rather than such illusive phenomena as hope, good will, and optimism.

Through Woods and Fields

With JOHN N. WOLFF

CONKLE'S HOLLOW

It was before daylight, and a raw north wind blew strong as Floyd B. Chipman, of the Botany department of Ohio State university, and the writer, set out for the hills of Hocking county one wintry morning.

Conkle's Hollow, in particular, was our destination, and when we arrived the wind still sent clouds scutting across the sky, and although now and then the sun broke through, not enough heat was forthcoming to thaw the frozen ground.

Back in a great gorge, cliffs on either hand rose 200 feet or more. Here hemlock forests prevailed, with some beech. Above the cliff, a red-tailed hawk circled; and black vultures, in greater numbers, soared and wheeled in fascinating flight.

Flocks of the Junco flew before us at intervals in our ramble. The Downey Woodpecker was getting a morning meal from the trunk of a tulip tree. A Tufted Tit mouse flitted through the brush, and Chipman, a student of ornithology, also, identified the Golden-crowned Kinglet, one of our restless winter residents. Occasionally, in the lower brush, a Winter Wren darted nervously about.

But the ground floor of this rocky gorge held the greater interest. Ferns in great abundance, and mosses, and various fungi, attracted our attention, and as we rambled along, rare and interesting plants frequently caused us to stop and make collections.

Myxomycetes, or slime molds, the lowest forms of fungi, grew profusely under the bark of a decaying log, high on the hillside. The delicate structures and beautiful coloring of these diminutive plants, defies description. They must be seen to be appreciated, and few are aware of what they miss as they ramble too swiftly past rotting logs and stumps.

Mosses, more varieties than we could identify, grew abundantly in rocky habitats and on the trunks of trees. The Silvery Leucobryum, a true pioneer moss, grew on rocky surfaces where soil was very poor and sparse. Bartramia, or Apple Moss, was found along the tiny stream that trickles down the gorge. It is so-called because of the shape of the fruiting bodies, which look for all the world like a diminutive apple. Thuidium, or the Fern Moss, matted in great masses, covered old logs and tree trunks. The Wind-blown Moss, and the interesting Catherinea, were also observed. But the best find of all, came late in the morning as we penetrated a cove. Webera, a rare and tiny moss, with little or no stalk, with its spore case surrounded by a collar of hair-like structures, was found on a damp rock, near a stagnant pool.

On exposed cliffs, lichens faced the weather and erosion of the sandstone as true pioneers can. The reindeer moss, along with others, were abundant. These plants are peculiar in that they are formed by the intimate association of two different plants—an alga and a fungus. The spore of no lichen will germinate unless on the proper algal form.

Other fungi were abudant, the most interesting of which was the Sclerodermi, meaning "tough skin," which grew on the rock in the absence of soil. The puff ball it formed was exceedingly tough and very difficult to break. Another form, the Ground Star, too, is a puff ball, but as it reaches maturity, it breaks open at the top and along the sides to form a perfectly shaped star on the ground.

So, collecting the rarer specimens, and those with which we were not familiar, we made our way back to the car, observing with interest a great flock of some 200 black vultures, as we left the hills for the flat country.

Brakes Not Horns

For over a year the motorists in Helsingfors, Finland, have used their brakes in place of their horns. And in the comparatively quiet city which results from this innovation there have not been any more accidents than previously when the honking of horns warned of approaching machines.

Hunter To Eat More Cake And Keep More Too

Sportsmen believe they have found a way to eat their cake and keep it too; more specifically, to hunt their favorite game and keep it too, according to a bulletin of the American Game association.

The answer seems to be so simple that it appears to be too good to be true, skeptics point out. It is the "Winter Holding Pen."

Sportsmen throughout the United States have been raising Quail, Pheasants, Hungarian Partridges and other favorite species of game birds, and releasing them to local covers when the birds reached an age when it was believed they could take care of themselves. Results were meager in many forth a few weeks later in the fall.

Now the plan is to allow every bird at least one breeding season in the wild before the hunters may have a chance to hunt them. This is accomplished by the Winter Holding Pen.

Organized sportsmen in Oregon, under the direction of Gene Simpson, an outstanding authority on artificial game breeding, have erected many large winter holding pens throughout the state and are themselves caring for game birds. They intend to take the birds through the winter and release them long AFTER the hunting season. By this method each bird will be assured of at least one breeding season before being hunted. One breeding pair, under this system, should show a normal increase of eight to ten birds. It is estimated

Another happy phase of this system that has made itself evident is that a sportsman will gladly and freely spend his own time and money when he can actually have a hand in rearing and caring for the game for liberation.

These sportsmen, of course, intend to shoot only a reasonable percentage of the increase, leaving the capital stock and also a percentage of increase to breed the following season. In this way, they believe, they can not only eat their cake and keep it too, but have more cake to eat and keep. Game commissioners, sportsmen and others throughout the country are watching Oregon's interesting experiment, officials of the association said.

THROUGH a WOMAN'S EYES • By JEAN NEWTON

ON BENEFITS TO BE DERIVED FROM BRINGING UP CHILDREN

IN A very interesting article in a magazine on "What Price Baby-Tending," Avis D. Carlson mentions as one of the greatest benefits derived by parents from bringing up children that of the necessity for self-discipline:

"Parents," she says, "usually talk about discipline as something the child gets. But the babytender's biggest disciplinary undertaking is always herself.

"Little human beings are contrary. To get them to do as we want, we must be unfailingly diplomatic for about twelve hours out of the day. Now, diplomacy has not been a quality very carefully cultivated in the women of our generation."

How wonderful, then, that the necessity, in bringing up a child, should should help us to attain this quality!

And it seems to me that the point which this author has made is colossal in its implications. It is true that some parents achieve a much-desired self-discipline through the miracle of parenthood. I know a woman noted for a quick temper who remarked that she had never dreamed the heights of self-control she could achieve until forced by contact with her child. "Naturally," she said, "I couldn't let him see me lose my temper."

Readers, can you see the magnitude of the result if this principle were carried by all parents to its logical conclusion? I do not know the statistics in the matter, but I believe the majority of adult people are parents. What a charming and delightful race we would be if all parents were careful to be just what they should be in the eyes of their children.

As some parents who are really thoughtful of their responsibility to their children cultivate diplomacy to bring out the best qualities of those children, as they cultivate self control to set the right example for those children, so if all parents were thoroughly conscientious toward the children they are rearing to manhood and womanhood they would at all times live up to only their best and finest qualities. And if this seems to any of our readers as rather fantastic, let them reflect that children are susceptible to no influence as much as to that of the example before them that with them "Do as I do" is more potent than "Do as I say."

What an opportunity for parents!

Ancient "Cooking Pits" Unearthed in Ireland

It is reported that nine "fulachtia" (cooking pits) have recently been discovered in the following places around Kinsale, Ireland—Ballintober, Coolcorrig, Mollinfountstown, Ringrone, Ballincrelig, Tisaxon, Kippagh, Scilly Glen and Clashmore. Townshend, in his "Statistical Survey of the County Cork" mentions that in part of Ireland heaps of burnt stones are found in great numbers, which are said to have been used by the inhabitants in ancient times for cooking their victuals. Keating in his "History of Ireland" refers to the mode of cooking. He says the ancient inhabitants were in the habit of digging two large pits, one of which was for washing, the other for cooking. Stones heated red-hot were thrown in, and upon these were laid the meat bound in green bulrushes; upon this again was placed another heap of hot stones, and so on, until the required quantity was disposed of.—Montreal Family Herald.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM K. VANDERBILT, leaders of New York society, are cruising around the world on their yacht Alva, and in the course of their journeyings they get into many strange surroundings. Sidewalk Bread Shops

Syrian folks worry not at all over germs, and in Beirut, when the housewife wants bread, she will walk right out into the street and buy a loaf from the bakeshop man, who airs his wares uncovered in Beirut's bacteria-laden atmosphere, where flies can crawl over them, birds can peck at them, and particulae about the moisture, and eat a dried loaf with relish.

Waltzing Mice

Japanese waltzing mice, which are not very well known as yet, promise to become popular pets. These mice are smaller than the common gray type or even the pet white mice. The Japanese waltzing mice have very pretty black-and-white markings on their bodies. The word "waltz" is most descriptive of their spinning and prancing motions. They seem to take great delight in racing in and out of a playhouse and they move so fast that at times the onlooker mistakes one mouse for two or three.

School for Explorers

The only school for explorers in the world is that founded at Harvard university. A new course in the science of exploration provides a training which qualifies its graduates to lead explorations. This training includes instruction in reading a compass; setting up radio connections with the nearest civilized inhabitants; making weather forecasts; and the collecting and recording of data valuable to science.

Watch Runs Backward

A watch which runs backwards has attracted much attention in the shop of its maker in San Antonio, Texas. The numbers and the hands both run counter-clockwise.

OUR GLASSES

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

OH, THE glasses we wear we consider with care,
Yes, the glasses we wear on our eyes,
For we measure and test and decide on the best
In a way that is cautious and wise—
But the rest
Of our glasses we never surmise.

Yet we look all the day all at life all the way
Through the glasses we wear on the mind.
Some with glasses of hate make the little hurts great;
There are some so exceedingly blind
Here of late
That they seem to see only behind.

But the best sort of glass shows each blossom you pass,
Sees the past, and a little ahead,
Makes the mean rather small, makes the kind rather tall,
Makes the highway more easy to tread—
After all
Makes the world just as good as God said.

Sleep in Peace

The foreman of a gang of railway men has more than his share of Irish wit.

The other afternoon he was walking along his section of the line when he found one of his laborers fast asleep in the shade of a hedge.

Eying the man with a stern mien he said slowly,

"Shape on, ye lile spalpeen—slape as long as ye slape ye've got a job, but whin ye wake up ye're out on yer wurrk!"

You can't advertise today and quit tomorrow. You're not talking to a mass meeting. You're talking to a parade.—Bruce Barton.

The LOOKOUT

THIS HERE, NOW, DEPRESSION

A spin of the radio dial the other night landed us in the middle of a program in which a girl light-heartedly sang

I got a blanket keeps me warm,
And a great big loaf of bread,
I got an ordinary job
And it's hangin' by a thread—

and so on through all the difficulties that any of us have, to lively fox-trot time. Both the tune and the words took Ol' Man Depression, tickled his ribs, danced him around the room, tweaked his nose, and made him like it. "We're not licked yet!" it seemed to say, and we found we were grinning.

HAIRCUTS

Sitting in a barber chair is instructive—if you have the right kind of barber. We learned yesterday that the extremely cold weather a month ago practically brought business to a standstill in our favorite shop. Fear of catching cold when the hair is trimmed is still prevalent, our barber says, and those who do take the risk often turn down the usual neck shave. The rebound came with the mild weather in the week before Christmas, in which the takings were greater than in any other week for the past three years.

A local resident, somewhat irked because we missed him last week as we sought predictions for 1933, has an outlook of his own. He is somewhat of a democrat, and claims prosperity will return about the middle of Roosevelt's second administration.

HOLTON PARK IMPROVED

For the past few weeks, more than two dozen laborers have been employed at Holton Park, leveling the ground north of Eldon avenue and widening the stream bed of the creek that flows through the tract of ground

This job completed will result in marked and extensive improvements to a park that has long been somewhat of an eyesore, although presenting splendid potentialities of a fine recreation center, located as it is, in a broad ravine between Eureka and Richardson avenues.

It might be timely, now that the work is being carried on, to suggest that some clean-up be made in the vicinity of Eureka avenue, where for some time the depression there has been filled in with trash and refuse of all kinds. It not only is difficult to look at with admiring gaze, but later, may present an excellent breeding place for mosquitoes.

A local woman, upon being asked what her opinion was concerning "Technocracy," replied that she seldom got over to the social page.

Jacques Furniture Co. Now In New Location

Announcement of the removal of the Jacques Furniture Co. to their new location at 619-635 W. Broad St., is made this week. The new quarters have many more square feet of floor space, enabling the company to provide much greater facilities for the display of merchandise and ease of the customers.

D. E. Jacques, 74 S. Terrace St., is proprietor of the company.

E. R. Smith to Head A. A. P. O.'s In 1933

Elmer R. Smith, 3170 Wicklow Rd., was elected to lead the A. A. P. O.'s during the ensuing year at the annual anniversary banquet of the organization Monday evening, Jan. 2. Mrs. Aden Smith was the hostess of the occasion

Following the dinner, the business meeting was held, three chapters in Toledo, Ohio; Rochester, N. Y., and Anderson, Ind., being awarded charters in the association. Several amendments to the constitution were also read, but tabled. Other officers elected were: Richard Baesman, retiring potentate, duke of election; Robert Baesman, comptroller of queens; Charles E. Apel, chancellor of the exchequer; John N. Wolfe, magistrate of his majesty's publicity; Robert Wolfe, first lord of the wine cellar; and R. Marvin Draper, first lord of his majesty's transportation.

Robbed of $23

Fred B Warden, 144 S. Brinker Ave., was held up and robbed of $23 last Friday night, Dec. 30, as he was leaving the McKrantz Drug Store at Parsons avenue and Oak street, where he is manager. He was leaving the store when two men accosted him, one jumping on the running board of his car, threatening him with a gun.

South Favored Over Cowboys In Lidlifter

But Wisemen May Surprise; Quintet Improves, Though Losing Preliminary Tilts.

The 1933 scholastic basket-ball season will get under way tonight when the South High Bulldogs invade the Cowboy gym in an effort to pry off the lid with a victory. And from present indications, they will do that very thing, for the Ross-coached machine, though by no means a championship quintet, is of far higher caliber than the West aggregation.

That's the situation before the game. Afterwards, the story might be different, for Coach Wise may pull a surprise in the form of a revamped line-up. If he does not, then he'll still have some trump cards up his sleeve, for reserve material has shown quite a bit of class in preliminary games. Whether or not these boys will see action is still a question, however.

In all probability, the starting line-up will find Moorman at Center; Casey and Deshler at the guards, with Jividen and Boye at the forwards. Throughout the early season battles, however, Coach Wise has used many men—practically the whole squad in every game, and the starting line-up may soon be revised.

West's preliminary games show little to brag about, victories being few and defeats many and overwhelming. Still, much improvement was noted Friday and Saturday nights, when the locals took on the alumni, and then trekked to Greenfield for a return engagement with the Highland countians.

New Year Celebration Culminates In Shooting

Leslie Gross Fatally Wounded Following Party at His Home.

Funeral services for Leslie Gross, aged 34, of 341 S. Richardson Ave., were held at Newcomerstown, following a fatal shooting last Sunday morning, culminating a New Year's party at the Gross home.

John Horch, aged 34, of 66 Eldon Ave., is alleged to have fired the fatal shots and was being held early this week by police, along with Eugene Terry, 29, of 72 Eldon Ave., who was with Horch at the time of the shooting. Six 45 caliber slugs were fired, three of which penetrated various parts of the porch and three of which entered Gross' body.

The shooting occurred after a party, when Horch was unable to pay his share. Terry left his overcoat as security while Horch went for his money. They came back and the shooting took place. No motive for the crime was given.

W. H. Orebaugh Buys Premium Tobacco

W. H. Orebaugh, 57 Eldon Ave., who is spending the holidays in Columbus, reports that tobacco prices are normal in the south, where he just purchased 240 pounds of the weed from Thomas Daulton, prize winner in the Union County Fair.

He is connected with the O. K. Tobacco Co., at Ripley, Ohio, and he says that the price of 23 cents per pound, which he paid this year, is double that of last year. Fifty cents is the highest price he has ever paid.

By the Use of This Instrument Your Chiropractic Dollars Have A GREATER VALUE

AND WHY---

The Chiropractic objective is to locate and remove nerve impulse obstructions from the spine.

The above instrument is designed solely to locate the exact nerve obstructed.

It measures in degrees the amount of obstruction.

After the adjustment, by rechecking, we determine how much obstruction the adjustment has removed.

If the adjustments fail to remove the degree of obstruction, then it fails to be an adjustment, even though your money has been spent.

Today the well informed and well equipped Chiropractor knows exactly what each adjustment accomplishes. His work is positively scientific from start to finish.

Nerve obstructions CAUSE many of the acute and chronic diseased conditions of the body. Chiropractic adjustments given as explained above, remove the CAUSE of these conditions and health is the natural result.

Direct your Chiropractic dollars in the channels that bring you the greatest returns. By acting now you will profit by a substantial gain.

NOTICE: For the next thirty days I am offering a special health service plan that will mean a decided saving for all cases this month. A personal call at the office will give you the details.

OSTEOPATHY CURES LaGRIPPE

A young lady contracted a severe case of LaGrippe, complicated with a most distressing cough. An Osteopath stopped her cough and reduced her fever. Her recovery was rapid. Do Not Import Animals

The Biological Bureau regulates the importation of live birds and mammals and has thus kept undesirable species one day over twenty thousand birds from entering the United States. In were imported. The leading birds brought in are canaries, parrots, pheasants, quail, and love birds. The bear seems to be the most popular mammal. Bears are brought mostly from Canada and are used as game animals and for exhibition.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

TROOP 173

The following scouts were selected on the December honor patrol of the troop: James Hastings, patrol leader; Howard Michel, assistant patrol leader; Eugene Buckingham, Howard Malloy, Vieman Lyday, Harold Weiler, Robert McClurg and George Armour.

An all-day hike into the Sugar Grove region is scheduled for Jan. 7. The troop will leave Columbus Saturday morning, and return in time for supper.

Sunday evening, at Hope Memorial church, his investiture ceremony will be presented. This has been developed by the troop as an initiation service for Tenderfoot scouts.

TROOP 181

On Friday, Dec. 30, "Parents' Night" was observed by troop 181 at Hillcrest Baptist church. A good number of parents enjoyed the meeting and display of handcraft articles. A short informal period followed the meeting, and refreshments were served.

Sunday evening, Jan. 8, the troop will attend church services at Hillcrest in a body.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

IMITAWASI

At the last meeting of this group at John Burroughs school plans were made to combine the 1933 Camp Fire Birthday project with a study of the Camp Fire Laws. A different law will be taken each month and its relation to the Birthday project brought out, the first law is "Seek Beauty," and the Birthday project is "Making the Most of Me," and the idea will be to do everything possible during January to seek beauty with the things each girl has and to make the most of what they have to accomplish this end. The February law will be "Give Service."

Our count book is up to date and is now becoming very interesting as nearly every girl has had some part in completing this history of our group so far.

Plans are being made for a ceremonial the last of January to present the honor beads earned so far and to accept our charter officials from Miss Annette Baer, representing the executive council.

Plans are being made to form a dads' club, composed of our fathers, and this will be great for the girls of our group as we will be able by this means to show our fathers what our mothers already know of what Camp Fire means to us.

Monte Gordon Miller, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Almus Miller, 472 S. Ogden Ave., died Wednesday night, Dec. 28, at the home of pneumonia. Deep Canyon

The great canyon of the Brahmaputra in northern India is approximately 1000 feet deeper than the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. Its depth is measured from the tops of the mountains which rise along the banks of the river. The Brahmaputra river is one of the largest in India, being 1800 miles in length.

Economy Drug Store Held Up By Bandits

For the second time in three months, the Economy Drug Store, Broad street and Warren avenue, was held up and robbed, Thursday night, Dec. 29, and the performance, on the part of the bandits, at least, was spectacular in every respect.

Five armed men entered the store, one asking for dog medicine. All drew revolvers and took three clerks and as many customers into the back of the store, rifling the register of approximately $100 meanwhile. Ten other customers who entered the store during the hold-up were also herded to a rear room, and given orders to remain until the robbers had been gone five minutes.

It was thought by police that two other hold-ups were made by the same gang at two filling stations within the next two hours.

The LOOKOUT

ALONG BROAD STREET

Thoughts while strolling (with profuse apologies to O. O. McIntyre): That job of landscaping at Glenwood park—where the rain and snow washes the earth down into the street. . . . Wonder why they don't change the number at 2883 W. Broad St., the 3's are upside down. . . . C. O. Miller and his bicycle. . . . The complacent stroll of C. J. Kohn. . . . The robust "good morning" from Rev. William Pieffer. . . . Is it Terrace street or Terrace avenue. . . . Weber's home, between Burgess and Ogden, gives an air of solitary dignity. . . . Vacant storerooms. . . . Emma Jean Hastings, in a red tam, suggests the word "sprightly." . . . Robert M. Draper walks faster than any one we know. . . . Kids scrambling for a basket-ball in West Broad school yard. . . . Sam Toy never has been seen in bad humor.

An overflow crowd greeted West basket-ball team last week in the opening game of the season. A well behaved crowd, that in other years might have found much to boo about, or in other ways, become obnoxious. Undoubtedly, as far as this column is concerned, the gallery at Friday's game was the most sportsmanlike in years.

When it is considered that the game was as close and hard fought as it was, it is possible that the crowd might easily have had opportunity to "razz." Yet none of this was forthcoming. Even in the closing minutes, when South was presented with an opportunity to tie the score with a free throw, the West stands were silent. Several other times during a hectic fourth quarter, local supporters might have found reason to "boo." But they didn't, which is entirely commendable.

In regard to the basket-ball team, nothing but praise is due for the hard, fighting tactics displayed by the Cowboys against a superior quintet from South. The illusive goddess of victory smiled on a battered team, worn from a disastrous preliminary campaign. And the smile was not hard to take.

Still, in games to come, when fortune turns her eyes the other way, we hope the team loses none of its fighting qualities. A championship for the Wisemen is out of the question. The team will be extended to land in first division. But from all appearances, a good bid will be made. Leastwise, one obstacle has been hurdled.

TALL STORY

Listen to this one: A Hilltopper, interested in the raising of broom corn, went down to Florida, constructed a broom factory, and when it was finished found that no broom corn grew in the vicinity. So he purchased 20 acres over in the everglades, and sowed broom corn, and it flourished abundantly. In fact, it grew so dense that it could not be approached. A scientific man was hired to survey the area, and he reported a tremendous crop of butter. The broom corn had grown so high that its tassles switched about in the milky way. And just as soon as this man can get a million barrels of salt, the price of butter will come down.

Bitten By Dog

John Hare, aged 12, of 519 S. Oakley Ave., was bitten on the leg and hip by a stray dog in front of his home, Saturday, Jan. 7.

Why We're Where We Are—Iky

deer fokes:

A feller frum up big sitty way rites me a letter an sez thet he wisht thet this hyar depreshun war over. Wich is whut a lot of fokes is wishin.

But twont never be so. Reckon whin this world gits a little older—after sum has died and sum nu ones cum on—this hyar thing we calls a depreshun won't be none atall. Cause thar won't be nothin fer the yunger gineruation ta compare it with, but jist it in itself. I hain't jest figgered out yit, jest wich is the worser, prosperity we had, or the depreshun we got.

We bin measurin prosperity by dollars to dern much. When the new gineration gits growd up, they wont need dollars. They'll be gitten down ta real facks of life, wich dont cost nuthin. And so, we're where we are.

Fighting Cowboy Quintet Defeats South Bulldogs

Burkhalter Sinks Fielder In Final Minute to Lead Cowpunchers to Victory.

Before a packed house, West High basketeers inaugurated the local scholastic cage campaign Friday night, Jan. 6, against the Brown and Buff's most bitter rival, South, and took a well-earned victory by a score of 13 to 11.

Throughout the game, the play was thrilling, although South was in the lead until the final frame. The Bulldogs terminated the first quarter with a four to two lead; and at half time, had an eight to four advantage.

Then came a fighting spurt by the Cowpunchers, when Moorman sank a charity toss, followed by a bucket by Jividen and another free throw by Thornton, which knotted the count at the end of the third period.

The final frame was probably the most hectic period ever played on the local floor. Burkhalter broke the deadlock with a free toss; Diedrick dropped in a fielder for South; Thornton came through with a long shot which was a beauty; and the game was once more tied up by Diedrick's foul toss.

With less than a minute to go, Burkhalter came through with a spectacular shot from the corner of the court, and midst the fastest scrambling West gym ever witnessed, the Cowboys maintained the lead to the final gun.

For West, Moorman and Casey played excellent ball, the latter defensively, and the former in getting the ball on the rebound, while South missed many short shots, the Bulldogs were constantly pressed by the fighting Cowboys.

AT NORTH TONIGHT

In a preliminary battle, South reserves gave the local reserves their initial setback of the season by a score of 26 to 12.

Tonight, on the North High hardcourt, the Wisemen will be the underdogs again. The Polar Bears are rated as potential champions and present a powerful and formidable quintet. No games were lost by the Bruins through the preliminary season and last Friday they took the measure of Aquinas by an overwhelming score of 48 to 28.

The game will get under way at 8:15 o'clock, preceded by a preliminary tilt between the reserves of the two schools, an hour earlier.

Acting as installing officer, Judge C. J. Randall inducted into office the newly elected officials of the Hilltop Business Men's association at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the Matsonia.

C. H. Campbell is the new president; R. G. Haunts, first vice president; Dr. W. L. Durflinger, second vice president; C. G. Wilcox, treasurer, and L. E. Saunders, secretary. H. G. Deems, Fred Raether and Dr. W. M. Baker, together with the retiring president, C. J. Kohn, are the new directors.

Immediately following the installation, President Campbell announced the members of the standing committees, chairmen of which are as follows: Publicity, Dr. W. L. Durflinger; auditing, W. C. Eidson; Business Advancement, R. G. Haunts; Civic, Floyd Green; Constitution, Dr. T. S. Fox; Better Business, H. G. Deems; Membership, C. J. Rice; Safety, C. J. Kohn; Industrial, F. P. Shank; Schools, Dr. W. M. Baker; Entertainment, Dr. C. H. Lose, and Minstrel, H. G. Deems.

A contest for new members and attendance at meetings was announced by the new president beginning with next month. The membership has been divided into two groups headed by C. J. Rice and A. C. Skipper. These groups are known as the Zips and Peps. One hundred points will be given for each member present at regular meetings and 1000 points for each new member.

Following the trend of the times a flat reduction of $6.00 in membership fees was announced by the executive committee, as a result of a questionnaire and survey made by a special committee appointed at the December meeting.

C. S. Bisch, economist with the National Cash Register Co. of Dayton, was the speaker of the evening and for one hour spoke on modern methods of business. Mr. Bisch has made an exhaustive study of business methods in this country and Canada and while this was his third appearance before the association he had a real message for the business man and employes.

Music was furnished by Joseph E. Brigani, violinist, and Billy Pietro, accordionist, who entertained with three numbers. This feature was arranged through the Hilltop School of Music.

Hilltop Invited

There will be a joint public installation of officers of Westwood K. of P. Lodge and Pythian Sisters in their hall at Burgess avenue and Broad street, Friday, Jan. 13. Following the installation ceremonies there will be dancing to music by the Westwood Harmony orchestra.

Church Quints In Good Games Tuesday Night

Hoge Memorial, Hillcrest, Glenwood M. E, and Avondale U. B. Turn in Victories.

Playing before a crowd that taxed the capacity of the Glenwood shelter house, eight teams in the West Church League went to the wire Tuesday night, to battle for the title.

Hillcrest Baptist opened the evening's festivities in fine basket-ball way by trouncing West Park, 33 to 10. The game was never in doubt, the Hillcrest team leading all the way.

Briggsdale also had a difficult time getting into high gear and the Avondale U. B. team took a 25 to 9 decision.

In a close and hard fought game, Hoge Memorial edged out Gift Street M. E. by a score of 22 to 17. This game was well played throughout.

The feature attraction of the evening was a bitter struggle between Glenwood M. E. and Warren Avenue Evangelical, with the former shading the latter by a slight margin. The final count was 21 to 20.

Preceding the games Mayor Henry W. Worley officially opened the recently remodeled gymnasium, and Councilman Wyatt L. Millikin also spoke.

The floor proper at Glenwood has been enlarged, facilitating playing conditions, while more room has also been made for spectators.

Intermediate league results of last week were: Avondale U. B. 20, Glenwood M. E. 17; Calvary Presbyterian 20, Westgate Evangelical 18; and Gift Street M. E. 28, Burgess U. B. 4.

West Junior High and Hoge Memorial Boy Scouts Plan Dual Contest Feb. 7.

Announcements of plans of two local scout troops to engage in a competitive meet on Tuesday evening, Feb. 7, at West High school, was announced this week. The competing troops will be Troop 45, at West Junior High school, and Troop 172 at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church.

A series of seven events have been carded by officials of the two organizations, and non-partisan judges will superintend the meet. Although they have not yet been selected, they will be prominent Hilltop business men.

The events on the program include: Fire by friction, fire by flint and steel, clothes race, scrimmage ball, barrel tilting, Kelly drill, a relay race, composed of five different events, and a surprise event, not to be divulged to the competing scouts until the night of the show.

The meet will provide additional interest inasmuch as John Wolfe, scoutmaster at Troop 172, was a scout of A. W. Elliott, leader at 45. The former entered scouting not long after the West Junior High troop was organized in 1925. Elliott, in addition to many years service in the field, will register his troop for its ninth year next month.

Richard Fuesman is the assistant at Hoge Memorial, and Charles Thurstan, Ray Galb, Howard Munro, George Heitz, and Carol Whitlatch are assistants at West Junior.

A meeting of the Hilltop Ministerial association was held Tuesday morning, Jan. 10, in the pastor's study of the Hillcrest Baptist church.

Rev. William Pieffer, president, presided. Fourteen ministers were present and for over an hour they tarried in prayer in the interest of the coming Hilltop Union Revival, to begin next Sunday, Jan. 15. Many testified that never in their experience had they been in such a prayer meeting, where a unity of purpose, the power of God, and the fellowship of ministers were so evident.

Frank Hauer Succumbs After Short Illness

Was Well Known On Hilltop; Charter Member of Westwood.

Frank M. Hauer, aged 76, of 26 S. Oakley Ave., died Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 10, at his home, following a brief illness of pneumonia. Fraternal services were held Wednesday evening by the Westwood Lodge No. 770, K. of P., of which he was a charter member. Additional services will be held this afternoon at the residence at 2 o'clock with burial at Memorial Burial Park.

He was a machinest by trade, and well known over the Hilltop. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna Hauer; five daughters, Miss Helen Hauer of Columbus; Miss Marian Hauer of Dayton; Mrs. Glenna Wilson of Nevada; Mrs. Juanita Akin and Mrs. Louise Ervin of Washington, D. C.; two brothers, Emmett of Columbus, and John Hauer of Dayton, and two sisters.

He was a member of the Hilltop Church of Christ.

Conductor Robbed

M. H. Gee, 100 S. Burgess Ave., conductor on a West Broad-Mt. Vernon street car, was relieved of $17 in cash and car tickets Tuesday night, when an 18-year-old passenger drew a revolver near Fifth avenue and Sunbury road. Neither the motorman nor three other passengers on the car were aware that a hold-up was in progress until the youth had jumped from the moving car and disappeared.

Another robbery of the same kind occurred at Sullivant and Hague avenues Wednesday night. E. C. Stevens, conductor on the Sullivant avenue line, lost $10 in tickets when held up in the street car rest room at that corner.

West Junior Cagers Win From Crestview

Underdogs Through Remainder of Schedule, However.

Although West Junior High's basketball team emerged victorious in its initial league engagement last Friday, Jan. 6, the remainder of the schedule will be no primrose path. Four of the remaining games on the menu are with teams that won decisive battles Friday.

Crestview was taken into camp by the Laymen coached lads by a count of 24 to 16. Except for a spurt in the third frame, the teams were closely matched. In this period, Legge ran wild to garner a quartet of fielders and this, along with two others by Hellar and Graves, was sufficient to bring home the bacon.

Barrett, who outclassed Pilgrim last Friday, will be the favorite against West Junior this afternoon on the local hardcourt. The starting line-up for the Hilltoppers will probably find the following boys in action: Ballard, Graves, Fought, Hellar and Legg.

Miss Breese Heads Epworth Leagues

At a candle-light service conducted at the Central Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening, Jan. 8, Miss Annabell Breese, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Breese, 153 Eldon Ave., was installed as president of the Columbus District Epworth leagues. Miss Breese is a former president of the Senior Epworth League of Glenwood M. E church, and has been quite active in other branches of young people's work.

Miss Frances Gillian, 1994 Floral Ave., also active in young people's work at Glenwood church, was installed as fourth vice president.

Club Meeting

The Tenth Ward Republican club will meet Tuesday evening, Jan. 17, at Glenwood shelter house at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

Committees To Finish Canvass

All In Readiness for Hilltop's First Union Service; Dr. J. C. Massee to Conduct.

Dr. J. C. Massee, now enroute from Atlanta, Ga., is expected to arrive sometime tomorrow to greet his coworkers on the Hilltop, and to rest in preparation for his opening address Sunday evening at 7:30 in West High school auditorium. Dr. Massee's subject will be "The World's Greatest Sensation." It is expected that the 1500 seats in the auditorium will be filled early in the evening, as interest in the Hilltop's biggest revival has grown steadily in the past month, according to reports received from workers in direct touch with local residents.

In the past week approximately 3000 families have been personally invited, through the joint activities of the Survey and Invitations committees, to join with the membership of Hilltop Protestant churches in the three weeks of religious re-orientation. At a final meeting of these committees Wednesday night, a check was made of the homes not visited, and re-assignments made so that they might be called upon by tomorrow afternoon.

Dr. Massee's sermons are described as attempts to find the answers to modern ills in the messages of the Bible, and he is said to have no sympathy with the sensational and extravagant methods used by some evangelists. He became nationally famous during his seven-year pastorate at the Tremont Temple in Boston, where he won more than 2500 converts and attracted a congregation of 3500 members.

It was learned this week that Homer A. Rodeheaver, song leader, would be unable to be present during the first week of the revival but would be on hand for the second Sunday's services and those for the two weeks following.

Mr. Frank Cheek has been secured by Dr. Massee to lead the singing during the first week of the services. Mr. Cheek is a resident of Chattanooga, Tenn., where he is a full-time director of music with one of the city's largest churches.

Although any one is welcome on any night, special nights have been designated for the presentation of programs appealing to particular groups. This Monday will be Bible school night; Tuesday, church officers' night; Wednesday, family night; Thursday, church organizations' night; Friday, young people's night. Special delegation from the Hilltop Business Men's association and local Boy Scout troops will also attend on Thursday and Friday nights respectively. No service will be held on Saturdays.

A choir of 100 voices, chosen from the choirs of participating churches, will be accompanied by Mrs. Mary Lewis Witter, 541 W. 5th Ave., who has had six years of experience with evangelists, including Rev. William A. Sunday.

As a means of spiritual prepartion, cottage prayer meetings have been held in Hilltop homes for the past two weeks. Rev. A. J. Fryhoff, secretary of the Hilltop Ministerial association, estimates the number of persons who have attended these meetings to be approximately 1400. The final meetings will be held tonight, and a list showing the homes in which they will be held and the names of their leaders follows:

Mrs. Roberts, 348 S. Terrace St., Rev. Green.

A WAY OUT FOR EDUCATION IN OHIO

(An Editorial)

The critical moment for Ohio education is close at hand. Decreased financial support has wrought havoc with the educational welfare of Ohio's children, and the situation fast approaches a crisis. Over all the state, schools are closing, or operating with an unpaid teaching staff.

In Columbus, since 1929, school revenues have been decreased 30 per cent. The effects of this decreased income have been kept from the children, but an additional 20 per cent decrease is in the offing under the present system of financing through the property tax method.

Our tax system needs to be changed. All but four per cent of the cost of schools in Ohio is a direct tax on real estate. In New York, 29 per cent of this cost is borne by the state out of indirect sources of revenue. Only three states of the union provide a smaller percentage of the cost of education from the state than Ohio does. These facts have been learned by a commission appointed by the governor, representing all the economic interests of the commonwealth. A bill is before the legislature now, formed from a plan unanimously adopted by the commission.

It assumes that schools are a state responsibility. It recognizes the fact that home rule should be maintained. It asserts that the state should furnish a certain minimum program of education, with the local district adding more as it so elects to pay for itself. Under this plan, the state guarantees the foundation, and the local district uses its own judgment in how far it wants to tax itself within legal limits in building the superstructure. It seeks no greater revenue; it merely asks a guarantee. It proposes to lighten the tax load carried by real estate and to impose a like sum on all people equally, in accordance with their tax paying ability. Money saved cannot be used by some other governmental unit.

The cigarette tax yielded $4,000,000.00. Other articles could likewise be taxed for the welfare of education—or other sources could be readily found. The plan has been tremendously successful in New York. Why not in Ohio! If education is the "way out," then friends of education in Ohio would do well to talk over with their representatives the inherent advantages in providing for equal educational opportunities for all in the state, and at the same time affording needed relief to home owners the support of such an educational program.

18 West Swimmers Start Rehearsals

Coach Buchanan Drilling Candidates Twice Weekly; Team to Be Stronger This Year.

Eighteen candidates for the West High swimming squad reported to Coach Arthur Buchanan last week at the Central Y. M. C. A. where they are going through rehearsals twice weekly in preparation for the annual city meet Feb. 18.

Lorens, Grubbs, Latham and Stevens, four letter men from last year, will form the nucleus around which this year's aquatic team will be built. Barnett, Michaelis, Curran and Parker, four new boys, are expected to strengthen the team to a considerable extent.

Last year, in the city meet, West took a second place, being headed by North. Although the Maroons are again favored to cop the bunting this year, it is thought that the Cowboys will press them for honors.

Several preliminary games may be scheduled in the near future, according to Buchanan, although no definite dates have been set. Columbus Academy and Holy Rosary will probably be the teams scheduled.

Strong Films Due At Rivoli and Ritz

Joe E. Brown, the man with the wide open face, is coming to the Rivoli for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in "You Said a Mouthful." Joe gets the mouthful when he is mistaken for a champion swimmer and entered in a distance race, although he can't swim a stroke. Farina, whom you will remember as the most engaging of the kids in "Our Gang" comedies, strikes out into wider territory in the same picture. The feminine lead is the gingery Ginger Rogers.

At the Ritz today and tomorrow is "Rockabye." Constance Bennett, the lead, is ably seconded by Joel McCrea and the suave Paul Lukas. Next week, on Wednesday and Thursday, Sally Eilers, Ben Lyon, and Ginger Rogers will be seen together in "Hat Check Girl," a story with a Broadway night club background.

Mrs. Mary Jane Trout, aged 85, of 612 S. Warren Ave., died at her home, Thursday evening, Jan. 5, of pneumonia. Surviving her are two sons, Amos and Isaac Trout; three daughters, Mrs. Emma Bond; Mrs. Charles Combs, and Mrs. Kennie Seits; seven grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Etta Sheeters. The body was removed to the Spears & Born funeral home, pending completion of funeral arrangements.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Monday at the residence with burial in Green Lawn cemetery by Spears & Born.

Have Toy Parade

A splendid time was enjoyed at the toy parade held by the pupils of West Broad Street school Friday afternoon, Jan. 6. This is an annual event of the school when each child is allowed to bring his or her favorite toy received at Christmas.

Register At West Broad

Parents wishing to register children for class 1B in West Broad school, Broad street and Hague avenue, are asked to do so within the next two weeks. To be eligible for admission to this class, the children must be six years old by May 15, 1933.

Starling Wins

Starling Junior High basketeers opened the city campaign Friday afternoon, Jan. 6, at Mound, taking a 25 to 16 verdict. Starling started the game in stellar fashion, scoring most of its points in the initial frame. The game was closer from this point on, Mound being unable to surmount the lead, however.

Make Calendars

The Girl Reserves of Starling Junior High are making scrap books and calendars for their own use. A prize is being offered for the best calendar. Several new members have been taken into the organization since the opening of the semester.

Hurt In Crash

Earl Johnson, 709 S. Eureka Ave. suffered scalp wounds and body bruises Monday, Jan. 9, when a tire blew out, causing his auto to overturn on the National Highway, three miles east of West Jefferson. His companion, Luke Murray, 718 Prebis Ave., sustained slight cuts on the face and scalp. They received treatment at the West Jefferson Emergency hospital.

OSTEOPATHY CURES TONSILITIS

A young married woman took her first Osteopathic treatment for a severe case of Tonsilitis, to which she was subject. The results were so direct and amazing that she and her husband began to investigate the Science of Osteopathy and the outcome of it was that he gave up his position in Columbus to study the Science. Do not hesitate to take Osteopathic treatment for Tonsilitis, LaGrippe or Pneumonia. Call Dr. R. D. Woodmansee, who has been practicing Osteopathy in, Columbus since July, 1900, over 32 years.

The LOOKOUT

COMMUNITY ASSET

Congratulations are due to Troop 45, West Junior High school, which organization is approaching its tenth consecutive year of scouting.

Under A. W. Elliott, history teacher, world war veteran, and former organization head in the local council, the troop has made great progressive strides, and in numerous ways has been an inconspicuous but splendid asset to the community.

And much credit should also be given to those who have assisted in the development of this project. Numerous Hilltop men, prominent in community activity, have assisted greatly in the organization's growth. H. H. Reighley, principal at West Junior, has played no small part in the organization's rise, and Clarence Bateman and George Heitz, instructors, have also aided materially.

Elliott's program of rugged scouting teaches a boy to care for himself in endless number of situations. Citizenship training has been a result, not an advertisement. Officials provide the proper setting, and boys have been allowed to follow their own interests—and those who have been and are scouts in "45" are much the better for the training.

IMPRESSIONS

Women drivers appear never to relax while driving. . . . That old gentleman who spends so many afternoons reading in the Hilltop library. . . . Boys "thumbing" on Broad street. . . . Kip Selbach's eternal cigar. . . . Not so many free calendars distributed this year. . . . The twin Clark brothers dress and walk alike. . . . They say A. W. Elliott looks like Abe Lincoln. . . . "Randy" Bigler's devoted dog. . . . Immaculately dressed military student, suggesting the word "conformity." . . . Inactivity on Broad street at dinner time. . . . Hillcrest Baptist church, originally planned as a theatre. . . . Those signs: "Working together in harmony." . . . That read-headed conductor on the West Broad line. . . . Bird nests now so conspicuous in defoliated trees and bushes. . . . Black church windows make the building seem cold and dreary. . . . They say that church attendance, like other things, has slumped during this (.) of economic readjustment. . . . West Broad school's "home-like" appearance. . . . West High school's "factory-like" outlines. . . . What became of Charles Cruea's fish pond? . . . That West High student who sent President Hoover a Christmas card.

SPRING DAYS

Occasionally, through the winter months, a few warm days are interspersed. And during these periods, the streets are filled with roller-skaters, ball players, kite flyers, etc., and their presence in such great numbers often creates quite a traffic hazard.

Last week, on North Warren avenue, no less than 17 boys were counted playing hockey in the street in the space of less than a half of a block. Now there's nothing to be said against a fine game of "shinny on your own side," but there is much danger involved in the practice, besides a few cracks against unsuspecting shins.

Motorists can hardly be held responsible for traffic mishaps in such circumstances. Perhaps, a round-up by a radio cruiser, now and then, would serve to curb these activities.

Our tall story in this column last week gave rise to a number of other incredible accounts of what used to happen "back home." We heard about mountains so steep that the quail had to lay square eggs to keep them from rolling down the side, birds that had only one wing and flew around the mountain in one direction only, an ox that measured forty axe handles and a plug of Star tobacco between the horns, who ate hay by the bale and kept one man busy picking the haywire out of his teeth with a peavey, and a pancake griddle so huge that the batter was supplied from a row of concrete mixers. Before the batter was dumped, it seems, the foreman blew a whistle so that the colored boys skating around the griddle on slabs of bacon would have time to jump over the side.

Champions Beat Stubborn West Quintet, 32-24

Cowboys Take a Set-back At North Friday in Rough Game; Play At Aquinas Tonight.

West basketeers pulled a few more tricks out of the bag Friday night when they held North cagers to a meager victory on the Arcadian's hard court. It was a surprised North quintet that the Cowboys faced, for after the initial frame, the game was evenly played, and the lead established by North was no more than enough to insure victory when the final gun cracked.

The Bears took a lead in the first quarter, 9 to 3, and they led from this point on, although the Cowboys fought stubbornly to again upset the dope.

For West, "Hawk-eye" Thornton proved high scorer, with a quartet of fielders and a solitary charity toss while Deshler contributed six points with two buckets and as many free throws.

Davenport and Williams led the Bruin attack with 11 points each. In a preliminary tilt, Coach Buchanan's riddled reserves took a beating at the hands of the North second stringers by a score of 34 to 11.

Tonight, the Cowboys will lock horns with the lowly Aquinas team on the Dragon court. The locals are slight favorites to win, although the Green and Gold, in its own backyard, may display a stubborn attack.

The game is scheduled to get under way at 8:15, preceded by a preliminary melee between the reserves at 7:15.

But the biggest bouquets must go to Casey and Moorman. These two lads fought hard and long, and the North luminaries who have shined so brilliantly heretofore, were somewhat dim when the final gun cracked. Both boys were forced from the fracas in the fourth stanza, and both were given a deserved ovation by the fine crowd of Cowboy supporters on hand.

Capacity Crowds Greet Massee As Revival Meetings Begin

Old Message Present Need Says Massee

A Record reporter found Dr. Massee at breakfast when he called for an interview Wednesday morning, and the busy evangelist invited him to proceed with his questions while the meal was still in progress. He found the silver-haired leader of the Hilltop revival meetings as able in the presentation of his opinions as he is on a platform, and as ready with quotation and anecdote in illustrating his point.

In answer to the first question, concerning his impressions of the Hilltop, he said that he was conscious of an unusually fine spirit of cordiality in both the people and the ministers here. The preparations for the revival were capably and thoroughly made, he said.

Asked whether he thought that the answer for every problem in 1933 could be found in the Bible, he replied that the answers to all problems lay in the right relationship to God. "Imagine what it would be like," he said, "if the unifying principle of industry were 'Love thy neighbor as thyself.'"

Prosperity or the lack of it, he said, does not materially affect the spiritual life of man, although he inclined to the belief that both extremes might prove dangerous. "Thou shalt have neither poverty nor riches," he quoted from Paul.

"What do you think Jesus would do about present conditions if he were here today?" was the next question. "Conditions at the time of His ministry were practically the same as they are now," Dr. Massee replied. "His teaching would be the same as then. He would not touch economic questions at all. The gospel is an individual rather than a social message."

Hundreds Turned Away at First Service Sunday Night; Rodeheaver Due Tonight.

The first week of the union revival meetings under Dr. J. C. Massee will come to a close tonight, when Dr. Massee will speak in the West High school auditorium on the subject of "When Chickens Come Home to Roost." The talk will be addressed particularly to the Hilltop's young people, for whom tonight has been especially designated, but anyone may attend.

Hundreds were unable to find either seats or standing room in the auditorium at the initial services Sunday night, and it is thought that the audience will overflow the 1500 seats this Sunday evening long before 7:30, the hour of starting, arrives. Homer A. Rodeheaver is expected to make his first appearance as song leader on the Hilltop at that time, although it is possible that he may arrive in time to assist at tonight's meeting. He will replace Frank Cheek, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who was secured through the agency of Dr. Massee when it was learned that Rodeheaver could not be present for the first week.

Pay Attention

When Dr. J. C. Massee, leader of the Hilltop Revival, spoke to West High students Tuesday morning, he taught them a lesson in paying attention. He recited two verses from the Bible, and then paused—repeated them again and then pulled from his pocket, a fine, green, one dollar bill. This he offered to any student who could repeat what he had said. He kept his dollar.

During the past week Mr. Cheek's fine voice and engaging personality have made him popular with both the chorus and those attending the meetings, and he has in turn expressed himself as extremely pleased with the musical ability and enthusiasm shown. A committe of 100 has been chosen from the memberships of participating churches, to act as key men among their friends and neighbors in securing their attendance at the mass meeting Sunday afternoon.

On Monday night the Bible schools of Hilltop churches will again be seated in groups. Tuesday night has been set aside for all Baptists, the Church of Christ, the Nazarene church, and Westgate Evangelical church; Wednesday, for the Glenwood M. E. church and the Church of God; and Thursday for Presbyterians, Friends, United Brethren, and Evangelical Congregational. On Friday night the young people of the Hilltop are again given a special invitation to attend. Anyone may attend on any night, however, except Saturday, when no service will be held.

Dr. Massee will speak at his fourth afternoon meeting this afternoon at the Glenwood M. E. church, at 2 o'clock. The church in which the afternoon meetings will be held next week will be announced from the platform Sunday.

In a meeting of the Hilltop Ministerial association at Glenwood M. E. church Tuesday afternoon, Dr. Massee stated that, inasmuch as the meetings now being conducted were sponsored by many different denominations, it was his purpose to avoid controversial points of theology and concentrate his efforts on laying bare the possibilities of a true regeneration under Christian principles.

Old Message

Referring to the conflict between a literal interpretation of the Bible and present-day scientific thought, he said that the authenticity and authority of the Bible was in no way impaired by scientific findings. "I do not interpret the Bible were in no way impaired by anyone with sufficient literary discernment to recognize a figure of speech when he sees one. When a fact is presented as a fact therein, however, I accept it as a fact. The story of Adam and Eve, for instance, is straight history."

As a final question Dr. Massee was asked whether he thought the Christian church had accepted its full responsibility in the 20th century. "No, nor in any century since the First," he replied. "I do not wish to criticise ministers, they are not in my service, but another's. I feel, however, that in spite of having churches better financed and with better-educated ministers than ever before, the spiritual life of the people was never at lower tide than today. This is because the emphasis has fallen upon ritual, and not upon the propagandic activities for which the church was established. The gospel of redemption is what the world needs, a truly evangelistic minister never grows weary of bringing it to those in need."

NUISANCE TAXES

Governor White has been the target of much criticism this week for his recommendations concerning the raising of revenue to meet the state's financial crisis. And, with much concern, critics have stressed the fact that the poor are being taxed. Personally, however, albeit we are not an economist, the taxes named are of an excellent nature.

To be sure, as was so neatly written in the Ohio State Journal:

"The package of Mail Pouch, for instance, which the unemployed laborer carries in his hip pocket as he pounds the street looking for work, is to be taxed 10 per cent.

"The can of malt the poor man buys to make his home brew is to be taxed 20 per cent, while the rich man gets his genuine lager by the case from Canada, Chicago, New York, not to mention points nearer Ohio.

"The bottle of pop that mother buys for the kiddies at the circus or picnic is to be taxed 30 per cent.

"When mother promises to send the kiddies to the neighborhood theatre, as an inducement to help her actively at the Saturday house-cleaning, she must add 10 per cent to the price of admission."

But—the poor man is not obliged to pay these taxes—unless he chooses to chew tobacco; unless he chooses to drink pop instead of milk; unless he decides to attend a show instead of church; unless he decides to make brew instead of bread.

Sometimes we are apt to forget that there is a depression! And after all, these things are hardly vital to the needs of man.

TRIPLE MODESTY

At the revival meeting in West High last Friday night, Dr. Massee wanted to ascertain that reconsecration cards had been received by everyone in the auditorium. To this end he addressed the very last row high up in the balcony. "Have you received cards up there?" he asked. "Let that handsome young fellow hold up his card if he got one." Three small boys stretched their arms aloft.

Arthur Miller, instructor at West High, is telling about that present he got from India—a box of Ghandi. And from the same source we learn that local teachers are still able to sit up and take nourishment—but can't get the nourishment.

Noted on Boy Scout Convention program: "Tea at 4:30." Shades of Dan'l Boone and Kit Carson. Cheerio!

Welsh In Control

It begins to seem that success as a singer on the Hilltop is a direct result of having Welsh ancestry and bearing the name of Jones. When the Hope Memorial church quartet stood up for their number at the men's meeting in West High auditorium last Sunday afternoon, it was seen that three of the members were of the Welsh Jones clan. Henry and Robert are brothers, but W. Haydn Jones is not a relative of theirs, although reared within hailing distance of them on a Van Wert county farm.

East Hi Tigers Swamp Cowboys Tuesday Night

Bengals Administer Spanking to Locals, 49 to 16; Play At Central Tonight.

West High Cowboy basketeers took a sound whipping at the hands of the fast-stepping league leading quintet from East Tuesday night by a score of 49-16, making an even break for the Wisemen for the week. Last Friday they defeated Aquinas.

The crack East outfit was superior all the way, and finally warmed up in the final stanza to garner 24 points. Working with machine-like precision, the Tigers gradually wore down their smaller opponents, and finished with a scoring orgy which Brickner led, with a half dozen field goals.

For West, Van Scoy counted five points to lead the scorers.

West will again be the underdog tonight when the Central Pirates are met on the riverside hardcourt. The game was originally scheduled for the Cowboy gym, but a change was made Wednesday by West officials due to the evangelistic services being conducted at the school.

Although the Pirates bowed to East, no such superiority was demonstrated by the Tigers as was displayed Tuesday when the Webstermen buried the Cowpunchers under an avalanche of buckets. The game should be hard fought, but the advantage lies entirely with the men of Kesler.

The Cowboys will probably enter the contest with the same line-up as usual, namely Moorman at center, Casey and Boye at the forwards, and Deshler and Burkhalter at guard.

Last Friday night, at Aquinas, West took the Dragons into camp by a 30 to 15 score. Moorman, as usual, played a splendid game, and was the high point getter of the evening with five baskets and a charity throw for 11.

Broad St., last Saturday night for a pig roast and general entertainment. The legionnaires and their guests consumed 120 pounds of roast pig, besides other edibles, and local boys furnished three 3-round boxing bouts after the meal was finished. Their efforts were mimicked by Bob Clarke and Johnny Amicon, who put on a clowning exhibition of boxing as a finale.

The principal speaker of the evening was Post Commander George Ward, whose talk concerned legislation now under consideration for the reduction of veterans' compensation, and also the "Buy American" movement which the Legion is supporting.

Millikin Heads Committee For Bowling Tourney

Entries to Close Feb. 1; Five Booster Teams Sought On Hilltop.

Wyatt L. Millikin, Hilltop councilman, has a new civic task on his hands.

He has been named chairman of the Hilltop division of the Booster Team Committee for the American Bowling Congress to be held at the state fair grounds coliseum, from March 9 to April 10.

This Congress is the largest sports event, in number of contestants, staged in America. It will bring to Columbus a minimum of 7500 bowlers from all over the United States and Canada, and Columbus, the tournament city, must produce 2500 bowlers for the local color in the big show.

Councilman Millikin has been asked to recruit five booster teams from the Hilltop. Such teams may be entered or sponsored by business houses, individuals, civic groups, patriotic organizations or lodges. Each such booster team costs $25.50 to enter and is made up of five bowlers whose total scores average 850 or less.

Booster teams must be entered before midnight Feb. 1.

Many of these teams will be sponsored or financed by business houses or individuals and Chairman Millikin then will see that bowlers are provided. He and other civic leaders of Columbus make up an organization of some 300 who have been scouring the city since last Nov. 1 for these teams and thus far more than 400 of the required 500 teams have filed their entries with checks attached.

"Some Hilltop business houses already are represented in the booster teams in one way or another," Millikin says, "but we'd like to have a few more teams from our section of the city."

Millikin was chosen for Hilltop chairman because of his fancy for bowling as a sport. He has been a bowler "for years and years," he says.

The American Bowling Congress, now in its 33rd year, was brought to Columbus by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, who took up plans laid seven years ago by the late Eddie Gettrost, Columbus bowling alley owner and, at the time of his death three years ago, a member of the executive committee of the Congress. His place on the executive committee was taken by John E. Davies, secretary of the Columbus Bowling association, who also is secretary of the Columbus Tournament Co., the organization that is managing and promoting the advance plans and arrangements for the Congress.

Local Women to Be Heard Over WEAO

Piano duets by Mrs. Helen Kirkpatrick, 584 S. Warren Ave., and Mrs. Lurene Bowser, 35 N. Hague Ave., will be heard over Ohio State's station WEAO tomorrow afternoon at 3:30, during the regular weekly broadcast of the American Legion Auxiliary. These two women have provided the music for the auxiliary broadcasts on numerous occasions in the past.

Mrs. U. A. Conrad of Lancaster, Ohio, who is state child welfare chairman for the Legion Auxiliary, will speak during the half hour program.

Rodeheaver Sees Decline In Religious Feeling Since War

"Ever since the war it has become slowly but increasingly more difficult to conduct evangelistic work. The old fervor isn't there; we can't touch their hearts." This was the regretful statement of Homer Rodeheaver as he stood on the platform of West High auditorium at the close of the Monday night revival meeting.

Every few moments some person, usually an elderly one, would come up to shake his hand and murmur that "I met you when I sang in the Billy Sunday choir." He always remembered them, or at least his manner told them so. And they would leave, happy with a momentary contact with greatness.

"What we need is more hymns like 'The Old Rugged Cross,'" he continued. "That is one song that never fails to lift people out of themselves, and I think the reason for its effect lies in its dramatic disclosure of the very core of Christianity. I was talking to Anton Lang last year after his performance as the Christ in the Passion Play, and showed him that song in my book. 'A wonderful song,' he said. 'It reveals Christianity more vividly in five minutes than our play does in seven weeks.' My personal favorite, however, and the one I most enjoy singing, is 'Jesus Remembers When the World Forgets.'"

As he put his trombone carefully away in the battered case which has carried it for years, one caught sight of labels bearing the names of Penang and Sydney and Calcutta, reminders of a tour of the world made by him in 1923 and 1924.

His first excursion from the mountains in Eastern Tennessee which formed his early background was the result of his ability with band instruments, not because of his voice. When the Spanish-American war was declared, his brother organized the boys of the sawmill district in which they lived into a military band, which sailed to Cuba with the 4th Tennessee regiment. Young Homer was only 16 at the time.

Since then he has spent much of his time in traveling. Before coming to the Hilltop last week, for instance, he concluded an engagement in Harrisburg, Pa., returned to Chicago, filled a concert engagement at Erie on Thursday, again returned to Chicago, and came to Columbus on Sunday.

His home is at Winona Lake, Ind., and he is unmarried.

Service Demands At Library Increasing

Cards were issued to 97 new members at the Hilltop branch library on North Hague avenue, during the month of December, according to the summary report received this week, and the local branch again led the other community branches in the amount of service given, with 7107 calls for books.

It is expected by the librarians in charge that the summary report for the year 1932, due next week, will show a substantial increase in the number of book withdrawals over 1931, despite the fact that the local branch's reduced budget made it necessary to operate on a part-time basis during the latter part of the year.

C. C. Hartley to Direct Minstrel

Director of 1932 Event Is Selected By Committee; Tryouts to Be Announced Next Week.

C. Carlton Hartley, Greenfield, Ohio, and former resident of the Hilltop, will be the director of the fourth annual Hilltop Minstrel show to be presented by the Hilltop Business Men's association on Thursday and Friday, Mar. 9 and 10. It was announced this week by H. G. Deems, general chairman of the event.

Hartley was the director of the show last year which played to record attendances both nights. He is former editor of the Hilltop Record and secretary of the Hilltop Business Men's association. He is at present managing editor of the Greenfield Times.

The manuscript will be written by Hartley and tryouts for the various oleo acts will be held in the near future. Definite dates will be announced next week.

Charles Crues, whose name was omitted from the list of assisting committee chairmen last week, will have charge of costumes and properties.

New Quarters Given West Broad Parents

Special Room Inspected At Monthly Meeting Tuesday.

A room has been provided for the use of P.-T. A. members at West Broad Street school, to be available every Tuesday afternoon for the association's activities.

The first inspection of the room by the members was made at the close of the regular monthly meeting, which was held Tuesday, Jan. 24, at 1:30. The time was changed from the evening to the afternoon because of the revival meetings being held in the evenings at West High.

Admission to the meeting was made dependent upon the donation of an article of food to the school's relief shelf, and the afternoon was spent in repairing clothes turned in for the school's needy children. During the sewing period, Mrs. Belle Griffith, Hilltop visiting teacher, gave a talk on welfare and relief work.

Funeral Services Held For George Hilton

Funeral services for George W. Hilton, aged 73, father of George and Willard Hilton, members of the Columbus police department, who died Saturday night, Jan. 21, in White Cross hospital of an intestinal ailment, were held Monday morning, Jan. 23. Burial was in Green Lawn cemetery.

Mr. Hilton, who lived at 532 S. Wheatland Ave., was a retired car repairer for the Norfolk & Western railway with which he was associated for 24 years.

He also leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary Hilton; three other sons, Fred of Eastbank, W. Va.; Harry of Silver City, Ia., and Casper Hilton of Detroit, Mich., and two daughters, Mrs. Emma Ayers of Columbus and Mrs. Berdie Carr of St. Louis, Mo.

Crash Hurts Two

Possible fracture of the right leg was suffered by Harold Copeland, 28, of 589 Larcomb Ave., Thursday, Jan. 19, when his taxicab collided with another auto at Main street and Ohio avenue. Mrs. Joseph Obert, 527 Cline St., riding in the other auto, was bruised on the head. Copeland was taken to St. Francis hospital.

Fire Captain Ill

Willis Hunt, acting captain of Engine House 17, has been confined to his home, 1286 Cortland St., for the past week, suffering from acute indigestion. Assistant Chief Ogburn has taken over his duties for the present.

Massee Offers Young People Odd Nutriment

Evangelist At West High School Chooses Gastronomic Title for Tonight's Talk.

"Fish, Cucumbers and Garlic" is the unusual subject on which Dr. Massee will address the Hilltop's young people's organizations at West High auditorium tonight, and it seems likely that the hall will again be unable to accomodate all those seeking admission to hear the evangelist and Homer A. Rodeheaver, who has further demonstrated his popularity as a song leader during the past week.

The interest in the meeting has steadily risen during the past week, and each night has seen hundreds turned away because of a scarcity of seats. Efforts are being made to add amplifying equipment to some other part of the building, so that the overflow from the auditorium may be provided with an opportunity to participate in the services.

A mass meeting for men will be held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, the second since the start of the campaign. The topic will be "Your Wife and the Other Woman." Approximately 1200 men attended last Sunday's meeting, at which musical selections were interpreted by quartets from Hoge Memorial Presbyterian and Hilltonia Avenue U. B. churches.

Christian Endeavor groups will again meet at 6:30 in the Westgate Evangelical church on Powell avenue, and the church will be used to seat the overflow from West High auditorium, when the meeting begins at 7:30. Rev. A. J. Fryhoff was the speaker at the overflow meeting last Sunday night, and Mr. Rodeheaver came over from the main meeting to lead the songs while Dr. Massee's sermon was in progress.

The subjects of Dr. Massee's addresses at the coming week's evening services are: "God's Ultimatum: It's Up to You;" Monday, "Is Suicide Ever Right?" Tuesday, "Rainbow Tints On the Tears of Jesus;" Wednesday, "The Antics of the American Anti-Christ;" Thursday, "The Second Coming of Jesus;" and Friday, "What's Wrong With Petting Parties—The Favorite Sport of American Young People."

This afternoon at the Burgess Avenue United Brethren church, the final afternoon meeting of this week will be held. Dr. Massee's topic will be "Five Roads to the House of Happiness."

The afternoon sessions will be held next week at the Hillcrest Baptist church, Broad street and Eldon avenue. Dr. Massee has announced the following sermon topics: Tuesday, "Why Does God Let Us Suffer?" Wednesday, "The Self-Emptying of Jesus;" Thursday, "The Woman of the Larger Liberty;" Friday, "The Christian Woman and Her Bridge Table," a special service for women.

Wishes have been expressed in various quarters that the climax meeting coming on the last Sunday of the revival, might be held in Memorial Hall on East Broad street, so that people from all parts of Columbus might attend and a seat for everyone be found. The Hilltop Ministerial association has taken the matter under advisement and will announce their decision early next week.

Study Groups Meet

The study group for grades 1, 2 and 3 of West Broad Street school, met Jan. 10 in the P.-T. A. room under the leadership of Mrs. Bangh. Their topic was "Physical Development." The next meeting of this group will be Feb. 7 in the same room.

Under the leadership of Mrs. A. G. McGarvey, the study group of grades 4, 5, and 6 met on Jan. 11 to discuss "The Physiology of Adolescence." The next meeting of this group will be on Feb. 14.

Test Postponed

Examination for fire chief, originally scheduled for Wednesday, has been postponed by the civil service commission until Feb. 8, it was announced Monday, because of the illness of Chief Willis B. Hunt.

H. E. C. Club Celebrates 20th Anniversary

Twenty years ago this month the H. E. C. club was formed, and on Monday evening they celebrated their anniversary with a dinner at the Metcalfe, with the members appearing in the dress that was the fashion in 1913. The husbands of the members were guests at the dinner.

The initials in the name originally stood for the Hilltop Embroidery club, but as embroidery grew less popular it gradually lost its place in the club's activities, and a resolution was adopted changing the meaning of the initials to Harmony Encourages Charity. Charitable work has been carried on by the club since its inception, funds accruing from the payment of dues and special activities being generously augmented by the members.

Four charter members, Mrs. Ida S. Fox, Mrs. E. E. Shaffer, Mrs. L. M. Seiller, and Mrs. C. A. Payne, were present at the dinner.

LOW TIDE?

In an interview published in this paper last week, Dr. Massee said that "the spiritual life of the people was never at lower tide than it is today." His ministry has been a long one and his travels extensive, but the size of the crowds waiting to hear him in West High auditorium every night seems to offer a strong argument against his statement. If Dr. Massee were a sensationalist the attendance might be ascribed to a desire to revel in a facile emotionalism, but his appeal is to the intellect rather than the emotions. We cannot help feeling that the desire for a firm basis on which to build an ethical life is felt as imperatively today as ever, when a story that is nearly two thousand years old is told to a capacity audience and the latest screen offerings play to scant houses.

Through Woods and Fields

With JOHN N. WOLFE

WINTER LIFE

From outward appearances, life in the wood and field is dead. The natural world is at its lowest ebb. Yet, watchful eyes might well observe some interesting things. Life is not dead, and the winter season is often quite interesting. The bazelder, for instance, manufactures food through the winter months by means of Chlorophyll in the thin bark of the young twigs. Then, in the summer, it grows often in dense shade, for the food it manufactured in winter days is sufficient to sustain it through months when other vegetation offers much in competition.

Ferns and mosses and liverworts grow abundantly in moist places, and are the most conspicuous of our winter plants. Bird life, though not so spectacular as the spring migrations, is abundant and active.

Winter Bird Census

Every year, between Dec. 21 and Dec. 27, a bird census is taken in the vicinity of Columbus. Other localities, the country over, are canvassed by ornithologists who seek, not only to determine the number of species present, but also the number of individuals. This has been going on in Ohio for over 30 years, and the results are published in "Bird Lore." A perusal of the records reveal much interesting information.

For Columbus and vicinity, more than 90 species are observed every year by members of the Wheaton club, which conducts the census. This year the count was made on the Monday following Christmas and it was the writer's privilege to be teamed with Floyd B. Chapman of the Ohio State university. The territory covered included the vicinity of Alum and Black Walnut creeks and woods and fields east of Columbus.

Starting at 6 o'clock in the morning, an accurate check was kept of every bird seen or identified. At the close of the trip, at 6 in the evening, 39 species had been observed; and 584 individuals. Others, in other localities, reported approximately the same number, but lists contained different species in many cases.

The Tree Sparrow, several flocks of which were seen, headed the list, 112 being recorded. The Horned Lark, also gathering in flocks, came next in number with 80. One especially fine flock of 32 was watched while feeding in an old pasture for several minutes, from a distance of less than 20 feet. Early in the morning, three screech owls were heard, identified by their peculiar cry. Another interesting observation was a flock of a dozen goldfinches, and also, as many Bluebirds. Song Sparrows, Titmice, Chickadees, Cardinals, Downy Woodpeckers, Red-bellied Woodpeckers, Juncos and Quail were among the usual winter residents to be observed.

Among the other winter residents, not quite so common, were: Brown Creepers, Red-breasted Nuthatch, White-breasted Nuthatch, Hairy Woodpeckers, Golden-crowned Kinglet, Cedar Waxwing, and the Red-tailed Hawk.

It might be of interest to note the total results of the entire census, as recorded in the field observations for the census this year. The lowest number of species ever recorded was noted this year. But the third highest number of individuals ever seen presented an interesting paradox. The totals for all parties were:

Black Duck, one; Cooper's Hawk, one; Red-tailed Hawk, three; Red-Shouldered Hawk, one; Rough-legged Hawk, three; Marsh Hawk, seven; Sparrow Hawk, 52; Bobwhite, 66 (seven coveys); Ring-necked Pheasant, seven; Herring Gull, two; Mourning Dove, 123; Barn Owl, two; Screech Owl, 15; Barred Owl, two; Belted Kingfisher, five; Flicker, 37; Red-bellied Woodpecker, nine.

Red-headed Woodpecker, three; Hairy Woodpecker, nine; Downy Woodpecker, 121; Horned Lark, 194 (all definitely identified proved to be a dispersive); Bluejay, 58; Crow, 525; Carolina Chickadee, 150.

Tufted Titmouse, 307; White-breasted Nuthatch, 129; Red-breasted Nuthatch, one; Brown Creeper, 60; Winter Wren, 10; Carolina Wren, 46; Robin, 98; Bluebird, 73; Golden-crowned Kinglet, 37; Cedar Waxwing, 11; Migrant Shrike, one; Starling, 951; Meadowlark, seven; Bronzed Grackle, two; Cowbird, one; Cardinal, 256; Goldfinch, 58; Junco, 307; Tree Sparrow, 763; Song Sparrow, 398; Lapland Longspur, one; total, 45 species, 4994 individuals.

Student Awards To be Presented

Citizenship Contest Winners to Be Announced At West Jr. Assembly Wednesday.

Wednesday morning, Feb. 1, at an assembly of West Junior High school students, two awards will be made to students who have been named winners in the Citizenship contest, sponsored by the Benjamin Franklin Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution. One boy and one girl will be named from the following students from the 8A class: Edith Silvateen, Marilyn Lisle, Roberta Frye, Marie Folke, Edith Rinehart, Jack Bowlson, Charles Bowers, Carl Eckard, Robert Fosnaugh, and Rylan Hilliard.

Allen Named Head Of West Side Association

A new West Side organization, known as the Hilltop Junior Athletic association, was formed last week and will hold forth in a basket-ball way each Saturday afternoon at the Glenwood shelter house.

The league is comprised of boys from 12 to 16 years of age. At a meeting last week, Noble Allen was elected president; Charles Page, secretary; and Frank Constans, treasurer. The entry fee is $1.00 per team.

Boy Skater Injured

A possible fracture of the right knee and various abrasions on other parts of his body were sustained by James Zenelli, 14, of Rome, when he skated into a truck at West Broad and Chase avenue, Tuesday night. He was taken to the St. Cornad hospital.

Numerals will be awarded to several girl students who have fulfilled physical education requirements in intramurals, which includes after school classes. After numerals are won, the next step is bars, after which a letter is awarded. No letters have ever been won, but Miss Ellen Van Dyke, physical education instructor, announced that two would be awarded Wednesday. Five semesters of work are necessary to win this honor.

The West Junior Torch club, younger brother organization of the Hi-Y, will also receive recognition for winning the city basket-ball championship.

Efforts are also being made to have Dr. J. C. Massee and Homer Rodeheaver present at the assembly.

Linen Made From Flax Plant

Linen is made from the flax plant, either from the line fibers, which are long, shiny and cylindric, or from the tow fibers, which are short, rough and easily broken. In selecting linen by the yard, one may ravel out a bit and note the length, smoothness and texture of the threads. For pieces that are already made up, one must depend on the reliability of the stamping and the reputation of the firm.

There are three main weaves: single damask, double damask and homespun. Single damask is made by each filling thread skipping four warp threads and going under the fifth. Double damask is made by each filling thread skipping seven warp threads and going under the eighth. Double damask is the stronger and has a finer and smooth-appearance and a greater luster. Homespun weave is an alternate over and under weave.—Virginia.

Troop 45 Has Eventful History In Nine Years of Organization

Out at West Junior High school there is a Boy Scout troop of rare quality and distinction. For nine consecutive years, this troop has been one of the outstanding troops of the local area, and is now approaching its 10th year under the leadership of A. W. Elliott, scoutmaster and founder.

The troop was first formed from a nucleus of 16 selected boys in Feb., 1924, at the old Highland Avenue school by Elliott, who was then doing organization work in the local council. Gradually it developed into one of the most progressive troops of the area.

For two consecutive years, the last two of scout show competition, troop 45 won top honors, and in the final year, amassed more points than had ever before been scored at a scout show. That was in 1929—and the Hilltop boys won every event in the show, with the single exception of Wall scaling, when a fatal slip by one member of the team gave them second position.

During this regime, such Hilltop boys as Ralph (Fat) Harper, and James O. Matheny, copped barrel tilting honors for four straight years. "Fat" is now a cadet at West Point and Matheny is associated with the Carrol-Thompson automobile agency as a salesman.

Fire by friction, a thrilling challenge to all American boys, was first won by Gerald (Red) Tallman, and then by Cyril (Syd) Foster. The latter now holds the city record for firemaking, at less than a dozen seconds.

Bob Wolfe and Fat Harper, Bob Miles and Bill Elliott, and Ray Gaib and Red Rainier composed signalling teams that were unbeaten in three years of competition. Charles Holloway broke the city record in the clothes race. Wallscaling was worked into a classic by Bob Wolfe, Bill Craft (now deceased), Charles Thurstan, Red Tallman, James Matheny, Cyril Foster, Ralph Harper, and Jack Miles, the group perfecting a system whereby each boy went over a 10-foot wall unassisted. This team, too, broke a city record.

These were the boys that learned scouting from the ground up. In their annual winter camps, they braved the below zero weather of Hocking hills. Their scouting was out-of-door scouting, and day by day they mastered the art of skillful scouting in all its phases.

But the old days are gone. The present scout is challenged only by the job of working for scout tests, doing civic duty, camping under rigid sanitary conditions, competing for ribbons, President's awards, and concentrating his efforts to keep his troop up to a high standard of membership.

Troop 45 has always performed under a program of rugged scouting. A cabin is maintained in the hills of Fairfield county and a school bus is utilized for transportation purposes. A great portion of the work is done out-of-doors.

After the troop moved to West High the membership jumped from 24 to 58, developed leadership and added facilities making this possible.

Among Hilltop men assisting in the development of the troop are: E. H. Matheny, J. W. Miles, Frank Allen, Cecil J. Randall, George Cooper, Charles Contillier, Jerry W. Spears, V. E. Wolfe, Messerschmidt, Ralph Ranier and Jones.

Assistant scoutmasters have been developed from scouts of the troop. They are: John Smith, George Heitz, and Herbert Williams, teachers; and John Wolfe, James Matheny, Charles Thurstan, Howard Munro, Ray Gaib and Gerald Tallman.

Heart Attack Fatal

Richard S. McGovern, aged 71, died Monday morning, at the residence, 2955 Sullivant Ave., of a heart attack. He was a retired car inspector for the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., and a member of the Veteran Employes' association of the Pennsylvania railroad. He had resided in Columbus 40 years.

Four sons, Martin, Joseph, John and Thomas McGovern survive. Services were held at the home, Thursday, Jan. 26, with burial in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

points. Duffy, for Aquinas, counted six points.

West led at the end of the first quarter, 6 to 2; at half time, 16 to 5; and at the end of the third quarter, 21 to 10.

In a preliminary battle, West Reserves took the measure of the Dragon second stringers by a score of 24 to 9. Both games were exceedingly rough, 34 personal fouls being called in the major fracas, which were divided evenly between the competing teams. Moorman and Casey went out via this route in the fourth stanza.

The game tonight will start at 8:15, preceded by a preliminary tilt an hour earlier.

Slight Difference Between Coke and Coal for Heating

In heating value, there appears to be little difference between coke and various kinds of coal, the figure given for coke being 14,400 to 14,000 B. T. U. per pound, while for coal it is a little higher. Of course, a good deal depends on how completely burned the fuel is, how much of the heat is lost, etc. Our coke is now made chiefly in by-products ovens, the production for 1930 being 45,515,000 tons from by-product ovens and 2,790,000 tons from beehive ovens. Most of the coke is produced in coke plants in the coal regions of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, etc. Bureau of census figures for a recent year show only 3,444,000 tons produced for sale in the manufactured gas industry (by firms making this their principal business). It is estimated that one ton of Pittsburgh coal produces 1,500 pounds of coke, 11,300 cubic feet of gas, 12.4 gallons of tar, 25 pounds of ammonium sulphate and four gallons of light oil (benzenes). All of these products, including the gas, are sold to consumers or to manufacturers of other products.

When One Is Near Drowning

When Shakespeare has the duke of Clarence in "Richard III" relate a dream of how he thought he was drowned and past events came to his mind, he and other writers started the fanciful error that drowning persons always recall their past sins. Modern physicians and the testimony of those who have narrowly escaped drowning apparently disprove it.

Soldering an Ancient Art

Telephone practices carried on hundreds of times daily in metropolitan cities were used during the Eleventh century—800 years before the invention of the telephone. Soldering wire joints to insure good contact was one of the first practices of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, and his assistant, Thomas A. Watson, in the manufacture of the first telephone instrument in 1876.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Lena Cook, 61, widow of Mansel Cook, died Friday night at her home, 757 Highland Ave., after an illness of a year. She was a member of the M. E. church and came to Columbus 15 years ago from Athens. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Hazel Putnam of the Highland avenue address and Mrs. Mildred Evans of 1075 S. Park St.; three sisters, Mrs. J. C. Clem and Mrs. Libbie Noland of Columbus, and Mrs. Davis of Athens, and three grandchildren. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning.

Board Makes Plans

Mrs. P. E. Sutton, president of West Broad P.T. A., called a special board meeting at the school on Tuesday, Jan. 17, to discuss new plans for welfare and other school activities for the coming months. There were 17 members of the board present.

She's left us, she's gone away;
She's left us, she went alone,
She's left us, He called her home.
She's happy now, I know she is;
She was ours, but now she's His.
He's good to her, she won't forget us,
I know she won't, will you?

Geological Sketch of Venezuela

Venezuela has an area of 399,000 square miles. It comprises roughly the basin of the Orinoco and the district surrounding the Gulf of Maracaibo. Coffee and cacao are largely grown and exported and wheat and other cereals thrive. The mountains are heavily wooded and many useful trees and plants are found. The mines produce gold, silver, copper and lead. The various asphalt lakes yields the best quality of asphalt; along the coast many pearls are obtained. Total railway mileage is about 700 miles. The waterways of Venezuela form important means of communication and transportation, there being no fewer than 70 navigable rivers in the country. Caracas is the capital.

The LOOKOUT

UP AND DOWN BROAD ST.

Irene McKinley suggests the word "pleasant." . . . R. M. Lurz's black mustache. . . . Wonder why they call Bob Wolfe "Brosie?" . . . O. H. Cruft and Son, a great red sign on the front window. . . . Donald F. Smith, coatless and hatless. . . . Two great jokesters—Arthur Miller and George Heltz. . . . Two-word description of Jack Shank: confident, nonchalant. . . . Ray Haunts and his bulldog, Kelly. . . . "Chet" Henery, they say, resembles Buck Jones. . . . Irv Friend, who spent so much for sinus trouble, then was told by a good doctor that he was afflicted with a broken nose. . . . That sign "Strickley" fresh eggs. . . . Mrs. Currier, librarian, always on time. . . . Peddler, selling hair pins. . . . Gosnell Layman, and his young son, John. . . . William E. . . . What has become of Fred Allen, the shine boy at Rudd's. Decker? . . . Rainy winter days in the city suggest the word "ugly." . . . George Matson, who has written many stories, which he never tried to publish. . . . Del Howard, whom they call "the captain." . . . Thought for today, from somewhere: There are two reasons why people don't mind their own business. One is that they haven't any business and the other, that they haven't any mind.

SWEETHEARTS AND WIVES

Long ago, a local mechanic met his wife-to-be in the workshop where he was employed. He didn't know, when he met her, of course, that Cupid had just begun to tie another knot. Anyway, as they tell it to us, this young mechanic was splashed from head to foot with grease when he was introduced to the potential girl of his dreams. The introduction was casual . . . but a fortnight later, he called the lady for a "date."

The evening faded into night, and he called at her home. She opened the door. Standing there was a man . . . she had never seen him before, and as he stepped upon the sill to enter, she almost shut the door in his face. Then, from the inside came a familiar "Hiya, Skinny!" It was from the garage mechanic's employer, who chanced to recognize him in garments other than the conventional overalls of a machine worker.

How great the faith of women who accept their men, sight unseen, or camouflaged under a coat of grease.

QUITE SPECIFIC

A well-known Hilltop woman, desiring to purchase a coat, went to the store displaying the styles she wanted. The clerk, before showing the merchandise, asked concerning the price she wanted to pay—and got this answer: "Well, I've a champagne appetite and a beer pocketbook!" So, the clerk obliged and fetched forth coats to match the circumstances for this Hilltop minister's wife.

LOSING THEIR SHIRTS

Dick Chan, Broad street laundryman (no relation to Charlie), gave us the strictly inside dope on the Chinese situation this week. Japan hasn't a chance of holding any territory they may acquire, he whispers, because of the heartiness with which the Chinese clamp a boycott on their island neighbors. His relatives in southern China write that the present one is practically airtight, and Japan has lost the market to which they ordinarily ship 80 per cent of their manufactures. That's why Japan is in such a hurry to bring the squabble to a successful close, he says.

SKYSCRAPERS

The young Columbus waiter who designed a super-skyscraper in his spare time, and sees its 150 stories as a development of the near future, has evidently not kept in touch with architects' pronouncements in the past few years. They say that the inevitable decentralization of population in the future will render high buildings unnecessary and useless. New York's towers seldom earn more than two per cent even in normal times. The idea seems to be that it's cheaper to move horizontally than to go up and down.

Congress seems to be toying with the idea that what this country needs is a good five-cent dollar.

Chorus Concert to Feature Show In Annual Revue

Champion Business Men's Group to Give 20-Minute Program in Hilltop Minstrel.

The champion Hilltop Business Men's Chorus, winners of the Jackson Elsteddfod, will present a 20-minute concert as the feature of the fourth annual Hilltop Minstrel Revue, it was announced this week by H. G. Deems, general chairman.

Announcement was also made concerning the interlocutor, who will be Floyd Green, serving his second consecutive year in that capacity. The remainder of the cast will be announced next week.

Thursday and Friday, March 9 and 10, have been definitely set as the dates of presentation. Admission charges will be 35 cents, and no reserved seats will be sold.

Tryouts for the various olio acts will be held on Friday, Feb. 17. Hilltop talent desiring to try out for the show should register not later than Feb. 15 at the Hilltop Record office, 14 S. Oakley Ave.; Campbell's Pharmacy, 2766 W. Broad St., or Benta' Grocery, 2006 Sullivant Ave.

Parents Invited to Troop Contest

Boys of West Junior High and Hoge Memorial Church to Tangle Tuesday Evening.

When Boy Scouts of Troops 172 and 45 meet in a dual contest in the West High gymnasium Tuesday evening, Feb. 7, parents of the competing boys will be guests of honor. Friends of the two troops have also been invited. There will be no admission charge.

Seven events, including a surprise contest, is on the program and the two troops have been drilling for the past three weeks in preparation for the meet. The events include: barrel tilting, fire by friction, fire by flint and steel, a complex relay race, volley ball, scrimmage ball and the surprise event.

It is planned by officials of the two troops that this show will materialize into an annual event. A little gray jug, a piece of pottery almost a century old, will be awarded the winning troop, to be held until defeated.

The judges for the contest have been announced by officials of both troops. They are: H. H. Reighley, principal of West Junior High school; Ray Hauntz, of Haunts' Grocery; V. E. Wolfe, 205 N. Warren Ave., and James O. Matheny, 179 N. Warren Ave.

7255 Showers In Semester Scours Dirt From Bodies

If cleanliness rates second only to godliness, then the boys of West Junior High school may be regarded as completely righteous altogether, for the dirt and grime of boyhood activity has found no lodging place on their lithe bodies.

Under the supervision of Gosnell Layman, physical education instructor, students in his classes have taken more than 7000 showers since September—7255 to be precise. This is more than all other schools in the city together can show.

Layman averaged 500 boys per week, and says that the figures are "actual count and no 'baloney.'" Five per cent credit is given for each shower taken.

Layman says that the 7B's participate almost 100 per cent. The 7A's begin to drop off, and that the 8A's are very slack. But the 9A's, contemplating graduation, begin to spruce up again.

Mothers are the greatest obstacle to a greater achievement in this line. They refuse to let their boys get wet, for fear of catching cold, never once considering that perspiration is also wet, like water, and likely to do far more damage to the boy's health than swimming on a bright winter's day in some lake or stream.

Local Bowlers In Pin Classic

Hilltop to Be Represented By Two Teams in Tourney at Coliseum.

The Hilltop will be represented in the American Bowling Congress, the largest sports event, in number of contestants staged in America. The international alley classic will be rolled in the State Fair Grounds Coliseum from March 9 to April 10.

When the booster team entries for the congress were checked over before being submitted to the A. B. C. executive committee this week, two teams were listed from the Hilltop. They are to be known as Selbach's Hilltoppers No. 1 and Selbach's Hilltoppers No. 2.

In addition to these, there will probably be a score or more Hilltop bowlers bowling on the 28 alleys that will be erected in the coliseum for the tournament, but these will be in regular teams and they will be competing for a share of the $75,000 in cash prizes that will be distributed during the 31 days the classic is in progress.

The advance ticket sale for the event now is under way and some Hilltoppers will have a part in that task. Season tickets, good for any morning, afternoon or evening performance of the tournament and eight-ticket books, good for eight admissions to one performance or one admission to eight performances, will be on sale at Hilltop bowling alleys. General admission tickets will be on sale at the coliseum only, starting the night the tournament opens, March 9.

Cowboys Open Second Round Against South

Return Game With Bulldogs to Be Played On Southsiders' Court; Bossmen Favored.

West High cagers will open the second round of scholastic competition tonight when the South High Bulldogs are met on their home court in what will be the fifth consecutive engagement for the locals on a foreign hardwood.

It will be remembered that the Cowboys took a thriller from the Bulldogs in their first encounter when Burkhalter sank a last second fielder, and the Hilltoppers will be out to repeat the performance, although advance indications point to another trimming.

Coach Wise announced this week that Hoffman, former Starling Junior High star, will be in the opening lineup. This lad is a six-footer, well versed in the art of point getting, and should prove himself a worthy addition to the diminutive Cowboy quintet.

The Wisemen took two jolts on the chin over last week-end, when Central went on a spree to gain a 42 to 17 decision, and when St. Mary's of Lancaster continued their winning ways with a close 17 to 15 victory over the Cowboys.

Dunn and Adams led the Pirate attack, accounting for 29 points between them. For West, Moorman and Casey were outstanding, the latter along with Thornton, counting five points to lead the losers in scoring.

Saturday night, at Lancaster, West met another Tartar, the Saints taking the lead in the initial frame and leading throughout, although pressed hard by West. Burkhalter and Thornton tallied a quartet of markers for West, while Sheridan, running guard for the home team, scored five points.

Veteran Passes

John Huff, aged 92, a civil war veteran, died Tuesday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Hector, 357 S. Roys Ave. He had been an invalid since his discharge from activity in the army.

He was a member of Company L, O. V. C., and held membership in the J. C. McCoy Post of the G. A. R. He had no near relative and for 40 years he made his home with Mrs. Eliza Smith, on South Ogden avenue. He moved to the Hector home less than a year ago, when Mrs. Smith died.

Funeral services were held Thursday at the Burgess Avenue U. B. church. Burial was in Green Lawn cemetery.

Hot Time

Planned By Burglars, Who Swipe Ritz's Coal.

When burglars set out to do a night's work last Tuesday evening, Jan. 31, they might have planned to have a hot time in the old town. Whatever their intent, however, it can be pretty accurately deduced that there was planned a big fire to really burn things up.

According to reports of police Wednesday, more than one-half a ton of coal was stolen from the basement of the Ritz Theatre, 2524 Sullivant Ave. And there was a hot time somewhere—but not at the Ritz.

Wins Pennant

West Junior High School Torch club is now displaying a huge pennant, presented last week for winning the Christmas vacation basket-ball tourney held at the Central Y. M. C. A. The club is now competing with other junior high schools in a cage league, games being played on Saturday evenings.

Scientist Seeks Relationship Between Ohio Moundbuilders And Aztec Indians of Mexico

Prof. H. C. Shetrone, Director and Archaeologist at Ohio State Museum, Departs Today On Scientific Quest.

Dr. H. C. Shetrone, director of the Ohio State Museum, who resides at 75 N. Chase Ave., left Columbus Friday morning for Miami, Fla., from whence he will sail for Vera Cruz, Mexico. From Vera Cruz he will proceed by rail to Mexico City, which will be his headquarters for a two-weeks' survey of the Aztec and Toltecs ruins of the Mexican plateau.

The purpose of the trip is to make studies and comparisons of the prehistoric remains of Mexican peoples with the idea of determining the degree of relationship between the pre-Columbian Mexicans and the builders of the ancient Ohio Mounds, earthworks and fortifications. Archaeologists are agreed that a definite relationship exists between these widely separated aboriginal peoples, but its exact extent has never been determined.

The Ohio State Museum and its archaeologists have conducted explorations of the Ohio tumuli for more than 30 years, and the institution is regarded in scientific circles as best fitted to make the comparison between the peoples of the two areas. The finest and most extensive collections of the Ohio Mound Builders are in the Ohio institution, while the National Museum of Mexico holds a similar position as regards the ancient Aztec civilization. Thus the problem of relationship will be considered by the authorities best equipped for the task—Director Shetrone, representing Ohio and the officials of the National Museum, Mexico City, representing the Aztec side of the matter.

Director Shetrone's party, which includes several individuals of other institutions interested in Mexican archaeology, will return to Miami about Feb. 20, arriving back in Columbus two days later.

Prof. Shetrone is the author of several publications dealing with archaeological subjects, chief of which is his volume, "The Moundbuilders," regarded as authoritative on the subject. It was given special mention by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Prof. Shetrone has headed numerous expeditions and explorations of mounds in Ohio, which is regarded as the center of Moundbuilder civilization. Under his supervision, hundreds of collections have been placed in the Ohio Museum. A great portion of his work has been with the larger mounds in the southern portion of the state, near Bainbridge and Chillicothe.

Linke Made DeMolay Alumni's First Head

Norman C. Linke, 55 N. Huron Ave., was elected president of the Ohio DeMolay Alumni during their first conference held at the Neil House last week-end. The alumni association is composed of DeMolay members who have reached their majority.

Mr. Linke is a past master councilor of the Columbus chapter of DeMolay, a Legionnaire of Honor, and a past president of Capital City chapter in the alumni association.

Memorial Hall Chosen For Climax Meetings

Hillcrest Blues Lead Cage Race

Takes Lead in Church Circuit By Defeating Avondale Tuesday in Close Battle, 28 to 25.

But a solitary team came through the fourth round of the West Senior Church Basket-ball league Tuesday night, Jan. 31, with an unblemished record. Hillcrest Blues have sustained no losses in three starts, giving Avondale U. B. its initial setback Tuesday, by a 28 to 25 score.

Glenwood M. E. kept on the heels of the leader by taking the measure of Hillcrest Reds after trailing nine to eight at half time. Tied with Avondale and Glenwood in second position, is Hoge Memorial, which quintet gave Warren Avenue a neat walloping to the tune of 24 to 8.

Close behind, with but a single defeat in three starts, comes Calvary Presbyterian, scoring its second victory Tuesday, at the hands of a hapless Briggsdale outfit. The score was 24 to 9.

West Park M. E. tried vainly to break into the win column but finally succumbed to Gift Street M. H., 19 to 15.

Miller of Glenwood leads the scorers in the loop with 13 fielders and a trio of fouls for 29 points, followed by Leach, of Hoge, with 25.

Aquatic Team Is Ready for Meet

West Swimmers to Contest Y. Intermediates Monday in Opening Conflict.

West High's 1933 swimming team will get into action Monday evening, barring a mix-up in schedules, when it meets the intermediate division of the Central Y. M. C. A. at the downtown pool. Two other contests with Holy Rosary and the Columbus Academy have been arranged for, but definite dates have not been decided upon. The meets will be held in the near future, however.

Meanwhile preparations continue for the annual city meet to be held on Feb. 18. Among the candidates from whom the team will finally be selected, for Monday's meet and contests to come, are: Michael, E. Grubbs, Barnett, Stevens, Lathum, Lorenz, Curran, Parker and McQueen. According to Coach Buchanan, prospects for racing high are fair, although North is again favored to cop the hunting. West came in a poor second last year, but with a stronger team, is expected to force the winners to the tape.

Wrestling, which is also in charge of Buchanan, will begin Monday at the Cowboy institution. Candidates will report at the gymnasium.

Burgess U. B. Starts Revival On Sunday

Rev. A. W. Clutch and Rev. D. S. Mills in Charge.

Revival meetings will begin at the Burgess Avenue United Brethren church Sunday, Feb. 5, according to announcements made this week. They will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. A. W. Clutch, who will be assisted by Rev. D. S. Mills, pastor of the Avondale U. B. church, who will have charge of the music and the personal work. The following program has been announced for the week:

Sunday morning, first service, "Divine Heartburn." Sunday afternoon and evening, united in union evangelistic services at Memorial hall. Topics for the week include: Monday evening, "The Supreme Question;" Tuesday evening, "A Supreme Question Supremely Answered;" Wednesday evening, "A Closed Door and a Waiting Savior;" Thursday evening, "Looking for a Man;" Friday evening, "Recipe for Making a Christian."

Hilltop people are cordially invited to attend these services.

On Vaudeville Tour

Miss Ivadelle Yeager, 129 N. Haldy Ave., left Wednesday on a vaudeville tour of the southern states, opening at Bluefield, W. Va. She plays the piano and will be associated with Kenneth Harlan and Freddie Dale who played at the Hartman last week.

Final Services On Hilltop Tonight; School Auditorium Found Too Small.

When Dr. J. C. Massee speaks to the Hilltop's young people tonight on "What's Wrong With Petting Parties," he will be giving his final address in West High auditorium. The Sunday meetings, which will bring to a climax the three-weeks' evangelistic campaign sponsored by a union of Hilltop churches, will be held at Memorial hall, on East Broad street between Fifth and Sixth streets.

The fact that the school auditorium has been too small to accomodate the numbers seeking admission was given as the principal reason for the move. Although the auditorium seats 1500, and is the largest on the Hilltop, it is estimated that the audiences would have been larger by one-third if the seating facilities had been adequate. Memorial Hall seats over 4500.

Afternoon Meetings

Nearly a thousand people have attended each of the afternoon Bible meetings led by Dr. Massee and Homer Rodebeaver in Hillcrest Baptist church this week. In the meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Dr. Massee will bring the series to a close by speaking on "The Christian Woman and Her Bridge Table."

Efforts to install amplification equipment in some other part of West High were abandoned because of technical difficulties encountered.

"We also hope," said Dr. Massee, "that our meetings this Sunday will furnish impetus to other evangelistic campaigns in Columbus and central Ohio. We shall demonstrate not only to the Hilltop, but to Columbus, that there is still a great need for the evangelistic gospel."

For the afternoon service at 2:30 on Sunday Dr. Massee has chosen the subject of "Where Are the Dead Now?" and for the evening service at 7:30 he has taken "Hitch-Hiking on the Road to Heaven."

Automobile-owners planning to attend either of the meetings have been asked to register their names with their pastors this week, and on Sunday those without transportation to the meetings may secure a ride by going to the church nearest their residence.

Officer Gillilan Well Known Local Cop, Back On Beat

Officer Gillilan, who has been conspicuous by his absence from his beat for the past few months, because of an extended illness, is back on the job. And he is too "big" a man, he learned during his absence, to keep all his energies tied up within himself under blankets, sheets and bedclothes.

It was difficult to keep him abed, and when, with the protests of his doctor ringing in his ears, he sought to work again, they placed him on duty watching the gas pipe at the new state office building. This was the last straw.

"So," says the jolly officer, "I goes to the sergeant with tears in me eyes, and pleads with him for my old beat on the Hilltop." The sergeant was lenient so Gillilan is back on the job. His beat extends from Highland avenue to Powell avenue on West Broad street.

Announcement was made this week of the change of ownership at Drake's Grocery, 3060 W. Broad St. The new store, to be operated by Frank Kent, 257 S. Roys Ave., and Paul G. Kent, 156 S. Guernsey Ave., will be known as the Kent Food Market.

New Books At Hilltop Library

Contributions of Used Books From Local Residents Requested by Librarians.

Fourteen new books were received at the Hilltop branch library this week. All are by popular novelists. The list follows: "Beauty," Baldwin; "Slow Joe," Brand; "Young Jonathan," Cleugh; "Silver Bride," Dell; "Robbers Roost," Grey; "Arizona Ames," Grey; "Flowering Wilderness," Galsworthy; "Robin Hill," Lorrimore; "Half Angel," Lee; "Happiness Hill," Lutz; "Head Tide," Lincoln; "Bachelor's Beauty," Richmond; "Ma Cinderella," Wright; "Flying Carpet," Halliburton.

According to librarian Frances O'Brien, these are the first new books to be received at the branch for some time, depleted funds making it necessary to call for used books from private persons on the Hilltop. Anyone having books that are not in use, either fiction or non-fiction, is asked to bring them to the library.

The city division of charity asked Capt. E. T. Grove where the excess would find a worthy user, and he suggested calling the Highland Avenue school.

HEART ATTACK NOT FATAL
A man past middle age, with a bad heart, called the family doctor in one of these heart attacks. The doctor only gave him three days to live. His wife became alarmed and called an Osteopath to treat him. He recovered his health under this treatment and had many years of active life. Consult an Osteopath for your trouble. Dr. R. D Woodmansee, Osteopath, 2081 Summit St.

Women Jurors Don't Sleep
"Then, too, I have never seen a woman juror asleep in the jury box," commented Judge Carl Weygandt of Cleveland in an article in the "Ohio Woman Voter," commenting on the desirability of women jurors. "The average woman is sound in her viewpoint and regards her responsibilities as a juror more seriously than does the average man; they are keen in judging the credibility of witnesses and quick to detect fraud; and mixed juries are more likely to return verdicts consistent with the law and the evidence in the case," said Judge Weygandt. "I have never heard a lawyer or a judge express himself as opposed to having women serve on our juries," he concluded.

Today

Dedicated to the Hilltop Church Revival

Faint heart! Why fear tomorrow?
It's always one night away;
Tread not into future sorrow—
Today—to friends—today!

Of written past, its pages seal,
Though it be sad or gay.
The present is all that's real;
Today—we live—today.

For now, in the accepted time;
God's will we must obey.
Fulfill the mission that is thine,
Today—we work—today!

And when our task on earth is done,
Our Lord thy God will say:
"Unto my Kingdom thou shalt come,
Today—and rest—today!"

—Allovette Zellner.

Depression Brings Many New Rackets

Over 10,000 inquiries and complaints were handled by the Columbus Better Business Bureau during the year 1932, it was announced today in the annual report of that organization.

Harry Van Horn, general manager of the organization, stated that the bureau has made no charge to any member of the public for services, but that the bureau is financed by interested and reputable Columbus business firms.

Van Horn said today that the depression has brought scores of new rackets into the city. Merchants and householders were urged to consult the bureau before doing business with unknown persons or firms.

As a special service to smaller merchants of the city, the bureau has arranged to make its reports available and 65 of the city's smaller merchants in outlying districts, in addition to the regular bureau membership, are now receiving these reports.

SCOUT MEETING CLOSES

Scout meeting is over. Red-blooded, energetic boys have filled two hours with an interest not duplicated in many of their regular activities. Games have been played where skill, teamwork, headwork, self-control, and excess energy have been used. Plans have been made and studied. Decisions have been thought out. Tests worked on during the week have been presented for criticism, and helpful suggestions have been made for future correction.

Announcements concerning future activities, civic duty, good turns, hikes, camp trips. Meetings in small patrol groups, supervised by patrol leaders—boys working out their own problems.

The senior patrol leader takes charge. Scouts stand, hands clasped and heads bowed. Everything is quiet. The lights go out. Where shouts and the noise of boyhood labors prevailed, is silence. A million thoughts race through young, plastic brains. A spirit of worship is felt—the presence of a mighty spirit, an unseen, impelling force. In the distance a bugle sounds. Mellow tones float back to the meeting room. Taps. On the last note, the boys speak in unison: "And now, may the Great Scoutmaster of all good scouts, be with us till we meet again." The meeting is over.

Materials are collected, last minute questions asked, adjustments made. A cheery good night. Small groups make their homeward journeys. Your son, your neighbor's son—is growing into the man he will be tomorrow."

COASTERS

Winter came in all its icy fury this week, and with it the dangers of coasting in streets. It is unfortunate that coasting facilities cannot be provided for the younger generation, especially so in this climate, where the opportunities for sleigh rides are few and far between.

Nevertheless, those who will hang on machines, and those who persist in coasting down side drives into the streets, will eventually pay a heavy penalty. Traffic conditions are especially difficult on icy pavements, and even at a slow rate, the motorist is often unable to stop his car in time to keep from striking a coaster who suddenly bobs up in front of him.

Parents might do well to caution their children concerning the dangers involved. It might be too late tomorrow..

UNDERPRODUCTION

Youngsters can open up the parental purse-strings when nothing else will. The fastest selling articles on the Hilltop in the last two weeks have been roller skates and jig-saw puzzles. Dealers can't get enough of the latter to supply the demand, and orders are being placed in advance

Elect Officers

Kenneth Heller has been elected president of the Torch club at West Junior High school. Myron Webb is vice president; Richard Giehl, secretary; and Martin Culp, treasurer. Mr Painter is the club's advisor.

School System to Be Discussed At West Tonight

L. L. Rummell, Secretary of Ohio School Survey Commission, to Speak.

A meeting for parents and friends of education will be held tonight in the West High school auditorium, it was announced by H. H. Reighley this week, for the purpose of acquainting those interested with the school program recommended by the governor's commission. The proposed system is now before the legislature.

The general theme of the assembly will be "Education and Tax Rate," and L. L. Rummell, secretary of the Ohio School Survey Commission, will be the principal speaker.

J. G. Spears will preside at the meeting, which is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock. Community sing, under the leadership of Mrs. H. D. Metcalf, director of Mothersingers of Franklin County P.-T. A., and other special music.

Efforts are being made to get many to attend this program, which will attempt to prove the value of the commission's suggestions. A similar meeting at North High school recently was well attended.

Educational officials are endeavoring to find a method whereby educational opportunities for children will be enhanced and the burden of taxes on real estate be relieved.

Tabernacle Is Church Plan

Ministerial Association Pleased With Revival Results; Consider Building Project.

A permanent tabernacle for the Hilltop has become the next objective for the Hilltop Ministerial association, according to Rev. A. J. Fryhoff, secretary.

At a meeting held Tuesday morning, the ministers expressed themselves as well pleased with the results obtained by the three weeks of revival meetings under Dr. J. C. Massee, completed last Sunday, and the tabernacle contemplated will be used for similar events in the future, as well as for other community gatherings that would call for a large seating capacity.

Each pastor is expected to appoint this week two men, members of his church, to study with him the possibilities of either building or purchasing a tabernacle. A steel structure now located in another state is under consideration.

It is estimated that about 6000 people attended the final meetings of the campaign, held in Memorial hall Sunday.

"We have not kept a record of the number of conversions made in the last three weeks," said Rev. Fryhoff, "and enlarging the memberships of our churches was not the only purpose of these meetings. We feel that thousands of those already in the church have been made stronger in their faith by Dr. Massee's fine sermons, that we ourselves have caught new inspiration for our work from his presence, and that the Ministerial association has demonstrated in a practical way the kind of co-operation that is possible in Christian fellowship."

Rev. Haynie Will Conduct Revival

Under the direction of the pastor, Rev. B. H. Haynie, revival meetings will begin at the Warren Avenue Nazarene church Sunday, Feb. 12. Rev. Haynie will be assisted by Prof London of Wichita, Kans., prominent Sunday school and young people's worker, who will have charge of the music and will lecture to the young people's groups throughout the meetings. The public is invited to attend these services.

Miller Services Held

Mrs. Nella Ann Miller, 63, died Sunday morning at her home, 231 S. Richardson Ave., from heart disease. A son, Dale E. Miller, and four grandchildren survive. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Spears & Born chapel. Burial was in Green Lawn cemetery.

Reinstated

Patrolman Samuel Sands, 531 S Terrace St., was reinstated Monday by the City Civil Service Commission which overruled Safety Director C. C Williams' dismissal who had imposed a 30-day suspension on Sands.

The Commission ruled that Williams' action was excessive in view of Sands' excellent record.

Rev. Seesholtz Speaks Sunday

Rev. W. E. Seesholtz, of Canton, Ohio, presiding elder of Ohio district, will preach at the morning and evening services of the St. Paul's Evangelical Congregational church, on South Warren avenue.

West High School to Present Opera

Two Casts to Give Friedrich Von Flotow's Light Opera "Martha," Feb. 23-24.

A cast of 62 West High dramatic students will present the light opera, Martha, for the first time Thursday evening, Feb. 23, in the West High auditorium. Another cast will appear in the second presentation the following evening.

Rehearsals have been in progress since last September, with C. Lee Leahy, math instructor, in charge of the dramatics, and Herbert E. Hutchinson, music teacher, supervising the music.

Miss Marcella Crane, history instructor, is in charge of the staging and costumes. The production will be the greatest musical effort ever attempted by West High.

The opera "Martha," which will be an abridged edition of the original, is one-third spoken and two-thirds singing. According to those in charge, it may be easily understood. And the humor is more understandable than that of Gilbert and Sullivan.

Casts for the two performances will be announced soon.

Hilltop Branch Library Leads City For 1932

Quite an enviable record was established by the Hilltop Branch Library during the year 1932 it was revealed this week by records released from the main branch. The local library, as in 1931, led all city branches by a wide margin, and issued more books than in the previous year, this while operating only part time. This is considered quite remarkable by officials.

In the grand total issues, the Hilltop led with 96,202 services, followed by its close rival, Clintonville, 4000 services behind. More than fifty per cent of these totals were issued to adults, while the juveniles were issued the remainder.

It is interesting, and perhaps significant of the times, to note that although the juvenile services decreased almost 1000, adult services showed an increase of over 2000, showing a net gain of 547 services. Memberships also fell off among the juvenile readers while a slight gain was recorded in the ranks of the adults.

More than 200 donations of books were received at the Hilltop branch during the year, bringing the total number of volumes available to the public to 5869. A request has been issued for more book contributions inasmuch as no funds are available to purchase new volumes.

In the report for January, the Hilltop branch led in new memberships with 92, 48 of which were juvenile. In services, the local branch held a wide margin over all others, 6401 issues being made. The Hilltop also led in reference services.

Cowboy Quintet to Meet Polar Bears Tonight

Hope to Even Score With North in Return to Home Floor for First Time in Month.

West High's battling basketeers will return home tonight for the first time in a long spell, and face the North High Marcons in a game that promises to be quite a bitter affair, although the stakes are not of any copious significance.

The two quintets will do battle for the more or less inglorious possession of third place in the standing. And it is entirely likely that even the winner will have to share these rather dubious honors, for South is also in the race for the same honors.

There is a tremendous gap between first and second place in the standings, with Central and East deadlocked for top honors and the three other quintets doing battle for a place in the first division. It looks as though none will stop either the Pirates or the Bengals, and the main attractions will be the scrambles for the low berths.

In last Friday's game with South on the Bulldog court, Moorman proved his true worth to the Cowpuncher brigade, scoring a half dozen fielders although his team was downed 30 to 19. The Bulldogs were out for revenge and it was forthcoming, for the Blue and Gray held a 5 to 4 advantage at the quarter, only to be overtaken at the big intermission, 12 to 11.

From then on, South fought hard, regaining a 17 to 15 advantage as the final canto started. Hoppe then broke loose, and through his fielders, the Rossmen placed the battle in the refrigerator.

In a preliminary game, South defeated Buchanan's youngsters by a 19 to 16 score.

Wrecking Car Meets Ambulance Too Soon

Icy Road Causes Accident at Roys and West Broad.

Two vehicles bound on the same errand of mercy combined to delay each other last Saturday night, when a Spears & Born ambulance and the Westgate garage towing car got tangled at Roys avenue and West Broad street.

H. W. Michaels, driving the wrecker, stopped for a red light. The driver of the ambulance, coming up behind them, tried to do the same, but skidded on the icy road. The towing car's gasoline tank alone was damaged, while the ambulance's radiator and headlights were demolished. The cost of replacement is estimated at $300.

Both cars were answering calls put in when a car overturned on West Broad street a half mile beyond the Big 4 viaduct, injuring two people.

Troop 45 Wins Meet With Troop 172 At West High Auditorium Tuesday Night.

Once again Troop 45 demonstrated its skill and mastery of scouting activity Tuesday night, Feb. 7, at West High school, when it took five of seven events to easily outpoint its more inexperienced rivals, Troop 172 of Hoge Memorial church. The LOOKOUT

'ROUND ABOUT THE HILLTOP

Officer Russell Bachman, in the dentist's chair, with his revolver unstrapped, on the table by his side. . . . Bob Humphreys, who might have been a big league pitcher. . . . Wonder where John Krivdo is? . . . Mrs. Fink, a rabid West rooter. . . . Wonder where they'll build that tabernacle the Hilltop ministers want. . . . Edith Wilson and mother, so much together. . . . Freshly fallen snow, so soon speckled with soot and dirt from city chimneys. . . . Robert Draper and Ruth Pearch, on one of their daily strolls. . . . Floyd Green and Rev. H. E. Hutchison enunciate their words so nicely. . . . Broad street is dreariest on Sunday evenings. . . . Cherry pie, like mother bakes, is so delicious. . . . Wonder if people love Aunt Addie's cook, or her cooking? . . . Where did Harold Donovan get the name of "Yost?" . . . Have never seen W. L. Millikin drive an auto. . . . Arthur Buchanan and young son, out for a breath of air. . . . Work at the Hilltop Library proceeds with no little commotion. . . . Fire bell, tolling the hour of six.

LITTLE TALL STORY

We were sitting next to George Heitz at the basketball game. In duller moments, George kept up our enthusiasm with just a few of his quips and jokes. One story about a man he knew, is somewhat appropriate because it deals with over production. This gentleman, it seems, grew turnips of great dimensions. A customer came to him, desiring to purchase 15 pounds of turnips. "Oh shoot," ejaculated the farmer, "I wouldn't cut one for that amount."

Continuing, George told about his granddad, an expert with the rifle. About the time repeating rifles came into use, the elder Heitz purchased one and in order to demonstrate his ability, he had a barrel carried to the top of a hill, and as it rolled down, he shot at the bung hole. Now when it had come to rest at the foot of the hill, there was neither scratch nor mar upon its surface, nor inside either. But the explanation was forthcoming from the shooter. He knew that he couldn't miss the barrel in its entirety, so the only possible explanation was: The bullet had gone in the bunghole, and as the barrel turned over in its journey down the hillside, the bullet came out again through the same aperture through which it had made so accurate an entrance.

So George tells us!

BUY AMERICAN?

Comes this story to us this week. In a crowded classroom at one of the Hilltop schools, much ado was made by a speaker about the topic, "Buy American." He stressed his point, he drove home hard, cold, clean facts. The audience was apparently impressed.

Later in the program, small favors were distributed. On the back of these, in small but glaring letters: "Made in Japan."

JUDICIAL TEMPERAMENT

Privileged to look on while a six-year-old boy addressed his valentines, we saw his mother hold up the laciest of the lot. "Do you want this one to go to your teacher?" she asked. "No," he said after long reflection, "It's much too pretty."

THOSE CAR TRACKS

Not long after we wondered why West Broad cars were not sent on out West Broad street, instead of the Sullivant avenue cars making the trip, we learned the reason. And it's apparent that we have little knowledge of engineering, machinery or "trackology." One gentleman informed us face to face! Another phoned us information! Many, we suppose, marvelled silently at our ignorance.

It's simple! The tracks just don't fit the West Broad cars!

And now, since we've learned so much of the trade, we'll take the opportunity to wonder why on earth they don't make standard tracks, with adjustable axils or something on the cars, so every vehicle can run on them? And if that's a dumb question, we'll climb over into our backyard and ask you the difference between lateral and scalariform conjugation in Spyrogira.

Two More Weeks Of Basketball For West Cagers

Play Aquinas Here Tonight; East Comes Tuesday; Central Closes Race Next Week.

West High's scrappy basket-ball outfit will double up next week, following its battle with the cellar Aquinas quintet tonight. The situation will be reversed Tuesday, however, when East drops in to pay the locals a visit. West may win tonight; West will lose Tuesday. Both battles will be played on the home floor.

Next Friday, Central will appear here, to close the local scholastic cage season. It has not been learned whether Coach Wise will enter a team in the annual district tournament or not.

Last Friday night, on the home court, North won from the Wisemen by a 37 to 16 count. The men of Jones led all the way, holding a 10 to 4 lead at the end of the first quarter, and at the half, 14 to 8.

In the third period, the Maroons further increased their lead, outscoring the Cowboys 9 to 7. In the final canto, the visitors tallied 14 points, most of which were scored from the free throw line. West counted a single marker, a free throw by Burkhalter.

The game was exceedingly rough, and the officiating was not of the highest calibre, from either the North or the West point of view. Eighteen personal fouls were called on the home boys, while an even dozen were chalked up against the visitors.

Griffeth, running forward for North, was high point man, with a half dozen fielders and a charity toss for 13 points. Moorman outranked the Cowboys in scoring and all-around play. He had a trio of buckets and a free throw.

West Debate Team Loses First Tilt

Arthur Haines, Irwin Barkan and William Brownfield composed the debating team from West High school which met the champion East team Thursday, Feb. 9, at East High school. The Hilltoppers had the negative side of the question: "Resolved: That at least one-half of all state and local revenue should be derived from sources other than tangible property."

The East team, which has won its past seven arguments, is the champion of the district. It was the initial appearance of the West team.

B. M. Oppose Nuisance Tax

George Trautman, of Chamber of Commerce, Addresses Association Members.

The Hilltop Business Men's association went on record Tuesday evening as opposed to the so-called nuisance tax as proposed by a bill in the present legislature, affecting principally theaters, soft drinks and tobacco, by placing a special tax on these articles. In the course of the discussion it was pointed out that the proposed tax would be ruinous to these businesses, especially the soft drink industry in Ohio.

The minstrel committee, of which H. G. Deems is general chairman, reported tickets now on sale by members of the association and as an added incentive to members to sell these tickets a hat will be given to the person selling the greatest number. Mr. Deems announced that this would be an annual feature and would be known as the "Minstrel Hat."

Minstrel Revue Tryouts Tonight

Many Acts to Show Before Show Committee At Hilltop School of Music.

Tryouts for six olio acts in the Fourth Annual Hilltop Minstrel Revue will be held at the Hilltop School of Music this evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The Minstrel Revue Committee, headed by H. G. Deems, will act as judges.

According to reports, many registrations have been made and competition is expected to be close for the various berths in the show.

Ticket sales, which started Tuesday, are in charge of the business men and members of the Hilltop Chorus. "The Minstrel Hat," an award to be made annually to the member of the business men's association or chorus selling the most tickets, will be on display at one of the local stores this week.

Tickets will be sold for 35 cents. No reserved seats will be available.

C. C. Hartley, director of the show, announced this week that rehearsals will get under way as quickly as possible following the selection of the various olio acts.

Stage Is Set For West Production

"Martha," a Romantic Opera, to Be Presented Thursday and Friday Evenings.

"Martha," the opera to be presented by the music department of West High school on Thursday and Friday evenings, Feb. 23 and 24, is a gripping story of the adventure of two young women who, in seeking a thrill, bid themselves out as servants, and finally, both dangerous and romantic, find themselves eventually at a happy journey's end.

The double cast, which will present the opera on different nights, is in readiness for the first showing Thursday, beginning at 8:15.

The following will compose Thursday night's cast: Marjorie Fleming, Lady Harriet; Maria Bellis, Nancy; John Eckard, Lionel; Arthur Haines, sheriff; with a large supporting chorus of more than 70 voices.

The show is being directed by Herbert E. Hutchinson, music instructor; with C. L. Leahy assisting in the dramatic parts. Marcella Crain has charge of stage settings and costumes.

This is West High's initial attempt at presenting a romantic opera. Tickets may be purchased at the school or from students.

P. V. Whetzel and Theodore Spathe, funeral directors, have announced this week the formation of an undertaking firm with parlors located at 2527 Sullivant Ave. and 2412 Cleveland Ave.

Mr. Spathe, who is managing the Hilltop branch of the business, was formerly connected with the Schindelwolf company in Kenton, Ohio.

"Itch" Scare At West High Only Mythical Rumor

'Twas merely an idle rumor that got out last week. The one about "itch" being so downright prevalent at West High—but 'twas a pernicious rumor, and set many Hilltop mothers agog with fright and frenzy and the like.

It all started when some Hilltop doctor told some Hilltop mother that her son had "itch" (whatever that is) and that there was little good to be done for it, because West High school and its little sister, West Junior High school, was full of it.

Whereupon, officials at the aforementioned institutions, Otto H. Magly and H. H. Reighley, got busy. They called out the head school doctor, Dr. M. H. Platter, and another one, Dr. A. B. Walton, and the head school nurse. And they held a conference—a war council, as it were—and decided to search every pupil in the school for "itch."

Wednesday morning, when they had scratched and dug around over some 900 boys at West Junior, they had found one case. Just a solitary case, and, "Glory be," says someone, "How on earth could one keep from finding at least a single case in so many boys!"

The count had not been completed at West Senior High, but the results were being tabulated similarly to those at West Junior. So the gossip has been wrong again. Dame rumor, shouting from the housetops, has been thwarted by meticulous investigation, as is always the case.

And Hilltop mothers may once again rest in peace.

West High Students Give Variety Show

Proceeds to Go Toward Motion Picture Equipment.

West High school students gained $77 for the moving picture machine fund when they gave a variety show in the school auditorium Tuesday morning, Feb. 14.

Jack Sherrick and Valeda Sunker, former students at the school, returned as an interesting dancing team; Bob Thorne and Berle Drake appeared as blackface comedians, and Arthur Haines, dressed as a small girl, shyly recited "My Daddy."

Kenneth Morris imitated Ed Wynn, Inglis Miller took off Graham McNamee, and James Ricketts played the part of Nero fiddling while Rome was burning. The last act was exposed as a deception when William Simonin accidentally knocked over a screen at the back of the stage, from which he was "ghost-playing" the violin solo.

It is expected that the moving picture machine, on which there is still about $200 owing, will be paid for before the school year is over.

Hauntz Named

Ray G. Hauntz, of Hauntz Grocery, 2761 W. Broad St., was elected chairman of the Southwest Division of the Central Ohio Area, Boy Scouts of America. He is the first Hilltop man ever to be a member of the executive board. He succeeds H. L. Townsend.

Pastor Recovering From Appendicitis

He was released from the hospital Saturday, Feb. 11, when it was decided that an operation was not necessary. Dr. R. J. Miller and Dr. I. D. Harris were the physicians attending him.

Rev. Pieffer expects to resume his duties in the pulpit on Sunday.

Buchanan Busy With Athletes

Swim Team Wins First Meet; Wrestlers Drill Weekly Preparing for City Meet.

Arthur Buchanan, who has charge of wrestling and swimming team aspirants at West High, is busy these days. His swimming team, which captured its initial meet from Columbus Academy last week, is drilling two nights every week at the Columbus Y. M. C. A. and is nearing top form for the city aquatic meet next week.

In trimming the Academy mermen, the Cowboys showed acceptable form. Michaelis took second place in both the 45 and 90-yard free styles; Stevens and Parker took first and second respectively in the backstroke; as did E. Grubbs and Latham in the breast stroke; and McQueen landed first in the 180-yard free style. Eugene Grubbs scored a first in the diving event, while the Cowboys took the medley relay with a team composed of Stevens, Grubbs and McQueen.

Seventeen wrestlers are drilling two afternoons a week in preparation for the city gymnastic meet at East High, March 8 and 9. Mathews, Munro and Lorenz are back from last year's fine squad and are assisting Buchanan in training the recruits.

West Broad Firm Shows New Ford

On Display By Lawwell-Beasley, New West Side Authorized Agents.

Interest in the new Ford models brought 982 people into the showrooms of Lawwell-Beasley, Inc., 759-769 W. Broad St., when they opened the doors of their new West Side quarters for the first time.

Although alterations to the showrooms and service department, which have a 115-foot frontage on Broad street, are still going on, the service department is already functioning, all the new models are on display, and a chassis and motor showing how the new car is constructed may be inspected. The formal opening is expected to be the latter part of next week.

Frank H. Lawwell, manager of the concern, has been connected with the Ford industry since 1913, and has been an authorized sales and service agent since agencies were first created in 1916.

Although the Lawwell-Beasley company was formerly located at 804 Mt. Vernon Ave., Lawwell is well known on the West Side. His family took up residence at 762 W. Broad St., directly across from his present business location, when they first came to Columbus, and he attended both the Franklinton and Avondale schools.

It is expected that from 25 to 30 people will be employed by the company when the staff is complete.

Services Held for Automobile Victim

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for George E. Gilbert, aged 72, of 62 S. Richardson Ave., who died of a fractured skull two hours after being struck by an automobile at Eureka avenue and Broad street last Saturday night. Following the services, the body was removed to Syracuse, N. Y., for burial. Besides his widow he is survived by his daughter, Mrs. R. A. Friedson, with whom he made his home.

Mr. Gilbert, a retired mechanic, was on his way to get medicine for his wife when a car driven by Arthur Miller, 24, of Springfield, struck him down. Miller, who failed to stop when the accident occurred, turned himself over to Columbus police Monday night.

Parent-Teacher Resolutions Sent To Legislature

West Side Parents Favor Plan of Ohio Survey Commission; Meeting Well Attended.

An almost capacity house of Hilltop parents assembled at West High school last Friday evening, Feb. 10, where L. L. Rummell, secretary of the Ohio School Survey Commission discussed the necessity for Ohio's acceptance of the educational plan submitted to the legislature by the commission.

J. G. Spears presided at the meeting, and resolutions were passed favoring the commission's plan. Copies of the resolutions were sent to representatives and Governor White Tuesday.

PASS UNANIMOUSLY

The resolutions, which were signed by the officers of the Columbus and Franklin County Council of Parent-Teacher associations, along with the presidents of the various school groups, were passed unanimously.

In asking the approval of the legislature, the parents cited the danger of having to shorten the school term; and pointed out that home-owners and other owners of real property would benefit. The fact that even in state aid districts the present plan for financial relief is unsatisfactory, was also mentioned.

The resolutions were signed by the following presidents of Parent-Teacher associations:

Ellen Beller Dies

Mrs. Ellen Beller, aged 83, died Wednesday, Feb. 8, at her home, 640 Nashoba Ave., following a paralytic stroke. She is survived by her husband, H. C. Beller; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Seyfert of Lancaster and a brother, Thurman Lysinger of Chicago. She was a member of Wilson Avenue Reformed church. Services were held Friday at the Wilson Avenue Reformed church. Burial was in Memorial Burial Park.

McNamee In Charge Of Model Office

Under the auspices of the Ohio State Chiropractic society, a model chiropractic office has been set up in room 356 of the Deshler-Wallick hotel, for the purpose of demonstrating the merits of chiropractic to the members of the state legislative body and their friends.

Dr. E. E. McNamee, 2447 W. Broad St., who is chairman of the state committee and in charge of the model office states, "The object of the model chiropractic office is an educational one. We wish to demonstrate just what chiropractic is and how much it can offer to those who are sick and suffering. We choose to lay all angles of our science open to inspection and investigation—for we feel that even today, truth is a most powerful factor."

This office will be open, to the chiropractic profession, for inspection purposes between the hours of 8 to 9 p. m. except on Saturdays.

Mrs. Reynolds Taken

Mrs. Tabitha Reynolds, aged 79, wife of the late Bascomb Reynolds, died Sunday of heart disease at her home, 2103 W. Broad St. Two sons and seven daughters survive. Services were held Tuesday at the residence with burial in Green Lawn cemetery by C. J. Kohn.

West Broad Street School Notes

A meeting of the board members will be held in the P.-T. A. room next Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 21, at 1:30 p. m. The president of the P.-T. A., Mrs. P. A. Benton will be in charge.

H. E. BonDurant addressed a group of mothers at the West Broad Street school on Tuesday, Feb. 14. He gave an enlightening talk on "Sex Education for the Adolescent Child" which was well received by all mothers present.

The pupils of West Broad Street school recently received small size pocket Testaments presented as a gift from the Sunday school of St. John's Lutheran church, located across the street from the school. We wish to extend the thanks of the pupils of West Broad to the St. John Sunday school.

West Jr. Student Finds Pleasure In Bugs, Flowers and Crawling Creatures

Bugs—and more bugs, and creeping, crawling things, and flowers and birds—these things are the whole life of young Dale Jenkins, 38 N. Chase Ave., a student in the ninth grade at West Junior High school.

In his home he has hundreds of bugs, caught and named by himself. And they're named by their scientific monickers—no common names for Dale. No one, not even his teachers, knew what he was talking about when he talked of bugs by their proper names. Samples of soils, tree leaf and flower collections, wood specimens, more than three score cocoons, and a half dozen other collections may be found about his home—from bedroom to kitchen. How can a mother put up with such a boy?

Out at West his instructors allow him to remain after school where he is learning the use of a microscope. He looks at everything through the machine—from algae (small water plants) to wiggling, squirming animals too small to be seen with the naked eye. At school the other afternoon he had a "nose-bleed," and he took advantage of the opportunity of seeing human blood under the lens, and was rewarded by a glimpse of the tiny germ that causes colds.

Nothing is too lowly for Dale to putter with—everything from pond scum to rotted hay.

He talks of natural history with a knowledge far beyond his years. Although his ambition lies in the forestry phase of the field, he is no mean entomologist and his botanical collections show rare ability and preserverance. He is also a bird student, and many are the times that he arises with the sun to seek glimpses of our feathered friends. This past winter, Hilltoppers who chanced to be looking out their windows at certain times, might have seen a lithe body scaling the trunk of their front lawn trees. It was Dale, collecting cocoons. He has more than three score stored away in a screen cage he has made.

He's a great boy. And although he does other things well, his specialty is natural science—biology. In his own words, he don't go for parties. They called him up to buy a ticket for the 9A party the other night—even bargained to get him the necessary accessories—a girl, etc., and his answer was "Nerts!" There's two things he hates: Going to parties and being introduced to "big shots."

Dale is senior patrol leader at Troop 45 at his school. He gets up at 4:30 daily to peddle morning papers, and gets a straight E card at school and his subjects include Latin. Besides that, he's got more in that noodle of his about his favorite subjects than many who have long passed the high school stage in educational development.

Maybe another Pasteur! Or a John Burroughs! Or an Audubon! Who knows?

Gibson Dairy Has New Cooling Plant

The Gibson Dairy Co., 1871 Sullivant Ave., has spent over a thousand dollars in the last few weeks installing a complete electrical plant for maintaining low temperatures in milk and cream. It is now in operation, keeping the brine that is run through coolers, to cool the milk after pasteurization, at a constant temperature of 15 degrees, and the refrigerator, where the milk is kept until delivery, at 40 degrees.

The equipment was decided upon because it would assure an automatically controlled temperature and would obviate any danger of sending out milk that would not keep fresh.

H. R. Gibson, who owns and operates the dairy, was an inspector in the city health department for 10 years, and is thoroughly familiar with the farms and stock around Columbus. This knowledge makes it possible for him to make a careful selection of the farms supplying his dairy, only those with herds of tuberculin-tested Jerseys and Guernseys being accepted. That this discrimination has paid is evidenced by the fact that the bi-monthly check made by health authorities has shown that samples taken from his trucks have been consistently rated above the average for the city.

The Gibson dairy has been located on the Hilltop since 1926, and is manned entirely by Hilltop residents.

Kids Ready All The Time For Rain or Shine

Last week's cold days were happy days for many Hilltop kiddies, and even grown-ups. For the pleasures of sledding and skating and sliding came quite infrequently and since the development of the artificial lake in Westgate Park, the place has become a community center for winter sports.

But alas and alack. The balmy southern breezes have come again, much to the dismay of those who love their winter fun. Only a few tiny tots remained on the ice Wednesday. And they were utilizing but a small strip at one shallow end, but a few yards in length.

Still, when winter came, great was the fun. Figure eights and other fancy figures were the vogue among the ice skaters. And there were many who had not yet forgotten the art of skimming along over the slippery surface of the pond. Sleds without number, and once in a while, a pair of skis might have been observed, although the latter were of little use in this flat region.

But now there has come a change, and youth, most adaptable of all creatures, anticipate with pleasure the coming of spring. Every day kites are flying, tops are spinning, and marbles rolling, where not long before, sleds were sliding.

And with but a moment's notice, the scene may again shift. Let the weatherman send the mercury down for an evening, and the curtain will fall on these spring activities and the ever alert boy will be ready with his winter equipment.

So, after all, it really makes little difference which way the wind doth blow—at least as far as the kids are concerned.

Volume XVI — THE HILLTOP, COLUMBUS, OHIO, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1933 — No. 44

The LOOKOUT

'ROUND ABOUT THE HILLTOP

Paul Zellers, whom I have not seen in a long spell. . . . The name Delores slips so glibly from the tongue. . . . One word description of Wilbur Rausch—"unconcerned." . . . It's a pleasant smile and good morning one gets from the clerk in Houck's Bakery. . . . Newsboys persist in flirting with death at Hague and Broad. . . . "Spook" Wade, a man for the ladies. . . . Frank Howard and Frank Allen, two conversationalists as fine as any I know. . . . The towers of the Feeble-Minded Institution, like ancient castles on a hill, form a medieval skyline as one approaches from the east. . . . Sherm Edwards wears a derby well. . . . So Mr. Snedecker thinks someone on Richardson avenue constructs this pillar. . . . And a Hilltop "Miss" thinks we print everything we hear or see—No! No! Some is saved for seed. . . . And a Hilltop "Mrs." thinks this column interesting. . . . And a Hilltop "Mr." thinks just the opposite. . . . And, "Old Timer," we don't know who you are—yet, but thanks for the letter. . . . Wonder if anyone ever calls Harry Haney, "Red," . . . So difficult to get C. H. Campbell to discuss the depression. . . . It's practically impossible for one to look dignified with a butterfly net. . . . Adnan Addison and Charles Welch, together peddling New York Times! . . . Haven't heard from Frank Ruder, the original "Scoofer" in many moons. . . . And his dad, the "deteckatif," does the negro dialect so well he should be in the Minstrel. . . . A fresh finger wave, like egg shells—so fragile. . . . The word peaceful suggests gentle rain at twilight in the springtime. . . . 'Tis a brawny Bill Schmidt back from college, and at the basket-ball game with Pauline. . . . So Woody Wills is doing well scholastically. . . . That little strip of cloth, flying from the flag staff over the Rivoli, is a portion of what used to be an American flag. Tank you You welcome!

GOSSIP IS CONVINCING

It seems that a prospector sought entrance into heaven. They told him, however, that two of his mining friends were already there, and that three would be a crowd.

But he bargained with the gatekeeper, promising to get rid of the other two if he could but enter. So he passed through.

After a while the others came to headquarters and sought leave of absence. Answering why, they claimed that they had heard of a gold strike down below. So they were permitted to leave. And the authorities complimented the miner for his fine work.

But soon, the lone prospector once more came to the gatekeeper, asking that he too, be allowed to leave for the lower regions. "But why?" queried the venerable saint. "Wal," replied the miner, "I bin thinkin' it ovah, and ya know, thar might be some truth in that thar rumor after all, about that thar gold strike!"

PISCATORIAL

We hear that Charlie Cruea is contemplating putting a series of small dams in the brook that runs close to his fish pond, with the object of stocking it with game fish and giving his customers more natural surroundings than the big pool affords.

SOON TO BE COMING

Warm sunshine flooding the brown landscape and thawing the frozen ground. Smell of freshly turned earth, where the farmer has started his spring ploughing. Rat-a-tat-tat of a woodpecker in an old locust tree. The vibrant trill of a song sparrow from the top of a small elm. The cheery note of a robin from the top of a cherry tree

Ice melting in ponds Creeks swollen, flowing swift and cold South winds blowing. Splashes of greener color in sunnier spots, where grass is already growing

Just a day in late winter—telling us that spring cannot be long in the offing. It costs so little to watch the pulse of Nature start beating again. And the returns are so great.

Minstrel Ducats Now On Sale At Business Houses

Merchants Start Drive for Capacity Crowds At Fourth Annual Minstrel Revue March 9-10.

Sherm Edwards, chairman of the Fourth Annual Minstrel Revue ticket sales committee, announced this week that Hilltop merchants have ducats available for the show scheduled two weeks hence. More than 3000 tickets have been distributed, and reports are coming in stating that they are already beginning to sell.

Paul Rousch, of the Broad-Hague Hardware, vice chairman of the committee, aided in the distribution of tickets this week to almost three-score of local business men. Willard Young, of the Hilltop Bank, will have charge of the box office at West High during the nights of the shows.

The "Minstrel Hat," to be awarded for the first time this year, will be presented to the business man selling the most tickets. In addition, the member of the olio acts selling the most, will be given a two-dollar cash prize.

Edwards stated this week that the success of the show depended upon the merchants. Those planning to attend should purchase tickets from the business men of the community.

As was the case last year, there will be no reserved seats. Tickets will sell at 35 cents for both performances.

OLIO ACTS CHOSEN

Preparations for the best show ever presented were continued this week when the minstrel committee supervised tryouts for the six olio acts. The meeting was held at the Hilltop School of Music, and competition for positions was close.

Lodabelle Schmidt, 606 S. Wayne Ave., whose song and dance act was one of the big hits in last year's show, was again chosen. She has made more than 100 performances for various groups throughout the city since her appearance in the minstrel of 1932.

Betty Stauch, Evylen Kellar and Jack Wiseman have a clever skit. This trio is sure to be well received, according to reports.

The Harmony Hounds, composed of Ed McCarthy, Jerry Phemce, Tony Reader and Bill Ogden, have a string quartet which won a place on the program.

Phyllis Rawlins, Mary Campbell, Billy Ewald and Buddy Webber, compose another crack act which brought down the house last year. They again won a place in the show.

Helen Richter, whose singing and accordian playing will also be remembered from a year ago, has another act this year.

The judges had difficulty in selecting six acts from a great many applications, all of which were reported good. Those who tried for places but failed, are extended the thanks of the judges for their fine co-operation. According to committeemen, competition this year was closer than ever before.

Cleveland Pastor Will Assist Here

Hilltop Church of Christ Calls Rev. Luther Wilkes to Assist Rev. J. N. Johnston.

Rev. Luther Wilkes of Cleveland, Ohio, has been called by the church board of the Hilltop Church of Christ to assist Rev. J. N. Johnston, 90 Eldon Ave., in his pastoral duties. Rev. Johnston has been handicapped by ill health for the past year, and at a meeting of the congregation Sunday, Feb. 19, it was decided to take this means of relieving him. J. P. Miller, 145 S. Burgess Ave., is president of the church board.

Rev. Wilkes has held pastorates in a number of churches, the last of which was located at Zanesville, Conn. He is a graduate of Eureka college and took his post-graduate work at the Yale Divinity school, where he received his B. D. degree. He occupied the pulpit at the local church last Sunday, Feb. 19, and will return Feb. 26 to again conduct services.

Rev. Wilkes is married and has one daughter. The family will reside on the Hilltop during the time of Rev. Wilkes' service here.

Trial for Murder

Attorneys Will Attempt to Convict Sol Rising of Vicious Crime.

Saturday night Sol Rising will go on trial for his life. Attorneys will attempt to convict him of murder and send him to the electric chair. It's all in fun, of course, and the mock trial is the feature of an evening's entertainment for ex-service men given by Camp Chase Post at the club rooms over the Hilltop Building & Loan Assn.

Judge, attorneys, jury, witnesses, bailiff, in fact all the necessities for a courtroom scene will be provided. Attorneys from Camp Chase Post will have charge of the trial.

Preceding the trial, at 6:30 the ex-service men and legionnaires will enjoy a fish supper in the club rooms. All eligible veterans are invited to attend the affair which is one of a series given monthly through the winter months.

Lima Again Shades Local Male Chorus

The Hilltop Business Men's Chorus lost out to Lima, their rivals of long standing, in the Northwestern Ohio Eisteddfod, held in Ada, Wednesday night

"Mother of Mine," accompanied by Miss Ethel Greiser, and "Down Among the Dead Men," sung unaccompanied, were the songs on which the adjudication was based. Only 43 singers were present from the Hilltop, against 90 members in the winning chorus.

Five organizations were entered in the male chorus competition.

Torch Club Meets

Starling Junior High Torch club met last Wednesday, Feb. 15, at the home-room period. Officers are Billy Ellis, president; William Kale, vice president; Charles Weigand, treasurer; Bob Lamp, secretary.

Recovering

S. W. Six, Hilltop grocer, is confined to his home, 105 Eldon Ave., where he is slowly recovering from a two month's illness. He has been attended by Dr Howard Whitehead.

Central Meets West In League Finale Tonight

Cowboys to Enter Central Ohio District Tournament Getting Under Way Next Week.

The curtain of the local scholastic cage season will be rung down tonight when the Central Pirates visit the West gymnasium to take on Coach Wise's Cowpunchers.

Preceded by the usual preliminary tilt at 7:15, the game will get under way at 8:15, with the men of Kesler ranked as overwhelming favorites. West lost its initial tilt with the Pirates on their home court by a large margin, and despite the fact that the Cowboys will be in their own backyard tonight, the odds remain the same.

Last Friday night, lacking team-work and co-ordination, the Wisemen barely nosed out the lowly Aquinas aggregation in an overtime period. The final count was 21 to 19, but the best team lost. Aquinas was superior to the Cowboys in every department of play, and 'twas merely luck that brought the locals in ahead.

Tuesday evening, on the local floor, the championship-bound East High Tigers doubled the score on the Cowboys in a listless game. The final count was 28 to 14 and the Websternen held a decided advantage throughout. West trailed at the quarter, 9 to nothing and at the half, 15 to 5.

Moorman was the outstanding Cowboy player, while the entire Tiger team, although showing spotty form, clicked sufficiently well to annex an easy victory.

Following the reserve game, which West won 16 to 12, more than a score of athletes were initiated into the "W" association. Following the main attraction, a jitney dance was held, the proceeds of which will go toward the erection of a football scoreboard on the athletic field.

Coach Wise announced last week that the Cowboys would be entered in the Central District Tournament, to be held this year at Ohio State university. Festivities are scheduled to get under way Friday afternoon, March 3, when more than a dozen class A teams will begin their fight up the road that leads to the state title.

West Beats East For Second Place

Cowboy Aquatic Team Holds One Point Advantage Over Tigers in City Meet; North Wins.

West High's swimming team, under the direction of Arthur Buchanan, came in second in the city scholastic aquatic meet held at the Central Y. M. C. A. last Friday afternoon, Feb. 17. The Cowboys nosed out East High's mermen by a single point, counting 25 while North again won top honors, ringing up 38 points.

West took top honors in the 200-yard free style, clipping off the distance in 2:40.9. Again in the medley relay, the Cowboys splashed their way to victory, Stevens, Grubbs, and McQueen turning the trick.

The locals took third in the 200-yard relay; Grubbs placed third in the 100 yard breast stroke; Michaelis placed fourth in the 50-yard free style, and the same position in the 100-yard free stroke; Stevens rated third in the 100 yard backstroke event and Grubbs another third in diving.

Indianola retained its Junior High title. West Junior was not entered in the meet.

Tuesday afternoon, in the Bexley pool, Buchanan's men lost a close meet by a 34 to 32 score. The Cowboys won the 100-yard relay; Grubbs and Michaelis tallied a first and second respectively in the 100-yard free style; Grubbs and Curran took first and second respectively in diving; McQueen placed in the 100-yard free style; Stevens and Parker won points in the 100-yard back stroke.

"Martha", Vivid Opera, Well Received At West

New Leads to Perform Von Flotow's Romantic Opera Second Time Tonight.

The most ambitious musical production ever attempted at West High was successfully presented last night in the school auditorium, when "Martha," with score by Frederick von Flotow, was sung by a cast of over 70 students.

The original opera has been somewhat condensed by the substitution of speaking for singing in certain places, but the action is easier to follow because of the change, and the best of the music has been retained.

The action takes place during the reign of the English Queen Anne, and arises from the situation in which two ladies of aristocratic connections find themselves when they bind themselves out for a year to two young gentleman farmers. The contract entered into lightly is declared valid by the sheriff, and a year of hard work as serving maids is only averted by the romantic feelings which they soon inspire.

Irwin Barkan, in the character of a foppish nobleman, gave what was probably the most engaging performance of the evening, although ample credit must be given Marjorie Fleuff..g, Maria Bellis, John Eckard, and John Buchman, who handled the leading parts very capably. A well-trained and personable chorus was also a factor in giving the audience a pleasant evening.

The performance will be repeated tonight at 8:15 with a slightly different cast. Alverta Distelhorst, Josephine Ruoff, and John Hipple will get their chance at the leading roles, and Burrell Drake will replace Arthur Haines, who last night did a fine piece of work as the sheriff of the hiring fair.

The training of the singers and orchestra has been in charge of Herbert E. Hutchinson, of the music department, and C. L. Leahy has directed the dramatics. Miss Marcella Crain is in charge of the sets and costumes, which were furnished by the Sullivan Studios.

Hillcrest Quint Bound for Title

Blue Racers Continue Hot Pace, Closely Followed By Avondale U. B., in Church League.

With two-thirds of the season completed, the Hillcrest Blues continue to lead the league in the West Church Basket-ball League. Tuesday evening, at Glenwood shelter house, they set the Gift Street quintet back by an 18 to 10 score, to win their sixth consecutive victory in as many starts.

Avondale U. B., only a half game behind the leaders, with six wins in seven starts, took a close one from Calvary Presbyterian to eliminate the latter from the race. The final count was 16 to 14, with Squeo of Avondale, leading the scorers with seven points.

Just a game behind Avondale, Glenwood M. E. stands with five victories and a pair of losses, one of which came unexpectedly at the hands of Hoge Memorial Tuesday evening. The bitterly fought and close battle finally ended with the Presbyterians on the long end of a 23 to 22 score, although Miller of Glenwood, corralled 14 markers to top the tally makers. West Park M. E. defeated Briggsdale M. E. 21 to 15.

In the final game, Hillcrest Reds defeated Warren Avenue by a 19 to 9 score.

Games will be doubled up, each team playing twice weekly through the remainder of the season, it was announced this week. Games will be played on Thursday, and the regular Tuesday evenings.

Gelatin No Adulterant

Gelatin is the most costly ingredient in ice cream aside from the flavor, according to W. L. Arps of the department of dairy industry at Cornell university. It is not put into ice cream to cheapen it or to give the appearance of a superior product, but serves two distinct purposes. It is put in to prevent the sugar of the milk from forming large sugar granules which make the ice cream sandy and gritty, and it is used to prevent the formation of large ice crystals which would make the ice cream grainy. Only enough gelatin is added to establish a "gel" when the mixture is cooled to near the freezing point. The maximum amount that can be used is established by law at one half of one per cent.

"Remember the Maine"

When the wreck of the battleship Maine was raised it was found that a bottom plate was incurved, proving that the vessel had been blown up by an outside explosion, probably by a charge of low explosive coming in contact with the outside of the hull. Immediately above this plate was the 6-inch magazine containing black powder used for saluting purposes. The heat of the inrushing gases ignited this powder which, in turn, set off practically the whole of the forward magazines. Survivors had stated that two explosions occurred within a fraction of a second of each other.
